Gale, Rain Lash Marin —110-Knot Tam Winds

HAZARD OF STORM—Fireman Ralph Pedersen (in helmet) and James Hansen make their way gingerly along pier leading to Hansen's small house boat (seen at end) after replacing ropes with chains to hold it in place. Most boats had been removed from mooring along their pier, which is in front of the plush Portofino-Riviera Apartments on Sausalito's Bridgeway, as wind whipped the tide across it, buckling the structure.

Roofs, Trees Ripped; Tidal Flood Feared

A massive wind and rain storm hit Marin today, bringing down trees, interrupting electric and telephone service in many areas, uprooting trees and blowing off one roof.

Angry winds began to howl around the county shortly after midnight. Winds of 75 to 80 knots, with gusts up to 110 knots, were reported on Mount Tamalpais. Hamilton Air Force Base recorded peak winds of 40 miles per hour from midnight on.

The rain, which was scattered during the night, arrived in full force in San Rafael about 10 a.m.

Water spewed over Sausalito's sea wall all morning, and police kept regular patrols on Bridgeway lest the rising tide—expected to reach its crest at 2 p.m.—should make the street impassable.

Similar conditions existed along Highway 1 in Stinson Beach and Bolinas.

ROOF LIFTED

Mrs. Roger A. Weiss of 267 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley, heard a "tremendous crash" in her back yard about 10:15 a.m. She rushed to a window and saw a roof lying in the yard.

She called sheriff's deputies to report that the roof had blown from the carport of her next door neighbor, John W. Acree of 209 Cardinal Road. On the way, it destroyed a steel reinforced trellis in the Weiss yard.

A large tree fell atop an automobile at the home of Dr. John Miller at 110 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electrical Supt. Leonard O. Robertson said trouble calls were coming in so fast this morning that he was unable to pinpoint the details of many of them.

LIGHTS OFF

He estimated, however, that between 8,000 and 10,000 customers lost electrical power at one time or another, and about 2,500 were still without it at 11 a.m. Areas most seriously affected, he said, were in Novato, Fairfax, San Geronimo Valley, Point Reyes Station, Inverness, Stinson Beach, and Bolinas.

About 3,000 residents lost power in the north and west sections of Novato for more than an hour starting about 7:40 a.m., he said. Lights in Inverness went out at 4:40 a.m. and were still out in some homes at 11 a.m.

In Bolinas and Stinson Beach, both electricity and telephone service were interrupted at times throughout the morning.

The Point Bonita lighthouse reported heavy seas running, with winds up to 70 miles per hour.

WORKERS BUSY

Street crews were kept busy in most cities cleaning broken tree limbs from streets, and watching out for more serious damage expected from the storm. San Rafael City Engineer Ely Cailouette said crews in his city began "battening down the hatches" yesterday.

In San Anselmo, a two-foot acacia tree toppled across Elm Avenue, barely missing a parked car and stalling traffic until it was removed.

Marin County Public Works Department reported that a large tree fell on Nicasio Road just north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in the San Geronimo Valley, bringing down at least

Experts Blame Sheriff Office Fire On Arson

A State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation analysis today confirmed that gasoline was splashed on paper accident forms to start a $10,000 fire Dec. 5 at the sheriff's substation in Marin City.

Charred debris from the fire was analyzed at the state bureau's laboratories at request of the Marin County sheriff's office.

Harold V. Sleezer, sheriff's inspector, said the report substantiates that arson was involved.

Sleezer said the papers—now apparent source of the fire—were stacked on a table in the main room.

The state report also confirmed that a window was broken by an outside force, rather than by internal heat pressure, and used as point of entry.

It also said an emergency flare found inside the station had been burned, but was not ignited by removal of its cap. Sleezer said flares were kept in the office and were probably just burned up in the blaze.

No container for gasoline was found at the scene, Sleezer said.

No suspect in the arson has been apprehended.

Marin Base To Become Headquarters For Reactivated Fourth Air Force

Hamilton Air Force Base will become command base for a reactivated Fourth Air Force, covering 11 states, in a spring reorganization of the Air Defense Command.

The reorganization was announced today from the Pentagon. Although no date was set, it is expected to be about April 1, according to officers at Hamilton.

It will add 147 new positions at Hamilton, officers at the base announced: 53 officers, 75 airmen, and 19 civilians.

Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, commander of the 28th Air Division at Hamilton, will become commander of the reactivated Fourth Air Force. The 28th Air Division will be removed to McChord Air Force Base, Wash., replacing the Seattle Air Defense Sector there.

The Portland Air Defense Sector at Adair Air Force Station, Corvallis, Ore., will absorb the Reno Air Defense Sector to become the 26th Air Division. Phoenix and Los Angeles Air Defense Sectors will be merged into the 27th Air Division, with headquarters at Luke Air Force Base, Ariz.

All these will be under command of the Fourth Air Force at Hamilton.

This will expand Hamilton's role, as it is now headquarters of the 28th Air Division covering only parts of California, Nevada and Arizona.

The change is part of realignment of Air Force functions to reduce the number of control centers, according to the Pentagon announcement.

'Dictatorial' Remark Brings Interrogation

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — (UPI)— A federal government employee who called President Johnson "dictatorial" says a Secret Service agent subjected him to an hour-long late-evening interrogation because of statements he made about the President.

C. Jack Ferris Jr., an employee of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), said the agent called on him Dec. 6. The Secret Service office in Nashville confirmed this but declined to elaborate.

Ferris said yesterday he was interrogated because of some "strong statements" he made concerning the President.

He said he recalled describing the President as "tyrannical, dictatorial, domineering and overbearing" but added some statements attributed to him were not correct. Ferris, 42, refused to elaborate.

But he complained yesterday, saying: "Is this the sort of intimidation that a private citizen should have to put up with? Must we fear knocks on our doors late at night?"

Ferris said the agent refused to tell him who had reported his alleged statements. He quoted the agent as saying, "Our informer did not report that you threatened the President but only that you made strong remarks and accusations against him."

Fanfani Quits, Blames Wife For Viet Uproar

ROME (UPI) — Aminhtore Fanfani announced his resignation today as Italian foreign minister because of what he called "unjust accusations" stemming from an abortive peace feeler, complicated by his wife's meddling. The premier refused to accept the resignation.

Since Fanfani insisted his resignation was "irrevocable" the refusal by Premier Aldo Moro to accept it left the whole matter in the air. Moro told Fanfani the squabble does not touch "your personal integrity and your loyalty to the foreign policy of this government."

So far Fanfani has not replied to the premier.

Fanfani, 57, a former Italian premier, served as president of the 20th session of the United Nations General Assembly which adjourned shortly before Christmas.

His resignation as foreign minister followed widespread publication of reported peace feelers brought back from the Communist North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi by Giorgio la Pira, a former mayor of Florence.

La Pira, a Christian Democrat who had Communist support as mayor, talked in Hanoi with North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh. La Pira told Fanfani of the alleged peace feelers and Fanfani relayed them to President Johnson.

Shortly after they were made public, Hanoi radio denounced them as a hoax. As result, Fanfani came under immediate criticism both in Italy and abroad. Matters came to a head when Mrs. Fanfani set up an interview at the Fanfani home between La Pira and editor Giannna Preda.

La Pira claimed that Miss Preda had distorted his statements and referred to Miss Preda, editor of the magazine Il Borghese, as a "lady unknown to me."

Tokyo Police Keep Hubert Arrival Calm

TOKYO (UPI) —Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Japan tonight, beginning a week-long tour of the far east, his first major diplomatic mission for President Johnson. About 400 leftist students scuffled with police minutes before his arrival.

Humphrey, on a five-day swing through Japan, the Philippines, Formosa and South Korea, flew into Tokyo International Airport aboard a presidential jet and was met by Japanese and U.S. officials including Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and American Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer.

Despite the presence of thousands of Japanese police cordoned around the airport to prevent any demonstrations by leftist groups, a brief scuffle broke out in the main terminal building a few minutes before Humphrey's jet touched down.

Helmeted police had asked a group of about 400 Zengakuren students to leave the lounge and when they refused shoved them up against the wall. After a short conference between police and student leaders, the demonstrators were herded down a flight ramp several hundred yards away from the spot where Humphrey's jet pulled up.

There were no injuries and no arrests were reported.

The large police turnout was aimed at preventing any Communist-led demonstrations such as the 1960 riots that forced President Dwight D. Eisenhower to cancel his visit to Japan.

In an arrival statement, Humphrey said he was "looking forward very much" to meeting with Japanese Emperor Hirohito and Sato to discuss "some of our common interests and problems" during his 18-hour Tokyo stopover.

"Our goals and aspirations are much the same," he said. "We share the same deep commitments to peace, liberty

Painting Company Protests Low Justice Addition Bid

A painting firm has formally protested the low bid on the hall of justice addition to the Civic Center submitted by Haas and Haynie, on the grounds that the firm did not list all subcontractors.

W. G. Thompson Painting Co. of San Francisco, a firm which submitted a sub-bid for the next lowest bidder, has protested in a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Thompson said Haas and Haynie failed to list any sub-contractors for painting and plastering.

Haas and Haynie submitted a low bid of $9,529,000. Next lowest of the five bids opened last week was $9,575,000 by Rothschild, Raffin and Weirick jointly with Williams and Burrows, Inc., both of San Francisco.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was to meet with representatives of Haas and Haynie at the Civic Center this afternoon to discuss the short subcontractor list which started bringing complaints from other bidders soon after the bids were opened last week.

Maloney said the Thompson firm was the only one so far to complain in writing.

OAKLAND (UPI)— The Alameda County Grand Jury has recommended a "thorough study" of the office of Assessor Donald Feragen.

In its annual year-end report, the grand jury said yesterday past recommendations for such a study had been ignord. Had they been acted on, the report continued, the tax scandal which resulted in the bribery indictment of Feragen might have been uncovered sooner.

New Truce Offer By Red Viet Radio

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Communist Viet Cong today offered the South Vietnamese a four day cease fire in Viet Nam during the lunar new year celebrations Jan. 20-24 ushering in the Asian "Year of the Horse."

The offer came as developments at home and abroad brought increased attention to the question of a possible truce and peace negotiations.

There was no Allied comment, but the still unexplained U. S. moratorium on air raids against Communist North Viet Nam entered the fifth day. U. S. B-52 bombers from Guam also were inactive though the war still raged in the south.

The Johnson administration remained silent on whether the air raids were halted in hopes Hanoi would reply to the repeated American offers of unconditional peace negotiations.

There were unofficial reports Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam was displeased with American peace efforts because his regime is determined to win a military victory over the Viet Cong and because his government has not been consulted enough.

Pope Paul VI was known to be hopeful the short-lived Christmas truce in Viet Nam could lead to a lasting settlement.

A group of Americans were reported in Hanoi—without State Department approval—to sound out President Ho Chi Minh on the peace outlook.

Today's truce offer was broadcast by the clandestine Viet Cong radio and heard in Hanoi. It apparently did not apply to U. S., Korean, Australian, New Zealand and other Allied troops in South Viet Nam but the broadcast was not entirely clear.

The Viet Cong has offered—and followed—a lunar new year's truce, every year of the war. Last year, in a Jan. 31-Feb. 7 truce, the Viet Cong held their fire. But immediately afterwards they attacked the U. S. helicopter base at Pleiku—an event that led directly to the U. S. bombings of North Viet Nam.

Pope Paul has relayed a message to Johnson expressing the pontiff's "great pleasure" over the Yuletide cease-fire.

But Vatican sources said the Pope was "very disappointed" that the Christmas truce had not been extended.

A former special assistant to the late U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson charged yesterday that South Viet Nam "is just as implacably against peace talks as Hanoi, if not more so."

Clayton Fritchey, in a copyrighted column in the Long Island newspaper Newsday, said Washington has kept secret Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's refusal to take part in unconditional negotiations to end the war, while pinning the blame for failure on peace moves on the "intransigence" of the Hanoi regime.

NEW FDR STAMP—Based on a portrait taken in 1941, this brown, six-cent postage stamp honoring the late Franklin D. Roosevelt will be released for the first time at Hyde Park, N. Y., the wartime president's burial place, on Jan. 29. (UPI Telephoto)

Segregationist's Son Arrested

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP)—The son of Georgia gubernatorial candidate Lester Maddox Sr., was free on $6,000 bond today after being charged here with two counts of burglarizing an appliance store.

Lester Maddox Jr., 21, was found hiding inside a television and appliance store early Sunday, police said. They said he admitted burglarizing the same store Nov. 5.

Maddox

Cobb County chief deputy Harold Griggs quoted the youth as saying his father had set him up in the service station business several months ago and since then he had gotten into a financial jam.

The elder Maddox is a former Atlanta restaurant owner who leased his place of business rather than serve Negroes. He now operates an Atlanta furniture store.

Maddox Sr. was adjudged in civil contempt by a U.S. District Court judge for his action last February and was ordered to pay a $200 fine each day his cafeteria practiced racial discrimination.

The elder Maddox said, "My son has committed a crime and for that he has been justly jailed. I thank God for the police. I thank God they caught my son."

Smokers Warned

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) Cigarette packs bearing health warnings are rolling off production lines at some major North Caroline tobacco companies in advance of the Jan. 1 deadline required by federal law.

Embezzler Sentenced

WOODLAND (AP) — A food market checker who admitted stealing $28,000 over two years from his employer was sentenced yesterday to from 1 to 10 years in prison. Sentenced was Alfred R. Medina, 31, an employee of Raley's Food Store in Woodland. He was arrested in October and pleaded guilty Dec. 13 to grand theft.

Gravedigger Dies

YUBA CITY (AP) — James Sergeant died yesterday of injuries suffered while digging a grave Christmas Eve. Sergeant, 60, was caretaker at the cemetery in nearby Rio Oso. A piece of lumber struck his head while he was digging.

Another Cosmos Up

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched another Cosmos satellite, the 102nd in a series started in March 1962. Announcements of launchings say they have been undertaken to obtain scinetific information. But Western experts believe that many of the satellites are in fact military reconnaissance instruments.

Queen Leads Westminster Abbey Rites

LONDON (UPI) —Queen Elizabeth II led the British people today in ceremonies marking the 900th anniversary of the consecration of Westminster Abbey, religious shrine of the Commonwealth.

Among the 2,300 dignataries in the historic church for the special service was a representative of the Vatican, apostolic delegate Msgr. Ignino Cardinale.

Also present was Morris Ernst, a Jewish attorney from New York who helped raise the millions needed to save the fabric of the abbey and restored it to its olden beauty.

ECUMENICAL TONE

Although the ancient abbey is a jewel of the Church of England, all faiths joined in the observance today. Commentators saw this as evidence of the new spirit of hope for Christian unity.

The ceremony launched a year of concerts, exhibitions, poetry readings and special services at the abbey.

The original abbey was built by Edward the Confessor, who died a few days after it was dedicated to St. Peter and consecrated on Dec. 28, 1065. Edward became the first of 17 British rulers to be interred there.

A $2.8 million restoration program was launched in 1953 by the late Sir Winston Churchill and renovation was only recently completed. Churchill chose to be buried elsewhere but is remembered by memorials inside hhe abbey.

FAMOUS GRAVES

Most of the men who made Britain famous are buried in Westminster. Nearly all British monarchs have been crowned in the abbey, beginning with William the Conqueror in 1066.

Little remains of the original abbey built as the center of a Benedictine monastery. Two centuries after its dedication, King Henry III, moved by reverence for Edward the Confessor and his admiration of French cathedrals of the day, had it rebuilt into the structure which stands today.

Police Shift Talked

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Creation of a post of police inspector with authority to investigate citizens' complaints about the department is being considered by the city council. Mayor Samuel Yorty yesterday asked the council to create the post. Commissioners made a similar recommendation in the aftermath of the Watts riots.

SON, DON'T LET FATHER BORROW YOUR TRIKE

VISALIA (AP)—Police said Max Alva, 33, of Pasadena was given a ticket for permitting an unlicensed minor, his son, to drive his auto.

The car went out of control, swerved off the highway, ripped through a fence and struck a power pole.

Alva's son, Larry, is 6 years old, officers said.

Alva was also cited for driving without a license, felony drunk driving, carrying an open liquor bottle in the car and hit-and-run.

Officers said Alva drove the car from the scene of the accident to a nearby farmhouse, where he fell out.

San Francisco Eases Residence Requirement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A new ordinance allowing city employes to live as far as 30 miles away from the city appears certain of passage by the Board of Supervisors.

The board gave preliminary approval to the measure by a vote of 9-1 yesterday over protests by the police and fire commissions. The measure is expected to be given final approval at a second reading by the board next week.

Currently all city employes are required to live within the city limits unless they receive special dispensation for health reasons.

The police commission opposed the new ordinance, arguing that it would hinder effective police protection. Present policies require an emergency police force to be on call in the city around the clock.

The fire commission backed a 15-mile limit but argued that the 30-mile limit would drive up fire insurance rates.

Airman Injured

Leland Jones, 20, of Hamilton Air Force Base suffered multiple fractures and head injuries Friday in a one-car accident near Penngrove, Sonoma County. He was reported in good condition today at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma.

Teacher Sentenced

CHICO (AP) — Edmond Di Tullio, a Chico State College teacher, was fined $200 and sentenced to five days in jail yesterday for using profane and vulgar language. Di Tullio's attorney posted notice of appeal. He was arrested Oct. 23 in Chico's City Plaza during an anti-Viet Nam war rally.

Highway Gore Called Disaster By Safety Unit

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 720 persons over the three-day Christmas weekend, the highest number ever counted for any holiday period.

The National Safety Council termed the toll a national disaster.

The figure smashed the record of 706 for a 102-hour, four-day holiday weekend that had stood for nine years. The previous record also was for a Christmas observance — in 1956.

The council had estimated a death toll of between 560 and 660.

The record for a three-day holiday was 609 during the 1955 Christmas period.

Christmas 1964, also a three-day observance, brought 578 traffic deaths.

The Associated Press made a survey of traffic fatalities in a non-holiday weekend for comparison purposes. From 6 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 9, through midnight Sunday, Dec. 12, 420 traffic deaths were counted.

Sea Hunt Continues

GRIMSBY, England (AP) — Aircraft, ships and divers searched in the North Sea today for nine men missing from a 5,600-ton oil rig which capsized 40 miles east of the Humber estuary. Four of the rig's crewmen were known to have been killed in the disaster yesterday.

Ninety per cent of Greenlands' population is on the warmer west coast.

Siamese Twins Doing Fine After Surgery, Father Says

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The Siamese twin girls born Christmas Day to Robyn and Gerald Mantonya are "spunky, full of life and moving around a lot," according to their father.

Mantonya, a film technician, said yesterday that he and his wife chose the names Sheila Norine and Lisa Marie for the infants, who were separated six hours after birth by emergency surgery.

The father said he twins were being kept alive by intraveneous feeding in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital and appeared to be thriving.

Born in Holy Cross Hoepital in the San Fernando Valley, the twins were taken to Cedars of Lebanon, where a team of surgeons separated them. The twins, who weighed a total of 12 pounds at birth, were joined face-to-face by a length of tissue. Their abdomens were open.

The twins were the first children born to Mrs. Mantonya, who celebrated her 20th birthday Sunday. Her husband also is 20.

Slide Hit Coast Highway Reopens

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Pacific Coast Highway, blocked for two days by a double landslide, has been reopened for traffic.

Division of Highway crews removed 15,000 tons of earth from the highway which was blocked Saturday by a slide between Sunset and Chatauqua boulevards.

Workmen built a five-foot-high earth dike between the cliffs and the highway to catch dribbling dirt.

Liverpool is a natural harbor.

South of Inverness, traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was forced to detour to the shoulder of the road when a tree fell about 7 a.m.

Still other trees were reported blown down in front of the Talbott Building at Sixth and Grant Avenue, Novato, another just across the street at the Lee Brothers Market, and a third which blocked traffic on Indian Valley Road just inside the city limits. A large limb, meanwhile, fell in front of 1671 Novato Boulevard.

In Sleepy Hollow, a limb blocked traffic in front of 1041 Butterfield Road.

A large eucalyptus tree fell on the house of J. Healy at 639 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley, breaking the roof.

Roofs blew off the former Sausalito Dredging Co. building at the foot of Napa Street and off a parking shed at the Gateway Inn on Bridgeway in Sausalito.

San Rafael police reported two trees down in the divider strip on Bellam Boulevard.

High winds blew water from the Bolinas Lagoon across Shoreline Highway in several places. Stinson Beach residents said the water was splashing close to seaside homes. Residents of the area braced for this afternoon's high tide.

Just before noon, the county public works department reported flooding of streets in the 900 block of Meadowsweet Drive, just outside Corte Madera; on Brookline Avenue, Live Oak Drive and North Vernal Avenue in Tamalpais Valley, and Reed Street and LaVerne Avenue just south of Mill Valley.

Yards were flooded in Tamalpais Valley and on the Tiburon Peninsula.

James Chambers reported flood water within an inch of entering his home at 358 Starling Road in Tennessee Valley at 11:30 a.m. He blamed the water's rise on blocking of a ditch behind the home during construction of the Coyote Creek flood control project.

Flood water poured through a house and garage and washed out part of the driveway at 104 Lehman Lane in Homestead Valley. Other yards in the neighborhood also were flooded.

Wind gusts of more than 55 miles per hour began whipping the Bodega Bay area early today, breaking several small boats loose from their moorings.

The Coast Guard tried in vain to prevent a fishing vessel, the Lavona, from drifting on to the rocks. But conditions were so bad a 44-foot lifeboat was unable to reach the vessel. There was no one aboard the Lavona at the time.

The storm raised fears throughout Northern California that it might be a repeat of last year's Christmas week flood disaster.

The rarely used red and black whole gale warning flag was hosted atop the Telephone Building in San Francisco. Similar warnings were posted along a 600-mile front in California and Oregon.

Gusts up to 100 miles per hour lashed the Sierra Nevada. Gale winds blasted western Nevada.

The Weather Bureau said the full force of a storm, which roared across Washington, Idaho and Oregon yesterday, was moving into California.

Rain measuring five and one-third inches fell during a 24-hour period through this morning at Brookings, Ore.

A low pressure center, charted about 150 miles west of Crescent City at 4 a.m., was said to be moving north, but it trailed a strong low pressure trough and weather front far south off the central and southern california coast. The front was expected to hit northern California this evening.

Snow was expected down to 7,000 feet in the Sierra tonight, and at lower elevations tomorrow night.

Travelers were warned to expect wind and snow in mountain passes.

An oil company's drilling platform, 200 feet square, rode out 45-foot waves 25 miles off the northern Oregon coast. Some 40 men were on the barge-like platform. Winds at the time were reported to be 105 m.p.h.

A blizzard struck in the Blue Mountains of northeastern Oregon and blizzards closed Interstate 5 in southern Oregon and U.S. Highway 97 in northern California. Dust storms at Baker and La Grande, in eastern Oregon, changed into snow storms.

Two storm-related deaths were reported in the Pacific northwest. An 8-year-old boy was injured fatally when the car in which he was riding skidded across the center line of a snow-covered highway north of Seattle and hit a truck. James F. Sopp, 28, of St. Helens, Ore., was electrocuted as he tried to repair a radio antenna. It was blown onto a high voltage line.

Two Kent, Wash., men landed their single-engine plane safely in a blizzard on busy Interstate 5 near Redding yesterday while whipped by winds of more than 100 miles per hour. The plane skidded into a snowbank and had to be pulled out by a snowplow. The men, both experienced pilots, were unhurt.

Petaluma Woman Killed In Crash

PETALUMA (AP)—A woman psychiatrict technician at Sonoma State Hospital was thrown out of a car and killed in a collision last night.

Mrs. Blanche A. Wallace, 61, was in a car driven by her daughter, Mrs. Ruby J. Tolman, 36.

Police said the car was struck broadside by another car driven by Marian Wagner, 18, at a street intersection.

Mrs. Tolman and Miss Wagner suffered fractures but their conditions were not regarded as serious. All three persons were Petaluma residents.

Jury Trial Starts In Cutting Case

Questioning of the first dozen potential jurors from a panel of 225 persons continued today in the Marin Superior Court trial of three San Quentin life termers charged in the beating and knifing of a fourth prisoner.

Accused in the assault last Jan. 21 of Myford G. Duncan, 24, are brothers James and John Schreckengost and Russel Dillard. A penalty phase of the trial follows if the trio is convicted and could result in death penalties.

The three allegedly cut Duncan's throat in the prison paint shop. He survived.

Vandals Set Four Blazes At School

Vandals set fires at four separate locations at the Oliver R. Hartzell School, 211 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael, police learned yesterday.

The attempts to burn down the school were futile, but the school did suffer about $500 damage, officials said.

In one fire, an inflammable liquid was thrown against a door to a teachers' room and ignited. Both the inside and outside of that door were damaged. Then smaller fires were set in trash piled against three classroom doors, but these did little damage.

When the fires were unsuccessful, 13 windows in the school were broken, police added.

Today a janitor at Davidson School, at Lindaro Street and Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, reported that school had been entered during the night. A file was tipped over in an office and the soft drink machine was damaged slightly.

Lists Open For Parks Director

Applications for the position of Marin County Parks and Recreation Director must be submitted to the county personnel office at the Civic Center by Jan. 12.

The $14,400 a year position has been unfilled since Kelvin J. Nelson resigned in September.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the delay was due to the need to revise the job description and to the fact he interviewed a few candidates for the job before deciding on a general recruiting program.

Bel Marin Burglary Reported To Deputy

Theft of a $500 woman's diamond ring and $7 worth of dimes was reported by Carol Majors, 220 Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys, sheriff's officers said today.

Deputies said the items were taken during the past two months. No forced entry was found.

Window Broken

An 18-by-40-inch kitchen window in his home at 18 Tanfield Road, Tiburon, was broken by a rock at 9:40 p.m. yesterday, David Pomeroy reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies.

VIET

U.S. involvement in Viet Nam were reported to have gone to Hanoi on a private mission aimed at clarifying the Communist side's "approach to peace." They included Staughton Lynd, associate professor of history at Yale University, Dr. Herbert Aptheker, a leading Communist writer, and Thomas Hayden, organizer of a leftist student group.

In Saigon, military spokesmen announced that government troops, outnumbered 5 to 1, repulsed two massive Communist attacks on an outpost near the Cambodian border, killing at least 50 Viet Cong.

A Communist battalion—about 500 men — tried twice to overrun the Bu Prang outpost, 100 miles north of Saigon in mountains six miles from the Cambodian border.

A U.S. spokesman said the 100 Vietnamese defenders withstood a mortar and recoilless rifle fire barrage but called for air support when the Communists regrouped and began a second attack.

The Viet Cong withdrew about dawn when two F4F Phantom jets and two propeller-driven A1E Skyraiders made four strikes on their positions. Government casualties were described as light.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman disclosed today there had been no B-52 strikes in South Viet Nam since Christmas Eve, prior to the 30-hour ceasefire.

The spokesman said he knew of no connection between cessation of strikes by the eight-jet Strategic Air Command (SAC) bombers in the South and U.S. Air Force and Navy planes in the North.

In the South, U.S. and Vietnamese air force planes hammered away at Viet Cong positions Monday and early today. The pilots flew 322 strikes and forward air controllers reported 353 buildings destroyed, 274 damaged and 16 sampans destroyed or damaged.

A new Army Reserve force totaling 150,000 men could be ready to go to Viet Nam by July 1, the Pentagon said today in Washington.

Officials said Monday the selected Army National Guard and Reserve now has been built up to 135,000 men since its creation last Sept. 30. They expect it to reach the 150,000 mark before next August.

Should it be necessary to increase the number of troops in Viet Nam by a very large number, thereby depleting the Army's strategic reserves at home, the select force of Army National Guard and organized reserve units could be called up to fill the void.

Assault Charge Going To Court

A 34-year-old San Rafael man is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court tomorrow on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon during a brawl outside the 881 Club on Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Sunday.

Police allege Bobby Gene Adkins of 883 Fourth Street assaulted a man and woman and then kicked them as they lay on the sidewalk.

Lula May Cellers, 47, of 287 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, required 10 stitches to close a wound in the forehead, according to police, and Lewis Charles Ankney, 60, of 1206 Third Street, San Rafael, was kept overnight in San Rafael General Hospital with a bruised forehead, swollen left eye and fractured nose.

Convict's Trial On Knife Charge Reset

San Quentin inmate Ruben Morales was rescheduled for trial today in Marin Superior Court for Jan. 31 instead of the original date of next Monday.

He is accused of illegal possession of a knife last Aug. 7. Morales is serving time for an Aug. 4, 1961, conviction in Fresno County for furnishing marijuana.

Board Keeps Holiday

There was no meeting of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night because of the holidays. Next meeting will be at 8 p. m., Jan. 10.

OBITUARIES

Mrs, Sonia Brandt Dies At 73

Sonia Brandt, a Marin resident for 47 years, died yesterday in a local rest home after a long illness. She was 85 years old.

A native of Sweden, she lived in California 73 years, first in Santa Cruz and later San Francisco before moving to Marin. She lived at 259 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera. Her husband, Gustaf Brandt, who died in 1948, was a longshoreman foreman in San Francisco.

She is survived by a daughter, Sonia B. DeLew of Corte Madera; two sons, Henry Brandt of Sunnyvale and Herman C. Brandt of Felton; 10 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

ARTHUR HELM

Graveside funeral for Arthur Helm, 80, of San Anselmo will be held tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael, directed by Russell and Gooch Mortuary.

Helm died Friday at a local hospital after a two-year illness. He had lived all his lifetime in California, residing in San Anselmo at 430 Scenic Avenue for the past eight years.

He worked 20 years as a machinist for Pittsburg Equitable Meter Co., San Francisco, retiring in about 1950. Following this, he worked part time for about five years for Art Lighting Fixtures of Oakland.

Helm is survived by his wife, Helen G. Helm; a son, Robert M. Helm of Larkspur, and three brothers, Lyman Helm of Visalia, Edward Helm of Yuba City, and Leslie Helm of Oakhurst, Madera County.

Helm was born in Reedley, Tulare County.

The family requests that tributes be contributions to the American Cancer Society.

J. C. FILIPPI

Joseph C. Filippi, retired Mill Valley machinist, died yesterday at a local hospital following a long illness.

Filippi, 76, was a native of Italy. He had lived 65 years in California and 20 years in Mill Valley, last residing at 117 Locust Avenue. He had worked 40 years for Pacific Gear and Tool Works in San Francisco, retiring in 1956.

Filippi was a member of the International Assn. of Machinists, San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Marie C. Filippi; two daughters, Mrs. Lucille Stewart of Ontario, San Bernardino, County, and Mrs. Diane Gardner of Novato; two brothers, Frank Filippi of Mill Valley and August Filippi of San Jose; three sisters, Victoria Savagliano of Italy, Annette Bessoni of Hanford, and Mary Delagnes of Piedmont. He is also survived by three grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Mill Valley. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow, at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

PAULINE BONE

Requiem mass for Pauline M. Bone, who resided for the past three months with a sister, Mrs. Verdel Lucot at 11 Twin Oaks Avenue, San Rafael, was offered yesterday at Mission Dolores Basilica, San Francisco.

A native of California, Miss Bone died Friday in a San Francisco hospital. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

She was employed as a telegraphic clerk at the Wells Fargo Bank, San Francisco.

She is survived also by another sister, Mrs. Gladys Menesini.

MRS. ZELMA WILLIAMSON

Funeral for Mrs. Zelma Williamson, 63, of Petaluma, sister of Ovieto Barker of San Anselmo, was held today in Sebastopol.

Mrs. Williamson's body was found Sunday morning on Cameron Beach, north of Bodega Bay.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said she apparently took her own life by diving into the water. She was listed as missing when her purse was found at Salmon Creek on Christmas Day.

Mrs. Williamson, who lived alone, had been ill and had previously threatened to take her life, according to Johansen. She left no note, he said.

A native of Palo Alto, she had lived in the Sebastopol area for seven years.

Surviving, in addition to her brother in San Anselmo, are a daughter, Mrs. Naida Johnson of Sebastopol, two other brothers, R. V. Barker of Atascadero and Gerald H. Barker of St. Helena, and several grandchildren.

Burial was in Sebastopol Cemetery, Sebastopol.

MAMIE VERNON

Private funeral for Mrs. Mamie Vernon, 70, of San Rafael was held yesterday at Russell and Gooch Chapel in Mill Valley. Inurnment will be at Chapel of Memories, Oakland.

Mrs. Vernon died last Thursday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was a native of Marin County, and had resided in Mill Valley for many years. Since 1960 she lived in San Rafael, at 1408 Second Street.

She leaves no survivor.

Council To Hear Salary Report

The Novato City Council will hear a report on a salary survey by Griffenhagen-Kroeger Associates when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The council hired the San Francisco firm to make a survey of jobs and wages paid by municipalities and businesses from San Rafael through Petaluma in comparison with the City of Novato.

Other items to come before the council include a report on street lighting standards and changing of the date from Jan. 12 to 18 for the first master plan hearing.

Registration Opens For Child Classes

Registration for Novato Parks and Recreation Department tiny tots classes started yesterday at the Novato City Hall.

Classes will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., with children attending two days a week. If enough enroll for these classes, there will be afternoon classes from 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, announced Edward Adams, director. There is a fee for the five-week course.

No Meeting Held

There was no meeting last night of the Sausalito School District board because of the holidays. Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Monday, at the district office.

Window Smashed

A bottle thrown through a window of the Medico-Dental Pharmacy, 711 D Street, San Rafael, Saturday caused $100 damage, police reported yesterday. The broken window was reported by Elvis Delphino Ragalia, owner of the business.

VAL M. DAVIS

Val M. Davis of Sausalito, a service engineer with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for 36 years, died today at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 65.

Arriving in this country from Australia at the age of 11, he lived in Canada and Berkeley before making his home at 85 Girard Avenue in 1946.

He was a member of the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco. His father, Nathanial A. Davis was founder of the Foreign Trade Club in San Francisco.

Davis is survived by his wife, Mrs. Joan Dyer Davis.

Funeral arrangements are being made by Ellis Olson Mortuary, Albany. Burial will be at Sunset Mausoleum, Berkeley.

Questioning of the first dozen potential jurors from a panel of 225 persons continued today in the Marin Superior Court trial of three San Quentin life termers charged in the beating and knifing of a fourth prisoner.

Accused in the assault last Jan. 21 of Myford G. Duncan, 24, are brothers James and John Schreckengost and Russel Dillard. A penalty phase of the trial follows if the trio is convicted and could result in death penalties.

The three allegedly cut Duncan's throat in the prison paint shop. He survived.

Vandals Set Four Blazes At School

Vandals set fires at four separate locations at the Oliver R. Hartzell School, 211 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael, police learned yesterday.

The attempts to burn down the school were futile, but the school did suffer about $500 damage, officials said.

In one fire, an inflammable liquid was thrown against a door to a teachers' room and ignited. Both the inside and outside of that door were damaged. Then smaller fires were set in trash piled against three classroom doors, but these did little damage.

When the fires were unsuccessful, 13 windows in the school were broken, police added.

Today a janitor at Davidson School, at Lindaro Street and Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, reported that school had been entered during the night. A file was tipped over in an office and the soft drink machine was damaged slightly.

Lists Open For Parks Director

Applications for the position of Marin County Parks and Recreation Director must be submitted to the county personnel office at the Civic Center by Jan. 12.

The $14,400 a year position has been unfilled since Kelvin J. Nelson resigned in September.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the delay was due to the need to revise the job description and to the fact he interviewed a few candidates for the job before deciding on a general recruiting program.

Bel Marin Burglary Reported To Deputy

Theft of a $500 woman's diamond ring and $7 worth of dimes was reported by Carol Majors, 220 Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys, sheriff's officers said today.

Deputies said the items were taken during the past two months. No forced entry was found.

Window Broken

An 18-by-40-inch kitchen window in his home at 18 Tanfield Road, Tiburon, was broken by a rock at 9:40 p.m. yesterday, David Pomeroy reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies.

VIET

U.S. involvement in Viet Nam were reported to have gone to Hanoi on a private mission aimed at clarifying the Communist side's "approach to peace." They included Staughton Lynd, associate professor of history at Yale University, Dr. Herbert Aptheker, a leading Communist writer, and Thomas Hayden, organizer of a leftist student group.

In Saigon, military spokesmen announced that government troops, outnumbered 5 to 1, repulsed two massive Communist attacks on an outpost near the Cambodian border, killing at least 50 Viet Cong.

A Communist battalion—about 500 men — tried twice to overrun the Bu Prang outpost, 100 miles north of Saigon in mountains six miles from the Cambodian border.

A U.S. spokesman said the 100 Vietnamese defenders withstood a mortar and recoilless rifle fire barrage but called for air support when the Communists regrouped and began a second attack.

The Viet Cong withdrew about dawn when two F4F Phantom jets and two propeller-driven A1E Skyraiders made four strikes on their positions. Government casualties were described as light.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman disclosed today there had been no B-52 strikes in South Viet Nam since Christmas Eve, prior to the 30-hour ceasefire.

The spokesman said he knew of no connection between cessation of strikes by the eight-jet Strategic Air Command (SAC) bombers in the South and U.S. Air Force and Navy planes in the North.

In the South, U.S. and Vietnamese air force planes hammered away at Viet Cong positions Monday and early today. The pilots flew 322 strikes and forward air controllers reported 353 buildings destroyed, 274 damaged and 16 sampans destroyed or damaged.

A new Army Reserve force totaling 150,000 men could be ready to go to Viet Nam by July 1, the Pentagon said today in Washington.

Officials said Monday the selected Army National Guard and Reserve now has been built up to 135,000 men since its creation last Sept. 30. They expect it to reach the 150,000 mark before next August.

Should it be necessary to increase the number of troops in Viet Nam by a very large number, thereby depleting the Army's strategic reserves at home, the select force of Army National Guard and organized reserve units could be called up to fill the void.

Assault Charge Going To Court

A 34-year-old San Rafael man is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court tomorrow on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon during a brawl outside the 881 Club on Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Sunday.

Police allege Bobby Gene Adkins of 883 Fourth Street assaulted a man and woman and then kicked them as they lay on the sidewalk.

Lula May Cellers, 47, of 287 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, required 10 stitches to close a wound in the forehead, according to police, and Lewis Charles Ankney, 60, of 1206 Third Street, San Rafael, was kept overnight in San Rafael General Hospital with a bruised forehead, swollen left eye and fractured nose.

Convict's Trial On Knife Charge Reset

San Quentin inmate Ruben Morales was rescheduled for trial today in Marin Superior Court for Jan. 31 instead of the original date of next Monday.

He is accused of illegal possession of a knife last Aug. 7. Morales is serving time for an Aug. 4, 1961, conviction in Fresno County for furnishing marijuana.

Board Keeps Holiday

There was no meeting of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night because of the holidays. Next meeting will be at 8 p. m., Jan. 10.

OBITUARIES

Mrs, Sonia Brandt Dies At 73

Sonia Brandt, a Marin resident for 47 years, died yesterday in a local rest home after a long illness. She was 85 years old.

A native of Sweden, she lived in California 73 years, first in Santa Cruz and later San Francisco before moving to Marin. She lived at 259 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera. Her husband, Gustaf Brandt, who died in 1948, was a longshoreman foreman in San Francisco.

She is survived by a daughter, Sonia B. DeLew of Corte Madera; two sons, Henry Brandt of Sunnyvale and Herman C. Brandt of Felton; 10 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

ARTHUR HELM

Graveside funeral for Arthur Helm, 80, of San Anselmo will be held tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael, directed by Russell and Gooch Mortuary.

Helm died Friday at a local hospital after a two-year illness. He had lived all his lifetime in California, residing in San Anselmo at 430 Scenic Avenue for the past eight years.

He worked 20 years as a machinist for Pittsburg Equitable Meter Co., San Francisco, retiring in about 1950. Following this, he worked part time for about five years for Art Lighting Fixtures of Oakland.

Helm is survived by his wife, Helen G. Helm; a son, Robert M. Helm of Larkspur, and three brothers, Lyman Helm of Visalia, Edward Helm of Yuba City, and Leslie Helm of Oakhurst, Madera County.

Helm was born in Reedley, Tulare County.

The family requests that tributes be contributions to the American Cancer Society.

J. C. FILIPPI

Joseph C. Filippi, retired Mill Valley machinist, died yesterday at a local hospital following a long illness.

Filippi, 76, was a native of Italy. He had lived 65 years in California and 20 years in Mill Valley, last residing at 117 Locust Avenue. He had worked 40 years for Pacific Gear and Tool Works in San Francisco, retiring in 1956.

Filippi was a member of the International Assn. of Machinists, San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Marie C. Filippi; two daughters, Mrs. Lucille Stewart of Ontario, San Bernardino, County, and Mrs. Diane Gardner of Novato; two brothers, Frank Filippi of Mill Valley and August Filippi of San Jose; three sisters, Victoria Savagliano of Italy, Annette Bessoni of Hanford, and Mary Delagnes of Piedmont. He is also survived by three grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Mill Valley. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow, at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

PAULINE BONE

Requiem mass for Pauline M. Bone, who resided for the past three months with a sister, Mrs. Verdel Lucot at 11 Twin Oaks Avenue, San Rafael, was offered yesterday at Mission Dolores Basilica, San Francisco.

A native of California, Miss Bone died Friday in a San Francisco hospital. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

She was employed as a telegraphic clerk at the Wells Fargo Bank, San Francisco.

She is survived also by another sister, Mrs. Gladys Menesini.

MRS. ZELMA WILLIAMSON

Funeral for Mrs. Zelma Williamson, 63, of Petaluma, sister of Ovieto Barker of San Anselmo, was held today in Sebastopol.

Mrs. Williamson's body was found Sunday morning on Cameron Beach, north of Bodega Bay.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said she apparently took her own life by diving into the water. She was listed as missing when her purse was found at Salmon Creek on Christmas Day.

Mrs. Williamson, who lived alone, had been ill and had previously threatened to take her life, according to Johansen. She left no note, he said.

A native of Palo Alto, she had lived in the Sebastopol area for seven years.

Surviving, in addition to her brother in San Anselmo, are a daughter, Mrs. Naida Johnson of Sebastopol, two other brothers, R. V. Barker of Atascadero and Gerald H. Barker of St. Helena, and several grandchildren.

Burial was in Sebastopol Cemetery, Sebastopol.

MAMIE VERNON

Private funeral for Mrs. Mamie Vernon, 70, of San Rafael was held yesterday at Russell and Gooch Chapel in Mill Valley. Inurnment will be at Chapel of Memories, Oakland.

Mrs. Vernon died last Thursday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was a native of Marin County, and had resided in Mill Valley for many years. Since 1960 she lived in San Rafael, at 1408 Second Street.

She leaves no survivor.

Council To Hear Salary Report

The Novato City Council will hear a report on a salary survey by Griffenhagen - Kroeger Associates when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The council hired the San Francisco firm to make a survey of jobs and wages paid by municipalities and businesses from San Rafael through Petaluma in comparison with the City of Novato.

Other items to come before the council include a report on street lighting standards and changing of the date from Jan. 12 to 18 for the first master plan hearing.

Registration Opens For Child Classes

Registration for Novato Parks and Recreation Department tiny tots classes started yesterday at the Novato City Hall.

Classes will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., with children attending two days a week. If enough enroll for these classes, there will be afternoon classes from 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, announced Edward Adams, director. There is a fee for the five-week course.

No Meeting Held

There was no meeting last night of the Sausalito School District board because of the holidays. Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Monday, at the district office.

Window Smashed

A bottle thrown through a window of the Medico-Dental Pharmacy, 711 D Street, San Rafael, Saturday caused $100 damage, police reported yesterday. The broken window was reported by Elvis Delphino Ragalia, owner of the business.

VAL M. DAVIS

Val M. Davis of Sausalito, a service engineer with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for 36 years, died today at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 65.

Arriving in this country from Australia at the age of 11, he lived in Canada and Berkeley before making his home at 85 Girard Avenue in 1946.

He was a member of the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco. His father, Nathanial A. Davis was founder of the Foreign Trade Club in San Francisco.

Davis is survived by his wife, Mrs. Joan Dyer Davis.

Funeral arrangements are being made by Ellis Olson Mortuary, Albany. Burial will be at Sunset Mausoleum, Berkeley.

"Any average family can now amass cash—perhaps even become rich—because of the methods banks use in compounding your interest."

"Yes, there is a way to double your money without speculating."

Dr. Leslie C. Peacock, Vice President and Economist for Crocker-Citizens National Bank, suggests how to get ahead financially.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: In this day and age, is there still a way to double your money without speculating?

DR. PEACOCK: Absolutely. Based on our current interest rate and method of computation, money you deposit now with our bank in a savings account will double in about 17½ years. And every dollar you deposit will amount to about four dollars in 35 years at today's 4% rate. The secret lies in the way your interest compounds.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: How does this differ from other forms of investment?

DR. PEACOCK: The market value of real estate, mutual funds, stocks and bonds can go up or down, of course, but dollars compounding interest can go in only one direction—up. You know your money is growing when it's in the bank, and you can count on it for retirement.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: True, but most families don't have large lump sums to deposit right now. How can they plan for a comfortable retirement?

DR. PEACOCK: Social Security is a mainstay, but even supplemented by income from a company pension plan, it may be hardly enough for more than minimum comforts, not to mention emergencies or extra luxuries such as travel. But there is a way the average family can amass cash without taking speculative risks. It requires laying away a few dollars every month in a savings account with the bank, and letting compound interest go to work over a long period. The arithmetic may startle you.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Can you give an example?

DR. PEACOCK: Say you're a 25-year-old just out of college and starting your first job. If you save just $10 a month, you will have deposited $4,800 by the time you're 65. But you would actually have $11,819 cash in your account—provided, of course, the current 4% compound interest rate is in effect throughout the entire period. Your $10 deposits would earn $7,019 interest at that rate. And certainly most working people should be able to save at least $10 a month.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Will interest rates change?

DR. PEACOCK: We can't predict that. Of course, the rate can go either up or down, and over the periods of time we're talking about it could change several times.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Assuming that the current rate applied, at age 65 would you draw out that $11,819 nest egg?

DR. PEACOCK: Well, you could draw it out at the rate of $70 a month—and it would last you 20 years and 7½ months. That's a total payout during that time of $17,325, all from a total investment of $4,800. That's a pretty handsome return, I'd say.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Say you were 35 years old and deposited $50 a month until you were 65. How much cash would you have?

DR. PEACOCK: Using today's rate and method of computation, $34,735. You would have deposited only $18,000 in an investment which doesn't fluctuate in market value.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Stocks and bonds fluctuate in value. Does this mean you advise against them as investments?

DR. PEACOCK: No, quite to the contrary. Other investments have their advantages, too. They're fine—but only after you've covered all the other bases, such as life, health and other insurance, a cash reserve for emergencies, and perhaps a home of your own.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Some of our neighbors are saving $100 a month by using your "Layaway Plan" service. Isn't this stretching things a bit?

DR. PEACOCK: Maybe or maybe not, but these families will be well off. For example, if a breadwinner at age 25 could save $100 a month until he reaches 65, he would have $118,197 cash in the bank. His deposits would have earned $70,197 interest at the current rate. For the average family, saving as much as $100 each month might be fairly hard. It could mean making some sacrifices now—but it's worth it in the long run if you want true financial security and a rich, full life at retirement age.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: What's the best age to start saving?

DR. PEACOCK: The earlier the better, but the rewards are great at any age. The secret, of course, is to get started now and to stick with it. One couple our bank serves started just last week to save $100 a month. He's 45 years old. When he reaches 65, our figures show they'll have $36,744—in cash. Then they plan to buy some income property and live happily ever after. We think they'll do it, too.

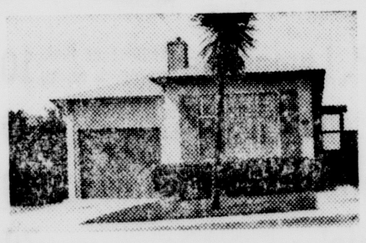
CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Bankers say that too many families are missing a golden opportunity to achieve financial security. Is it really a good time to save?

DR. PEACOCK: Decidedly—especially here in California, where incomes are higher than ever before and also higher than in other parts of the country. If a family can't save now, it may be that it never will.

NOTE: The amounts quoted are subject to any change in the Bank's savings interest rate or method of interest computation.

"1. INSURANCE is essential and should be provided to protect your wife and children.

2. A CASH RESERVE is next, for a comfortable retirement, emergencies, a possible down payment on a house, or perhaps a college education for your children. This should be in a bank savings account, too.



3. BUYING A HOUSE is often better than paying rent.

4. PENSIONS AND SOCIAL SECURITY will help give you security—but not luxuries—in your later years.

5. OTHER INVESTMENTS have their advantages, too, but only after you've covered all the other bases."

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Assuming that the current rate applied, at age 65 would you draw out that $11,819 nest egg?

DR. PEACOCK: Well, you could draw it out at the rate of $70 a month—and it would last you 20 years and 7½ months. That's a total payout during that time of $17,325, all from a total investment of $4,800. That's a pretty handsome return, I'd say.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Say you were 35 years old and deposited $50 a month until you were 65. How much cash would you have?

DR. PEACOCK: Using today's rate and method of computation, $34,735. You would have deposited only $18,000 in an investment which doesn't fluctuate in market value.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Stocks and bonds fluctuate in value. Does this mean you advise against them as investments?

DR. PEACOCK: No, quite to the contrary. Other investments have their advantages, too. They're fine—but only after you've covered all the other bases, such as life, health and other insurance, a cash reserve for emergencies, and perhaps a home of your own.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Some of our neighbors are saving $100 a month by using your "Layaway Plan" service. Isn't this stretching things a bit?

DR. PEACOCK: Maybe or maybe not, but these families will be well off. For example, if a breadwinner at age 25 could save $100 a month until he reaches 65, he would have $118,197 cash in the bank. His deposits would have earned $70,197 interest at the current rate. For the average family, saving as much as $100 each month might be fairly hard. It could mean making some sacrifices now—but it's worth it in the long run if you want true financial security and a rich, full life at retirement age.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: What's the best age to start saving?

DR. PEACOCK: The earlier the better, but the rewards are great at any age. The secret, of course, is to get started now and to stick with it. One couple our bank serves started just last week to save $100 a month. He's 45 years old. When he reaches 65, our figures show they'll have $36,744—in cash. Then they plan to buy some income property and live happily ever after. We think they'll do it, too.

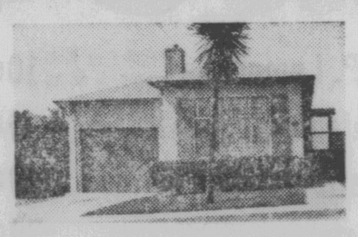
CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Bankers say that too many families are missing a golden opportunity to achieve financial security. Is it really a good time to save?

DR. PEACOCK: Decidedly—especially here in California, where incomes are higher than ever before and also higher than in other parts of the country. If a family can't save now, it may be that it never will.

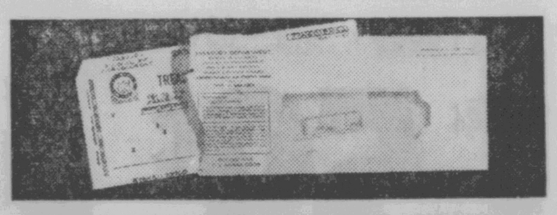
NOTE: The amounts quoted are subject to any change in the Bank's savings interest rate or method of interest computation.

"1. INSURANCE is essential and should be provided to protect your wife and children.

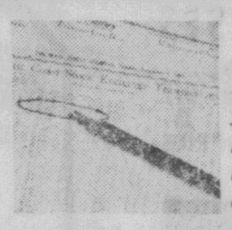
2. A CASH RESERVE is next, for a comfortable retirement, emergencies, a possible down payment on a house, or perhaps a college education for your children. This should be in a bank savings account, too.



3. BUYING A HOUSE is often better than paying rent.



4. PENSIONS AND SOCIAL SECURITY will help give you security—but not luxuries—in your later years.



5. OTHER INVESTMENTS have their advantages, too, but only after you've covered all the other bases."

GILDED ROMANCE — Automotive heiress Anne Ford, 22, and her fiance, stockbroker Giancarlo Usielli, 31, arrive at the Delmonico Hotel in New York City last night for their pre-nuptial ball. The couple's wedding ceremony was scheduled for this afternoon. (UPI Telephoto)

Ford Clan Attends Party Before Heiress' Wedding

NEW YORK (AP) — "Watch the Fords go by" was the game played in the Delmonico Hotel lobby here last night as more than 400 well-heeled and well-known persons made their way to the 22-year-old Anne Ford's prewedding party.

Early in the evening, the father of the bridge-to-be, Henry Ford II, led the parade. Accompanying him was the mother of the bride-to-be, Anne McDonnell Ford, from whom he was divorced last year after 23 years of marriage.

There also was the vivacious, blonde Cristina, whom he married in February. Along too was the bridegroom, Giancarlo Uzielli.

The couple were to be married in a civil ceremony this afternoon at Mrs. McDonnel Ford's Fifth Avenue apartment.

The family shied away from photographers and raced for the elevators. Twelve security men were assigned to protect the privacy of the party—one of the most heavily guarded parties in the hotel's history.

Work Furlough System Planned

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state department of corrections is beginning negotiations with various counties toward setting up cooperative state-local work furlough programs for prison inmates.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said the program would be under 1965 legislation which authorized transfer of selected state inmates to local jails to permit the work furloughs. These carefully screened inmates would be permitted to leave the jail during working hours to hold a job. Their earnings would help pay the cost of their confinement and contribute to family support.

Representatives of the department of corrections will meet with city and county officials in the next few months to negotiate the contracts for such work furlough operations.

Federal Action Urged To End Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal agencies have been urged to take the initiative in enforcing Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act — the provision that forbids racial discrimination in federally assisted programs and permits the government to cut off funds where discrimination exists.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told 21 agencies that the government should seek out illegal discrimination and try to end it rather than wait for complaints before acting.

Rep. Harris Ignores Politics In Resigning For Judgeship

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, announced today that he would resign from Congress on Feb. 3 to take the U.S. judgeship post to which he was appointed last summer.

Harris said that he was taking the step despite requests from political advisers at home that he put off his resignation until late April.

Harris' departure in February could mean a wide open election for his House seat in which a minority candidate—a Negro or a Republican—possibly could be elected.

Harris told a news conference he appreciated "the problem" but did not think it was in the best public interest to delay his resignation. He said that by Feb. 3 he would have concluded all his responsibilities as a congressman and as chairman of an influential committee.

Body Identified As Ex-Convict

PACIFICA (UPI)—Police began a statewide investigation today of the recent activities of ex-convict William J. Schooley, 42, whose body was found 25 feet down a cliff at Devil's Slide near here Sunday.

The body was identified last night from clothing he was wearing and partial fingerprints.

Schooley's estranged wife, Mary, Daly City, told police he had been living in Los Angeles recently and working as a salesman.

Schooley served time for robbery and embezzlement in San Francisco and the Nevada Prison in Carson City.

His body was found entangled in brush below Highway 1 with a bullet in his forehead.

Farmer To Quit, Get New Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Farmer, a national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) will resign March 1 to head a new $50 million program designed to provide education and job training for the poor, it was announced Sunday.

The new organization, to be financed by federal and private funds, will be known as Center for Community Action Education Inc., CORE spokesman Greg Harris said.

Harris said a new CORE director will be elected next month.

CHARITABLE CHRISTMAS PRESENT

The fee for this portrait of Ski, pet German shepherd of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Katzung of 65 Knoll Road, San Rafael, was donated to the Guide Dogs for the Blind School of San Rafael by artist Frances von Ahn (right). The painting was a Christmas gift from Mrs. Katzung to her husband. Mrs. von Ahn, of 23 La Cresenta Way, San Rafael, has announced that she will donate all commissions from pet portraits which she paints to the school.

Released Military Devices Aid In Detecting Diseases In Crops

BERKELEY (AP)—Two miles high, the airplane raced over a field of wheat.

Looking down, a special spying eye detected the beginning of a serious crop disease, two weeks sooner than a human expert could have spotted the trouble on the ground. Steps to control the disease were taken that much earlier.

This is one example of a new, expanding kind of spying to pry out valuable earth secrets — how crops and forests are faring, where hidden minerals or oil may lie, to fight fires, to find clues to coming changes in climate and weather, to learn what man by his actions is doing to his own planet.

Earth scientists call this remote sensing of the environment. It is aided now by a whole family of new sensing devices developed largely for military uses and now being taken off the secret list.

The spying eye over the wheat field was an infra-red device which detects heat waves. A darker image from part of the field marked the beginning of black stem rust disease.

Dr. Robert N. Colwell professor of forestry at the University of California, cited this instance of helpful spying today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

Combined use of infra-red and ultraviolet devices, radar, regular and color photography, and other means, is capable of telling one kind of vegetation from another, how healthy the vegetation is, and even why it is becoming sick, Dr. Colwell said.

The devices can pick up information to help "predict weeks, months or years in advance what a yield will be" in crops, or orchards or timberland, he said.

Devices that count gamma rays — a form of X ray — emanating from uranium and other elements in rocks are proving helpful in studying geologic formations and compositions of soils, said Dr. Jack Van Lopik of Texas Instruments Inc., Dallas, Tex.

Dr. John Place of the Office of Naval Research, Washington, D.C., told of studies, assisted by the Navy, by University of Wisconsin scientists using special airborne devices to locate lakes in northern Canada that are the first to thaw or the first to freeze.

He said this can help in determining the "cold pole" of the North American continent, with significance in predicting weather and perhaps climatic changes.

Scientists now are learning how best to use the keen new eyes and to interpret the findings, said Dr. Charles E. Olson Jr., of the University of Michigan.

Infra-red and other kinds of peeking can even spot differences in cultivation practices, he said.

An infra-red eye found the difference between two stands of corn, of exactly the same variety, fertilized the same way, in Minnesota. One had a darker tone.

The reason turned out to be that that field earlier had been planted to Alfalfa for three years while the other had been kept in corn for five years. The darker field contained more nitrogen and more moisture with deeper roots reflecting more heat, Dr. Olson said.

Vast areas of land could be surveyed to pinpoint better land practices to increase food yields for a hungry world, he said.

Earth satellites with special sensors promise further to advance man's knowledge of his own planet, and what is happening to it "in detail and in the turmoil" taking place on its surface, said Dr. James Latham, professor of geography at Florida Atlantic University, Boca Raton, Fla.

Adoption Agency Changes Policy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The County Bureau of Adoptions reports that for the first time in its history single persons are being allowed to adopt children.

Walter Heath, bureau director, said the move was made in an effort to find homes for 250 Negro children. He said Caucasion children still are being placed only with two parents, because the children available only slightly outnumber couples seeking them.

Heath said that so far a 5-year-old Negro boy and a baby have been placed with unmarried women.

Higher Rate Of Deductions For Paychecks

A higher rate of contributions for social security will be taken from paychecks starting Jan. 1.

The present deduction is 3.625 per cent of taxable earnings. It was scheduled to rise to 4.125 per cent, but instead will go to 4.2 per cent, with the extra money used to finance the federal government's new medicare program.

Also, at present, the contribution is taken from the first $4,800 earned each year. Starting in 1966 the deduction will be made from the first $6,600.

The basic rise, which had been scheduled earlier, will finance a 7 per cent increase in cash benefits for people 65 years old and older. The increase will be matched by contributions made by employers. The deduction rate for self-employed persons will rise from 5.4 to 6.15 per cent Jan. 1.

The law calls for gradual additional increases in rates until 1987, when employer and employee rates will be 5.65 per cent and self-employed rate will be 7.8 per cent.

Ex-Husband Held For Gun Threat

A man described by police as a former newspaperman, Theodore Louis Bredt, 45, of 10 Sonoma Avenue, San Rafael, was arrested today and charged with assault with a deadly weapon after he pulled a gun on a visitor to the Fairfax home of his ex-wife.

Mrs. Nina Bredt told police her former husband walked into her home at 108 Dominga Avenue at 3:25 a.m. and held a gun at the head of Dale Hamilton, 253 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo.

She ran from the room and called the police. When Patrolman D. Carver arrived he said Hamilton had wrestled the loaded gun away from Bredt.

Bredt was booked at Marin County jail and released on $1,500 bail.

BANK PATRON BOTHERED BY SOLITUDE?

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Larry Hanson walked into a suburban Jacksonville bank intending to cash a check yesterday — and found himself alone. It was closed and supposedly locked.

He tiptoed out, being careful not to set off any alarms, and called police.

Patrolman D. J. Crews, who investigated, reported that apparently the front door had been unlocked since Friday but that nothing seemed to be disturbed.

Crews said a bank official told him that the employee who usually locks the door left early Friday.

Cuban Ship's Officers Land In Bay Area

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four Cuban merchant marine officers, who quit their ship in Japan to protest the shipment of cargo to North Viet Nam, arrived here yesterday to obtain political asylum in the United States.

It was the second defection by Cuban officers in a week. Another group quit a vessel earlier in Colombo, Ceylon.

Capt. Francisco Cobas Oses, 47, spokesman for the officers who arrived here, said they quit the 9,732-ton Aracelio Iglesia in Osaka because of orders to carry "secret cargo" from Shanghai to North Viet Nam.

He said every Cuban ship in Asiatic waters is now expected to do the same, and such orders have caused widespread discontent in the Cuban merchant marine.

"At this moment, other members of the Cuban merchant fleet would like to make the same decision, but I do not know how many will be able to do so," Oses ssid.

The Cuban Embassy in Tokyo has denied its ships are carrying cargo to North Viet Nam. It issued a statement saying its vessels only go there to pick up general merchandise.

The other officers who defected with Oses were Antonio Luiz y Arias, 41, chief mate; Mario Julio Perez Giron y Valdez, 35, chief engineer, and Humberto Rey Fernandez y Quintero, 37, purser.

Oses said he hoped their defection would inspire people in Cuba, where the captain still has a wife and two children. He said he would attempt to get them out, but added hat he fears they now will have "a very difficult time" and their lives might be in danger.

The captain told reporters he has no immediate plans except to see friends and relatives in the United States. He was met by two representatives of the Department of Defense.

Continued War Threat To Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Viet Nam war would prove costly not only to President Johnson's Great Society program but also to his heavy Democratic majorities in Congress, a nonpartisan citizens group said today.

A report of the National Committee for an Effective Congress said the Democrats' hopes for holding the gains they made in the house in the 1964 elections are "gravely jeopardized by the Viet Nam war."

Continuing escalation in Viet Nam, the committee said, will have an impact on the administration's domestic legislative program by placing "a new and sharper knife in the hand of the economy bloc."

CHARITABLE CHRISTMAS PRESENT

The fee for this portrait of Ski, pet German shepherd of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Katzung of 65 Knoll Road, San Rafael, was donated to the Guide Dogs for the Blind School of San Rafael by artist Frances von Ahn (right). The painting was a Christmas gift from Mrs. Katzung to her husband. Mrs. von Ahn, of 23 La Cresenta Way, San Rafael, has announced that she will donate all commissions from pet portraits which she paints to the school.

Released Military Devices Aid In Detecting Diseases In Crops

BERKELEY (AP)—Two miles high, the airplane raced over a field of wheat.

Looking down, a special spying eye detected the beginning of a serious crop disease, two weeks sooner than a human expert could have spotted the trouble on the ground. Steps to control the disease were taken that much earlier.

This is one example of a new, expanding kind of spying to pry out valuable earth secrets — how crops and forests are faring, where hidden minerals or oil may lie, to fight fires, to find clues to coming changes in climate and weather, to learn what man by his actions is doing to his own planet.

Earth scientists call this remote sensing of the environment. It is aided now by a whole family of new sensing devices developed largely for military uses and now being taken off the secret list.

The spying eye over the wheat field was an infra-red device which detects heat waves. A darker image from part of the field marked the beginning of black stem rust disease.

Dr. Robert N. Colwell professor of forestry at the University of California, cited this instance of helpful spying today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

Combined use of infra-red and ultraviolet devices, radar, regular and color photography, and other means, is capable of telling one kind of vegetation from another, how healthy the vegetation is, and even why it is becoming sick, Dr. Colwell said.

The devices can pick up information to help "predict weeks, months or years in advance what a yield will be" in crops, or orchards or timberland, he said.

Devices that count gamma rays — a form of X ray — emanating from uranium and other elements in rocks are proving helpful in studying geologic formations and compositions of soils, said Dr. Jack Van Lopik of Texas Instruments Inc., Dallas, Tex.

Dr. John Place of the Office of Naval Research, Washington, D.C., told of studies, assisted by the Navy, by University of Wisconsin scientists using special airborne devices to locate lakes in northern Canada that are the first to thaw or the first to freeze.

He said this can help in determining the "cold pole" of the North American continent, with significance in predicting weather and perhaps climatic changes.

Scientists now are learning how best to use the keen new eyes and to interpret the findings, said Dr. Charles E. Olson Jr., of the University of Michigan.

Gunman Gets Loot, Tosses It From Car

SAN LEANDRO (AP)—Police today sought a gunman who, disguised in a clown mask, robbed a Union City bank branch of $24,284 and then tossed the loot from a speeding getaway car.

A news photographer spotted a shopping bag lettered "Merry Christmas" lying in a roadside weed patch. The money was inside.

Robert Cowles, the bank's operations officer, said the gunman, wearing black pants and a sweater, entered just before closing time yesterday and pointed a revolver at him.

The robber threw the red-trimmed white shopping bag on Cowles' desk and snapped, "Fill it up."

With Cowles escorting him, the bandit cleaned the bills out of three teller cages and then said, "Let's go to the vault."

He scooped up more bills and then herded the bank employes and two customers into a storeroom, ordering them not to make any fuss.

As he bolted out of the bank and across Union City Blvd., the bandit was nearly hit by a passing car. But he dodged and jumped into a waiting light blue car with a driver described as swarthy and heavy-set.

At an intersection two miles away, a truck driver reported seeing a bundle thrown from the speeding sedan. Alwyn Silva, Fremont News Register photographer, drove to the area and found the loot bag.

Dozens of sheriff's officers, police and FBI agents joined the hunt for the robbers. Officers said the pair was believed to have escaped across the Dumbarton Bridge to the peninsula side of San Francisco Bay.

The bank lost a total of $62,000 in three previous holdups since 1920. A robbery in 1957 netted robbers some $35,000. They never have been caught.

Officers Elected In Retired Unit

Mrs. Elenor Jones of Fairfax has been elected president of the Marin Chapter of the American Assn. of Retired Persons. She is to succeed W. S. Voorhies, of San Rafael, acting president, when officers are installed in February.

Other officers recently elected include Nettie Shaver of San Rafael, vice president; Margaret Weber of Fairfax, secretary; Faye Murrey of San Anselmo, treasurer, and Margaret Coy of San Rafael, program chairman.

There will be no January meeting of the chapter since the meeting date falls on New Year's Day. The next meeting, according to William B. MacLane, publicity chairman, will be Feb. 5.

BANK PATRON BOTHERED BY SOLITUDE?

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Larry Hanson walked into a suburban Jacksonville bank intending to cash a check yesterday — and found himself alone. It was closed and supposedly locked.

He tiptoed out, being careful not to set off any alarms, and called police.

Patrolman D. J. Crews, who investigated, reported that apparently the front door had been unlocked since Friday but that nothing seemed to be disturbed.

Crews said a bank official told him that the employee who usually locks the door left early Friday.

Cuban Ship's Officers Land In Bay Area

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four Cuban merchant marine officers, who quit their ship in Japan to protest the shipment of cargo to North Viet Nam, arrived here yesterday to obtain political asylum in the United States.

It was the second defection by Cuban officers in a week. Another group quit a vessel earlier in Colombo, Ceylon.

Capt. Francisco Cobas Oses, 47, spokesman for the officers who arrived here, said they quit the 9,732-ton Aracelio Iglesia in Osaka because of orders to carry "secret cargo" from Shanghai to North Viet Nam.

He said every Cuban ship in Asiatic waters is now expected to do the same, and such orders have caused widespread discontent in the Cuban merchant marine.

"At this moment, other members of the Cuban merchant fleet would like to make the same decision, but I do not know how many will be able to do so," Oses ssid.

The Cuban Embassy in Tokyo has denied its ships are carrying cargo to North Viet Nam. It issued a statement saying its vessels only go there to pick up general merchandise.

The other officers who defected with Oses were Antonio Luiz y Arias, 41, chief mate; Mario Julio Perez Giron y Valdez, 35, chief engineer, and Humberto Rey Fernandez y Quintero, 37, purser.

Oses said he hoped their defection would inspire people in Cuba, where the captain still has a wife and two children. He said he would attempt to get them out, but added hat he fears they now will have "a very difficult time" and their lives might be in danger.

The captain told reporters he has no immediate plans except to see friends and relatives in the United States. He was met by two representatives of the Department of Defense.

Continued War Threat To Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Viet Nam war would prove costly not only to President Johnson's Great Society program but also to his heavy Democratic majorities in Congress, a nonpartisan citizens group said today.

A report of the National Committee for an Effective Congress said the Democrats' hopes for holding the gains they made in the house in the 1964 elections are "gravely jeopardized by the Viet Nam war."

Continuing escalation in Viet Nam, the committee said, will have an impact on the administration's domestic legislative program by placing "a new and sharper knife in the hand of the economy bloc."

Rhodesian Gasoline Rationed

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) —Motorists in this rebel British colony today felt the first pinch of an international oil embargo against Rhodesia as gasoline and diesel fuel rationing went into effect.

The rationing, ranging from one gallon of gasoline per week for motorcycles to three to five gallons for larger vehicles, came 12 days after Britain imposed the embargo in an effort to topple the white regime of Premier Ian Smith which declared its independence Nov. 11.

Drivers generally accepted the emergency measure quietly, but hundreds of them besieged district control offices early today pleading for an extra allowance.

Three to five gallons of gasoline allowed the average motorist enough fuel for his daily trips to work from residential areas. But in this country where a car is a virtual necessity due to a shortage of public transportation, traveling salesmen, handymen and long-distance commuters were the hardest hit.

The rationing was less severe than in neighboring Zambia where the government there limited motorists to four gallons a month. Rhodesia cut off fuel supplies through its territory to Zambia after Britain and other countries agreed to stop oil shipments to the former colony.

Britain with the aid of Canada has already begun to fly fuel to Zambia and the United States planned to join the airlift the first week in January.

India Seeks Free Famine Shipping

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Food Minister Chidambaram Subramaniam said today he has asked the United States to pay freight costs on emergency food grains it will ship to India.

Subramaniam, returning from a seven-day visit to the United States told newsmen he asked that India not be required to pay freight charges on shipments above its normal imports.

The food minister said he explained in Washington that India did not have sufficient foreign exchange to pay the additional shipping costs.

Student Returns To His Studies

Craig Jordan, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert E. Jordan, 8 Le Claire Court, San Rafael, will continue studying engineering at the University of Santa Clara next month after spending the past six months in Europe under the American Student Information Service.

He spent three months working in a factory in Biefield, Germany, and later worked for a Finnish family in Helsinki. He also toured 13 countries including England, France and Italy.

Tie Pin Taken

A young man in gray slacks and a dark blue sweater ran away from Leonard Linn Variety Store at 26 Main Street, Tiburon, Sunday, with a $7 tie pin he had asked to see as a prospective purchaser, clerk Eric Franzen reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies.

Gunman Gets Loot, Tosses It From Car

SAN LEANDRO (AP)—Police today sought a gunman who, disguised in a clown mask, robbed a Union City bank branch of $24,284 and then tossed the loot from a speeding getaway car.

A news photographer spotted a shopping bag lettered "Merry Christmas" lying in a roadside weed patch. The money was inside.

Robert Cowles, the bank's operations officer, said the gunman, wearing black pants and a sweater, entered just before closing time yesterday and pointed a revolver at him.

The robber threw the red-trimmed white shopping bag on Cowles' desk and snapped, "Fill it up."

With Cowles escorting him, the bandit cleaned the bills out of three teller cages and then said, "Let's go to the vault."

He scooped up more bills and then herded the bank employes and two customers into a storeroom, ordering them not to make any fuss.

As he bolted out of the bank and across Union City Blvd., the bandit was nearly hit by a passing car. But he dodged and jumped into a waiting light blue car with a driver described as swarthy and heavy-set.

At an intersection two miles away, a truck driver reported seeing a bundle thrown from the speeding sedan. Alwyn Silva, Fremont News Register photographer, drove to the area and found the loot bag.

Dozens of sheriff's officers, police and FBI agents joined the hunt for the robbers. Officers said the pair was believed to have escaped across the Dumbarton Bridge to the peninsula side of San Francisco Bay.

The bank lost a total of $62,000 in three previous holdups since 1920. A robbery in 1957 netted robbers some $35,000. They never have been caught.

Officers Elected In Retired Unit

Mrs. Elenor Jones of Fairfax has been elected president of the Marin Chapter of the American Assn. of Retired Persons. She is to succeed W. S. Voorhies, of San Rafael, acting president, when officers are installed in February.

Other officers recently elected include Nettie Shaver of San Rafael, vice president; Margaret Weber of Fairfax, secretary; Faye Murrey of San Anselmo, treasurer, and Margaret Coy of San Rafael, program chairman.

There will be no January meeting of the chapter since the meeting date falls on New Year's Day. The next meeting, according to William B. MacLane, publicity chairman, will be Feb. 5.

Rhodesian Gasoline Rationed

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) —Motorists in this rebel British colony today felt the first pinch of an international oil embargo against Rhodesia as gasoline and diesel fuel rationing went into effect.

The rationing, ranging from one gallon of gasoline per week for motorcycles to three to five gallons for larger vehicles, came 12 days after Britain imposed the embargo in an effort to topple the white regime of Premier Ian Smith which declared its independence Nov. 11.

Drivers generally accepted the emergency measure quietly, but hundreds of them besieged district control offices early today pleading for an extra allowance.

Three to five gallons of gasoline allowed the average motorist enough fuel for his daily trips to work from residential areas. But in this country where a car is a virtual necessity due to a shortage of public transportation, traveling salesmen, handymen and long-distance commuters were the hardest hit.

The rationing was less severe than in neighboring Zambia where the government there limited motorists to four gallons a month. Rhodesia cut off fuel supplies through its territory to Zambia after Britain and other countries agreed to stop oil shipments to the former colony.

Britain with the aid of Canada has already begun to fly fuel to Zambia and the United States planned to join the airlift the first week in January.

India Seeks Free Famine Shipping

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Food Minister Chidambaram Subramaniam said today he has asked the United States to pay freight costs on emergency food grains it will ship to India.

Subramaniam, returning from a seven-day visit to the United States told newsmen he asked that India not be required to pay freight charges on shipments above its normal imports.

The food minister said he explained in Washington that India did not have sufficient foreign exchange to pay the additional shipping costs.

Student Returns To His Studies

Craig Jordan, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert E. Jordan, 8 Le Claire Court, San Rafael, will continue studying engineering at the University of Santa Clara next month after spending the past six months in Europe under the American Student Information Service.

He spent three months working in a factory in Biefield, Germany, and later worked for a Finnish family in Helsinki. He also toured 13 countries including England, France and Italy.

Tie Pin Taken

A young man in gray slacks and a dark blue sweater ran away from Leonard Linn Variety Store at 26 Main Street, Tiburon, Sunday, with a $7 tie pin he had asked to see as a prospective purchaser, clerk Eric Franzen reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies.

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD, so good it can also be served as a dessert, may be stored for days in the freezer, awaiting a party, or wrapped individually in foil for the arrival of the unexpected guests.

White Fruit Cake A Treat

This beautiful white fruit cake is indeed a delicacy. Its snowy rum-accented batter is laden with sparkling jewel-like tones of golden seedless raisins, candied pineapple chunks and both red and green candied cherries. Coconut flakes, macadamaia nuts and almonds add to the rich flavor of the cake. To make the cake truly white, use shortening for richness and beaten egg whites to hold the fruit and nut batter together. Bake it in a fancy tube mold to make it shapely.

Unlike the traditional dark heavy fruit cakes this one does not require a long aging period to mellow the flavors. Frost and decorate the cake just before cutting. Use a sharp thin bladed knife to cut the cake in even slices.

RAISIN HERITAGE FRUIT CAKE

- 2 (15-ounce) packages golden seedless raisins
- 1 cup candied pineapple chunks
- 1 cup halved candied red cherries
- ½ cup halved candied green cherries
- 1 cup flaked coconut
- ½ cup light rum
- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- ½ teaspoon almond extract
- 1 cup chopped macadamia nuts
- 1 cup sliced or halved almonds
- 2½ cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 6 egg whites
- Frosting

Combine raisins, candied fruits, coconut with rum, mixing well. Cover and let stand overnight. Beat shortening, sugar and flavorings until light and fluffy. Blend in raisin mixture and nuts. Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Beat egg whites until moderately stiff peaks form. Fold sifted dry ingredients into fruit mixture alternately with half of egg whites until thoroughly blended. Carefully fold in remaining egg whites. Turn into prepared molds or pan. (Line greased loaf pans with greased brown paper. Line greased molds with foil then grease again.) Batter should fill pans ⅔ to ¾ full. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) 2 to 2½ hours until cake tests done. Put a shallow pan of water on bottom of oven while cake bakes. Cool. Wrap cakes carefully in foil or plastic; store in cool place. Sprinkle occasionally with rum, if desired. Frost before serving. Makes 9 cups batter, 2 (8½-inch) tube molds or 2 (8½x4½x2½-inch) loaves.

FROSTING

Mix until smooth 1½ cups powdered sugar with 2 tablespoons sherry, rum or orange juice. Garnish frosted cake with wine soaked raisins, pecans, candied pineapple and cherries.

GOLDEN SEEDLESS RAISINS, candied pineapple chunks and both red and green candied cherries contrast the snowy rum-accented batter of this beautiful white Raisin Heritage fruit cake for holiday entertaining.

Versatile Fruit Combination Doubles As Salad Or Dessert

If you are searching for a way to dazzle dinner guests during the holidays, a do-ahead frozen fruit salad will perform for you in spectacular fashion.

This is a salad that a hostess will adore because it can be served two ways. It has the tartness for a main-dish salad, or, if you prefer, it is sweet and rich enough to be a dessert. Its accompaniment at the end of the meal might be a simple cooky; as a salad it calls for a hot bread.

Fruits, nuts, cheese and cream—all the usual delicious ingredients—go into this salad-dessert. The simple device of lining the loaf pan with quilted foil, allowing an overhang all the way around, makes it easy to unmold and slice the delicacy. Once the mixture is solidly frozen, it can be lifted out of the pan by the foil extension and served immediately.

The hostess who likes to entertain small groups can wrap slices individually or in sets of four or six and prepare for several parties at one time.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
FOOD PAGE
SECOND SECTION Tues., Dec. 28, 1965 13

DO-AHEAD SALAD-DESSERT
(16 to 20 Servings)

- 1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) fruit cocktail
- 1 cup liquid (fruit cocktail syrup and water)
- 1 package (3 ounces) strawberry gelatin
- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, room temperature
- ⅓ cup salad dressing
- 1 cup pecan halves, left whole
- 20 marashchino cherries, quartered (about ½ cup)
- 2 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1 pint whipping cream, whipped.

Line 1 large loaf pan (9x5x3 inches) or 3 small pans (7⅜x3⅝x2¼ inches(with quilted aluminum foil leaving a 1½ inch overhang on all sides. Drain fruit cocktail; measure syrup and add water as needed to make 1 cup. Bring liquids to a boil; add to gelatin and stir until it melts. Chill until mixture becomes thick and syrupy. Beat cream cheese; add salad dressing and gelatin and beat until free of lumps. Fold in nuts, fruits, marshmallows and whipping cream. Spoon into large or small pans as desired. Freeze. Lift frozen salad out of pans by pulling up on foil extensions. Serve or wrap securely in quilted aluminum foil, label, date and store in freezer. Yield: About 2 quarts salad.

Warm Cinnamon Nut Rolls Are Wintertime Tea Treat

NEW YEAR'S TEA
To serve a crowd!
Cinnamon Nut Rolls
Tea Milk or Lemon

FOUR CINNAMON NUT ROLLS

- ¼ cup warm water
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1½ cups sugar
- ½ cup warm mashed potato
- 2 cups milk, scalded
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 8 cups unsifted regular flour (about)
- 2½ teaspoons cinnamon
- ⅔ cup chopped pecans

Dissolve yeast in the warm water; add ½ cup of the sugar and the mashed potato. Cover; let stay in warm place for 30 minutes. Into scalded milk, stir the salt and butter; cool to lukewarm; add to yeast mixture. Stir in eggs and 4 cups flour; beat until smooth. Stir in enough more flour to make soft dough. Turn out; knead for 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place until double — about 1 hour. Punch down dough; divide into 4 pieces. Roll each piece into a 14 by 9 inch rectangle; brush lightly with extra melted butter. Stir together remaining 1 cup sugar, cinnamon and pecans; sprinkle over dough. Tightly roll up each rectangle from 9 inch side; seal edges. Place rolls, sealed edges down and about 6 inches apart on greased cookie sheets. Firmly seal ends together. Cover; let rise in warm place until doubled — about 1 hour. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 35 minutes or until rolls feel hollow when tapped on back. Makes 4 rolls. Serve sliced and spread with sweet butter.

Compliment Turkey Buffet With Cranberry Ring Salad

For a buffet, when cold sliced turkey will perhaps be teamed with sliced ham, we suggest a cranberry salad mold. This will be a pleasant change from the cranberry sauce or cranberry jelly that always goes with the hot turkey. If you are interested in trying this mold, the recipe follows.

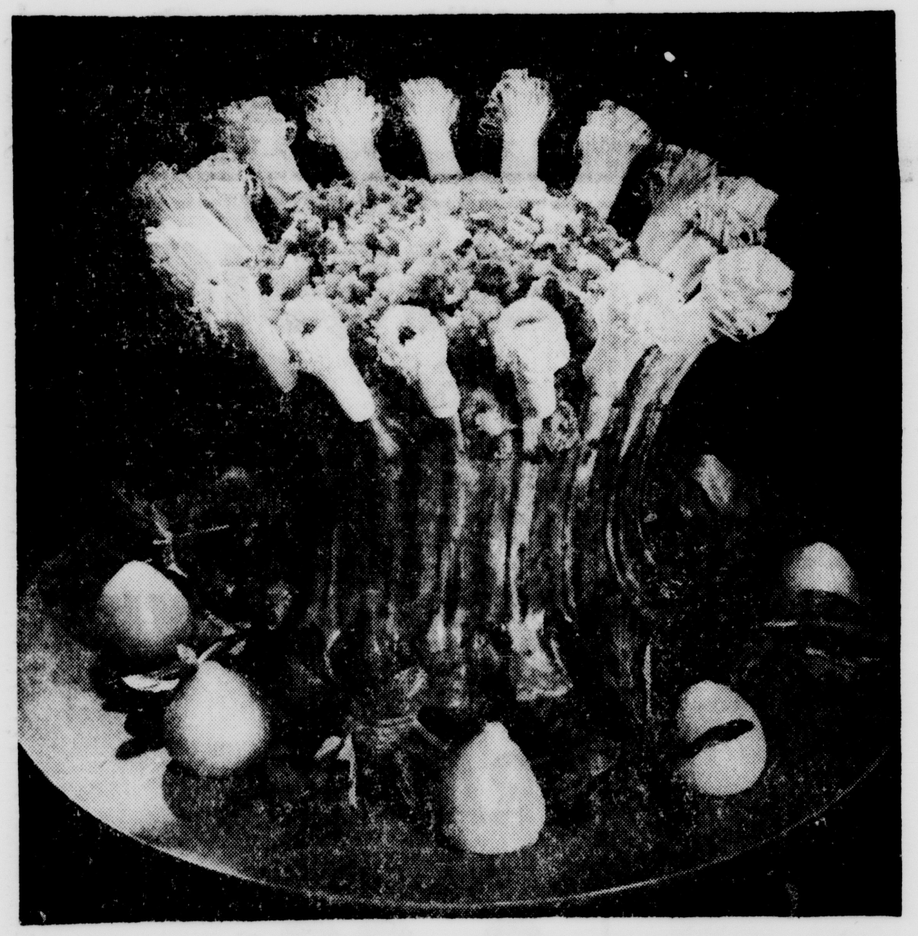
CRANBERRY ORANGE SALAD RING

- 2 packages (each 3 ounces) celery-flavor salad gelatin
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 cup cold water
- 1½ small unpeeled oranges
- 1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries, washed and drained
- ¾ cup sugar

Stir together the gelatin and boiling water until dissolved; stir in cold water. Chill ½ cup of the mixture until very thick; chill remaining 2½ cups until thickened.

Cut oranges into wedges and remove seeds. Put oranges and cranberries through food grinder twice; mix in sugar. Stir into the 2½ cups thickened gelatin.

Whip the ½ cup very thick gelatin until double in volume. Blend in 2 tablespoons of the fruit mixture. Turn into mold. Chill until set but not firm—it has to be firm enough so it will hold the whipped mixture in a layer. Carefully spoon the gelatin-fruit mixture into mold over almost firm whipped gelatin. Chill until firm — 3 hours or more. Makes about 7 cups or 14 servings.



FOR NEW YEAR'S DAY dinner, try a Jeweled Crown Roast of Lamb royally stuffed and wreathed with mint leaves and figs. This might be accompanied by Sweet Potato Puff, string beans and green salad.

Welcome In New Year With Jeweled Crown Roast Of Lamb

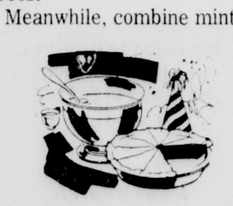
Welcome in the New Year with a Jeweled Crown Roast of Lamb—the perfect highlight for your holiday dinner. It is royally stuffed and wreathed with mint leaves and figs. The royal stuffing starts with packaged herb-seasoned stuffing.

Round out the menu with a sweet potato puff, string beans studded with slivered almonds, green salad with Italian dressing, brown and serve golden twist rolls.

JEWELED CROWN ROAST OF LAMB
Crown Roast of Lamb
(16-20 chops)

- 2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing
- ½ cup minced onion
- ⅓ cup snipped parsley
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ to ½ cup hot water
- ¾ cup mint jelly
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

When the butcher is preparing the roast, ask him to grind the trimmings from the chops. This should weigh about ¾ pound. Combine this ground lamb with herb-seasoned stuffing, onions, parsley and salt; mix well. Add enough water to moisten stuffing. Fill center of crown roast with stuffing mixture. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in slow oven (325 degrees) about three hours, or until meat thermometer registers 175 degrees.



Meanwhile, combine mint jelly and lemon juice. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until smooth. Serve with the roast lamb. Place paper frills on chop bones and garnish platter with mint leaves and figs. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

SWEET POTATO PUFF

- 5 pounds yams
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Cook the yams until tender, then peel and mash. Add brown sugar, butter and orange rind; mix together. Spoon 1½ cups into a pastry bag with a fluted tip, and the remainder into a buttered 10 inch pie plate. Make a well in the center of pie, use pastry tube to pipe decorative edge around the well and outer edge of pie.

ORANGE GLAZE

- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons butter

In saucepan, combine brown sugar, orange juice, cornstarch and butter. Cook over low heat until clear and thickened, then simmer for about 5 minutes more. Pour some glaze in well then brush remainder over rest of pie. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) for 30 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Special Pancakes

Start the day with sausage syrup pancakes. Form ½ pound of bulk pork sausage into small balls. Cook well; drain. Add 1¼ cups of syrup to sausage balls; cook about 5 minutes, or until well heated. Serve with 8 pancakes, prepared from a recipe or your favorite mix. Makes 4 servings.

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD, so good it can also be served as a dessert, may be stored for days in the freezer, awaiting a party, or wrapped individually in foil for the arrival of the unexpected guests.

White Fruit Cake A Treat

This beautiful white fruit cake is indeed a delicacy. Its snowy rum-accented batter is laden with sparkling jewel-like tones of golden seedless raisins, candied pineapple chunks and both red and green candied cherries. Coconut flakes, macadamaia nuts and almonds add to the rich flavor of the cake. To make the cake truly white, use shortening for richness and beaten egg whites to hold the fruit and nut batter together. Bake it in a fancy tube mold to make it shapely.

Unlike the traditional dark heavy fruit cakes this one does not require a long aging period to mellow the flavors. Frost and decorate the cake just before cutting. Use a sharp thin bladed knife to cut the cake in even slices.

RAISIN HERITAGE FRUIT CAKE

- 2 (15-ounce) packages golden seedless raisins
- 1 cup candied pineapple chunks
- 1 cup halved candied red cherries
- ½ cup halved candied green cherries
- 1 cup flaked coconut
- ½ cup light rum
- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- ½ teaspoon almond extract
- 1 cup chopped macadamia nuts
- 1 cup sliced or halved almonds
- 2½ cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 6 egg whites
- Frosting

Combine raisins, candied fruits, coconut with rum, mixing well. Cover and let stand overnight. Beat shortening, sugar and flavorings until light and fluffy. Blend in raisin mixture and nuts. Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Beat egg whites until moderately stiff peaks form. Fold sifted dry ingredients into fruit mixture alternately with half of egg whites until thoroughly blended. Carefully fold in remaining egg whites. Turn into prepared molds or pan. (Line greased loaf pans with greased brown paper. Line greased molds with foil then grease again.) Batter should fill pans ⅔ to ¾ full. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) 2 to 2½ hours until cake tests done. Put a shallow pan of water on bottom of oven while cake bakes. Cool. Wrap cakes carefully in foil or plastic; store in cool place. Sprinkle occasionally with rum, if desired. Frost before serving. Makes 9 cups batter, 2 (8½-inch) tube molds or 2 (8½x4½x2½-inch) loaves.

FROSTING

Mix until smooth 1½ cups powdered sugar with 2 tablespoons sherry, rum or orange juice. Garnish frosted cake with wine soaked raisins, pecans, candied pineapple and cherries.

GOLDEN SEEDLESS RAISINS, candied pineapple chunks and both red and green candied cherries contrast the snowy rum-accented batter of this beautiful white Raisin Heritage fruit cake for holiday entertaining.

Versatile Fruit Combination Doubles As Salad Or Dessert

If you are searching for a way to dazzle dinner guests during the holidays, a do-ahead frozen fruit salad will perform for you in spectacular fashion.

This is a salad that a hostess will adore because it can be served two ways. It has the tartness for a main-dish salad, or, if you prefer, it is sweet and rich enough to be a dessert. Its accompaniment at the end of the meal might be a simple cooky; as a salad it calls for a hot bread.

Fruits, nuts, cheese and cream—all the usual delicious ingredients—go into this salad-dessert. The simple device of lining the loaf pan with quilted foil, allowing an overhang all the way around, makes it easy to unmold and slice the delicacy. Once the mixture is solidly frozen, it can be lifted out of the pan by the foil extension and served immediately.

The hostess who likes to entertain small groups can wrap slices individually or in sets of four or six and prepare for several parties at one time.

DO-AHEAD SALAD-DESSERT
(16 to 20 Servings)

- 1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) fruit cocktail
- 1 cup liquid (fruit cocktail syrup and water)
- 1 package (3 ounces) strawberry gelatin
- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, room temperature
- ⅓ cup salad dressing
- 1 cup pecan halves, left whole
- 20 marashchino cherries, quartered (about ½ cup)
- 2 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1 pint whipping cream, whipped.

Line 1 large loaf pan (9x5x3 inches) or 3 small pans (7⅜x3⅝x2¼ inches(with quilted aluminum foil leaving a 1½ inch overhang on all sides. Drain fruit cocktail; measure syrup and add water as needed to make 1 cup. Bring liquids to a boil; add to gelatin and stir until it melts. Chill until mixture becomes thick and syrupy. Beat cream cheese; add salad dressing and gelatin and beat until free of lumps. Fold in nuts, fruits, marshmallows and whipping cream. Spoon into large or small pans as desired. Freeze. Lift frozen salad out of pans by pulling up on foil extensions. Serve or wrap securely in quilted aluminum foil, label, date and store in freezer. Yield: About 2 quarts salad.

Warm Cinnamon Nut Rolls Are Wintertime Tea Treat

NEW YEAR'S TEA
To serve a crowd!
Cinnamon Nut Rolls
Tea Milk or Lemon

FOUR CINNAMON NUT ROLLS

- ¼ cup warm water
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1½ cups sugar
- ½ cup warm mashed potato
- 2 cups milk, scalded
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 8 cups unsifted regular flour (about)
- 2½ teaspoons cinnamon
- ⅔ cup chopped pecans

Dissolve yeast in the warm water; add ½ cup of the sugar and the mashed potato. Cover; let stay in warm place for 30 minutes. Into scalded milk, stir the salt and butter; cool to lukewarm; add to yeast mixture. Stir in eggs and 4 cups flour; beat until smooth. Stir in enough more flour to make soft dough. Turn out; knead for 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place until double — about 1 hour. Punch down dough; divide into 4 pieces. Roll each piece into a 14 by 9 inch rectangle; brush lightly with extra melted butter. Stir together remaining 1 cup sugar, cinnamon and pecans; sprinkle over dough. Tightly roll up each rectangle from 9 inch side; seal edges. Place rolls, sealed edges down and about 6 inches apart on greased cookie sheets. Firmly seal ends together. Cover; let rise in warm place until doubled — about 1 hour. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 35 minutes or until rolls feel hollow when tapped on back. Makes 4 rolls. Serve sliced and spread with sweet butter.

Compliment Turkey Buffet With Cranberry Ring Salad

For a buffet, when cold sliced turkey will perhaps be teamed with sliced ham, we suggest a cranberry salad mold. This will be a pleasant change from the cranberry sauce or cranberry jelly that always goes with the hot turkey. If you are interested in trying this mold, the recipe follows.

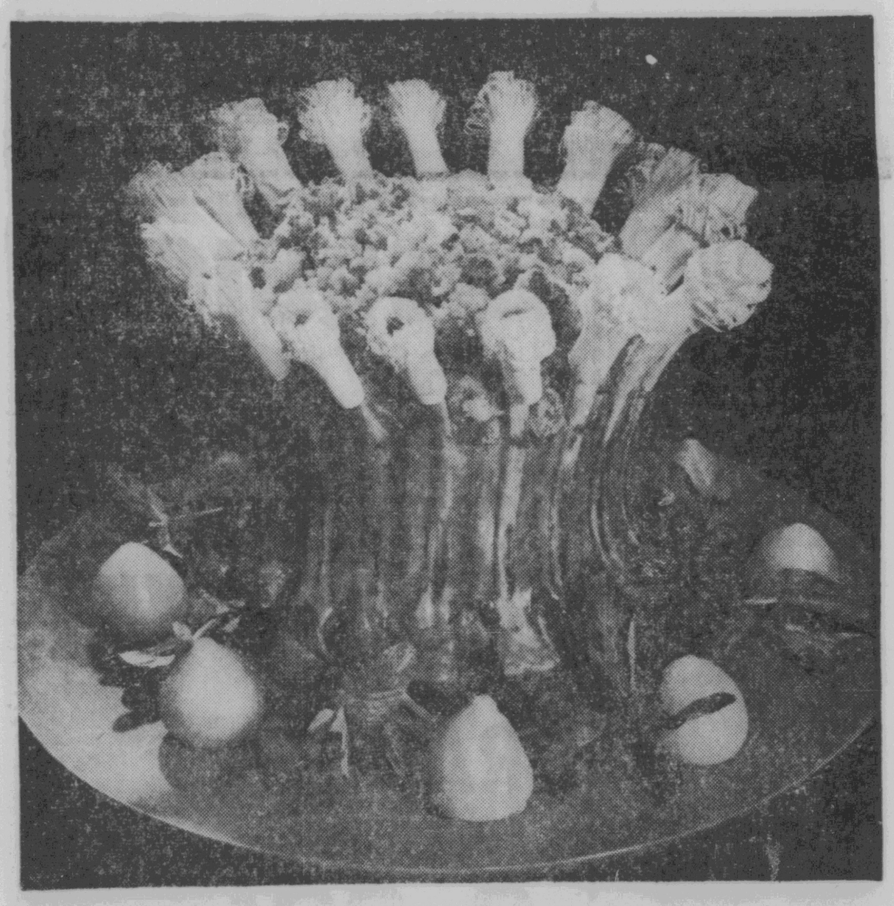
CRANBERRY ORANGE SALAD RING

- 2 packages (each 3 ounces) celery-flavor salad gelatin
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 cup cold water
- 1½ small unpeeled oranges
- 1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries, washed and drained
- ¾ cup sugar

Stir together the gelatin and boiling water until dissolved; stir in cold water. Chill ½ cup of the mixture until very thick; chill remaining 2½ cups until thickened.

Cut oranges into wedges and remove seeds. Put oranges and cranberries through food grinder twice; mix in sugar. Stir into the 2½ cups thickened gelatin.

Whip the ½ cup very thick gelatin until double in volume. Blend in 2 tablespoons of the fruit mixture. Turn into mold. Chill until set but not firm—it has to be firm enough so it will hold the whipped mixture in a layer. Carefully spoon the gelatin-fruit mixture into mold over almost firm whipped gelatin. Chill until firm — 3 hours or more. Makes about 7 cups or 14 servings.



FOR NEW YEAR'S DAY dinner, try a Jeweled Crown Roast of Lamb royally stuffed and wreathed with mint leaves and figs. This might be accompanied by Sweet Potato Puff, string beans and green salad.

Welcome In New Year With Jeweled Crown Roast Of Lamb

Welcome in the New Year with a Jeweled Crown Roast of Lamb—the perfect highlight for your holiday dinner. It is royally stuffed and wreathed with mint leaves and figs. The royal stuffing starts with packaged herb-seasoned stuffing.

Round out the menu with a sweet potato puff, string beans studded with slivered almonds, green salad with Italian dressing, brown and serve golden twist rolls.

JEWELED CROWN ROAST OF LAMB
Crown Roast of Lamb
(16-20 chops)

- 2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing
- ½ cup minced onion
- ⅓ cup snipped parsley
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ to ½ cup hot water
- ¾ cup mint jelly
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

When the butcher is preparing the roast, ask him to grind the trimmings from the chops. This should weigh about ¾ pound. Combine this ground lamb with herb-seasoned stuffing, onions, parsley and salt; mix well. Add enough water to moisten stuffing. Fill center of crown roast with stuffing mixture. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in slow oven (325 degrees) about three hours, or until meat thermometer registers 175 degrees.

Meanwhile, combine mint jelly

and lemon juice. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until smooth. Serve with the roast lamb. Place paper frills on chop bones and garnish platter with mint leaves and figs. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

SWEET POTATO PUFF

- 5 pounds yams
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Cook the yams until tender, then peel and mash. Add brown sugar, butter and orange rind; mix together. Spoon 1½ cups into a pastry bag with a fluted tip, and the remainder into a buttered 10 inch pie plate. Make a well in the center of pie, use pastry tube to pipe decorative edge around the well and outer edge of pie.

ORANGE GLAZE

- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons butter

In saucepan, combine brown sugar, orange juice, cornstarch and butter. Cook over low heat until clear and thickened, then simmer for about 5 minutes more. Pour some glaze in well then brush remainder over rest of pie. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) for 30 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Special Pancakes

Start the day with sausage syrup pancakes. Form ½ pound of bulk pork sausage into small balls. Cook well; drain. Add 1¼ cups of syrup to sausage balls; cook about 5 minutes, or until well heated. Serve with 8 pancakes, prepared from a recipe or your favorite mix. Makes 4 servings.

Judith Easton Is Bride Of R. E. Henry

St. Sylvester's Church in San Rafael was the setting for the wedding on Dec. 18 of Judith Helen Easton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Stanton Zollner of San Rafael and Richard Eugene Henry of Oakland. The Rev. John P. Tierney officiated at the noon nuptial mass in which Judith was given in marriage by her stepfather.

She wore a full length gown of peau de soie trimmed in Alencon lace and with chapel train. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Bette Allen King of Rancho Cordova wore a full length sheath of moss green velvet and sand colored silk crepe. Bridesmaids Macy MacFarland of Santa Rosa, Vickie Brenner of San Francisco, Mary Fears of Rancho Cordova and Phyllis Henry of Oakland, sister of the bridegroom, wore identical dresses.

Donald F. Henry Jr. of Lubbock, Tex., served as his brother's best man and James Gaddis, Kenneth Shepard, James Salber, all of Oakland, and James Easton of San Francisco, brother of the bride, ushered.

A reception was held at Peacock Gap Country Club.

Judith is a junior at San Jose State College. Her husband was graduated from San Jose State where he was a member of Theta Chi fraternity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Henry of Oakland and the brother of Mary Sue Henry.

Following a wedding trip at the Highlands Inn in Carmel, the couple will make their home in San Jose.

Mervin Hill Claims Bride At San Rafael Church Rite

St. Luke's Presbyterian Church, San Rafael, was the setting on Dec. 11 for the wedding of Susan Adele Finch, daughter of Mrs. Orrin E. Finch of San Rafael and the late Mr. Finch, and Mervin Ray Hill, also of San Rafael.

The Rev. Henry Kent performed the double ring ceremony in which Susan was given in marriage by her brother, Orrin F. Finch of Sacramento. She wore a white brocade suit with matching hat for the 8 p.m. rite.

Peggy Stone of San Rafael wore a turquoise brocade suit as matron of honor and David Shields of San Lorenzo served as best man. Laurence Garatti of San Rafael and Kenneth Finch of Sacramento, brother of the bride, ushered.

Following a reception in the Finch family home in San Rafael, the couple left on a wedding trip to Carmel.

The bride is also the sister of Donald Finch of Concord and Leland Finch of Novato. She was graduated from Sacramento High School and attended College of Marin. She was also graduated from University of California and is employed with Sleezer and Eckhoff as a certified public accountant.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ray Hill of San Rafael and the late Mr. Hill and is the brother of Mrs. Laurence Garletti of San Rafael and Mrs. Fredna Schields of San Lorenzo. He was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. He is employey with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Rafael where the couple will make their home.

Marin Women

KARLSTAD BALL

All the clubs of the Marin Dance Council will join forces for the Marin Folk Dance New Year's Eve party, the Karlstad Ball, which begins at 9 p.m. Adding a festive air will be the new costumes which various folk dance groups will don for the first time. Folk dancers from all parts of the Bay Area will come to the annual Marin Event, and take part in native dances of Greece, Yugoslavia, Israel, Germany, and Sweden. Mrs. Scott Tilden, in Hungarian costume, twirls as Mrs. Jack Fifield, applauds in her Serbian attire. Mrs. Fifield of Tiburon, is reservation chairman.

Housewife Finds Saigon Life Jittery, Hot And Challenging

First of two articles on everyday life of an American housewife who has moved from Marin to Saigon.

By BARBARA HOSMER

"What was once a fairly modern city, evidently, is now overcrowded with refugees and the military, with acute shortages in everything and very high prices . . . "

The city is Saigon, the reporter a former Marin housewife — Mrs. Val Gates — who left her home in Loch Lomond, San Rafael, early last month to join her husband to live in the South Vietnamese capital for at least two years. Her husband heads Shell Oil of Viet Nam, which supplies fuel to the military forces of the United States and South Viet Nam. A registered nurse, Hazel Gates has been an active volunteer with the Cancer Society and hospital auxiliaries in Westport, Conn. and San Francisco.

Vietnamese life she finds "challenging and interesting" indeed, if lacking in glamor.

"THE VIETNAMESE people as a whole are very nice and friendly and seem to like Americans . . . They are very bright, learn readily, and most speak French and some English," Hazel Gates reports by letter.

"There are very few minutes during the day that one can look out without seeing some sort of aircraft, mostly helicopters. There are flights of 20 of them in formation, and since they are flying so low, the noise is tremendous.

"Many of the loud booms we hear during the day are attributed to sonic booms in the press, then several days later we read that a grenade has been tossed in some area of the city. This is mostly for psychological effect, as the city is always jittery. It is reassuring to know that all the aircraft are friendly . . . " she reports.

THE CLIMATE IS "hot, then hotter" with daytime temperatures ranging from 85 to 95 and humidity to match, and one is "perpetually wet even with huge fans going day and night." The closets are kept fairly dry by burning a light in them constantly. Rain with thunder and lightning is frequent in the city.

The Gateses live in a large apartment in the building for Shell employees, most of whom are French. Hazel reports that they enjoy a large variety of food, both in nationality and menu, shopped for and cooked by the tiny Vietnamese maids.

"ONE JUST CAN'T tell in whose kitchen food is prepared because you frequently see the maids carrying dishes into your kitchen, across the hall, up the servant stairs, and so forth, and then you hear much giggling from the four or five gathered in the kitchen.

"Each maid does this everyday and then tells you what the menu of the day will be unless you have specified something in advance. Ours can cook French, Vietnamese or American dishes—juicy hamburgers, macaroni and cheese, stuffed baked potatoes, Chinese fried rice, crepes suzettes, rum fruit compote, many kinds of omelette, soups, salads or charcoal broiled steak with French fries."

The fish is particularly good, broiled or in the shell, and there is plentiful supplies of crab, shrimp and rock lobster, she says. However, shortages in everything include foods, and the menus are made around what is available and not too expensive. Often the maid will return to report that things were too high, "no buy."

HAZEL GATES REPORTS that the availability of almost every commodity used in the home has decreased markedly and the cost of living has doubled, at least, in the month of November.

"When you find anything you might need in the future you buy it now. American coffee is $1.75 a pound but local coffee is just as expensive. Soaps and detergents are very scarce.

"OUR WHOLE LIFE is geared to what is available that day or that week . . . and you can't make the maids understand that we do not have post-exchange privileges like the military."

Their maid, Thi Ba, knows how to use every electrical appliance and gadget in the American home, Mrs. Gates says.

"I should have brought much more, however I may be able to acquire some in Singapore or Bangkok. This seems to be most necessary to Thi Ba because otherwise she loses face with the other maids."

SHE DESCRIBES the Vietnamese — "The women, all decked out in their Ao Dai—high necked and long sleeved—are very handsome and very tiny.

"The maids all wear black or white satin full trousers

AN ELEGANT HAIR STYLE for a special occasion can be achieved with a short simple cut. Sweep the hair straight back and pin top section in place, then fluff ringlets and swirls atop the head and gently curl the sides down and away from the face.

Quick Change Comes Easily ---'Big Night' Coif To Day

During the holidays daily treks to the hairdresser's are obviously not the solution for lovely coifs, nor are sleight-of-hand wig changes. But, armed with a good basic haircut and a few hints on styling, you can be beautifully coiffed all season long.

When you shampoo your hair for the "big New Year's night," be extra careful about setting it. Generally, medium-sized rollers about an inch or inch and a half in diameter will leave hair in good shape for styling. Make sure the set is neat. No stray ends allowed.

When the hair is completely dry, give it a good brushing in the direction of the set. Today's popular party hairdos are a flutter or ringlets, swirls and soft waves individually sculptured atop the head. They're best done by sectioning the hair, as you did before rolling, and styling one area at a time, spraying each in place as you go along.

Next day, if you've used a non-gooey spray, all you need do is brush out the formal style —again in the same direction as the set—and create a more smooth rather than sculptured hairdo, perfect for daytime wear. Of course, the hair needs body to make a switch like this. It's a good idea to use a concentrate shampoo with a natural conditioner for manageability.

When the party's over, there's no need for elegant hairdos to fall apart. Setting carefully, brushing well and avoiding lacquered sprays and harsh shampoos will assure you stylish hairdos—both plain and fancy.

NEXT DAY the formal style is brushed out. After some light "feathering," the hair is brought forward into a chic modern bang. A rattail comb is used to lift the hair for gentle fullness and height, and for creating a windblown effect.

Miss Marcone Is Bride At St. Anselm's

A double ring ceremony at St. Anselm's Church joined in marriage Kathleen Ann Marcone and Robert Carrasco at noon Dec. 18.

The bride was given in marriage by her father Lawrence Vincent Marcone at the wedding where Monsignor Edward Dullea officiated.

For her wedding, Kathleen wore a full-length peau de soie gown, styled with a Sabrina neckline, long sleeves, and a chapel-length train. Alencon lace details accented with seed pearls and crystal were used on bodice, skirt and train.

Mrs. Derald Blackmore of Redwood City was matron of honor, with Elaine Gonsalves of Los Banos and Kathleen Jones of San Jose, bridesmaids. The attendants wore floor-length two toned gowns which combined moss green velvet and champagne brocade, and moss-green velvet headdresses with short veils.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Marcone of San Anselmo. Larry Marcone is her brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Carrasco are the bridegroom's parents. His sister is Mrs. Derald Blackmore, who was matron of honor.

Larry Marcone, the bride's brother was best man, with Derald Blackmore of Redwood City, and Alan Houston, of San Francisco, assisting guests to their seats.

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School and the College of the Holy Names in Oakland, the bride received her secondary teaching credential from Dominican College. She was elected to Kappa Gamma Pi honor society.

Robert is a graduate of Mission High School in San Francisco, and San Francisco State College. He did graduate work at the University of California, where he received a secondary teaching credential. He is a member of Alpha Mu Gamma honor society.

A reception at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael followed the church ceremony.

After a honeymoon trip to Southern California, the couple will establish a home in San Anselmo.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT CARRASCO

Cheri-Lee Ottaviano Bride At Santa Cruz Church Rite

Exchanging wedding vows at Holy Cross Church, Santa Cruz, at a 2:30 p.m. ceremony Dec. 18 were Cheri-Lee Ottaviano and Wesley M. Price, both San Rafael residents.

Msgr. William McLaughlin officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father, John L. Ottaviano.

The bride selected a white peau de soie floor-length gown with Kabuki sleeves edged with lace and pearls. The lace and pearl trim were repeated at the neckline, the hem of the dress and chapel train.

Mrs. Carlene Lucas of San Rafael was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kathi Tone of Santa Cruz, Sylvia Giannini, of Santa Cruz, Mrs. Joanne Cecchettini, of Santa Cruz, and Mrs. Martin Loughman of San Francisco. They were gowned alike in floor-length gowns with red velvet tops and white wool skirts embroidered with poinsettias for the holiday wedding.

Two flower girls, Danielle Hocum and Tina Ann Cecchettini, both of Santa Cruz, completed the bridal party.

The bride's brother, John E. Ottaviano of Santa Cruz was best man. Tom Butler of San Rafael, Martin Loughman of San Francisco; Joe Marini, and Phil Kidder of Santa Cruz were the ushers.

Cheri-Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ottaviano, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Marini of Santa Cruz.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Price of Santa Cruz.

The bride is a graduate of Holy Cross High School in Santa Cruz, and San Francisco State College. She is employed at the Glenwood School, in the San Rafael City School District.

with an overblouse and thong sandals or they go barefoot around the house. They do what is told them, but if you don't want the same thing done the next day you must tell them that too," Mrs. Gates says.

"If I want some special cleaning done I have to take them by the hand and say, 'Levez avec detergent, maintenant! They look so surprised then because they had scrubbed that just last month!"

MANY OF THE Vietnamese are refugees from Hanoi, coming south between 1954 and 1957, and they complain that the Saigon climate is too hot. Hanoi, far to the north, has definite seasons and the refugees consider themselves much more industrious than the Saigon people, Mrs. Gates reports.

Florida Governor Appoints 'Watchdog'

Florida has a new real estate "watchdog."

He's Leonard Rosen, one of the nation's top community developers.

Gov. Haydon Burns appointed Rosen to the Florida Installment Sales Board.

The board, founded in 1963, has powers to require registration of all subdividers and real estate salesmen; require submission of all real estate advertising on installment land sales to the board for approval; demand all records and witnesses relevant to land sales investigations and suspend or revoke licenses of registrants guilty of board rule violations.

King Is Modeled After Many Heroes

At various times the King of Hearts in the card deck has represented Adam, Julius Caesar, Constantine and Alexander.

In some decks of the late 19th century some Kings of Hearts had the contemporary hero, Gen. Boulanger or Victor Hugo as their models. In today's deck, the King of Hearts is essentially the Charlemange of the 15th century.

Judith Easton Is Bride Of R. E. Henry

St. Sylvester's Church in San Rafael was the setting for the wedding on Dec. 18 of Judith Helen Easton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Stanton Zollner of San Rafael and Richard Eugene Henry of Oakland. The Rev. John P. Tierney officiated at the noon nuptial mass in which Judith was given in marriage by her stepfather.

She wore a full length gown of peau de soie trimmed in Alencon lace and with chapel train. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Bette Allen King of Rancho Cordova wore a full length sheath of moss green velvet and sand colored silk crepe. Bridesmaids Macy MacFarland of Santa Rosa, Vickie Brenner of San Francisco, Mary Fears of Rancho Cordova and Phyllis Henry of Oakland, sister of the bridegroom, wore identical dresses.

Donald F. Henry Jr. of Lubbock, Tex., served as his brother's best man and James Gaddis, Kenneth Shepard, James Salber, all of Oakland, and James Easton of San Francisco, brother of the bride, ushered.

A reception was held at Peacock Gap Country Club.

Judith is a junior at San Jose State College. Her husband was graduated from San Jose State where he was a member of Theta Chi fraternity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Henry of Oakland and the brother of Mary Sue Henry.

Following a wedding trip at the Highlands Inn in Carmel, the couple will make their home in San Jose.

Mervin Hill Claims Bride At San Rafael Church Rite

St. Luke's Presbyterian Church, San Rafael, was the setting on Dec. 11 for the wedding of Susan Adele Finch, daughter of Mrs. Orrin E. Finch of San Rafael and the late Mr. Finch, and Mervin Ray Hill, also of San Rafael.

The Rev. Henry Kent performed the double ring ceremony in which Susan was given in marriage by her brother, Orrin F. Finch of Sacramento. She wore a white brocade suit with matching hat for the 8 p.m. rite.

Peggy Stone of San Rafael wore a turquoise brocade suit as matron of honor and David Shields of San Lorenzo served as best man. Laurence Garatti of San Rafael and Kenneth Finch of Sacramento, brother of the bride, ushered.

Following a reception in the Finch family home in San Rafael, the couple left on a wedding trip to Carmel.

The bride is also the sister of Donald Finch of Concord and Leland Finch of Novato. She was graduated from Sacramento High School and attended College of Marin. She was also graduated from University of California and is employed with Sleezer and Eckhoff as a certified public accountant.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ray Hill of San Rafael and the late Mr. Hill and is the brother of Mrs. Laurence Garlatti of San Rafael and Mrs. Fredna Schields of San Lorenzo. He was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. He is employey with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Rafael where the couple will make their home.

Housewife Finds Saigon Life Jittery, Hot And Challenging

First of two articles on everyday life of an American housewife who has moved from Marin to Saigon.

By BARBARA HOSMER

"What was once a fairly modern city, evidently, is now overcrowded with refugees and the military, with acute shortages in everything and very high prices . . ."

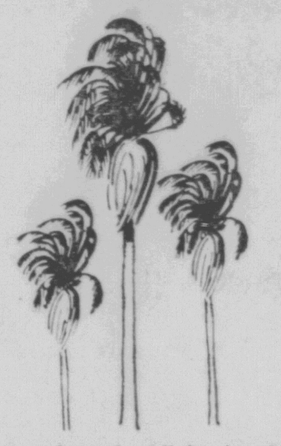
The city is Saigon, the reporter a former Marin housewife — Mrs. Val Gates — who left her home in Loch Lomond, San Rafael, early last month to join her husband to live in the South Vietnamese capital for at least two years. Her husband heads Shell Oil of Viet Nam, which supplies fuel to the military forces of the United States and South Viet Nam. A registered nurse, Hazel Gates has been an active volunteer with the Cancer Society and hospital auxiliaries in Westport, Conn. and San Francisco.

Vietnamese life she finds "challenging and interesting" indeed, if lacking in glamor.

"THE VIETNAMESE people as a whole are very nice and friendly and seem to like Americans . . . They are very bright, learn readily, and most speak French and some English," Hazel Gates reports by letter.

"There are very few minutes during the day that one can look out without seeing some sort of aircraft, mostly helicopters. There are flights of 20 of them in formation, and since they are flying so low, the noise is tremendous.

"Many of the loud booms we hear during the day are attributed to sonic booms in the press, then several days later we read that a grenade has been tossed in some area of the city. This is mostly for psychological effect, as the city is always jittery. It is reassuring to know that all the aircraft are friendly . . . " she reports.



THE CLIMATE IS "hot, then hotter" with daytime temperatures ranging from 85 to 95 and humidity to match, and one is "perpetually wet even with huge fans going day and night." The closets are kept fairly dry by burning a light in them constantly. Rain with thunder and lightning is frequent in the city.

The Gateses live in a large apartment in the building for Shell employees, most of whom are French. Hazel reports that they enjoy a large variety of food, both in nationality and menu, shopped for and cooked by the tiny Vietnamese maids.

"ONE JUST CAN'T tell in whose kitchen food is prepared because you frequently see the maids carrying dishes into your kitchen, across the hall, up the servant stairs, and so forth, and then you hear much giggling from the four or five gathered in the kitchen.

"Each maid does this everyday and then tells you what the menu of the day will be unless you have specified something in advance. Ours can cook French, Vietnamese or American dishes—juicy hamburgers, macaroni and cheese, stuffed baked potatoes, Chinese fried rice, crepes suzettes, rum fruit compote, many kinds of omelette, soups, salads or charcoal broiled steak with French fries."

The fish is particularly good, broiled or in the shell, and there is plentiful supplies of crab, shrimp and rock lobster, she says. However, shortages in everything include foods, and the menus are made around what is available and not too expensive. Often the maid will return to report that things were too high, "no buy."

HAZEL GATES REPORTS that the availability of almost every commodity used in the home has decreased markedly and the cost of living has doubled, at least, in the month of November.

"When you find anything you might need in the future you buy it now. American coffee is $1.75 a pound but local coffee is just as expensive. Soaps and detergents are very scarce.

"OUR WHOLE LIFE is geared to what is available that day or that week . . . and you can't make the maids understand that we do not have post-exchange privileges like the military."

Their maid, Thi Ba, knows how to use every electrical appliance and gadget in the American home, Mrs. Gates says.

"I should have brought much more, however I may be able to acquire some in Singapore or Bangkok. This seems to be most necessary to Thi Ba because otherwise she loses face with the other maids."

SHE DESCRIBES the Vietnamese — "The women, all decked out in their Ao Dai—high necked and long sleeved —are very handsome and very tiny.

"The maids all wear black or white satin full trousers

AN ELEGANT HAIR STYLE for a special occasion can be achieved with a short simple cut. Sweep the hair straight back and pin top section in place, then fluff ringlets and swirls atop the head and gently curl the sides down and away from the face.

Quick Change Comes Easily ---'Big Night' Coif To Day

During the holidays daily treks to the hairdresser's are obviously not the solution for lovely coifs, nor are sleight-of-hand wig changes. But, armed with a good basic haircut and a few hints on styling, you can be beautifully coiffed all season long.

When you shampoo your hair for the "big New Year's night," be extra careful about setting it. Generally, medium-sized rollers about an inch or inch and a half in diameter will leave hair in good shape for styling. Make sure the set is neat. No stray ends allowed.

When the hair is completely dry, give it a good brushing in the direction of the set. Today's popular party hairdos are a flutter or ringlets, swirls and soft waves individually sculptured atop the head. They're best done by sectioning the hair, as you did before rolling, and styling one area at a time, spraying each in place as you go along.

Next day, if you've used a non-gooey spray, all you need do is brush out the formal style—again in the same direction as the set—and create a more smooth rather than sculptured hairdo, perfect for daytime wear. Of course, the hair needs body to make a switch like this. It's a good idea to use a concentrate shampoo with a natural conditioner for manageability.

When the party's over, there's no need for elegant hairdos to fall apart. Setting carefully, brushing well and avoiding lacquered sprays and harsh shampoos will assure you stylish hairdos—both plain and fancy.

NEXT DAY the formal style is brushed out. After some light "feathering," the hair is brought forward into a chic modern bang. A rattail comb is used to lift the hair for gentle fullness and height, and for creating a windblown effect.

Miss Marcone Is Bride At St. Anselm's

A double ring ceremony at St. Anselm's Church joined in marriage Kathleen Ann Marcone and Robert Carrasco at noon Dec. 18.

The bride was given in marriage by her father Lawrence Vincent Marcone at the wedding where Monsignor Edward Dullea officiated.

For her wedding, Kathleen wore a full-length peau de soie gown, styled with a Sabrina neckline, long sleeves, and a chapel-length train. Alencon lace details accented with seed pearls and crystal were used on bodice, skirt and train.

Mrs. Derald Blackmore of Redwood City was matron of honor, with Elaine Gonsalves of Los Banos and Kathleen Jones of San Jose, bridesmaids. The attendants wore floor-length two toned gowns which combined moss green velvet and champagne brocade, and moss-green velvet headdresses with short veils.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Marcone of San Anselmo. Larry Marcone is her brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Carrasco are the bridegroom's parents. His sister is Mrs. Derald Blackmore, who was matron of honor.

Larry Marcone, the bride's brother was best man, with Derald Blackmore of Redwood City, and Alan Houston, of San Francisco, assisting guests to their seats.

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School and the College of the Holy Names in Oakland, the bride received her secondary teaching credential from Dominican College. She was elected to Kappa Gamma Pi honor society.

Robert is a graduate of Mission High School in San Francisco, and San Francisco State College. He did graduate work at the University of California, where he received a secondary teaching credential. He is a member of Alpha Mu Gamma honor society.

A reception at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael followed the church ceremony.

After a honeymoon trip to Southern California, the couple will establish a home in San Anselmo.

Cheri-Lee Ottaviano Bride At Santa Cruz Church Rite

Exchanging wedding vows at Holy Cross Church, Santa Cruz, at a 2:30 p.m. ceremony Dec. 18 were Cheri-Lee Ottaviano and Wesley M. Price, both San Rafael residents.

Msgr. William McLaughlin officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father, John L. Ottaviano.

The bride selected a white peau de soie floor-length gown with Kabuki sleeves edged with lace and pearls. The lace and pearl trim were repeated at the neckline, the hem of the dress and chapel train.

Mrs. Carlene Lucas of San Rafael was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kathi Tone of Santa Cruz, Sylvia Giannini, of Santa Cruz, Mrs. Joanne Cecchettini, of Santa Cruz, and Mrs. Martin Loughman of San Francisco. They were gowned alike in floor-length gowns with red velvet tops and white wool skirts embroidered with poinsettias for the holiday wedding.

Two flower girls, Danielle Hocum and Tina Ann Cecchettini, both of Santa Cruz, completed the bridal party.

The bride's brother, John E. Ottaviano of Santa Cruz was best man. Tom Butler of San Rafael, Martin Loughman of San Francisco; Joe Marini, and Phil Kidder of Santa Cruz were the ushers.

Cheri-Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ottaviano, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Marini of Santa Cruz.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Price of Santa Cruz.

The bride is a graduate of Holy Cross High School in Santa Cruz, and San Francisco State College. She is employed at the Glenwood School, in the San Rafael City School District.

Wesley is also a graduate of Holy Cross High School and San Francisco State College. He works in the Tamalpais High School District.

A reception at the Coconut Grove in Santa Cruz followed the marriage rite.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, the couple will live in San Rafael.

Life In Saigon Challenging

with an overblouse and thong sandals or they go barefoot around the house. They do what is told them, but if you don't want the same thing done the next day you must tell them that too," Mrs. Gates says.

"If I want some special cleaning done I have to take them by the hand and say, 'Levez avec detergent, maintenant! They look so surprised then because they had scrubbed that just last month!"

MANY OF THE Vietnamese are refugees from Hanoi, coming south between 1954 and 1957, and they complain that the Saigon climate is too hot. Hanoi, far to the north, has definite seasons and the refugees consider themselves much more industrious than the Saigon people, Mrs. Gates reports.

Florida Governor Appoints 'Watchdog'

Florida has a new real estate "watchdog."

He's Leonard Rosen, one of the nation's top community developers.

Gov. Haydon Burns appointed Rosen to the Florida Installment Sales Board.

The board, founded in 1963, has powers to require registration of all subdividers and real estate salesmen; require submission of all real estate advertising on installment land sales to the board for approval; demand all records and witnesses relevant to land sales investigations and suspend or revoke licenses of registrants guilty of board rule violations.

King Is Modeled After Many Heroes

At various times the King of Hearts in the card deck has represented Adam, Julius Caesar, Constantine and Alexander.

In some decks of the late 19th century some Kings of Hearts had the contemporary hero, Gen. Boulanger or Victor Hugo as their models. In today's deck, the King of Hearts is essentially the Charlemange of the 15th century.

RENEWS OLD FRIENDSHIP — Dante V. Leland, here walking his dog near his Tiburon apartment, has renewed after 30 years a friendship with a woman whose name was once a household word in America and Europe: Dancer Irene Castle. Next summer, he said, they will tour Europe together.

STILL LOVELY — This photo of Irene Castle was taken five years ago when she was 76 years old. The pose is reminiscent of the days before World War I when she and her husband, Vernon, danced as a team in Europe and the United States. The picture was a gift to Dante V. Leland, a recent guest of Mrs. Castle's.

THEY'LL TOUR TOGETHER

Dweller In Tiburon Remembers Knowing Dancer Irene Castle

By MICHAEL PERCY

"She as a beautiful young thing when I first knew her, very lovely," he said with a touch of nostalgia in his voice. "All the young men buzzed around her as bees to honey. And she is still very lovely.

The speaker was Dante V. Leland of Tiburon, who was recalling the first decade of this century in New York City, when he first knew Irene Castle of the fabled Vernon and Irene Castle dancing team.

Leland returned shortly before Christmas from Eureka Springs, Ark., where he spent a month as a guest of Mrs. Castle at her retreat in the Ozarks.

"She was Irene Foote when we met so long ago," said the 78-year-old Leland, "a little girl from New Rochelle, the daughter of a doctor, who had all of New York society in love with her. We were friends for about two years before 1909 and then we lost contact."

Leland was then a young Harvard student. His father, Col. Francis O. Leland, headed the New York County National Bank and "had vast real estate holdings. Life spread out before me like a gift," Leland recalled.

Irene Foote married Vernon Castle, a handsome young civil engineer turned dancer, in 1911. Together they toured Europe and the United States with their versions of such dances as the Texas Tommy, the Grizzly Bear, and their own Castle Walk.

In addition, Mrs. Castle introduced bobbed hair and the slim boyish figure to the ballroom and the world of fashion.

Vernon Castle, flying for Canadian in World War I, was killed in Texas in 1918. He was 31.

Leland had joined the American Ambulance Corps in 1915 and worked with the French army until 1917 when he was transferred to the American army, was commissioned a lieutenant and worked as a liaison officer for the Signal Corps until the war's end.

Leland's father died in 1917. The trust company handling the estate squandered almost the whole thing," he related.

With a borrowed $1,000, Leland went into the antique importing business.

It was not until the late 1920s that he again came in contact with Irene Castle, by then married to a wealthy Chicago sportsman, Frederic McLaughlin.

"She married four times after Vernon's tragic death," Leland recalled. "She seems to have sort of venerated Vernon. He is buried at Lake Forest, Ill., where she's had a life-size statue placed over his grave. She spends most of her time at her Lake Forest home while not at Eureka Springs or traveling abroad."

After the 1920s Mrs. Castle and Leland again lost contact—this time for more than 30 years. In these years Leland held a variety of jobs from leg man and photographer for columnist Tex McCrary of the New York Daily Mirror, to liaison for the French Purchasing Commission in Washington during World War II, and later manager of a men's club in New York.

Leland retired in the 1950s. He moved to San Francisco six years ago, and to Tiburon a year later. He has a comfortable apartment on Main Street with a view of the bay and San Francisco.

A chance meeting in Italy between Mrs. Castle, now 72, and Leland's sister, Conzoneri, recently brought the two old friends back together. When Mrs. Castle returned to the U. S. she wrote to Leland and asked him to be her guest at her retreat in the Ozarks.

Next summer, he reported, "Irene and I are going to tour Europe.

German Escapes E. Berlin Wearing U.S. Army Uniform

BERLIN (UPI) —An intrepid West German disguised himself in a U.S. Army uniform with upside-down sergeant's stripes and sneaked two East German friends to freedom in a car bearing bogus American military license plates, it was disclosed today.

The West Berliner was identified as Karl Heinz B. He organized the escape of Werner W., 26-year-old locksmith, and Kaethe P., a 26-year-old druggist's assistant, during the Christmas weekend.

The woman hid in the trunk of the automobile and the man identified as Werner wore only an Army raincoat and garrison hat. Karl Heinz B. then simply drove past an East German Communist checkpoint into West Berlin.

Such an escape is possible because East German border guards do not check Western Allied soldiers in uniform as they pass through the Friedrich Stresse crossing point for foreigners.

The story was first revealed by the mass circulation newspaper Bild Zeitung and later confirmed by the Western Allies. Western authorities had hoped news of the escape would not leak out because it could cause future Communist interference with Allied traffic through the wall.

A U.S. spokesman said the Germans faced possible jail terms because they illegally obtained American uniforms and stole an Army license plate.

A West Berlin police official said they violated Allied Ordinance 501 which bars Germans from wearing Allied uniforms. The penalties could range as high as five years imprisonment and a fine of $2,500.

Station Owner Kidnaped, Robbed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Sacramento service station owner spent a harrowing half hour with a kidnaper who forced him to drive around the city last night before robbing him, police said today.

Bob Holtman, the station owner, told police he was waiting in his car as his wife shopped when a man got in the back seat of the car, pointed a .45-caliber pistol at Holtman's head and ordered him to drive away.

Holtman, 38, said he later was forced to telephone his service station and order an employ to leave $50 there. After picking up the cash, Holtman said, his abductor let him out of the car and drove off.

Parolee Faces Purse Theft Charge

The arrest Friday of John A. Perry of Fairfax on a pickpocket charge has cleared up two similar cases reported in San Rafael Dec. 11, police said today.

San Rafael police arrested Perry, 39, of 239 Scenic Road, Fairfax, a parolee, after owner Irving B. Litchfield said he saw the man dip his hand into a woman's purse at the bar at the Bermuda Palms, 737 Francisco Boulevard. Perry was still being held today in lieu of $2,750 bail.

The victim of that attempt was Marceline M. Zonco, of 1171 Center Road, Novato.

Police said that on Dec. 11 Gail A. Bissattini, of 124 Park Street, and Kathie L. Taylor, of 60 Hillside Avenue, both San Rafael, had reported wallets lifted from their purses while they were at Bermuda Palms. In all cases, the monetary loss was small, police said.

Youth Sentenced For Ax Attacks

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Wendel Kogel, 17, who sttacked both his parents with a pickaxe on Dec. 6, was sentenced yesterday to the California Youth Authority for custody and treatment.

The sentence was set by Juvenile Court Judge Harold Holden.

The parents, Joseph Kogel, 50, and his wife, Rosalie, 49, have not regained consciousness since the attack. Kogel is in critical condition at Santa Clara County Hospital, and Mrs. Kogel is listed in very serious condition at Kaiser Hospital in Santa Clara.

GIFT FOR YULE WHOPPING, BUT WAY IN ERROR

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"You think your wife gives nice Christmas presents?" said Joseph F. McLaughlin when he arrived at the office yesterday.

"Look what my wife did."

Then McLaughlin displayed for coworkers at U. S. Steel Corp. a gift certificate from Gimbels department store for $400,010.

The certificate was a mistake. Mrs. McLaughlin had bought a $10 certificate and had discovered the error too late to turn it in before the weekend.

McLaughlin notified Gimbels and a grateful management later presented him with a $100 certificate. It also let him keep the $400,010 certificate — but marked it void.

Mute Satellite Begins Working Unexpectedly

LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP) — Lincoln Laboratory engineers reported today they got an unexpected Christmas present from space— an experimental satellite, thought dead, suddenly came to life and is operating beautifully.

It was LES4 — the letters stand for Lincoln Experimental Satellite — a communications package which was fired into space along with three others a week ago today.

They went up in an Air Force Titan 3C rocket, and at first all seemed well. The rocket reached an orbit 90 miles up, then re-fired its motors to shoot up to 18,000 miles out.

Something failed then, and the rocket didn't make a series of maneuvers which were supposed to take it into an orbit 18,200 miles above the equator.

The earth weighs six sextillion, 588 quintillion tons, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

OH, DEER! WHAT A TIME TO TURN OUT A RHYME

Maybe Santa Claus is shy a reindeer.

Anyhow, a deer ran across the roof of the A. C. Kuehl home at 10 Rock Road, Kentfield, on the night after Christmas. The unexpected prancing and pawing caused Mrs. Kuehl to burst forth (after the event) in verse. She reported the incident to the Independent—Journal like this:

'Twas the night after Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse . . .
When all of a sudden there rose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
I called to my husband, who grabbed his flashlight
And rushed out the door and into the night,
And there on the roof — was it Prancer or who?
Is Santa Claus looking for one of you?

Holiday Show Taking Shape At San Quentin

Sataurday's gala Show of Stars at San Quentin Prison has begun taking shape.

The six-hour show, held in the prison dining hall each New Year's Day, is presented for the entire inmate population. Top entertainers currently appearing in the Bay Area donate their time to help the inmates celebrate the coming of the new year.

Given top billing for Saturday's show are jazz pianist Vince Guaraldi and Buck Owens, popular country and western singer. Owens will appear with Phil Philley's Western Jamboree and young recording star Rickey Sears.

Victor Buelna, Mexican movie and recording star, will perform in the show with his troupe, which is currently appearing at San Francisco's Sinaloa Club.

Comedian Howard Eubanks will be master of ceremonies for the marathon show. Other "big names" appearing on the program are: comic Paul Desmond with his partner Sunni Walton; comedienne Nan Susac; Canadian singer Carla Mitchell, and Phil Bovero and the Show of Stars band.

But the list is not nearly complete.

"Many acts don't come to the Bay Area until very close to the holiday. We have ot wait until the last minute for many of them before they confirm that they will appear in the prison show," explained Bill Van Ornum, producer of the show.

Last year's show proved the truth of Van Ornum's words. Striding onto the dining hall stage in the midst of the show were singers Louis Armstrong and Sarah Vaughan.

"You simply can't tell at this point who's going to turn up. They don't print the program until late on New Year's Eve because so much of the entertainment comes in at the last minute," said T. L. Baker, prison supervisor of recreation.

Smash-Grab Thief Hits Beauty Shop Again

Burglars broke a window with a rock at El Paseo Beauty Salon, Mill Valley, last night and stole $5 in small change, William Weeks, El Paseo manager, reported.

Weeks told police that entry was made between 9:40 and 10 p.m. Overlooked were a roll of pennies and a roll of nickels. The shop at 5 El Paseo has been broken into seven times in recent months by the same method, Weeks said.

LBJ Daughters Making Trips

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — The President's daughters have been doing some holiday traveling.

Lynda Bird Johnson, the oldest, is visiting at the home of a friend in Evanston, Wyo., where she plans to put in a few days of skiing.

Luci Baines, 18, is back at the LBJ Ranch after flying to Waukegan, Ill., to visit her future in-laws.

Stinson Aide Is Suspended

Douglas Carson Smith was suspended last night as assistant fire chief of the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department by the district commission pending outcome of his trial, expected to be held in February.

Smith, 25, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a drunken driving charge in an alleged wild ride in a fire truck in November following the annual firemen's ball.

Commissioners discussed the subject last night, reported Mrs. Harriet M. Greene, assistant secretary, then decided upon their action. Smith, who has been a volunteer fireman three years, will be replaced by Richard Davison, formerly second assistant to the chief.

Meadow Club Reception Set To Honor Three Debutantes

By MOLLY MARIN

Honoring debutantes Pamela Hornby, Susan Murphy and Gail Noah will be the reception which Mrs. Leon Clothier Smith will give from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow at the Meadow Club. Pamela and Gail bowed at the Marin Debutante Ball, and Susan, the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel V. Ryan, was presented at the Cotillion Thursday in San Francisco.

Mrs. Smith has asked Mrs. Ryan and the Marin debs' mothers, Mrs. Raymond Hornby and Mrs. Ralph Noah, to assist. Mrs. James MacGuire (the former Susan Smith) will also be greeting guests at her mother's party.

THE MILL VALLEY TENNIS CLUB will hold its traditional New Year's Eve dinner dance on Friday for members only. Under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent White and Mr. and Mrs. John Lennon, this year's party, following a "New Year's Eve golden gala" theme, will have gold decor done by the Robin Whittleseys.

The party will begin with cocktails at 7:30 p.m. and continue with dinner at 8:30 p.m. and dancing until 1:30 a.m. A midnight champagne toast will be the climax of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Earl will greet members at the door, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tierney will arrange table settings. Invitations were designed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matson. Reservations chairmen are Mesdames James Stephenson and Samuel Farber.

COL. AND MRS. A. A. G. KIRCHHOFF of Tiburon and their sons, Bill and David, entertained Sunday night for the three exchange students who are houseguests of the Kenneth Merklins. The honorees were Perdita Avery of Melbourne, Australia; Caroline Le Rolle of Paris, France, and Gudrun Nusse of Frieburg, Germany. Those attending from out-of-town included Ensign Chris Irwin, the houseguest of the John Kellens of Tiburon; Margaret Gwathmey, visiting her parents in Belvedere from Charlotte, N. C.; Dave Kirchhoff, who is attending Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, Okla., and Roma Merklin, who is a student at St. Catherine's College in St. Paul, Minn.

RENEWS OLD FRIENDSHIP — Dante V. Leland, here walking his dog near his Tiburon apartment, has renewed after 30 years a friendship with a woman whose name was once a household word in America and Europe: Dancer Irene Castle. Next summer, he said, they will tour Europe together.

STILL LOVELY — This photo of Irene Castle was taken five years ago when she was 76 years old. The pose is reminiscent of the days before World War I when she and her husband, Vernon, danced as a team in Europe and the United States. The picture was a gift to Dante V. Leland, a recent guest of Mrs. Castle's.

THEY'LL TOUR TOGETHER

Dweller In Tiburon Remembers Knowing Dancer Irene Castle

By MICHAEL PERCY

"She as a beautiful young thing when I first knew her, very lovely," he said with a touch of nostalgia in his voice. "All the young men buzzed around her as bees to honey. And she is still very lovely.

The speaker was Dante V. Leland of Tiburon, who was recalling the first decade of this century in New York City, when he first knew Irene Castle of the fabled Vernon and Irene Castle dancing team.

Leland returned shortly before Christmas from Eureka Springs, Ark., where he spent a month as a guest of Mrs. Castle at her retreat in the Ozarks.

"She was Irene Foote when we met so long ago," said the 78-year-old Leland, "a little girl from New Rochelle, the daughter of a doctor, who had all of New York society in love with her. We were friends for about two years before 1909 and then we lost contact."

Leland was then a young Harvard student. His father, Col. Francis O. Leland, headed the New York County National Bank and "had vast real estate holdings. Life spread out before me like a gift," Leland recalled.

Irene Foote married Vernon Castle, a handsome young civil engineer turned dancer, in 1911. Together they toured Europe and the United States with their versions of such dances as the Texas Tommy, the Grizzly Bear, and their own Castle Walk.

In addition, Mrs. Castle introduced bobbed hair and the slim boyish figure to the ballroom and the world of fashion.

Vernon Castle, flying for Canadian in World War I, was killed in Texas in 1918. He was 31.

Leland had joined the American Ambulance Corps in 1915 and worked with the French army until 1917 when he was transferred to the American army, was commissioned a lieutenant and worked as a liaison officer for the Signal Corps until the war's end.

Leland's father died in 1917. The trust company handling the estate squandered almost the whole thing," he related.

With a borrowed $1,000, Leland went into the antique importing business.

It was not until the late 1920s that he again came in contact with Irene Castle, by then married to a wealthy Chicago sportsman, Frederic McLaughlin.

"She married four times after Vernon's tragic death," Leland recalled. "She seems to have sort of venerated Vernon. He is buried at Lake Forest, Ill., where she's had a life-size statue placed over his grave. She spends most of her time at her Lake Forest home while not at Eureka Springs or traveling abroad."

After the 1920s Mrs. Castle and Leland again lost contact—this time for more than 30 years. In these years Leland held a variety of jobs from leg man and photographer for columnist Tex McCrary of the New York Daily Mirror, to liaison for the French Purchasing Commission in Washington during World War II, and later manager of a men's club in New York.

Leland retired in the 1950s. He moved to San Francisco six years ago, and to Tiburon a year later. He has a comfortable apartment on Main Street with a view of the bay and San Francisco.

A chance meeting in Italy between Mrs. Castle, now 72, and Leland's sister, Conzoneri, recently brought the two old friends back together. When Mrs. Castle returned to the U. S. she wrote to Leland and asked him to be her guest at her retreat in the Ozarks.

Next summer, he reported, "Irene and I are going to tour Europe.

German Escapes E. Berlin Wearing U.S. Army Uniform

BERLIN (UPI) —An intrepid West German disguised himself in a U.S. Army uniform with upside-down sergeant's stripes and sneaked two East German friends to freedom in a car bearing bogus American military license plates, it was disclosed today.

The West Berliner was identified as Karl Heinz B. He organized the escape of Werner W., 26-year-old locksmith, and Kaethe P., a 26-year-old druggist's assistant, during the Christmas weekend.

The woman hid in the trunk of the automobile and the man identified as Werner wore only an Army raincoat and garrison hat. Karl Heinz B. then simply drove past an East German Communist checkpoint into West Berlin.

Such an escape is possible because East German border guards do not check Western Allied soldiers in uniform as they pass through the Friedrich Stresse crossing point for foreigners.

The story was first revealed by the mass circulation newspaper Bild Zeitung and later confirmed by the Western Allies. Western authorities had hoped news of the escape would not leak out because it could cause future Communist interference with Allied traffic through the wall.

A U.S. spokesman said the Germans faced possible jail terms because they illegally obtained American uniforms and stole an Army license plate.

A West Berlin police official said they violated Allied Ordinance 501 which bars Germans from wearing Allied uniforms. The penalties could range as high as five years imprisonment and a fine of $2,500.

Station Owner Kidnaped, Robbed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Sacramento service station owner spent a harrowing half hour with a kidnaper who forced him to drive around the city last night before robbing him, police said today.

Bob Holtman, the station owner, told police he was waiting in his car as his wife shopped when a man got in the back seat of the car, pointed a .45-caliber pistol at Holtman's head and ordered him to drive away.

Holtman, 38, said he later was forced to telephone his service station and order an employ to leave $50 there. After picking up the cash, Holtman said, his abductor let him out of the car and drove off.

Parolee Faces Purse Theft Charge

The arrest Friday of John A. Perry of Fairfax on a pickpocket charge has cleared up two similar cases reported in San Rafael Dec. 11, police said today.

San Rafael police arrested Perry, 39, of 239 Scenic Road, Fairfax, a parolee, after owner Irving B. Litchfield said he saw the man dip his hand into a woman's purse at the bar at the Bermuda Palms, 737 Francisco Boulevard. Perry was still being held today in lieu of $2,750 bail.

The victim of that attempt was Marceline M. Zonco, of 1171 Center Road, Novato.

Police said that on Dec. 11 Gail A. Bissattini, of 124 Park Street, and Kathie L. Taylor, of 60 Hillside Avenue, both San Rafael, had reported wallets lifted from their purses while they were at Bermuda Palms. In all cases, the monetary loss was small, police said.

Youth Sentenced For Ax Attacks

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Wendel Kogel, 17, who sttacked both his parents with a pickaxe on Dec. 6, was sentenced yesterday to the California Youth Authority for custody and treatment.

The sentence was set by Juvenile Court Judge Harold Holden.

The parents, Joseph Kogel, 50, and his wife, Rosalie, 49, have not regained consciousness since the attack. Kogel is in critical condition at Santa Clara County Hospital, and Mrs. Kogel is listed in very serious condition at Kaiser Hospital in Santa Clara.

GIFT FOR YULE WHOPPING, BUT WAY IN ERROR

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"You think your wife gives nice Christmas presents?" said Joseph F. McLaughlin when he arrived at the office yesterday.

"Look what my wife did."

Then McLaughlin displayed for coworkers at U. S. Steel Corp. a gift certificate from Gimbels department store for $400,010.

The certificate was a mistake. Mrs. McLaughlin had bought a $10 certificate and had discovered the error too late to turn it in before the weekend.

McLaughlin notified Gimbels and a grateful management later presented him with a $100 certificate. It also let him keep the $400,010 certificate — but marked it void.

Mute Satellite Begins Working Unexpectedly

LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP) — Lincoln Laboratory engineers reported today they got an unexpected Christmas present from space— an experimental satellite, thought dead, suddenly came to life and is operating beautifully.

It was LES4 — the letters stand for Lincoln Experimental Satellite — a communications package which was fired into space along with three others a week ago today.

They went up in an Air Force Titan 3C rocket, and at first all seemed well. The rocket reached an orbit 90 miles up, then re-fired its motors to shoot up to 18,000 miles out.

Something failed then, and the rocket didn't make a series of maneuvers which were supposed to take it into an orbit 18,200 miles above the equator.

The earth weighs six sextillion, 588 quintillion tons, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

OH, DEER! WHAT A TIME TO TURN OUT A RHYME

Maybe Santa Claus is shy a reindeer.

Anyhow, a deer ran across the roof of the A. C. Kuehl home at 10 Rock Road, Kentfield, on the night after Christmas. The unexpected prancing and pawing caused Mrs. Kuehl to burst forth (after the event) in verse. She reported the incident to the Independent—Journal like this:

'Twas the night after Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse . . .
When all of a sudden there rose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
I called to my husband, who grabbed his flashlight
And rushed out the door and into the night,
And there on the roof — was it Prancer or who?
Is Santa Claus looking for one of you?

Holiday Show Taking Shape At San Quentin

Sataurday's gala Show of Stars at San Quentin Prison has begun taking shape.

The six-hour show, held in the prison dining hall each New Year's Day, is presented for the entire inmate population. Top entertainers currently appearing in the Bay Area donate their time to help the inmates celebrate the coming of the new year.

Given top billing for Saturday's show are jazz pianist Vince Guaraldi and Buck Owens, popular country and western singer. Owens will appear with Phil Philley's Western Jamboree and young recording star Rickey Sears.

Victor Buelna, Mexican movie and recording star, will perform in the show with his troupe, which is currently appearing at San Francisco's Sinaloa Club.

Comedian Howard Eubanks will be master of ceremonies for the marathon show. Other "big names" appearing on the program are: comic Paul Desmond with his partner Sunni Walton; comedienne Nan Susac; Canadian singer Carla Mitchell, and Phil Bovero and the Show of Stars band.

But the list is not nearly complete.

"Many acts don't come to the Bay Area until very close to the holiday. We have ot wait until the last minute for many of them before they confirm that they will appear in the prison show," explained Bill Van Ornum, producer of the show.

Last year's show proved the truth of Van Ornum's words. Striding onto the dining hall stage in the midst of the show were singers Louis Armstrong and Sarah Vaughan.

"You simply can't tell at this point who's going to turn up. They don't print the program until late on New Year's Eve because so much of the entertainment comes in at the last minute," said T. L. Baker, prison supervisor of recreation.

Stinson Aide Is Suspended

Douglas Carson Smith was suspended last night as assistant fire chief of the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department by the district commission pending outcome of his trial, expected to be held in February.

Smith, 25, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a drunken driving charge in an alleged wild ride in a fire truck in November following the annual firemen's ball.

Commissioners discussed the subject last night, reported Mrs. Harriet M. Greene, assistant secretary, then decided upon their action. Smith, who has been a volunteer fireman three years, will be replaced by Richard Davison, formerly second assistant to the chief.

Smash-Grab Thief Hits Beauty Shop Again

Burglars broke a window with a rock at El Paseo Beauty Salon, Mill Valley, last night and stole $5 in small change, William Weeks, El Paseo manager, reported.

Weeks told police that entry was made between 9:40 and 10 p.m. Overlooked were a roll of pennies and a roll of nickels. The shop at 5 El Paseo has been broken into seven times in recent months by the same method, Weeks said.

Novato Adult High School To Start Classes Monday

Novato High School Adult Evening School winter term will start Monday at both the high school and the education center at Hamilton Air Force Base, according to Robert McKeay, principal.

They Own The 'Great American Dream'—A Pacific Isle

Tiburon Family Would Lease Land Off Guam

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Many people pursue the "great American dream" of owning an island in the Pacific, but for one Tiburon family, it is no dream.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gottwald have returned to Marin County after an absence of 10 years, during which time they lived in Guam and Thailand, seeing much of Southeast Asia in the course of Gottwald's work as an architect for the Navy and the Royal Thai Army.

But there is no doubt about the most romantic adventure of those 10 years in the Pacific. It was that island.

The Gottwalds discovered Cocos, a "lovely little island," while they were living in Guam. A Coast Guard Loran station covered 20 of its 74 acres, but the rest of it was open to anyone who wanted to go there to water ski, fish, collect shells or just have a picnic. Many people went there.

They soon began spending every Sunday there, and became friends with the lieutenant in charge of the Coast Guard station.

Once, recalls Mrs. Gottwald, they grew angry over the trash which some of the island's more carefree visitors were strewing over its beautiful beaches.

Assuming the United States government controlled the entire island, they asked the young officer why he did nothing to control such carelessness. He surprised them by replying that the island was privately owned.

"There are only five privately owned islands in the entire Pacific," reported Mrs. Gottwald.

The family checked official records on Guam and found that a man named Luigi Galliani of San Francisco was listed as owner.

"We just happened to have an old San Francisco telephone book," said Mrs. Gottwald, "so we called him up and asked him if he would like to sell the island."

It turned out that Galliani was not actually the owner, but was chief accountant for the Kohler and Campbell Piano Co. It, in turn, represented the real owners, John and Grace Rothchild, then in Europe.

Galliani, however, told them the owners might be happy to sell for tax purposes, and invited them to submit a bid.

"It is very difficult to put a price on an island," recalled Mrs. Gottwald, "but we came up with a figure based on how much we could afford to pay and how badly we wanted the island. They agreed to sell it."

The price, however, remains a secret. Before closing the deal, the Gottwalds discovered that a San Francisco columnist had heard about it. Soon afterward, the story hit the front page of Guam's daily newspaper.

"The amount was a big conversation topic at cocktail parties, and we understand it was the basis of some rather large bets. So we decided it was more fun just to let people go on guessing."

When they moved on to Cocos, the family built a two-story home, plus a cottage which soon became a favorite place for Guam honeymooners.

The houses remained when they moved to Bangkok, but were flattened by Hurricane Karen in 1963. Now, the family wants to lease Cocos to someone, but Mrs. Gottwald vows, "We'll never sell it."

Site of a cocoa plantation before World War II, the island was used as an ammunition dump by the Japanese, and many relics of their stay there can still be found.

Once, two freighters (one carrying a cargo of paraffin) collided in Tokyo Bay, 1,800 miles from the island. Two weeks later, the Gottwalds found a huge block of paraffin on the windward side of Cocos.

"We made candles for weeks," she recalled.

Cocos, she believes, was "an ideal place to raise children. It allowed them to grow up free of the material values which I am afraid we are now coming back to, and gave them a great appreciation of nature."

At Christmastime, they used ironwood trees, which are similar in many ways to the evergreens used here, but "sort of limp." Seashells, Japanese fishnet floats and other flotsam took the place of balls and lights.

"We had our own shipwreck, too," said Mrs. Gottwald. A Japanese fishing vessel hit the reef, then was carried over it to the island. Its crew abandoned it and the three Gottwald youngsters found it a wonderful place to play.

Named the civilian chief engineer at the Presidio of San Francisco, Gottwald brought his wife and the children—Gail, 15, Lee, 13, and Kim, 10—back to Tiburon for the first time since 1955. They now live at 25 Andrew Drive.

But the "king and queen" of Cocos will go back when they get the chance.

"I believe we miss Cocos about as much as anything we left behind when we came back to America," said Mrs. Gottwald.

FARAWAY HOME — The Leslie Gottwald family leave Guam in motorboat to sail to Cocis Island, seen dimly on the horizon. It's their private estate in the far Pacific, purchased while they were living on Guam. They built a two-story house and a cottage on it, and plan to return.

FBI Out Of Hamilton Stab Death

Airman James O. Young will be tried by an Air Force court martial for the Christmas slaying of Airman Robert M. Jennings at Hamilton Air Force Base.

A Federal Breau of Investigation spokesman said today the FBI is not entering the case, and it will be handled through court martial proceedings by the Air Force. Since both the victim and the suspect are servicemen, jurisdiction lies entirely with the military, he said.

Jennings, 33, of Jamaica, N.Y., was stabbed in the chest in the day room of Barracks 460 early on Christmas Day. He tried to walk to the base hospital, was picked up en route there by air police, but died in the hospital at 2:25 a.m.

Arrested by air police and charged with the killing was Young, 34, of Russell, Kan. Both men lived in Barracks 460.

The slaying followed a midnight argument in the day room, according to base officials. Young is being held in a maximum security cell in the guardhouse on the base.

Naval Ritual Upsets Sausalito Residents

Their nerves already on edge due to the unpleasant weather, several Sausalito residents today called police to report explosions in the area.

Police checked out the reports and learned that they were gun salutes being given by a fleet of French ships entering San Francisco Bay.

Novato Awards School Construction Contracts

The Novato Unified School District Board, after allowing the low bidder to withdraw his bid because of a mistake, last night awarded two contracts for school construction.

Fostmeier Construction Co. of Petaluma, contractor on the original Pleasant Valley School, as given a $147,000 contract for a six-room addition to the school.

W. J. Kubon Co. of San Rafael was given a $634,804 contract for the 17-classroom elementary school on the Meadow Park school site on Hamilton Air Force Base.

There were six bidders on the projects, four submitting combined bids for both projects, according to Supt. James G. Bunker. A seventh, Todd Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, whose combined bid of $750,200 was the lowest, was allowed to withdraw the bid when it was discovered to include a $21,500 mistake, Bunker said.

The board authorized advertising for bids for additions to Hill and San Jose junior high schools and a six-classroom addition to Lu Sutton School, to be opened on Jan. 20 with contracts to be awarded Jan. 24.

Innocent Plea In Car Shooting

Dave Townsel Jr. yesterday pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The Marin City 19-year-old man is charged with sniping at sheriff's patrol cars.

Judge Peter Allen Smith in Marin Municipal Court set Jan. 13 for a preliminary examination on the felony charge.

Townsel, of 211 Drake Avenue, Marin City, remained free on $2,750 bail. He was accused of firing a shot which hit the left front door of the car driven by Sgt. Wade Powell on Dec. 2. Powell was uninjured. The attack was the third sniping attempt in 25 days in Marin City.

Burglary Charge Brings Plea Of Innocent

James Litteral, 21, one of three youths arrested Dec. 21 after the burglary of McKenzie's Junior Vogue Clothing Store in San Rafael, yesterday pleaded innocent to a burglary charge.

Judge Peter Allen Smith in Marin Municipal Court set a preliminary examination for Thursday.

Litteral, of 802 E Street, San Rafael, was picked up when he walked by the store at 1000 Fifth Avenue minutes after San Rafael police discovered it had been broken into. Paul B. Caldwell, 18, of 32 Front Street, Apt. 9, San Rafael, also charged with burglary, had been earlier referred to the juvenile court.

The thrid person arrested, a 17-year-old, was charged with loitering and sent to Juvenile Hall.

No PUD Session

Bolinas Public Utility District directors will not meet Friday because of the holiday, but will next week at 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 7 at the Waterhouse Building, Bolinas, director James Dougan said today.

FIGHTING A NEW CAUSE

After a successful war against polio which paralyzed her from the waist down in 1961, Mrs. Howard Ritchart of 251 Cecilea Way, Tiburon, has left her wheel chair behind to join the March of Dimes in the fight against birth defects. Marin chairman for the March of Dimes Mothers' March, Mrs. Ritchart will coordinate the efforts of hundreds of volunteers who will ring Marin doorbells next month.

LBJ, McNamara Talk Of Budget, Viet Status

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reviewed "the general Vietnamese situation" today including the truce that prevailed for 30 hours over Christmas.

But the Texas White House would not specify whether they also talked about the four-day-old lull in bombings of North Viet Nam or the Viet Cong offer to the South Vietnamese for a four-day truce during their new year's holiday which starts Jan. 20.

Over breakfast, then in a long early-morning walk around the LBJ ranch, and back at the President's ranch-house desk Johnson and McNamara continued discussions that had gone past midnight last night.

Much of their conversation, according to acting White House Press Secretary Joseph Laitin, dealt with the rising defense budget. At the White House press center here, 65 miles from the ranch, Laitin told newsmen that the President also had talked with other aides about federal spending plans for the next fiscal year.

"There is some chance now—because of new hard looks at possible economies—it is just possible the President may have to ask Congress for a short extension on the deadline for submitting the budget," Laitin said.

Without an extension, Johnson under law would have to send his fiscal 1967 budget to Congress 15 days after the House and Senate reconvene Jan. 10.

Laitin said Johnson had telephone talks today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Under Secretary George W. Ball on international matters, as well as one with Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler "about general economic and budgetary matters."

"All in all, by 10 o'clock this morning, the President seemed to have a full day's work behind him already," Laitin said.

Assessment District To Be Supervised

Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors last night agreed to supervise a private assessment district consisting of 12 parcels of land above Pacheco Street in Marin City.

The meeting adjourned in memory of Stanley Cowen, a board member who left the board in 1964. Cowen, who lived in Sausalito, died Dec. 21.

Bay Lawmaker Asks Call To Sew Up Tax Loophole

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Edmund G. Brown today was urged to call a special session of the legislature in January to close a "$200 million property tax loophole."

The appeal came from Chairman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, of the Assembly Municipal and County Government Committee which has been probing alleged irregularities in county assessors' offices.

The attorney general's office, Knox said in a letter to the governor, estimated that local governments lose $200 million in tax revenues annually through escaped personal property tax.

"Most of this loss is attributed to personal property reporting procedures which function as an open invitation to falsification," Knox said. "this situation clearly demands a legislative remedy."

The lawmaker said some of his committee's recommendations may necessitate a constitutional amendment and only a special session in the spring would allow the measures to appear on the 1966 ballot.

"I believe that administrative reforms are essential and cannot be deferred," Knox said.

The chairman said his committee's recommendations would be disclosed early in 1966. He added they would aim at "insuring that the administrative procedures used by local assessors and by the Board of Equalization achieve a fundamental equity in local assessment."

"In short," he added, "we want to provide sufficient checks and balances to close this $200 million loophole and to keep it closed."

Knox also told the governor that the proposals would be confined to administrative reforms and would not "interfere with any tax reforms which you may have planned for 1966 or later."

Boy, 16, Booked In Liquor Theft

San Rafael police yesterday arrested a 16-year-old Terra Linda High School student, accusing him of taking five cases of vodka in November from a truck parked in the Railway Express Agency lot on Jordan Street in San Rafael.

They said the boy complained that four of the cases had later been stolen from him.

The boy had hidden the cases in a backyard shed of a friend, police reported. He had opened one case and sold bottles to friends for $3.50 each. When he returned, the others were missing, he claimed. The boy was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Prison Knife Charge Trial Rescheduled

Jury trial of William Arthur Christmas, San Quentin prisoner indicted for illegal possession of a knife, was scheduled today in Marin Superior Court for March 7.

Christmas, serving time for a second degree burglary conviction in Alameda County on April 14, 1964, allegedly had the knife Oct. 21.

They Own The 'Great American Dream'—A Pacific Isle

Tiburon Family Would Lease Land Off Guam

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Many people pursue the "great American dream" of owning an island in the Pacific, but for one Tiburon family, it is no dream.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gottwald have returned to Marin County after an absence of 10 years, during which time they lived in Guam and Thailand, seeing much of Southeast Asia in the course of Gottwald's work as an architect for the Navy and the Royal Thai Army.

But there is no doubt about the most romantic adventure of those 10 years in the Pacific. It was that island.

The Gottwalds discovered Cocos, a "lovely little island," while they were living in Guam. A Coast Guard Loran station covered 20 of its 74 acres, but the rest of it was open to anyone who wanted to go there to water ski, fish, collect shells or just have a picnic. Many people went there.

They soon began spending every Sunday there, and became friends with the lieutenant in charge of the Coast Guard station.

Once, recalls Mrs. Gottwald, they grew angry over the trash which some of the island's more carefree visitors were strewing over its beautiful beaches.

Assuming the United States government controlled the entire island, they asked the young officer why he did nothing to control such carelessness. He surprised them by replying that the island was privately owned.

"There are only five privately owned islands in the entire Pacific," reported Mrs. Gottwald.

The family checked official records on Guam and found that a man named Luigi Galliani of San Francisco was listed as owner.

"We just happened to have an old San Francisco telephone book," said Mrs. Gottwald, "so we called him up and asked him if he would like to sell the island."

It turned out that Galliani was not actually the owner, but was chief accountant for the Kohler and Campbell Piano Co. It, in turn, represented the real owners, John and Grace Rothchild, then in Europe.

Galliani, however, told them the owners might be happy to sell for tax purposes, and invited them to submit a bid.

"It is very difficult to put a price on an island," recalled Mrs. Gottwald, "but we came up with a figure based on how much we could afford to pay and how badly we wanted the island. They agreed to sell it."

The price, however, remains a secret. Before closing the deal, the Gottwalds discovered that a San Francisco columnist had heard about it. Soon afterward, the story hit the front page of Guam's daily newspaper.

"The amount was a big conversation topic at cocktail parties, and we understand it was the basis of some rather large bets. So we decided it was more fun just to let people go on guessing."

When they moved on to Cocos, the family built a two-story home, plus a cottage which soon became a favorite place for Guam honeymooners.

The houses remained when they moved to Bangkok, but were flattened by Hurricane Karen in 1963. Now, the family wants to lease Cocos to someone, but Mrs. Gottwald vows, "We'll never sell it."

Site of a cocoa plantation before World War II, the island was used as an ammunition dump by the Japanese, and many relics of their stay there can still be found.

Once, two freighters (one carrying a cargo of paraffin) collided in Tokyo Bay, 1,800 miles from the island. Two weeks later, the Gottwalds found a huge block of paraffin on the windward side of Cocos.

"We made candles for weeks," she recalled.

Cocos, she believes, was "an ideal place to raise children. It allowed them to grow up free of the material values which I am afraid we are now coming back to, and gave them a great appreciation of nature."

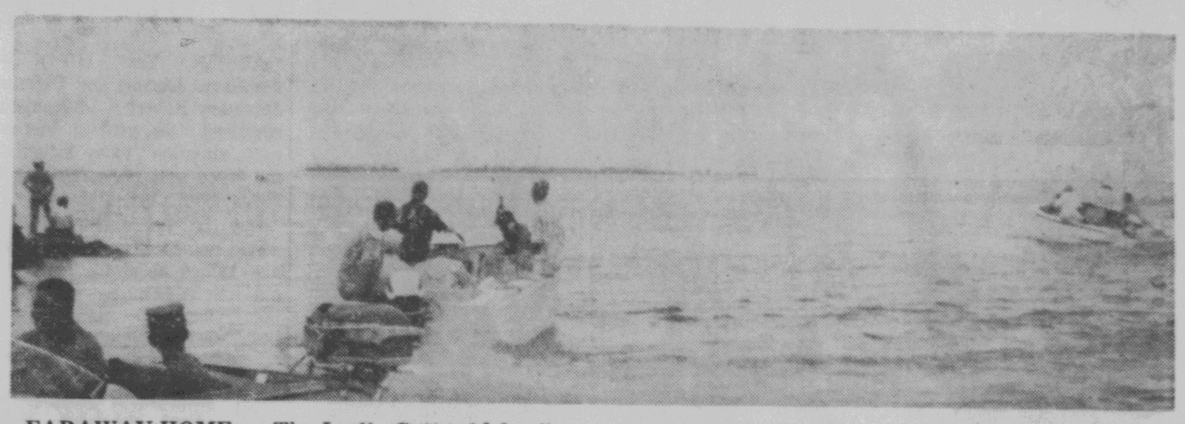
At Christmastime, they used ironwood trees, which are similar in many ways to the evergreens used here, but "sort of limp." Seashells, Japanese fishnet floats and other flotsam took the place of balls and lights.

"We had our own shipwreck, too," said Mrs. Gottwald. A Japanese fishing vessel hit the reef, then was carried over it to the island. Its crew abandoned it and the three Gottwald youngsters found it a wonderful place to play.

Named the civilian chief engineer at the Presidio of San Francisco, Gottwald brought his wife and the children—Gail, 15, Lee, 13, and Kim, 10—back to Tiburon for the first time since 1955. They now live at 25 Andrew Drive.

But the "king and queen" of Cocos will go back when they get the chance.

"I believe we miss Cocos about as much as anything we left behind when we came back to America," said Mrs. Gottwald.



FARAWAY HOME — The Leslie Gottwald family leave Guam in motorboat to sail to Cocis Island, seen dimly on the horizon. It's their private estate in the far Pacific, purchased while they were living on Guam. They built a two-story house and a cottage on it, and plan to return.

FBI Out Of Hamilton Stab Death

Airman James O. Young will be tried by an Air Force court martial for the Christmas slaying of Airman Robert M. Jennings at Hamilton Air Force Base.

A Federal Breau of Investigation spokesman said today the FBI is not entering the case, and it will be handled through court martial proceedings by the Air Force. Since both the victim and the suspect are servicemen, jurisdiction lies entirely with the military, he said.

Jennings, 33, of Jamaica, N.Y., was stabbed in the chest in the day room of Barracks 460 early on Christmas Day. He tried to walk to the base hospital, was picked up en route there by air police, but died in the hospital at 2:25 a.m.

Arrested by air police and charged with the killing was Young, 34, of Russell, Kan. Both men lived in Barracks 460.

The slaying followed a midnight argument in the day room, according to base officials. Young is being held in a maximum security cell in the guardhouse on the base.

Naval Ritual Upsets Sausalito Residents

Their nerves already on edge due to the unpleasant weather, several Sausalito residents today called police to report explosions in the area.

Police checked out the reports and learned that they were gun salutes being given by a fleet of French ships entering San Francisco Bay.

Novato Awards School Construction Contracts

The Novato Unified School District Board, after allowing the low bidder to withdraw his bid because of a mistake, last night awarded two contracts for school construction.

Fostmeier Construction Co. of Petaluma, contractor on the original Pleasant Valley School, as given a $147,000 contract for a six-room addition to the school.

W. J. Kubon Co. of San Rafael was given a $634,804 contract for the 17-classroom elementary school on the Meadow Park school site on Hamilton Air Force Base.

There were six bidders on the projects, four submitting combined bids for both projects, according to Supt. James G. Bunker. A seventh, Todd Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, whose combined bid of $750,200 was the lowest, was allowed to withdraw the bid when it was discovered to include a $21,500 mistake, Bunker said.

The board authorized advertising for bids for additions to Hill and San Jose junior high schools and a six-classroom addition to Lu Sutton School, to be opened on Jan. 20 with contracts to be awarded Jan. 24.

Burglary Charge Brings Plea Of Innocent

James Litteral, 21, one of three youths arrested Dec. 21 after the burglary of McKenzie's Junior Vogue Clothing Store in San Rafael, yesterday pleaded innocent to a burglary charge.

Judge Peter Allen Smith in Marin Municipal Court set a preliminary examination for Thursday.

Litteral, of 802 E Street, San Rafael, was picked up when he walked by the store at 1000 Fifth Avenue minutes after San Rafael police discovered it had been broken into. Paul B. Caldwell, 18, of 32 Front Street, Apt. 9, San Rafael, also charged with burglary, had been earlier referred to the juvenile court.

The thrid person arrested, a 17-year-old, was charged with loitering and sent to Juvenile Hall.

Innocent Plea In Car Shooting

Dave Townsel Jr. yesterday pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The Marin City 19-year-old man is charged with sniping at sheriff's patrol cars.

Judge Peter Allen Smith in Marin Municipal Court set Jan. 13 for a preliminary examination on the felony charge.

Townsel, of 211 Drake Avenue, Marin City, remained free on $2,750 bail. He was accused of firing a shot which hit the left front door of the car driven by Sgt. Wade Powell on Dec. 2. Powell was uninjured. The attack was the third sniping attempt in 25 days in Marin City.

Unruh Eyeing Anderson's Job

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh said yesterday he would be strongly tempted to seek the lieutenant governorship if fellow Democrat Glenn M. Anderson did not seek re-election.

In an interview with Los Angeles Times political writer Carl Greenberg, Unruh, D-Inglewood, was quoted as saying, "Under no circumstances would I be part of any pressure move to push Anderson out."

But, Unruh said, "It would be a strong temptation to run" for lieutenant governor if Anderson withdrew "willingly or if he was forced out by somebody else."

Unruh said he believes "all the talk" about Anderson being offered a federal appointment or some other position "had some basis." However, he added, he believes such attempts, if made, did not work out.

Anderson has denied receipt of any federal appointment offers and said he intends to remain in office until his term ends in January, 1967.

Unruh said he also would be tempted to run for other state constitutional offices should the incumbents not seek re-election.

Novato Firemen Name Officers

Frank Manzoni was elected president of the Novato Volunteer Firemen last night.

Robert Robertson was elected vice president; Wilfred Lieb, secretary; George Gnoss, treasurer; Leo Slowdownick, sergeant at arms, and George Hale, property clerk.

George Cavallero was named honorary chief, and James Kidder, honorary assistant chief.

Officers will be installed at a dinner meeting at 7 p.m. Jan. 8 at Nero's restaurant.

Narcotics Cache Hearing Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A U.S. commissioner has postponed until Jan. 6 a preliminary hearing for a Ft. Benning warrant officer arrested when a huge cache of imported heroin was seized at his trailer home.

Arraignment of CWO Herman Conder, 35, had been set for this afternoon, but U.S. Commissioner H. Okay Parker postponed the hearing at the request of an assistant federal attorney.

Conder is alleged to be the courier of 209 pounds of uncut heroin found in a freezer behind his trailer in Columbus Dec. 20. The 15-year Army veteran was one of eight arrested in connection with the narcotics haul.

Works Engineer Quits For City Job

FIGHTING A NEW CAUSE

After a successful war against polio which paralyzed her from the waist down in 1961, Mrs. Howard Ritchart of 251 Cecilea Way, Tiburon, has left her wheel chair behind to join the March of Dimes in the fight against birth defects. Marin chairman for the March of Dimes Mothers' March, Mrs. Ritchart will coordinate the efforts of hundreds of volunteers who will ring Marin doorbells next month.

LBJ, McNamara Talk Of Budget, Viet Status

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reviewed "the general Vietnamese situation" today including the truce that prevailed for 30 hours over Christmas.

But the Texas White House would not specify whether they also talked about the four-day-old lull in bombings of North Viet Nam or the Viet Cong offer to the South Vietnamese for a four-day truce during their new year's holiday which starts Jan. 20.

Over breakfast, then in a long early-morning walk around the LBJ ranch, and back at the President's ranch-house desk Johnson and McNamara continued discussions that had gone past midnight last night.

Much of their conversation, according to acting White House Press Secretary Joseph Laitin, dealt with the rising defense budget. At the White House press center here, 65 miles from the ranch, Laitin told newsmen that the President also had talked with other aides about federal spending plans for the next fiscal year.

"There is some chance now—because of new hard looks at possible economies—it is just possible the President may have to ask Congress for a short extension on the deadline for submitting the budget," Laitin said.

Without an extension, Johnson under law would have to send his fiscal 1967 budget to Congress 15 days after the House and Senate reconvene Jan. 10.

Laitin said Johnson had telephone talks today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Under Secretary George W. Ball on international matters, as well as one with Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler "about general economic and budgetary matters."

"All in all, by 10 o'clock this morning, the President seemed to have a full day's work behind him already," Laitin said.

Assessment District To Be Supervised

Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors last night agreed to supervise a private assessment district consisting of 12 parcels of land above Pacheco Street in Marin City.

The meeting adjourned in memory of Stanley Cowen, a board member who left the board in 1964. Cowen, who lived in Sausalito, died Dec. 21.

Bay Lawmaker Asks Call To Sew Up Tax Loophole

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Edmund G. Brown today was urged to call a special session of the legislature in January to close a "$200 million property tax loophole."

The appeal came from Chairman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, of the Assembly Municipal and County Government Committee which has been probing alleged irregularities in county assessors' offices.

The attorney general's office, Knox said in a letter to the governor, estimated that local governments lose $200 million in tax revenues annually through escaped personal property tax.

"Most of this loss is attributed to personal property reporting procedures which function as an open invitation to falsification," Knox said. "this situation clearly demands a legislative remedy."

The lawmaker said some of his committee's recommendations may necessitate a constitutional amendment and only a special session in the spring would allow the measures to appear on the 1966 ballot.

"I believe that administrative reforms are essential and cannot be deferred," Knox said.

The chairman said his committee's recommendations would be disclosed early in 1966. He added they would aim at "insuring that the administrative procedures used by local assessors and by the Board of Equalization achieve a fundamental equity in local assessment."

"In short," he added, "we want to provide sufficient checks and balances to close this $200 million loophole and to keep it closed."

Knox also told the governor that the proposals would be confined to administrative reforms and would not "interfere with any tax reforms which you may have planned for 1966 or later."

Boy, 16, Booked In Liquor Theft

San Rafael police yesterday arrested a 16-year-old Terra Linda High School student, accusing him of taking five cases of vodka in November from a truck parked in the Railway Express Agency lot on Jordan Street in San Rafael.

They said the boy complained that four of the cases had later been stolen from him.

The boy had hidden the cases in a backyard shed of a friend, police reported. He had opened one case and sold bottles to friends for $3.50 each. When he returned, the others were missing, he claimed. The boy was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Prison Knife Charge Trial Rescheduled

Jury trial of William Arthur Christmas, San Quentin prisoner indicted for illegal possession of a knife, was scheduled today in Marin Superior Court for March 7.

Christmas, serving time for a second degree burglary conviction in Alameda County on April 14, 1964, allegedly had the knife Oct. 21.

Airlines, Aerospace Issues Hit By Rumors

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed irregulary today as airlines and aerospace issues continued to show sharp losses.

The list was edging off on balance and airlines deepened early declines in reaction to a report that the government would seek to get them to cut rates in 1966.

Reports of another prospective truce in Viet Nam was enough to set the aerospace defense issues back on their heels at the start. They trimmed some losses but nevertheless were down on the day.

Selective recovery by both blue chips and some of the big flying glamour issues improved the picture in late afternoon.

For a while all Big Three auto stocks showed only minor fractional losses but Chrysler had a spell of late weakness and as down around a point in the closing minutes.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.7 million shares compared with 5.97 million yesterday.

Reacting to apublished prediction that the government would seek to have airlines cut fares in 1966, Northwest Airlines lost 8 points, National Airlines bout 4, Eastern and Delta about 3, United 4, American and Pan American a point or so. Pan American was pacing the list on volume.

Scm Corp., up more than a point, also was heavily traded. Radio Corp. and Zenith advanced about 2 each and Xerox half a dozen points.

Aerospace defense stocks fell back on the latest truce proposal news from Viet Nam. Boeing was down 2; General Dynamics, Grumman and McDonnell Aircraft a point or so.

Fairchild Camera gained 6. Up 2 were Texas Instruments and Burroughs.

Losses of 2 points or so were shown by American Smelting, National Aviation, Coca Cola and Bendix.

Du Pont cushioned the averages with a 1-point gain. Also helping the averages were fractional gains by American Telephone, Bethlehem, Goodyear, Caterpillar, Consolidated Edison, Texaco, Liggett & Myers, Johns-Manville and Public Service Electric & Gas.

Schering and Polaroid were off nearly 2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange improved selectively.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds continued to rise.

Insurance Planning Important

By ANDREW BALDWIN

To some, insurance is a method of saving; to others, it is the way in which an estate can be created, or protection of the well-being of loved ones, or an education fund for minor children.

From an estate planning viewpoint life insurance provides liquid funds to pay debts, costs, legacies, and taxes, can be owned by the insured, or by another person, although the insured continues to pay the premiums, by a corporation of which the insured is a key executive, or by an employee benefit fund of which he may be a participant.

Regardless of the purpose, more and more insurance is being issued, to more and more people, and in larger amounts than ever before.

Insurance today continues to provide the same traditional protective benefits mentioned above, as well as providing the newer additional benefits.

It is obvious, then, that insurance should be an integral part of your estate plan.

Your attorney in designing your plan will want to know how much insurance you have, whether you own the policies, to whom the policies are payable, and in what manner.

With this information he can calculate the amount of liquid funds that will thus be provided, he can determine whether death taxes will be increased or reduced depending on whether you own, or do not own the insurance.

If the policies are payable to the estate, the funds will be readily available. If they are payable to a trust, then perhaps the trust will be arranged so as to provide the estate with cash by buying assets from the estate.

If you proceeds are to go to an individual, your attorney will explain that such beneficiary will be required to pay a portion of the taxes due from your estate unless your will otherwise provides a fund for payment of such taxes.

If the payment is to be made in installments over a period of time, your attorney will suggest that you coordinate the provisions of any trust under your will with the insurance arrangements.

Stephen Roberts To Move Soon; Two In Morris Plan Promoted

Now that removal and sales signs are in the window, it's no longer a secret — Stephen Roberts Gentlemen's Apparel at 937 Fourth Street, San Rafael, will move to 1226 Fourth Street and open there about Jan. 8.

Roberts is taking over the location of Herbert's Shoes, where owner Morris Levin has been selling out his stocks in order to retire from business. Roberts is gaining twice as much space as he has now and will use it to increase his merchandise lines.

Sale of Levin's lease was handled by Harry Abras of Redmond Realty.

Marin Stationers, next door to Roberts, has taken advantage of the opportunity to pick up the extra space for expansion.

Rasmussen

Odell

TWO MARIN MEN with the Morris Plan have been elevated to new rank:

Wells W. Rasmussen of San Rafael, manager of the loan contract department at the downtown San Francisco office and an assistant cashier, has been moved up to assistant vice president. He joined the financial firm in 1959 after several years of prior business experience.

Gordon A. Gears of Fairfax has been elected an assistant secretary of Yosemite Insurance Co., a Morris Plan subsidiary. He is also an assistant secretary of the parent company. He joined the organization about two years ago as an underwriter.

KENNETH A. BLACK of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant cashier in Wells Fargo Bank's Matson Building office in San Francisco. He joined the company in 1959 with 15 years previous experience.

NEW GROUP HEAD at the San Francisco office of J. Walter Thompson is John A. (Art) Odell, who has taken up residence in San Rafael. He was creator of the Horace Wink campaign for the Ford Mustang and comes to the San Francisco office from Thompson's New York headquarters where he was a copywriter for the Ford account. He first joined the company at Detroit in 1960 and was transferred to New York in 1963.

DONALD H. REHLEANDER of Mill Valley has joined the San Francisco office of Kenyon and Eckhardt, Inc. as creative director. He was formerly with Johnson and Lewis and before that a copywriter with Cunningham and Walsh.

SAN ANSELMO PHARMACIST Ronald Edward Grady has been accepted for membership in the Northern California Pharmaceutical Assn.

JOINT FARE ARRANGEMENT between Western Air Lines and SFO Helicopter Airlines now waives up to one-half of the regular helicopter fare from the Marin heliport to San Francisco. Exact amount depends upon your destination.

When Western's fare from San Francisco to destination is between $39.85 and $50, SFO drops its fare by $1.50; between $50.05 and $62, SFO takes off $2; $62.05 and more, the helicopter flight is half-price.

Yacht Sales

Marin Deputy Zoning Administrator Wesley Wilkes yesterday granted a use permit to Edgewater Yacht Co. for a branch sales office at 633 Redwood Highway, Alto. The office will take 600 square feet in an existing building.

Unruh Eyeing Anderson's Job

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh said yesterday he would be strongly tempted to seek the lieutenant governorship if fellow Democrat Glenn M. Anderson did not seek re - election.

In an interview with Los Angeles Times political writer Carl Greenberg, Unruh, D-Inglewood, was quoted as saying, "Under no circumstances would I be part of any pressure move to push Anderson out."

But, Unruh said, "It would be a strong temptation to run" for lieutenant governor if Anderson withdrew "willingly or if he was forced out by somebody else."

Unruh said he believes "all the talk" about Anderson being offered a federal appointment or some other position "had some basis." However, he added, he believes such attempts, if made, did not work out.

Anderson has denied receipt of any federal appointment offers and said he intends to remain in office until his term ends in January, 1967.

Unruh said he also would be tempted to run for other state constitutional offices should the incumbents not seek re-election.

Novato Firemen Name Officers

Frank Manzoni was elected president of the Novato Volunteer Firemen last night.

Robert Robertson was elected vice president; Wilfred Lieb, secretary; George Gnoss, treasurer; Leo Slowdownick, sergeant at arms, and George Hale, property clerk.

George Cavallero was named honorary chief, and James Kidder, honorary assistant chief.

Officers will be installed at a dinner meeting at 7 p.m. Jan. 8 at Nero's restaurant.

Narcotics Cache Hearing Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A U.S. commissioner has postponed until Jan. 6 a preliminary hearing for a Ft. Benning warrant officer arrested when a huge cache of imported heroin was seized at his trailer home.

Arraignment of CWO Herman Conder, 35, had been set for this afternoon, but U.S. Commissioner H. Okay Parker postponed the hearing at the request of an assistant federal attorney.

Conder is alleged to be the courier of 209 pounds of uncut heroin found in a freezer behind his trailer in Columbus Dec. 20. The 15-year Army veteran was one of eight arrested in connection with the narcotics haul.

Works Engineer Quits For City Job

Peter Sarant, associate civil engineer in the County Public Works Department, has resigned effective Jan. 17, to become city engineer and director of public works for the City of Pinole, Contra Costa County.

Sarant has been with the Marin department for 20 months.

(REDWOOD NATIONAL BANK ACHIEVES YET ANOTHER BANKING FIRST)

That great big number up there signifies a great big, big first among this area's financial institutions. We're now offering you five per cent interest on six month Savings Certificates of $5,000 and more; the first time any financial institution in these parts has offered insured savings at that rate. Furthermore, we'll pay you interest quarterly by check or by credit to your account; a steady income on an investment insured by a Federal agency. So, we suggest you move quickly. To obtain maximum benefit from this new high 5% rate, transfer your funds in early January (or let us transfer them for you.) And while you're at it, learn more about why we're considered unique among banks. The newest ideas, the youngest banking thinking; charge free checking on accounts of $200 or more; banking-by-mail with all the costs on us; now 5% savings interest; and there's more. That's why we say there is a difference between banks.

Airlines, Aerospace Issues Hit By Rumors

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed irregulary today as airlines and aerospace issues continued to show sharp losses.

The list was edging off on balance and airlines deepened early declines in reaction to a report that the government would seek to get them to cut rates in 1966.

Reports of another prospective truce in Viet Nam was enough to set the aerospace defense issues back on their heels at the start. They trimmed some losses but nevertheless were down on the day.

Selective recovery by both blue chips and some of the big flying glamour issues improved the picture in late afternoon.

For a while all Big Three auto stocks showed only minor fractional losses but Chrysler had a spell of late weakness and as down around a point in the closing minutes.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.7 million shares compared with 5.97 million yesterday.

Reacting to apublished prediction that the government would seek to have airlines cut fares in 1966, Northwest Airlines lost 8 points, National Airlines bout 4, Eastern and Delta about 3, United 4, American and Pan American a point or so. Pan American was pacing the list on volume.

Scm Corp., up more than a point, also was heavily traded. Radio Corp. and Zenith advanced about 2 each and Xerox half a dozen points.

Aerospace defense stocks fell back on the latest truce proposal news from Viet Nam. Boeing was down 2; General Dynamics, Grumman and McDonnell Aircraft a point or so.

Fairchild Camera gained 6. Up 2 were Texas Instruments and Burroughs.

Losses of 2 points or so were shown by American Smelting, National Aviation, Coca Cola and Bendix.

Du Pont cushioned the averages with a 1-point gain. Also helping the averages were fractional gains by American Telephone, Bethlehem, Goodyear, Caterpillar, Consolidated Edison, Texaco, Liggett & Myers, Johns-Manville and Public Service Electric & Gas.

Schering and Polaroid were off nearly 2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange improved selectively.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds continued to rise.

MARIN MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT Call for Bids — Portion of Moore Hill Reservoir Property
NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District will receive sealed bids for the purchase from the District of that certain real property standing in the name of Marin Municipal Water District, and improvements thereon, situate in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, being a portion of Marin County Assessor's Parcel Number 12-051-25 for year 1965 and described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the courses North 68¼ degrees West 88.4 feet and North 14½ degrees East 80 feet of the parcel of land described under SECOND in the Final Order of Condemnation, Marin Municipal Water District, a public corporation, Plaintiff vs Marin Water & Power Company, et al Defendants recorded June 11, 1920 in Volume 215 of Deeds at page 337, Marin County Records, running thence along the Westerly and Southwesterly line of said parcel of land North 14° 30' East 80.00 feet, thence North 68° 15' West 12.00 feet, thence leaving said Southwesterly line of said parcel of land North 78° 33' East 13.59 feet, thence North 14° 30' East 174.90 feet to a point on the Northerly line of said parcel of land described under SECOND, thence along the Northerly, Easterly and Southerly lines of said parcel of land South 68° 15' East 299.68 feet, South 14° 30' West 154.70 feet, South 83° 24' West 225.00 feet and North 68° 15' West 88.40 feet to the point of beginning. Containing 66,775 square feet more or less.

Said bids will be received and said property will be sold upon and subject to the following terms and conditions.

1. Sealed bids will be received up to the hour of 1:30 P.M., on Wednesday, the 12th day of January, 1966 and will then be publicly opened and declared at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of said District in the Board Room at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, California.

2. Increased bids will thereupon be called for, on an auction basis, but the initial, increased bid must be in an amount at least 10 percent more on the first $10,000 of the highest sealed bid and 5 percent more on the amount of said sealed bid in excess of $10,000. Said property will then be sold to the highest and best bidder therefor in cash, subject to the right of the District to reject any and all bids.

3. Possession will be delivered on or before February 9, 1966.

4. Each bid must be accompanied by cash or certified check payable to the District in the amount of ten per cent of the amount of bid. The District will deliver marketable title and the transaction will be closed through a title company in San Rafael, California, to be selected by the buyer. Title to be delivered and the balance of the purchase price paid on or before February 9, 1966.

5. No real estate commission shall be paid upon any sale which may be made pursuant to such call for bids.

Dated at Corte Madera, California, November 29, 1965.

Italian Film Star Argues Over Taxes

ROME (AP) — Actor Marcello Mastroianni says he made $48,000 in 1965, but Rome's tax assessors insist he earned $160,000.

It's all part of the "family tax" game played each year in Italy. The tax office throws out a figure, the citizen swears it's ridiculously high, then they negotiate a settlement somewhere in between. The tax rate runs from 10 to 15 per cent of income.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Human Growth Hormone Can Aid Dwarfs If Given During Youth

VAN DELLEN

"How can my pituitary gland be stimulated so that I can grow taller? I am 25 years old and 5 feet 3 inches tall." Our writer refers to the human growth hormone (HGH) that is obtained from the pituitary gland located at the base of the brain. The product is scarce and at present is used to promote growth in pituitary dwarfs.

A healty 5 foot 3 inch man is short, but he is not a dwarf or midget even though five inches smaller than the average adult. In all probability, one or both of his parents were short and the same applies to other family members. His grandparents are to blame, not his pituitary gland.

BUT MORE important is the age of this individual. The ability to grow ceases when the growth centers at the ends of the long bones fuse with the skeletal structure. This usually occurs at the end of adolescence, and the possibility of being helped with hormones or drugs after this time is practically nil. This is why dwarfism must be recognized early in order to benefit from therapy. This man is too old for HGH.

It is interesting to speculate what might have happened if HGH had been available 15 years ago and he received the full dosage. He might have grown more rapidly for a few years and then stopped, perhaps at 5 feet 3 inches. The hormone in these circumstances could encourage an earlier adolescence with a premature closure of the growth centers in the long bones.

IT IS UNFORTUNATE that this hormone is so scarce. The amount obtained from a single human pituitary gland is sufficient for less than one week's experimental treatment of a pituitary dwarf. Similar hormones from animals do not work on humans. The extract has a potential in other fields, but extensive research must await a larger supply.

ENURETIC FAMILY

Mrs. A. A. writes: I read in your column that a bedwetting child needs medical attention. I always though it was something a mother had to endure until the habit was outgrown. The oldest of my five children is 12; he wet until he was 9. My others are 8, 6, 4, and a baby and they all wet. I'm frantic with washing sheets and bedding and would be grateful to you for any suggestions.

REPLY

Since all your youngsters are bedwetters, I suspect you are at fault. When I was in the Army, we had an epidemic of enuresis that was controlled within a week by getting everyone out of bed every two hours at night. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bedwetting which offers various suggestions.

Further Review Of Year's Happenings In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The massive Petris-Unruh tax reform-increase bill had its first hearing before the Legislature in early May but, on the day of the hearing, Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced that an upswing in revenues would make big tax increases unnecessary.

The Petris-Unruh bill would have boosted state taxes by more than $1 billion a year, with much of this funneled back to local government. It would have included a 25 per cent average school property tax reduction. However, with the new revenue upturn, Brown said only accelerated collection of sales taxes, certain sales tax reforms and a cigarette tax were necessary.

Otherwise, in May, the Legislature performed its biennial chore of killing a bill which would have abolished capital punishment. The Senate passed a bill to reapportion the upper house of the Legislature. The department of employment certified the need for 2,150 more Mexican farm workers.

Two new members were appointed to the Alcoholic Beverage control appeals board, Roger P. Garety of San Rafael, and Leon M. Cooper of Los Angeles. A bill prohibiting the use of dogs by police officers was killed. The Assembly refused to vote on a bill tightening the state's laws against obscene material.

State Controller Alan Cranston reported slow payment of personal income taxes indicated many persons who felt they had federal income tax refunds under the tax cut did not have such refunds.

During June the Assembly, after considerable pulling and hauling, passed the Senate reapportionment bill but the Senate would not accept the changes made in the lower house. State Treasurer Bert A. Betts said 1965 could be the year of decision for California because the huge volume of bonds that must be sold makes it difficult to secure favorable interest rates.

The regular session of the Legislature ended, with no reapportionment bill, and with a budget $100 million short in revenue. Governor Brown announced the cuts he would make in order to keep the budget in balance and held a public hearing to hear pleas to restore these amounts to the budget. As a result, a special session was called for June 28 to consider revenue measures to balance the budget.

Bryan Gibson was appointed to the State Fish and Game Commission, succeeding the late Jamie H. Smith. Bills to extend unemployment insurance to farm workers and to split the state into two states were killed by the Legislature. The lawmakers cut off the budget of the economic development agency.

During July, Robert Finch, former campaign manager for Richard Nixon, announced he would seek the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in 1966. The board of trustees for state colleges said it expected 4,000 prospective students would be turned away in the fall because of a teacher shortage.

A report to the governor showed that one-third of all state employees hired in the previous 14 months were minority race members, with Negro employment in state government up 11.2 per cent; Caucasian up 1.9 per cent.

Governor Brown vetoed a number of bills approved by the regular session of the Legislature, including bills to permit inter-county transfer of liquor licenses; to permit cities and counties to collect cigarette tax; to issue ID cards to persons over 21; and to issue 500,000 reflectorized license plates.

The special session was completed in fairly short time, with the Legislature adopting programs to increase revenues for the year by just over $100 million. The bulk of this was accelerating from quarterly to monthly payments the sales tax of large retailers. The tax also was extended to certain leases and to all sales of aircraft, cars and boats.

Labor Secretary Wirtz appointed a panel to advise him on farm labor needs.

During August the Watts riots' death toll topped 30; nearly 4,000 persons were arrested and property damage ran into the millions. Governor Brown rushed back from vacation to take command, after Lieut. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson had ordered out the aClifornia National Guard. the California National Guard.

Brown appointed John A. McCone, former CIA chief, to head a select eight-member commission to study causes and cures for the Watts outbreak.

Duck hunters received the bad news the limit for 1965-66 could include only three big birds—sprig and mallard.

A $125,000 tomato picking school in Yolo County produced poor results in terms of workers who actually went into the fields. It was reported legislative expenses in 1964 totaled $1,315,220. The state's population was estimated at 18,756,000, or one person out of every 10 in the U.S.

The first aerospace systems report on state problems was submitted, this one on how to combat crime in California.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Corporate Umbrella Won't Mean Much

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Is it logical that a television network would greatly improve its programming if it could take shelter within a larger corporate framework, thereby lessening the financial pressures of ratings and Wall Street:

This matter is being discussed considerably lately. NBC, of course, is a subsidiary of the Radio Corp. of America. Now ABC is planning to merge with International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. And knowledgeable industry observers feel that this could mean that CBS might inevitably be forced to make a similar move in order to stay competitive—in short, so that it does not feel the pressure of having more limited resources.

To televiewers, the implications by those who are excited by the beneficial side of such maneuverings are that a massive corporate umbrella might enable a network to schedule higher class programs in greater number. The reasoning is that popularity ratings—which affect network incomes by altering the the amount of advertiser charges—and stock market prices, which fluctuate for the networks according to the ratings, would assume lesser importance if ABC and CBS felt more secure because of such corporate umbrellas.

Theoretcially, the potential benefit to the viewer sounds lovely. Practically this viewer feels that those who actually expect such major improvements are living in a utopian dreamworld. No matter how big, secure or excellent the company, its basic motives—like those of all basic business enterprises—are profit and power.

NBC, for instance, has hardly been ordered by RCA to sacrifice all for altruism. The network, for example, has been a major factor in RCA's honorable pioneering and promotion of color television, the parent company being a top manufacturer in the field.

In short, it is simply another case of disappointed but hopeful observers now grabbing, as always, at straws, for video—commercial video—offers little else to grab at. Hoping won't help. As always, commercial television will promise much and offer tiny tidbits, maybe a few added hours of worth, but certainly no major overhaul—in other words, nothing to go wild over. It can be no other way, for once a public treasure—in this case, the airways —has been turned over to commercial powers, the surrender has been consummated. Everything else is mere after-effect.

To change the basic system as it now operates would mean striking at the heart of the profit system, and of course no one wants to do this. Viewers, however, can look forward to the time, hopefully in the near future, when the educational television network hooks up its connections so that it can—like the commercial networks—broadcast a full schedule of programs across the nation, on the same nights.

Florida Doctor Clarifies View

In a letter to Dr. Robert L. Mills, president of the Marin Medical Society, Dr. Edward R. Annis of Miami, Fla., has denied a statement attributed to him that "about 90 per cent of doctors in America will refuse to take part in Medicare."

The statement was contained in an Associated Press story from Richmond, Va., published in the Independent-Journal Dec. 15. Dr. Mills asked Dr. Annis, a former president of the American Medical Assn., for clarification of the statement.

Dr. Annis wrote that what he actually said was that "90 per cent or more of physicians would continue their relationships with their patients in the future as they have in the past, and that most of them would submit bills even though they might accept assignments from a government-elected intermediary."

Landing Ship

Gary S. Lucas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas of 109 El Cerrito Avenue, San Rafael, participated in the transporting of the Republic of Korea's Tiger Division from Pusan, Korea, to Qui Nhon, South Viet Nam, while serving aboard the tank landing ship Terrell County, which has its home port at Yokosuka, Japan.

Improvements Coming In Road

Improvements to the Sears Point Road from Vallejo to Marin County (State Highway 37) are scheduled by the State Division of Highways in an effort to cut down accidents, State Sen. Luther E. Gibson (D-Vallejo), said today.

The limited corrective measures are being taken at Gibson's request, he said, and are based on recommendations of a survey by the California State Antomobile Assn., also requested by the senator, whose district includes Marin, under reapportionment.

Among changes along the route are erection of more guide posts on the shoulders, relocating warning devices near Sonoma Creek bridges, and removal of detour signs which cause confusion.

Also scheduled are studies into the possibility of adding reflective wedges to the existing white center line stripe and providing of all-weather shoulders.

Joint Elections Said Impossible

The North Marin County Water District cannot consolidate its election with the June primary next year, according to Frederick Bold Jr., attorney for the district.

County supervisors two weeks ago suggested that several districts take steps to consolidate elections on June 7, but the water district is operating under a law that will require the election in March, Bold wrote the supervisors.

This will continue, Bold said, until a change in law goes into effect Jan. 1, 1967.

The water district election next year will be March 22.

Scooter Rider Thrown, Injured

Henry F. Poteet, 18, of 231 Prado Avenue, Terra Linda, suffered multiple scalp cuts when he was thrown from his motor scooter at El Porado and Corrillo Drive, Terra Linda, at 7:45 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Poteet was eastbound on El Prado when his scooter hit a gutter. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

Italian Film Star Argues Over Taxes

ROME (AP) — Actor Marcello Mastroianni says he made $48,000 in 1965, but Rome's tax assessors insist he earned $160,000.

It's all part of the "family tax" game played each year in Italy. The tax office throws out a figure, the citizen swears it's ridiculously high, then they negotiate a settlement somewhere in between. The tax rate runs from 10 to 15 per cent of income.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Human Growth Hormone Can Aid Dwarfs If Given During Youth

VAN DELLEN

"How can my pituitary gland be stimulated so that I can grow taller? I am 25 years old and 5 feet 3 inches tall." Our writer refers to the human growth hormone (HGH) that is obtained from the pituitary gland located at the base of the brain. The product is scarce and at present is used to promote growth in pituitary dwarfs.

A healty 5 foot 3 inch man is short, but he is not a dwarf or midget even though five inches smaller than the average adult. In all probability, one or both of his parents were short and the same applies to other family members. His grandparents are to blame, not his pituitary gland.

BUT MORE important is the age of this individual. The ability to grow ceases when the growth centers at the ends of the long bones fuse with the skeletal structure. This usually occurs at the end of adolescence, and the possibility of being helped with hormones or drugs after this time is practically nil. This is why dwarfism must be recognized early in order to benefit from therapy. This man is too old for HGH.

It is interesting to speculate what might have happened if HGH had been available 15 years ago and he received the full dosage. He might have grown more rapidly for a few years and then stopped, perhaps at 5 feet 3 inches. The hormone in these circumstances could encourage an earlier adolescence with a premature closure of the growth centers in the long bones.

IT IS UNFORTUNATE that this hormone is so scarce. The amount obtained from a single human pituitary gland is sufficient for less than one week's experimental treatment of a pituitary dwarf. Similar hormones from animals do not work on humans. The extract has a potential in other fields, but extensive research must await a larger supply.

ENURETIC FAMILY

Mrs. A. A. writes: I read in your column that a bedwetting child needs medical attention. I always though it was something a mother had to endure until the habit was outgrown. The oldest of my five children is 12; he wet until he was 9. My others are 8, 6, 4, and a baby and they all wet. I'm frantic with washing sheets and bedding and would be grateful to you for any suggestions.

REPLY

Since all your youngsters are bedwetters, I suspect you are at fault. When I was in the Army, we had an epidemic of enuresis that was controlled within a week by getting everyone out of bed every two hours at night. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on bedwetting which offers various suggestions.

Further Review Of Year's Happenings In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The massive Petris-Unruh tax reform-increase bill had its first hearing before the Legislature in early May but, on the day of the hearing, Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced that an upswing in revenues would make big tax increases unnecessary.

The Petris-Unruh bill would have boosted state taxes by more than $1 billion a year, with much of this funneled back to local government. It would have included a 25 per cent average school property tax reduction. However, with the new revenue upturn, Brown said only accelerated collection of sales taxes, certain sales tax reforms and a cigarette tax were necessary.

Otherwise, in May, the Legislature performed its biennial chore of killing a bill which would have abolished capital punishment. The Senate passed a bill to reapportion the upper house of the Legislature. The department of employment certified the need for 2,150 more Mexican farm workers.

Two new members were appointed to the Alcoholic Beverage control appeals board, Roger P. Garety of San Rafael, and Leon M. Cooper of Los Angeles. A bill prohibiting the use of dogs by police officers was killed. The Assembly refused to vote on a bill tightening the state's laws against obscene material.

State Controller Alan Cranston reported slow payment of personal income taxes indicated many persons who felt they had federal income tax refunds under the tax cut did not have such refunds.

During June the Assembly, after considerable pulling and hauling, passed the Senate reapportionment bill but the Senate would not accept the changes made in the lower house. State Treasurer Bert A. Betts said 1965 could be the year of decision for California because the huge volume of bonds that must be sold makes it difficult to secure favorable interest rates.

The regular session of the Legislature ended, with no reapportionment bill, and with a budget $100 million short in revenue. Governor Brown announced the cuts he would make in order to keep the budget in balance and held a public hearing to hear pleas to restore these amounts to the budget. As a result, a special session was called for June 28 to consider revenue measures to balance the budget.

Bryan Gibson was appointed to the State Fish and Game Commission, succeeding the late Jamie H. Smith. Bills to extend unemployment insurance to farm workers and to split the state into two states were killed by the Legislature. The lawmakers cut off the budget of the economic development agency.

During July, Robert Finch, former campaign manager for Richard Nixon, announced he would seek the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in 1966. The board of trustees for state colleges said it expected 4,000 prospective students would be turned away in the fall because of a teacher shortage.

A report to the governor showed that one-third of all state employees hired in the previous 14 months were minority race members, with Negro employment in state government up 11.2 per cent; Caucasian up 1.9 per cent.

Governor Brown vetoed a number of bills approved by the regular session of the Legislature, including bills to permit inter-county transfer of liquor licenses; to permit cities and counties to collect cigarette tax; to issue ID cards to persons over 21; and to issue 500,000 reflectorized license plates.

The special session was completed in fairly short time, with the Legislature adopting programs to increase revenues for the year by just over $100 million. The bulk of this was accelerating from quarterly to monthly payments the sales tax of large retailers. The tax also was extended to certain leases and to all sales of aircraft, cars and boats.

Labor Secretary Wirtz appointed a panel to advise him on farm labor needs.

During August the Watts riots' death toll topped 30; nearly 4,000 persons were arrested and property damage ran into the millions. Governor Brown rushed back from vacation to take command, after Lieut. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson had ordered out the aClifornia National Guard. the California National Guard.

Brown appointed John A. McCone, former CIA chief, to head a select eight-member commission to study causes and cures for the Watts outbreak.

Duck hunters received the bad news the limit for 1965-66 could include only three big birds—sprig and mallard.

A $125,000 tomato picking school in Yolo County produced poor results in terms of workers who actually went into the fields. It was reported legislative expenses in 1964 totaled $1,315,220. The state's population was estimated at 18,756,000, or one person out of every 10 in the U.S.

The first aerospace systems report on state problems was submitted, this one on how to combat crime in California.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Corporate Umbrella Won't Mean Much

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Is it logical that a television network would greatly improve its programming if it could take shelter within a larger corporate framework, thereby lessening the financial pressures of ratings and Wall Street:

This matter is being discussed considerably lately. NBC, of course, is a subsidiary of the Radio Corp. of America. Now ABC is planning to merge with International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. And knowledgeable industry observers feel that this could mean that CBS might inevitably be forced to make a similar move in order to stay competitive—in short, so that it does not feel the pressure of having more limited resources.

To televiewers, the implications by those who are excited by the beneficial side of such maneuverings are that a massive corporate umbrella might enable a network to schedule higher class programs in greater number. The reasoning is that popularity ratings—which affect network incomes by altering the the amount of advertiser charges—and stock market prices, which fluctuate for the networks according to the ratings, would assume lesser importance if ABC and CBS felt more secure because of such corporate umbrellas.

Theoretcially, the potential benefit to the viewer sounds lovely. Practically this viewer feels that those who actually expect such major improvements are living in a utopian dreamworld. No matter how big, secure or excellent the company, its basic motives—like those of all basic business enterprises—are profit and power.

NBC, for instance, has hardly been ordered by RCA to sacrifice all for altruism. The network, for example, has been a major factor in RCA's honorable pioneering and promotion of color television, the parent company being a top manufacturer in the field.

In short, it is simply another case of disappointed but hopeful observers now grabbing, as always, at straws, for video—commercial video—offers little else to grab at. Hoping won't help. As always, commercial television will promise much and offer tiny tidbits, maybe a few added hours of worth, but certainly no major overhaul—in other words, nothing to go wild over. It can be no other way, for once a public treasure—in this case, the airways —has been turned over to commercial powers, the surrender has been consummated. Everything else is mere after-effect.

To change the basic system as it now operates would mean striking at the heart of the profit system, and of course no one wants to do this. Viewers, however, can look forward to the time, hopefully in the near future, when the educational television network hooks up its connections so that it can—like the commercial networks—broadcast a full schedule of programs across the nation, on the same nights.

Florida Doctor Clarifies View

In a letter to Dr. Robert L. Mills, president of the Marin Medical Society, Dr. Edward R. Annis of Miami, Fla., has denied a statement attributed to him that "about 90 per cent of doctors in America will refuse to take part in Medicare."

The statement was contained in an Associated Press story from Richmond, Va., published in the Independent-Journal Dec. 15. Dr. Mills asked Dr. Annis, a former president of the American Medical Assn., for clarification of the statement.

Dr. Annis wrote that what he actually said was that "90 per cent or more of physicians would continue their relationships with their patients in the future as they have in the past, and that most of them would submit bills even though they might accept assignments from a government-elected intermediary."

Gary S. Lucas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas of 109 El Cerrito Avenue, San Rafael, participated in the transporting of the Republic of Korea's Tiger Division from Pusan, Korea, to Qui Nhon, South Viet Nam, while serving aboard the tank landing ship Terrell County, which has its home port at Yokosuka, Japan.

Improvements Coming In Road

Improvements to the Sears Point Road from Vallejo to Marin County (State Highway 37) are scheduled by the State Division of Highways in an effort to cut down accidents, State Sen. Luther E. Gibson (D-Vallejo), said today.

The limited corrective measures are being taken at Gibson's request, he said, and are based on recommendations of a survey by the California State Antomobile Assn., also requested by the senator, whose district includes Marin, under reapportionment.

Among changes along the route are erection of more guide posts on the shoulders, relocating warning devices near Sonoma Creek bridges, and removal of detour signs which cause confusion.

Also scheduled are studies into the possibility of adding reflective wedges to the existing white center line stripe and providing of all-weather shoulders.

Joint Elections Said Impossible

The North Marin County Water District cannot consolidate its election with the June primary next year, according to Frederick Bold Jr., attorney for the district.

County supervisors two weeks ago suggested that several districts take steps to consolidate elections on June 7, but the water district is operating under a law that will require the election in March, Bold wrote the supervisors.

This will continue, Bold said, until a change in law goes into effect Jan. 1, 1967.

The water district election next year will be March 22.

Scooter Rider Thrown, Injured

Henry F. Poteet, 18, of 231 Prado Avenue, Terra Linda, suffered multiple scalp cuts when he was thrown from his motor scooter at El Porado and Corrillo Drive, Terra Linda, at 7:45 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Poteet was eastbound on El Prado when his scooter hit a gutter. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

'A Satisfying Ending,' Says Packers' Don Chandler

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Among the wires that poured into Don Chandlers' home after his field goal heroics in Sunday's sudden death football game was a message from Wel Mara, his old boss at New York.

"It was real nice of Wel," said the Green Bay place kicker. "I appreciated it."

Nobody paid much attention to Chandler in the year-end polls for comeback of the year, but the veteran deserved a high rank. His tying and winning kicks for a 13-10 victory against Baltimore Sunday made it 19 out of 29 field goal attempts and a total of 95 points.

Last year he made nine out of 20 for the Giants. Ironically, the Giants had troubles with field goals and made only 4 of 25 this season.

"I guess the Giants did me a favor when they traded me to Green Bay," said Chandler. "It was a tremendous challenge to me and a most satisfying ending.

"Last summer I practiced kicking back home in Tulsa for about six weeks before I went to camp. I kicked 15 or 16 a day at the high school field. It helped me get ready for camp because I felt I had to make the ball club. Ordinarily it takes me 10 days to get ready but this time I figured I should be ready to go from the start."

Chandler tied Sunday's playoff game for the National Football League's Western Conference crown with less than two minutes to go when he made good on a 22-yard boot. Informed that Lou Michaels, Baltimore kicker and defensive end, had the kick was not good, Chandler commented:

"All I have to say is that there were two officials there, one on each side of the posts, and one official behind me. Maybe they (Colts) should have paid more attention to rushing."

The winning field goal at 13:39 of the sudden death overtime almost came a play earlier. Both Coach Vince Lombardi and Chandler confirmed the story yesterday.

"I almost sent him in on third down," said Lombardi. "I yelled, 'field goal,' and the field goal team all got up and started taking off their robes. But I changed my mind. Imagine, if we had fumbled, I would be kicking myself all over Green Bay."

Instead of third down and six to go from the 22, the Packers moved to fourth and two on the 18 on a four-yard gainer by Jim Taylor. Chandler then kicked it over from the 25.

"That's got to be the big one for me," said Chandler. "We have had a lot of tough things to overcome this year. Now we've got to play another tough game against Cleveland. It has been real blood and guts football all season."

Chandler and the rest of the Packers were given a two-day holiday by the coach before they resume practice tomorrow.

Bart Starr, the No. 1 quarterback, is a doubtful starter for Sunday's NFL championship game with Cleveland at Green Bay. Starr has a painfully bruised right side and has trouble raising his right arm. However, X-rays proved negative.

Lombardi said he would not know about Starr until Friday. In the meantime, the veteran Zeke Bratkowski, who led the Packers to victory after Starr was hurt on the first play, will run the ball club.

Lombardi said he thought Paul Hornung (bruised leg), Ron Kostelnik (sore foot) and Boyd Dowler (injured ankle) would be ready to face the Browns.

FOURTH SECTION Tues., Dec. 28, 1965 33

JIM MURRAY

A Golf Star's Wasted Chances

It was the same old story—wasted opportunity, the chance that was missed, a lifetime of regrets.

The guy sitting across the table from me could have been one of the greatest. Thirty-five years ago, he had a backswing you could have cut butter with, poured on cornflakes, made a wreath out of. Nobody got out of a sand trap better or in one as seldom. Ben Hogan wished he could line up a putt the way this guy did.

Then it happened—the bright lights, Broadway, the glamor of Hollywood—and he threw it all away. He went right down the primrose path. Fame, success, easy money seemed beckoning and he forgot the skills he did best. His putting turned sour, he got in more sand than a camel. He started hanging around night club nights.

When he had his first success, those of us in the know shook our heads. Ten million superheterodyne sets tuned in nightly. He has a voice as smooth and easy as smoke rings. Ten million high school kids imitated him in the shower. But nobody could imitate his takeaway with a 5-iron.

IT ALL BEGAN just before his family gave him a set of drums one year. From then on it was all uphill. A great career on the links was thrown in the discard. The man who might have beat Sam Snead two a side frittered away his time on the screens of the world crooning into sound tracks, nibbling on the ear of platinum blondes—there was "Rhythm On The River," "June In January," "Please," "Pennies From Heaven."

And in all this tinselled gaiety, Harry Lillis Crosby slipped to a 5-handicap at times. It was enough to make you cry. Oh, there were compensations that might have seemed important at the time—villas in Europe, houses in Palm Springs, Pebble Beach, record sales in the billions, hob-nobbing with Presidents, kings, emperors. But you have to think of what might have been.

I GAVE some thought to it as I sat across from him the other afternoon in the dressing room of the Hollywood Palace theater and we went back over the wreckage of his life. It was hard to keep from blubbering. I mean, what did he have to show for it. The bench-made shoes? The gold leaf on the dressing room door? The chauffeur? The limousine? Here was a man who could have gone down in history with Slammin' Sammy Snead, Light Horse Harry Cooper, Bantam Ben and Lord Byron, Arnie's Army would have looked like a battalion. He could have been "Beltin' Bing" (except he was more of a bunter off the tee—IF you consider 230 yards a "bunt") or Light Horse Harry Crosby—One-Putt Harry Crosby. The king of the 9-iron.

He did win the club championship at Lakeside several years ago. He won the Canadian Western. He once shot a 63 at Spokane. Clearly, this was no man to be wasting his time on a sound stage. He gives Bob Hope two a side.

HE DID ENTER the British Amateur and the U.S. Amateur. But all that music reading took its toll. He went out in the first round more often than Floyd Patterson.

In 1937, since he had no time to go to a golf tournament, he did the next-best thing, what any red-blooded American millionaire would do—he sent for one.

The Big Crosby International is 25 years old this year and the mind of the man who hosted it and bankrolled it—until lately when the mighty Minnesota Mining and Manufacture and their oceans of Scotch Tape have stepped in and made it a TV spectaculer at a cost no one man could bear—roamed back over the years.

THERE WAS the first one, down at Rancho Santa Fe where torrential rains seemed about to drown San Diego County and an unknown named Sam Snead won it in a tourney shortened to one day by the pennies from heaven.

There was the postwar shift to Pebble Beach where Bing himself had shifted, and the tournament was Wuthering-Heights-with-nine-irons and tee shots which started out in California and ended on Guam and someone was told he had a free drop one day and asked "Yeah, but where? Japan?"

THERE WAS Porky Oliver, soon to be dormied by cancer, doggedly taking a 16 on No. 16 at Cypress and cheerfully allowing "Well, you can't get 'em all within the leather." There was Henry Ransom, flailing away at a ball marooned on a desert island completely surrounded by foaming, raging surf and smashing the ball off a sea wall till it richocheted back and struck him in the abdomen, and he picked up, threw his club back in the bag and observed, "Bing. When the thing starts hitting back, it's time to quit."

AND THEN there was Terrible Tommie Bolt, golf's thunderhead, cursing and roiling at Pebble's diabolical Nos. 7, 8 and 9, none of them par-able on that glowering day and raging "you don't need clubs to play this course, you need whaleboats?" And pausing as he passed Bing's home hard by the 9th green and surveying the warm fire gleaming within and the soothing strains from the Hi-Fi, he shook his fist and vowed, "I'm gonna go home and get me a big .45 pistol and hold it at the neck of that crooner and make him play 8 and 9 continuously till he pars both of 'em!"

CROSBY LOVES golf and vice versa. There are those who say the nickname "The Groaner" derives not from his singing style but from the sound he made when he missed a 6-footer on the low side or topped a chip.

I'M AS grateful as the next guy for "White Christmas." I think it's a right nice little number. And "Going My Way" is a commendable - enough picture. But, shucks man. Look at it this way: Is it worth giving up a shot at the Azalea Open for? Why this man might have made alternate on the Ryder Cup team, who knows? One little wrong turn in the road and look what happens. Thank God they never gave Ben Hogan a set of drums—or the lyrics to "When The Blue Of The Night" and an audition by Cremo cigars.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL
ON VACATION

Thurmond Unanimous All-Star

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West must wonder what a guy has to do to be a unanimous All-Star selection in the National Basketball Association.

Los Angeles' Mr. Everything was one of eight NBA players named to the West squad for the league's annual All-Star Game at Cincinnati, Jan. 11.

West was named on all but one of the 67 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters in the nine NBA cities. West is the NBA's leading scorer with 1,228 points, one of three NBA players to pass the 1,000-point plateau this season, and the only one in the West .

The West team did have one unanimous selection. He's Nate Thurmond, the 6-foot-10 San Francisco center who took over in the Warriors' pivot spot after Wilt Chamberlain was traded to Philadelphia.

The only rookie on the team is Rick Barry of the Warriors, who is averaging better than 21 points per game.

Others chosen were San Francisco's Guy Rodgers, Don Ohl and Bailey Howell of Baltimore, Zelmo Beaty of St. Louis and Rudy LaRusso of Los Angeles.

The East's first eight stars will be announced Thursday and then NBA coaches will pick two more players for each 10-man squad.

One of the additional West players will come from Detroit, the only club in the division without a player among the first eight chosen.

Duke Still No. 1 Team In Country

By BEN OLAN

Four undefeated teams have taken stronger positions in the Associated Press major-college basketball poll while once-beaten Duke held onto a sizable first-place lead.

The four are Vanderbilt, Bradley, Iowa and Kentucky, ranking behind the Blue Devils in that order.

Duke, 7-1 including last week's 100-93 overtime victory over Michigan, collected 35 first-place votes and 405 points in the latest ballong by a special panel of 43 regional experts.

Vanderbilt advanced two places to second with seven first-place votes and 331 points. The Commodores whipped Northwestern and the University of California at Santa Barbara, pushing their record to 8-0.

Bradley also climbed two places to third after beating Montana and North Dakota for a 10-0 mark. The Peoria, Ill. Braves had 299 points.

Iowa, 7-0, soared from ninth to fourth while Kentucky, which received the only other vote for the top position, moved up from 10th to fifth. Both teams are 7-0, the Wildcats after trouncing Texas Tech 89-73 last week while Iowa was idle.

Brigham Young, also unbeaten at 6-0, climbed into the No. 6 spot, BYU was unranked last week. Michigan, which also lost to Butler for a 4-3 mark, slipped four notches to seventh.

St. Joseph's, Pa., in the runner-up position a week ago, fell to eighth. The previously-unbeaten Hawks lost to Wyoming 99-92 and Brigham Young 103-83 last week.

Minnesota and Providence each tumbled three places, the Gophers to ninth and Providence to 10th. Both lost their first games of the season in last week's action, Minnesota to Utah State and Providence to Houston.

Wichita, eight last week, dropped out of the top 10 after

Australians Remain Davis Cup Kings

NETTED NETTER — Spain's Luis Arilla tries to disentangle himself from the back court net in Sydney, Australia today during the Davis Cup doubles match. Australia's John Newcombe and Tony Roche beat Arilla and Manuel Santana to clinch the "Cup" at 3-0. (AP Wirephoto)

Spaniards Trail 3-0 As Aussies Clinch It

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The sun blazed down on center court at 114 degrees, and John Newcombe and Tony Roche blazed over it with the same intensity today as Australia retained the Davis Cup with an easy doubles triumph over the flamboyant Spanish team of Manuel Santana and Luis Arilla.

The Aussies' 6-3, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 triumph over the gallant Spaniards gave the boys from Down Under an insurmountable 3-0 lead in the best-of-5 series and kept the big silver cup, emblematic of world amateur tennis supremacy, in Australia for the 13th time in the last 20 years.

Despite an imported group of 400 Spanish spectators gaily bedecked in red and gold scarves and an appreciative Australian crowd of 8,000 in White City Stadium, the Spaniards seemed to wilt after breaking through in the second set.

Santana tired noticeably during the third set, apparently feeling the effects of the 60-game singles match he lost to Fred Stolle yesterday, 10-12, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 75. Spain fell behind 2-0 when Roy Emerson whipped Juan Gisbert 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

So the scene was dramatically set for today's matches with the Spaniards facing a win-or-else situation in their first appearance in the Challenge Round and the Aussies deciding to send out the second-line combo of Newcombe and Roche for the clincher.

Australian captain Harry Hopman, who made the decision to use the rested Newcombe-Roche team rather than come back with Emerson and Stolle, freely predicted that it would be all over after the doubles match.

"I think our boys will win the doubles," he said frankly. "We want to wrap it up."

And that's the way it was with Spain's captain, Jaime Bartoli, freely admitting after it was all over:

"The Australians were too good, too good."

As the teams went out to center court at White City Stadium, Santana received a round of sustained applause in appreciation of his duel with Stolle the day before, but it was Arilla who won the crowd this time.

After the opening set loss, Arilla took over with Spain leading 5-4 in the second set and fired the ball back over the net continually in a duel with Newcombe as the score went to 30-30. Then Newcombe netted, Roche smashed the ball into the net and Spain had evened the match with a 6-4 victory.

Santana, obviously happy, lifted his racket in the air and

Michigan '5' Upended By Arizona St.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Four western teams go into action tonight as the Far West Classic basketball tournament, suddenly a wide open race, completes the first round of play.

It will be Stanford (3-3) vs. Washington State (7-0) at 7 p.m. and Oregon (3-1) vs. Utah State (6-4) at 9 p.m.

Arizona State (6-3) defeated Michigan (4-4) 89-87 and Oregon State (4-3) downed Air Force (1-7) 53-42 in the Monday night games.

It was the Arizona State upset of Michigan that made the tournament a wide-open scramble. Michigan, runnerup for the national title last season and ranked seventh in the latest Associated Press poll, had been expected to dominate the tourney.

But Arizona State, scrapping fiercely with the tall, muscular Michigan players for rebounds, was in front by six points with only a minute to go.

Michigan scored four field goals in the last minute and almost pulled even.

"Thank God, the time ran out," said blanched Ned Wulk, Arizona State coach, after the narrow escape. His team was led by 6-foot Fred Lewis, who scored 24 points, but the standout of the game was Michigan's 6-5 All America player, Cazzie Russell, who tallied 35.

Oregon State's victory kept alive its remarkable string in this tournament. Oregon State has won the title each of the nine years of the tourney's existence. Last night's victory was the 25th straight.

Shorter Air Force had no chance against the Oregon State defense. The State scoring was led by Ed Fredenburg, Charley White and Loy Petersen with 13 points each. Sam Peshut had 16 for Air Force.

A crowd of 10,345 watched.

COACH ENDS GOLIATH MYTH

A Short But Potent MSU Backfield

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Spartan defensive backfield coach Vince Carillot quarrels with that popular conception of the Michigan State football team being a bunch of mighty Goliaths pitted against smaller UCLA.

"Before we got George Webster, they used to call my defensive backfield 'Carillot's traveling midgets' " he said.

Rover back George Webster at 6-4, actually is the only first string MSU backfield defense man over six feet tall.

Defensive signal caller and co-captain Don Japinga will be carried in the Rose Bowl program as 5-8 feet tall. "Actually I'm 5-7½," Japinga admitted. "But after three years of being listed as 5-7, I wanted it at 5-8."

UCLA coach Tomy Prothro has said he'll bank heavily on the long bomb passing of quarterback Gary Beban against the favored Spartans in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

Beban's top receiver is 6-2 end Kurt Altenberg, who has pulled down 29 for 544 yards. Right half Dick Witcher, a taller 6-3, is second best pass snatcher for the Bruins with 16 catches for 390 yards.

Japinga will be covering Altenberg. Webster, who goes where the action is, might rove over on occasion to help him out.

How will Japinga do it?

"Actually, he's the most fantastic kid on one-and-one pass defense I've ever seen," explained Carillot. "He studies the game movies until he knows every move of the opposing quarterback. He's smart and able to grasp the situation."

Japinga has proven this by leading state in interceptions with four. He also has a good jump for his slight height.

Defensive halfback Jess Philips, 6 feet even, and Jim Summers, 5-9, have three interceptions each. Other regulars on the MSU defensive backfield are linebackers Ron Goovert, 5-11, and Charlie Thornhill, 5-10.

"I'll try to think like Beban will," said Japinga. "I try to plan ahead to make up for my lack of height and do 75 per cent of my work ahead of time.

"I know he's famous for the bomb when least expected," said Japinga of Beban. "But I think I know his past patterns and hope to second guess him."

USF Whips Santa Clara In Cage Tourney Opener

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Russ Gumina's precise outside shooting gives the University of San Francisco Dons a chance at something they never have won —the West Coast Athletic Conference tournament and seasonal basketball championships in a single year.

Gumina threw in 24 points last night as the Dons whipped Santa Clara 76-65 in a first-round tournament match. Santa Clara's Broncos played without their high-scoring guard Eric Paulson, who suffered an influenza attack.

University of the Pacific beat Pepperdine 100-78 in another first-round tilt as Joe Kelley scored 25 points and made 13 rebounds. Pacific and USF play tomorrow in a semifinal game.

The other semifinalists will be determined by games tonight matching St. Mary's against University of California at Santa Barbara and Loyola against San Jose State.

In the six years of WCAC tournament play, no club ever has won both the tourney and the seasonal title. USF won the last three seasonal titles, but not the tournament.

Pacific, beating the Pepperdine Waves to rebounds 73-27, never was in trouble. Keith Swagerty, the nation's top rebounder, took the game high with 17. He also scored 16 points.

Bob Krulish got 19 for Pacific's Tigers.

Mike Gervasoni scored 22 markers for Santa Clara.

West Coach Johnny Ralston: Pappy's Prize Pupil

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — You had to see the gleam in Pappy Waldorf's eye the other day when John Ralston of Stanford University was formally introduced as the coach for the West this year in the annual East-West Shrine football classic.

"I may have made some mistakes along the way," mused Waldorf, former University of California coach who now serves as player personnel director for the San Francisco 49ers, "But I know I didn't miss on John.

"Even as a player I knew he would make an outstanding coach one day, and now here he is head coach for the West in what I think is the most prestiguious football post-season game of them all.

"These fellows who run this game are choosy about whom they name as their coaches, so you just know they thought it over before they selected Ralston this year to lead the West."

Waldorf qualifies, among other reasons, to discuss Ralston because he was the personable Stanford dealer's college coach at Cal and his boss at the same school while Pappy was running the Golden Bears' athletic program. So, it figures that old Pappy was busting his buttons when his protege was named West head coach.

"I would rate no man who has played and-or coached for me higher than John Ralston," said Waldorf, "For he has one of the keenest football minds in the game today.

"But more than that, he is hard working, persevering, understanding and patient, and his personality appeals to boys, parents, associates and the general public as well. The kids like to play for him because they know right off the bat that while he is a perfectionist he still is more interested in their welfare and success as individuals than as a team."

At 39, Ralston is one of the youngest head coaches in America at a major school, yet in four years at Utah State (1959-62) his won 31 games, suffered only 11 defeats and one tie. On top of that, he took the Aggies to the Sun Bowl in 1960 and the Gotham Bowl in 1961. In the first of those years Utah State led the nation in rushing offense and the following year in rushing defense.

Ralston is strictly a product of the San Francisco Bay area. He was born in Oakland in 1927, was taken briefly to Norway, Michigan, and returned to play football at California. While not an exceptionally big man by today's standards, Ralston was a hard-nosed linebacker who helped the Bears gain two Rose Bowl berths.

He was graduated from Cal in 1951 and went to work for Waldorf as an assistant the same year. He moved on to coach in the high school ranks at Concord and San Lorenzo (in California) and then joined the Cal staff in various capacities. His 1957 frosh team scored a clean sweep over UCLA, Southern California and Stanford.

In 1959, he got his first head coaching job at Utah State and was named Stanford head coach in 1963 becoming only the seventh man to coach an Indian football team since Pop Warner took over in 1924.

Ralston's first year at Stanford produced a 3-7 season as the Indians changed things around following the dismissal of Jack Curtice. Ralston brought his "variable T" from Utah State and it took the Indians a year to adjust. Then, in 1964, Stanford split its 10 games, including an impressive 16-7 victory over Rose Bowl representative Oregon State.

The 1965 version of the Indians moved up to 6-3-1 and three team members — halfback Ray Handley and linemen Gary Pettigrew and John Wilbur — were drafted by pro teams. Jack Chapple of the 1964 team, while a rookie, made a favorable impression as a linebacker with the 49ers this past season.

As both a coach and man, Ralston is uncomplicated.

"Life is serious," he says, "But not so serious that you can't laugh about your misfortunes.

"On coaching, I want to field the very best team that I can but not at the experience of any one single boy. A university's primary job is education."

Redwood Boasts Leading Scorers

Redwood High School's Giants boast the top two individual scorers in Marin Athletic League practice basketball games played to date, statistics showed today.

Standing head and shoulders above the rest of the pack after eight games of play is Redwood's sharp-shooting Russ Smith with 165 points. And second in the individual parade is his diminutive teammate, Andre Horn, with 125 points for the offense-minded Giants of Coach Dick Hart.

Only four other Marin preps have scored 100 or more points in the practice schedule. They are Novato's Tom Corder (112) and John Dolinsek (110) also in eight games; Redwood's Bruce McGee (102) and Marin Catholic's Mike Lasater (100), also in eight games.

Seals Are Blanked In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — If the San Francisco Seals are hoping extra hard for a Happy New Year, it's because the old one is ending up so badly for them.

The injury-riddled Seals dropped their third straight last night at Vancouver when the Canucks' net-minder, Gilles Villemure, blanked them in a 4-0 shutout.

Villemure stopped 33 shots while Jack McCartan had 27 saves but gave up three scores in the first period alone. Dunc McCallum led the winners with a pair of tallies.

Meanwhile, forward Ron Harris of the Seals returned home yesterday for treatment of his injured shoulder. He sustained a hairline fracture as the Seals lost at Portland Christmas night and will be out of action at least a week.

Player-coach Charlie Burns also is out for a week from injuries suffered in the game at Portland.

The Seals are at Victoria tomorrow, Los Angeles Friday, and then back in the Cow Palace New Year's Day to host the Blades.

Joe Filippo Top Bowler At Naves'

Veteran kegler Joe Filippo led scoring at Nave Lanes during the past week with a sparkling 631 series on games 232, 215 and 184 while Sharon Miller led the distaff side with a 580 total featuring a 213 game.

Runners-up were Bob Newbecker with 622 (234-201-187) and Dixie Molloy with a 562 (207).

High game honors went to Donald Krueger with a tremendous 268, followed by Royal Druba 237, Dick Mallett and Paul Panholzer 236 each.

For the women it was a sharp 226 by Lu Sharp.

High scorers for the past week at Nave Lanes:

Friday Leftovers (Make-up game) — Betty Grayson, 524—202; Penny Dolinsek, 523—182; John Dolinsek, 210; Donna Mae Hughson, 184.

POSSIBLE BASEBALL HALL OF FAMERS

Williams Heads List Of Candidates

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, one of the greatest hitters in baseball history, appears a sure bet for election to the hall of fame in his first year of eligible former players announced yesterday by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Hy Hurwitz, secretary-treasurer of the BBWAA, mailed ballots to some 415 members with a minimum of 10 years in the association. Because of the required membership period, many writers are being called upon to vote for a star who considered many of them a necessary, even unnecessary, evil.

Although often at odds with various baseball writers, Williams is figured a shoo-in for enshrinement in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., next year. His fabulous batting marks offset any hostility that may have endured through the years.

The tall slugger compiled a .344 batting average and hit 521 homers in 19 seasons with the Boston Red Sox despite time out for service in both World War II and the Korean War. He also is the most recent of baseball's .400 hitters, batting a majestic .406 in 1941.

He led the American League in batting six times, in homers four times and in runs batted in four years. He hit over .300 in 16 of his 19 seasons before retiring in 1959, and was voted the league's Most Valuable Player in 1946 and '49.

Williams, whose home run production is topped only by Babe Ruth's 714 and Jimmy Foxx' 534, was among 41 former stars eligible for the Hall of Fame for the first time. Eligible players must have been active within a 30-year period but retired the last five years.

Other newcomers with Williams include Enos Slaughter, Don Newcombe, Alvin Dark, Hank Sauer, Bobby Thomson and Mickey Vernon.

The eligibility list also includes 30 top vote getters last year, when a runoff was necessary to elect Luke Appling.

The holdovers include Red Ruffing, runner-up to Appling; Roy Campanella, Joe Medwick, Peewee Reese, Lou Boudreau, Al Lopez, Johnny Vandermeer, Chuck Klein, Marty Marion and other greats of yesteryear.

To earn election tot he Hall of Fame in the writers' voting, a player must be named on 75 per cent of ballots cast. Each voter may name from one to 10 players. It's possible, but unlikely, for several players to be elected.

Hurwitz placed a deadline of Jan. 15 for the balloting. He also noted that the BBWAA favors immediate election of Casey Stengel as a manager but action now awaits the Hall of Fame Committee's Board of Directors.

The Committee promised to take up them atter at a meeting July 24 after the BBWAA adopted a resolution urging that the five-year waiting period be waived for the 75-year-old Stengel, who retired as manager of the New York Mets after the 1965 season.

Here is a list of eligibles for election to the Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers Association of America:

Eligible for the first time, inactive as a player for five years, but active within the previous 25-year period:

Bobby Adams, Bobby Avila, Ray Boone, Bud Byerly, Chico Carrasquel, Alvin Dark, Jim Delsing, Murry Dickson, Larry Doby, Del Ennis, Carl Erskine, Ed Fitzgerald, Carl Furillo, Marv Grissom, Johnny Groth.

Eligible as the top 30 vote getters in a runoff ballot which elected Luke Appling in 1964:

Charles H. (Red) Ruffing, Roy Campanella, Joe Medwick, Harold Reese, Lou Boudreau, Al Lopez, John VanderMeer, Charles Klein, Marty Marion, Mel Harder, John Mize, Lloyd Waner, Phil Rizzuto, Billy Herman, Ernie Lombardi.

(Note: A player must be named on at least 75 per cent of ballots for election. Each eligible BBWAA member may vote for as many as 10.)

patted Arilla on the shoulder in delight.

In the third set, the visibly tiring Santana was broken at love in the 11th game, then Roche served a love game for the set.

The 10-minute intermission didn't do Santana much good as he rarely flashed the form that made the first two sets close. Arilla, on the other hand, was at his best, but the Australians were too strong.

Santana was broken with the score 1-1 and broken again as the Australians made it 5-2.

The score went to duce when Roche netted and Newcombe smashed one out of the court in the eighth game.

The crowd gave a cheer for the Spaniards, but suddenly it was all over with Roche belting an ace into Arilla and Santana netting a forehand.

Green Bay, Buffalo Emerge As Champions On A Dull Sunday

RANDOL

Certainly this was not football's finest hour as a dull Sunday afternoon produced a NFL division champion in the Green Bay Packers and an AFL league champion in the Buffalo Bills. Almost any regular season game producer more thrills than either game.

True enough, the Packer Baltimore Colt contest had suspense as the regular four quarters ended in a flat footed tie and a sudden death extra period was required to decide which team would meet the eastern champs, Cleveland, next weekend. The better team won, but for a while it looked as if the Colts would luck out.

Neither team could generate enough offense to qualify for a touch tackle mix-up on a sandlot. The Colts were down to a game and fighting quarterback in Tom Matte, but as a quarterback Tom is a pretty good fullback. The Packers lost their top man, Bart Starr, on the first play of the game, and his substitute, Zeke Bratkowski, is not my idea of a great field general.

MY BIGGEST worry was that the game would never end until one team was so tired it could not catch some third string sprinter. Right now I would have to say that, unless Starr recovers in time for the playoff on Sunday, the Cleveland Browns will retain their "World's Championship of the NFL." And a so-so Dallas team will keep the Colts busy the following week in the runner-up playoff.

If it is any consolation to San Francisco 49ers fans, John Brodie and company would have run either team out of the stadium yesterday. But that is another year and another story.

BUFFALO AND the San Diego Chargers didn't gain any new fans for the AFL with the quality of their play. The game was strictly from Dullsville. Maybe it is a case of too much Christmas; more likely it is a case of too much football. July to December is a long time.

THIS WEEK we go into another rash of bowl games, and the only one I can get steamed up about is the East-West Shrine game at Kezar Friday afternoon. The cause is greater than the game itself so success is assured, but these Shrine games have a way of turning into real thrillers.

The playing field at old Kezar has held up pretty well this year. Let's hope it is dry and fast for the contest between Mike Garrett and Jim Grabowski. The "Battle of the G's" should be a great one.

'A Satisfying Ending,' Says Packers' Don Chandler

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Among the wires that poured into Don Chandlers' home after his field goal heroics in Sunday's sudden death football game was a message from Wel Mara, his old boss at New York.

"It was real nice of Wel," said the Green Bay place kicker. "I appreciated it."

Nobody paid much attention to Chandler in the year-end polls for comeback of the year, but the veteran deserved a high rank. His tying and winning kicks for a 13-10 victory against Baltimore Sunday made it 19 out of 29 field goal attempts and a total of 95 points.

Last year he made nine out of 20 for the Giants. Ironically, the Giants had troubles with field goals and made only 4 of 25 this season.

"I guess the Giants did me a favor when they traded me to Green Bay," said Chandler. "It was a tremendous challenge to me and a most satisfying ending.

"Last summer I practiced kicking back home in Tulsa for about six weeks before I went to camp. I kicked 15 or 16 a day at the high school field. It helped me get ready for camp because I felt I had to make the ball club. Ordinarily it takes me 10 days to get ready but this time I figured I should be ready to go from the start."

Chandler tied Sunday's playoff game for the National Football League's Western Conference crown with less than two minutes to go when he made good on a 22-yard boot. Informed that Lou Michaels, Baltimore kicker and defensive end, had the kick was not good, Chandler commented:

"All I have to say is that there were two officials there, one on each side of the posts, and one official behind me. Maybe they (Colts) should have paid more attention to rushing."

The winning field goal at 13:39 of the sudden death overtime almost came a play earlier. Both Coach Vince Lombardi and Chandler confirmed the story yesterday.

"I almost sent him in on third down," said Lombardi. "I yelled, 'field goal,' and the field goal team all got up and started taking off their robes. But I changed my mind. Imagine, if we had fumbled, I would be kicking myself all over Green Bay."

Instead of third down and six to go from the 22, the Packers moved to fourth and two on the 18 on a four-yard gainer by Jim Taylor. Chandler then kicked it over from the 25.

"That's got to be the big one for me," said Chandler. "We have had a lot of tough things to overcome this year. Now we've got to play another tough game against Cleveland. It has been real blood and guts football all season."

Chandler and the rest of the Packers were given a two-day holiday by the coach before they resume practice tomorrow.

Bart Starr, the No. 1 quarterback, is a doubtful starter for Sunday's NFL championship game with Cleveland at Green Bay. Starr has a painfully bruised right side and has trouble raising his right arm. However, X-rays proved negative.

Lombardi said he would not know about Starr until Friday. In the meantime, the veteran Zeke Bratkowski, who led the Packers to victory after Starr was hurt on the first play, will run the ball club.

Lombardi said he thought Paul Hornung (bruised leg), Ron Kostelnik (sore foot) and Boyd Dowler (injured ankle) would be ready to face the Browns.

Australians Remain Davis Cup Kings

NETTED NETTER — Spain's Luis Arilla tries to disentangle himself from the back court net in Sydney, Australia today during the Davis Cup doubles match. Australia's John Newcombe and Tony Roche beat Arilla and Manuel Santana to clinch the "Cup" at 3-0. (AP Wirephoto)

Spaniards Trail 3-0 As Aussies Clinch It

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The sun blazed down on center court at 114 degrees, and John Newcombe and Tony Roche blazed over it with the same intensity today as Australia retained the Davis Cup with an easy doubles triumph over the flamboyant Spanish team of Manuel Santana and Luis Arilla.

The Aussies' 6-3, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 triumph over the gallant Spaniards gave the boys from Down Under an insurmountable 3-0 lead in the best-of-5 series and kept the big silver cup, emblematic of world amateur tennis supremacy, in Australia for the 13th time in the last 20 years.

Despite an imported group of 400 Spanish spectators gaily bedecked in red and gold scarves and an appreciative Australian crowd of 8,000 in White City Stadium, the Spaniards seemed to wilt after breaking through in the second set.

Santana tired noticeably during the third set, apparently feeling the effects of the 60-game singles match he lost to Fred Stolle yesterday, 10-12, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 75. Spain fell behind 2-0 when Roy Emerson whipped Juan Gisbert 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

So the scene was dramatically set for today's matches with the Spaniards facing a win-or-else situation in their first appearance in the Challenge Round and the Aussies deciding to send out the second-line combo of Newcombe and Roche for the clincher.

Australian captain Harry Hopman, who made the decision to use the rested Newcombe-Roche team rather than come back with Emerson and Stolle, freely predicted that it would be all over after the doubles match.

"I think our boys will win the doubles," he said frankly. "We want to wrap it up."

And that's the way it was with Spain's captain, Jaime Bartoli, freely admitting after it was all over:

"The Australians were too good, too good."

As the teams went out to center court at White City Stadium, Santana received a round of sustained applause in appreciation of his duel with Stolle the day before, but it was Arilla who won the crowd this time.

After the opening set loss, Arilla took over with Spain leading 5-4 in the second set and fired the ball back over the net continually in a duel with Newcombe as the score went to 30-30. Then Newcombe netted, Roche smashed the ball into the net and Spain had evened the match with a 6-4 victory.

Santana, obviously happy, lifted his racket in the air and

Michigan '5' Upended By Arizona St.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Four western teams go into action tonight as the Far West Classic basketball tournament, suddenly a wide open race, completes the first round of play.

It will be Stanford (3-3) vs. Washington State (7-0) at 7 p.m. and Oregon (3-1) vs. Utah State (6-4) at 9 p.m.

Arizona State (6-3) defeated Michigan (4-4) 89-87 and Oregon State (4-3) downed Air Force (1-7) 53-42 in the Monday night games.

It was the Arizona State upset of Michigan that made the tournament a wide-open scramble. Michigan, runnerup for the national title last season and ranked seventh in the latest Associated Press poll, had been expected to dominate the tourney.

But Arizona State, scrapping fiercely with the tall, muscular Michigan players for rebounds, was in front by six points with only a minute to go.

Michigan scored four field goals in the last minute and almost pulled even.

"Thank God, the time ran out," said blanched Ned Wulk, Arizona State coach, after the narrow escape. His team was led by 6-foot Fred Lewis, who scored 24 points, but the standout of the game was Michigan's 6-5 All America player, Cazzie Russell, who tallied 35.

Oregon State's victory kept alive its remarkable string in this tournament. Oregon State has won the title each of the nine years of the tourney's existence. Last night's victory was the 25th straight.

Shorter Air Force had no chance against the Oregon State defense. The State scoring was led by Ed Fredenburg, Charley White and Loy Petersen with 13 points each. Sam Peshut had 16 for Air Force.

A crowd of 10,345 watched.

A Golf Star's Wasted Chances

It was the same old story—wasted opportunity, the chance that was missed, a lifetime of regrets.

The guy sitting across the table from me could have been one of the greatest. Thirty-five years ago, he had a backswing you could have cut butter with, poured on cornflakes, made a wreath out of. Nobody got out of a sand trap better or in one as seldom. Ben Hogan wished he could line up a putt the way this guy did.

Then it happened—the bright lights, Broadway, the glamor of Hollywood—and he threw it all away. He went right down the primrose path. Fame, success, easy money seemed beckoning and he forgot the skills he did best. His putting turned sour, he got in more sand than a camel. He started hanging around night club nights.

When he had his first success, those of us in the know shook our heads. Ten million superheterodyne sets tuned in nightly. He has a voice as smooth and easy as smoke rings. Ten million high school kids imitated him in the shower. But nobody could imitate his takeaway with a 5-iron.

IT ALL BEGAN just before his family gave him a set of drums one year. From then on it was all uphill. A great career on the links was thrown in the discard. The man who might have beat Sam Snead two a side frittered away his time on the screens of the world crooning into sound tracks, nibbling on the ear of platinum blondes—there was "Rhythm On The River," "June In January," "Please," "Pennies From Heaven."

And in all this tinselled gaiety, Harry Lillis Crosby slipped to a 5-handicap at times. It was enough to make you cry. Oh, there were compensations that might have seemed important at the time—villas in Europe, houses in Palm Springs, Pebble Beach, record sales in the billions, hob-nobbing with Presidents, kings, emperors. But you have to think of what might have been.

I GAVE some thought to it as I sat across from him the other afternoon in the dressing room of the Hollywood Palace theater and we went back over the wreckage of his life. It was hard to keep from blubbering. I mean, what did he have to show for it. The bench-made shoes? The gold leaf on the dressing room door? The chauffeur? The limousine? Here was a man who could have gone down in history with Slammin' Sammy Snead, Light Horse Harry Cooper, Bantam Ben and Lord Byron, Arnie's Army would have looked like a battalion. He could have been "Beltin' Bing" (except he was more of a bunter off the tee—IF you consider 230 yards a "bunt") or Light Horse Harry Crosby—One-Putt Harry Crosby. The king of the 9-iron.

He did win the club championship at Lakeside several years ago. He won the Canadian Western. He once shot a 63 at Spokane. Clearly, this was no man to be wasting his time on a sound stage. He gives Bob Hope two a side.

HE DID ENTER the British Amateur and the U.S. Amateur. But all that music reading took its toll. He went out in the first round more often than Floyd Patterson.

In 1937, since he had no time to go to a golf tournament, he did the next-best thing, what any red-blooded American millionaire would do—he sent for one.

The Big Crosby International is 25 years old this year and the mind of the man who hosted it and bankrolled it—until lately when the mighty Minnesota Mining and Manufacture and their oceans of Scotch Tape have stepped in and made it a TV spectaculer at a cost no one man could bear—roamed back over the years.

THERE WAS the first one, down at Rancho Santa Fe where torrential rains seemed about to drown San Diego County and an unknown named Sam Snead won it in a tourney shortened to one day by the pennies from heaven.

There was the postwar shift to Pebble Beach where Bing himself had shifted, and the tournament was Wuthering-Heights-with-nine-irons and tee shots which started out in California and ended on Guam and someone was told he had a free drop one day and asked "Yeah, but where? Japan?"

THERE WAS Porky Oliver, soon to be dormied by cancer, doggedly taking a 16 on No. 16 at Cypress and cheerfully allowing "Well, you can't get 'em all within the leather." There was Henry Ransom, flailing away at a ball marooned on a desert island completely surrounded by foaming, raging surf and smashing the ball off a sea wall till it richocheted back and struck him in the abdomen, and he picked up, threw his club back in the bag and observed, "Bing. When the thing starts hitting back, it's time to quit."

AND THEN there was Terrible Tommie Bolt, golf's thunderhead, cursing and roiling at Pebble's diabolical Nos. 7, 8 and 9, none of them par-able on that glowering day and raging "you don't need clubs to play this course, you need whaleboats?" And pausing as he passed Bing's home hard by the 9th green and surveying the warm fire gleaming within and the soothing strains from the Hi-Fi, he shook his fist and vowed, "I'm gonna go home and get me a big .45 pistol and hold it at the neck of that crooner and make him play 8 and 9 continuously till he pars both of 'em!"

CROSBY LOVES golf and vice versa. There are those who say the nickname "The Groaner" derives not from his singing style but from the sound he made when he missed a 6-footer on the low side or topped a chip.

I'M AS grateful as the next guy for "White Christmas." I think it's a right nice little number. And "Going My Way" is a commendable - enough picture. But, shucks man. Look at it this way: Is it worth giving up a shot at the Azalea Open for? Why this man might have made alternate on the Ryder Cup team, who knows? One little wrong turn in the road and look what happens. Thank God they never gave Ben Hogan a set of drums—or the lyrics to "When The Blue Of The Night" and an audition by Cremo cigars.

Thurmond Unanimous All-Star

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West must wonder what a guy has to do to be a unanimous All-Star selection in the National Basketball Association.

Los Angeles' Mr. Everything was one of eight NBA players named to the West squad for the league's annual All-Star Game at Cincinnati, Jan. 11.

West was named on all but one of the 67 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters in the nine NBA cities. West is the NBA's leading scorer with 1,228 points, one of three NBA players to pass the 1,000-point plateau this season, and the only one in the West .

The West team did have one unanimous selection. He's Nate Thurmond, the 6-foot-10 San Francisco center who took over in the Warriors' pivot spot after Wilt Chamberlain was traded to Philadelphia.

The only rookie on the team is Rick Barry of the Warriors, who is averaging better than 21 points per game.

Others chosen were San Francisco's Guy Rodgers, Don Ohl and Bailey Howell of Baltimore, Zelmo Beaty of St. Louis and Rudy LaRusso of Los Angeles.

The East's first eight stars will be announced Thursday and then NBA coaches will pick two more players for each 10-man squad.

One of the additional West players will come from Detroit, the only club in the division without a player among the first eight chosen.

Duke Still No. 1 Team In Country

By BEN OLAN

Four undefeated teams have taken stronger positions in the Associated Press major-college basketball poll while once-beaten Duke held onto a sizable first-place lead.

The four are Vanderbilt, Bradley, Iowa and Kentucky, ranking behind the Blue Devils in that order.

Duke, 7-1 including last week's 100-93 overtime victory over Michigan, collected 35 first-place votes and 405 points in the latest ballong by a special panel of 43 regional experts.

Vanderbilt advanced two places to second with seven first-place votes and 331 points. The Commodores whipped Northwestern and the University of California at Santa Barbara, pushing their record to 8-0.

Bradley also climbed two places to third after beating Montana and North Dakota for a 10-0 mark. The Peoria, Ill. Braves had 299 points.

Iowa, 7-0, soared from ninth to fourth while Kentucky, which received the only other vote for the top position, moved up from 10th to fifth. Both teams are 7-0, the Wildcats after trouncing Texas Tech 89-73 last week while Iowa was idle.

Brigham Young, also unbeaten at 6-0, climbed into the No. 6 spot, BYU was unranked last week. Michigan, which also lost to Butler for a 4-3 mark, slipped four notches to seventh.

St. Joseph's, Pa., in the runner-up position a week ago, fell to eighth. The previously-unbeaten Hawks lost to Wyoming 99-92 and Brigham Young 103-83 last week.

Minnesota and Providence each tumbled three places, the Gophers to ninth and Providence to 10th. Both lost their first games of the season in last week's action, Minnesota to Utah State and Providence to Houston.

Wichita, eight last week, dropped out of the top 10 after

COACH ENDS GOLIATH MYTH

A Short But Potent MSU Backfield

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Spartan defensive backfield coach Vince Carillot quarrels with that popular conception of the Michigan State football team being a bunch of mighty Goliaths pitted against smaller UCLA.

"Before we got George Webster, they used to call my defensive backfield 'Carillot's traveling midgets' " he said.

Rover back George Webster at 6-4, actually is the only first string MSU backfield defense man over six feet tall.

Defensive signal caller and co-captain Don Japinga will be carried in the Rose Bowl program as 5-8 feet tall. "Actually I'm 5-7½," Japinga admitted. "But after three years of being listed as 5-7, I wanted it at 5-8."

UCLA coach Tomy Prothro has said he'll bank heavily on the long bomb passing of quarterback Gary Beban against the favored Spartans in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

Beban's top receiver is 6-2 end Kurt Altenberg, who has pulled down 29 for 544 yards. Right half Dick Witcher, a taller 6-3, is second best pass snatcher for the Bruins with 16 catches for 390 yards.

Japinga will be covering Altenberg. Webster, who goes where the action is, might rove over on occasion to help him out.

How will Japinga do it?

"Actually, he's the most fantastic kid on one-and-one pass defense I've ever seen," explained Carillot. "He studies the game movies until he knows every move of the opposing quarterback. He's smart and able to grasp the situation."

Japinga has proven this by leading state in interceptions with four. He also has a good jump for his slight height.

Defensive halfback Jess Philips, 6 feet even, and Jim Summers, 5-9, have three interceptions each. Other regulars on the MSU defensive backfield are linebackers Ron Goovert, 5-11, and Charlie Thornhill, 5-10.

"I'll try to think like Beban will," said Japinga. "I try to plan ahead to make up for my lack of height and do 75 per cent of my work ahead of time.

"I know he's famous for the bomb when least expected," said Japinga of Beban. "But I think I know his past patterns and hope to second guess him."

USF Whips Santa Clara In Cage Tourney Opener

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Russ Gumina's precise outside shooting gives the University of San Francisco Dons a chance at something they never have won —the West Coast Athletic Conference tournament and seasonal basketball championships in a single year.

Gumina threw in 24 points last night as the Dons whipped Santa Clara 76-65 in a first-round tournament match. Santa Clara's Broncos played without their high-scoring guard Eric Paulson, who suffered an influenza attack.

University of the Pacific beat Pepperdine 100-78 in another first-round tilt as Joe Kelley scored 25 points and made 13 rebounds. Pacific and USF play tomorrow in a semifinal game.

The other semifinalists will be determined by games tonight matching St. Mary's against University of California at Santa Barbara and Loyola against San Jose State.

In the six years of WCAC tournament play, no club ever has won both the tourney and the seasonal title. USF won the last three seasonal titles, but not the tournament.

Pacific, beating the Pepperdine Waves to rebounds 73-27, never was in trouble. Keith Swagerty, the nation's top rebounder, took the game high with 17. He also scored 16 points.

Bob Krulish got 19 for Pacific's Tigers.

Mike Gervasoni scored 22 markers for Santa Clara.

Good Time To Buy Licenses; Regulations Available Soon

STEVENS

Let's seriously consider today two items that in the past have caused a flock of citations being handed out by alert game wardens.

First item is a reminder that this week is a good time to purchase your 1966 fishing license. Every year a great many honest but careless anglers have neglected to buy a current angling license. Don't you forget!

The second item is also a reminder that, with one exception, the new angling regulations for 1966 don't take effect until the first day of March. So refer to your 1965 regulations and abide by them until March 1.

The one exception, which prohibits the taking of white bass from Nacimiento Lake in San Luis Obispo County goes into effect Feb. 1.

The new sportfishing regulations will be distributed the last week of January and will be available at bait shops, sporting goods stores, hardware stores and other license agents as well as Fish and Game offices throughout the state.

I am told that a great deal of interest has been aroused in a new regulation that will allow fishing in about eight miles of Putah Creek and two of its tributaries above Lake Berryessa for a special winter trout season. But, while the new regulation will allow fishing in these waters (using only artificial lures, and a bag limit of three trout limit, and a 10 inch size limit) we will have to wait until January and February of 1967 before we can legally fish these waters.

On Sunday at 4:30 p.m. the abortive special pheasant season passed out of the calendar.

Rasor clam buffs should note that the present area will close one-quarter hour after sunset on Dec. 31, and the new area will open on Jan. 1, 1966. (Consult your 1965 regulation.)

Jan. 2, 1966 is the final day for the killing of small game—Quail (all species), chukar, tree squirrel, rabbits (except Jack rabbits). That's also the day bear season closes.

On Jan. 5, at sunset, the season on ducks, coots, callinules, will close the general waterfowl season statewide, except N.E. waterfowl season which will remain open for one more day, to Thursday, Jan. 6, at sunset.

On Saturday, Jan. 8 at sunset jacksnipe (Wilson's Snipe) pass out of the picture.

Jan. 9, Sunday at sunset, the Colorado River waterfowl season closes, as does the general goose season.

Jan. 14 marks the closure of the abalone season.

Is it necessary to remind you that the season on striped bass, rockfish, sturgeon, flounders, and many fresh water fish are yours for the taking, and if you have available a woolen underwear suit, a cap with ear-muffs, a pocket warmer and a heap of ambition, your chances of catching a lunker bass are fair to good. Try the San Pablo Bay from China Camp to the Carinez Bridge, use small hooks and small pieces of bait for flounders, long fillets of sardine turned inside out, or bullheads for stripers and grass shrimp for sturgeon. Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Warriors Hope To End Loss Streak

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — The San Francisco Warriors try to snap a two-game loss streak when they tangle with the Detroit Pistons tonight on a neutral court at Toledo.

The busy Warriors will be at red-hot Baltimore tomorrow and then face mighty Boston Thursday so they could obviously use the win over the Pistons tonight.

San Francisco was flattened at Philadelphia, 121-107, last Saturday night as Wilt Chamberlain hit 33 points and took 30 rebounds. Guy Rodgers had 31 for San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the Warriors landed three men out of the first eight named to the wester team for next month's NBA all-star game. Nate Thurmond was the only unanimous pick by the writers and broadcasters who chose the team. But Rodgers and rookie Rick Barry also won berths.

The fact that the Warriors, now 16-22 for the season, were the only team to land the maximum three players is further proof that San Francisco has a good starting lineup, but still lacks a hotshot who can come off the bench and score a few key baskets in the late going.

Gymnasium Open

San Rafael High School's gymnasium will be open for recreation today through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day, it was announced by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department.

MARIN COUNTY LEAGUE BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Novato: Hot And Cold Running Team

By GLENN BECKER
(First in a series on prospects of Marin Athletic League basketball teams.)

Coach John Panagakis of the Novato Hornet basketball team isn't sure what to expect from his boys. "Instead of a bench," he jokes, "they ought to give them a couch, and instead of a coach maybe a man in a white coat."

After watching his team shoot like Billy the Kid against Sonoma, Napa and Redwood and then miss everything against Shasta and Red Bluff, his uncertainty is understandable. The Hornets are courtly extremists—when they are right they are very, very right, and when they are left they never get started.

One thing for sure: the talent is there to give any Marin Athletic League team a rough game. The Hornets present a veteran lineup with good speed and usually good shooting.

Panagakis uses the fast break and a two-in, three-out offense in which 6-4 center Tom Herrnberger and 6-3 forward Al Parsons move near the key and the other three players snipe from outside. The other starters are Tom Corder (6-1), John Dolinsek (6-2 and Everett Fritz (6-1. All except Hernberger are seniors who lettered last year. The center, a junior, played on the junior varsity.

Corder and Dolinsek have been among the leading MCAL scorers during the preleague action, averaging about 12-14 points apiece. Both were all-league in football and Panagakis takes no exception to their ability to be "physical" when they rebound.

Novato		Opponent
55	Petaluma	58
69	Sonoma	50
69	Napa	54
67	Redwood	64
46	Drake	52
40	Shasta	60
49	Red Bluff	62

The coach promises his team "will run when we can. We'll try, anyway." This seems to be a trend among the Marin teams. During the recent Drake Christmas tournament, Novato nipped Redwood 67-64 in a fast-paced game and last weekend the Giants scored 78 and 79 points in dropping two close games to Washington and Lincoln Highs of San Francisco. It was not too many years ago that Redwood outwaltzed Drake 29-28.

Panagakis sees other reasons for the higher scoring besides the faster-paced offenses. "The boys are better shooters now and they play basketball year-round. The all-sports kid like Dolinsek is the exception." Whatever the reason, it is a welcome change for the fan and, presumably, for the players as well. It's probably no more fun to dawdle around with the ball for two minutes before shooting it or losing it than it is to watch such uninspired play.

The strength of Novato's reserves will depend greatly on the progress of 6-4 Tom Owens, whose recovery from a knee injury two years ago has been slow. He is working with the team now, however, and Panagakis hopes to let him play soon. The importance of rebounding to a fast-break offense makes Owens a key man for Novato.

Thus far Novato's chief substitutes have been 6-2 Don Herriott and Bruce Palmer. Other Hornet players are Dick Otis, the all-league football halfback; Harold Fain, Wayne Jones, Rick Johnson and Mark Moore.

Panagakis expects a scramble in the MCALL this season. "I don't think anyone is going to run away with it as Redwood did last year. Redwood and Drake are real good this year and San Rafael, too—Mike's (Diaz) teams are always good.

"I anticipate we'll be in it all the way. If they (the Hornets) want to play as they're capable of playing, they'll give anyone a battle."

Novato was 13-9 last season and 5-7 in league play. They have almost everybody back and the coach should be right. If Novato doesn't win the title, they will have plenty to say about who does.

The league schedule:

Jan. 7 At Tamalpais
Jan. 11 At Marin Catholic
Jan. 14 Redwood
Jan. 18 At Drake
Jan. 21 Terra Linda
Jan. 28 San Rafael
Feb. 4 Tamalpais
Feb. 8 Marin Catholic
Feb. 11 At Redwood
Feb. 15 Drake
Feb. 15 Drake
Feb. 18 At Terra Linda
Feb. 25 At San Rafael

West Coach Johnny Ralston: Pappy's Prize Pupil

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — You had to see the gleam in Pappy Waldorf's eye the other day when John Ralston of Stanford University was formally introduced as the coach for the West this year in the annual East-West Shrine football classic.

"I may have made some mistakes along the way," mused Waldorf, former University of California coach who now serves as player personnel director for the San Francisco 49ers, "But I know I didn't miss on John.

"Even as a player I knew he would make an outstanding coach one day, and now here he is head coach for the West in what I think is the most prestiguious football post-season game of them all.

"These fellows who run this game are choosy about whom they name as their coaches, so you just know they thought it over before they selected Ralston this year to lead the West."

Waldorf qualifies, among other reasons, to discuss Ralston because he was the personable Stanford dealer's college coach at Cal and his boss at the same school while Pappy was running the Golden Bears' athletic program. So, it figures that old Pappy was busting his buttons when his protege was named West head coach.

"I would rate no man who has played and-or coached for me higher than John Ralston," said Waldorf, "For he has one of the keenest football minds in the game today.

"But more than that, he is hard working, persevering, understanding and patient, and his personality appeals to boys, parents, associates and the general public as well. The kids like to play for him because they know right off the bat that while he is a perfectionist he still is more interested in their welfare and success as individuals than as a team."

At 39, Ralston is one of the youngest head coaches in America at a major school, yet in four years at Utah State (1959-62) his won 31 games, suffered only 11 defeats and one tie. On top of that, he took the Aggies to the Sun Bowl in 1960 and the Gotham Bowl in 1961. In the first of those years Utah State led the nation in rushing offense and the following year in rushing defense.

Ralston is strictly a product of the San Francisco Bay area. He was born in Oakland in 1927, was taken briefly to Norway, Michigan, and returned to play football at California. While not an exceptionally big man by today's standards, Ralston was a hard-nosed linebacker who helped the Bears gain two Rose Bowl berths.

He was graduated from Cal in 1951 and went to work for Waldorf as an assistant the same year. He moved on to coach in the high school ranks at Concord and San Lorenzo (in California) and then joined the Cal staff in various capacities. His 1957 frosh team scored a clean sweep over UCLA, Southern California and Stanford.

In 1959, he got his first head coaching job at Utah State and was named Stanford head coach in 1963 becoming only the seventh man to coach an Indian football team since Pop Warner took over in 1924.

Ralston's first year at Stanford produced a 3-7 season as the Indians changed things around following the dismissal of Jack Curtice. Ralston brought his "variable T" from Utah State and it took the Indians a year to adjust. Then, in 1964, Stanford split its 10 games, including an impressive 16-7 victory over Rose Bowl representative Oregon State.

The 1965 version of the Indians moved up to 6-3-1 and three team members — halfback Ray Handley and linemen Gary Pettigrew and John Wilbur — were drafted by pro teams. Jack Chapple of the 1964 team, while a rookie, made a favorable impression as a linebacker with the 49ers this past season.

As both a coach and man, Ralston is uncomplicated.

"Life is serious," he says, "But not so serious that you can't laugh about your misfortunes.

"On coaching, I want to field the very best team that I can but not at the expense of any one single boy. A university's primary job is education."

CAGE STATISTICS

Redwood Boasts Leading Scorers

Redwood High School's Giants boast the top two individual scorers in Marin Athletic League practice basketball games played to date, statistics showed today.

Standing head and shoulders above the rest of the pack after eight games of play is Redwood's sharp - shooting Russ Smith with 165 points. And second in the individual parade is his diminutive teammate, Andre Horn, with 125 points for the offense-minded Giants of Coach Dick Hart.

Only four other Marin preps have scored 100 or more points in the practice schedule. They are Novato's Tom Corder (112) and John Dolinsek (110) also in eight games; Redwood's Bruce McGee (102) and Marin Catholic's Mike Lasater (100), also in eight games.

Seals Are Blanked In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — If the San Francisco Seals are hoping extra hard for a Happy New Year, it's because the old one is ending up so badly for them.

The injury-riddled Seals dropped their third straight last night at Vancouver when the Canucks' net-minder, Gilles Villemure, blanked them in a 4-0 shutout.

Villemure stopped 33 shots while Jack McCartan had 27 saves but gave up three scores in the first period alone. Dunc McCallum led the winners with a pair of tallies.

Meanwhile, forward Ron Harris of the Seals returned home yesterday for treatment of his injured shoulder. He sustained a hairline fracture as the Seals lost at Portland Christmas night and will be out of action at least a week.

Player-coach Charlie Burns also is out for a week from injuries suffered in the game at Portland.

The Seals are at Victoria tomorrow, Los Angeles Friday, and then back in the Cow Palace New Year's Day to host the Blades.

Joe Filippo Top Bowler At Naves'

Veteran kegler Joe Filippo led scoring at Nave Lanes during the past week with a sparkling 631 series on games 232, 215 and 184 while Sharon Miller led the distaff side with a 580 total featuring a 213 game.

Runners-up were Bob Newbecker with 622 (234-201-187) and Dixie Molloy with a 562 (207).

High game honors went to Donald Krueger with a tremendous 268, followed by Royal Druba 237, Dick Mallett and Paul Panholzer 236 each.

For the women it was a sharp 226 by Lu Sharp.

High scorers for the past week at Nave Lanes:

POSSIBLE BASEBALL HALL OF FAMERS

Williams Heads List Of Candidates

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, one of the greatest hitters in baseball history, appears a sure bet for election to the hall of fame in his first year of eligible former players announced yesterday by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Hy Hurwitz, secretary-treasurer of the BBWAA, mailed ballots to some 415 members with a minimum of 10 years in the association. Because of the required membership period, many writers are being called upon to vote for a star who considered many of them a necessary, even unnecessary, evil.

Although often at odds with various baseball writers, Williams is figured a shoo-in for enshrinement in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., next year. His fabulous batting marks offset any hostility that may have endured through the years.

The tall slugger compiled a .344 batting average and hit 521 homers in 19 seasons with the Boston Red Sox despite time out for service in both World War II and the Korean War. He also is the most recent of baseball's .400 hitters, batting a majestic .406 in 1941.

He led the American League in batting six times, in homers four times and in runs batted in four years. He hit over .300 in 16 of his 19 seasons before retiring in 1959, and was voted the league's Most Valuable Player in 1946 and '49.

Williams, whose home run production is topped only by Babe Ruth's 714 and Jimmy Foxx' 534, was among 41 former stars eligible for the Hall of Fame for the first time. Eligible players must have been active within a 30-year period but retired the last five years.

Other newcomers with Williams include Enos Slaughter, Don Newcombe, Alvin Dark, Hank Sauer, Bobby Thomson and Mickey Vernon.

The eligibility list also includes 30 top vote getters last year, when a runoff was necessary to elect Luke Appling.

The holdovers include Red Ruffing, runner-up to Appling; Roy Campanella, Joe Medwick, Peewee Reese, Lou Boudreau, Al Lopez, Johnny Vandermeer, Chuck Klein, Marty Marion and other greats of yesteryear.

To earn election tot he Hall of Fame in the writers' voting, a player must be named on 75 per cent of ballots cast. Each voter may name from one to 10 players. It's possible, but unlikely, for several players to be elected.

Hurwitz placed a deadline of Jan. 15 for the balloting. He also noted that the BBWAA favors immediate election of Casey Stengel as a manager but action now awaits the Hall of Fame Committee's Board of Directors.

The Committee promised to take up them atter at a meeting July 24 after the BBWAA adopted a resolution urging that the five-year waiting period be waived for the 75-year-old Stengel, who retired as manager of the New York Mets after the 1965 season.

Here is a list of eligibles for election to the Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers Association of America:

Eligible for the first time, inactive as a player for five years, but active within the previous 25-year period:

Bobby Adams, Bobby Avila, Ray Boone, Bud Byerly, Chico Carrasquel, Alvin Dark, Jim Delsing, Murry Dickson, Larry Doby, Del Ennis, Carl Erskine, Ed Fitzgerald, Carl Furillo, Marv Grissom, Johnny Groth.

Eligible as the top 30 vote getters in a runoff ballot which elected Luke Appling in 1964:

Charles H. (Red) Ruffing, Roy Campanella, Joe Medwick, Harold Reese, Lou Boudreau, Al Lopez, John VanderMeer, Charles Klein, Marty Marion, Mel Harder, John Mize, Lloyd Waner, Phil Rizzuto, Billy Herman, Ernie Lombardi.

(Note: A player must be named on at least 75 per cent of ballots for election. Each eligible BBWAA member may vote for as many as 10.)

patted Arilla on the shoulder in delight.

In the third set, the visibly tiring Santana was broken at love in the 11th game, then Roche served a love game for the set.

The 10-minute intermission didn't do Santana much good as he rarely flashed the form that made the first two sets close. Arilla, on the other hand, was at his best, but the Australians were too strong.

Santana was broken with the score 1-1 and broken again as the Australians made it 5-2.

The score went to duce when Roche netted and Newcombe smashed one out of the court in the eighth game.

The crowd gave a cheer for the Spaniards, but suddenly it was all over with Roche belting an ace into Arilla and Santana netting a forehand.

Green Bay, Buffalo Emerge As Champions On A Dull Sunday

RANDOL

Certainly this was not football's finest hour as a dull Sunday afternoon produced a NFL division champion in the Green Bay Packers and an AFL league champion in the Buffalo Bills. Almost any regular season game producer more thrills than either game.

True enough, the Packer Baltimore Colt contest had suspense as the regular four quarters ended in a flat footed tie and a sudden death extra period was required to decide which team would meet the eastern champs, Cleveland, next weekend. The better team won, but for a while it looked as if the Colts would luck out.

Neither team could generate enough offense to qualify for a touch tackle mix-up on a sandlot. The Colts were down to a game and fighting quarterback in Tom Matte, but as a quarterback Tom is a pretty good fullback. The Packers lost their top man, Bart Starr, on the first play of the game, and his substitute, Zeke Bratkowski, is not my idea of a great field general.

MY BIGGEST worry was that the game would never end until one team was so tired it could not catch some third string sprinter. Right now I would have to say that, unless Starr recovers in time for the playoff on Sunday, the Cleveland Browns will retain their "World's Championship of the NFL." And a so-so Dallas team will keep the Colts busy the following week in the runner-up playoff.

If it is any consolation to San Francisco 49ers fans, John Brodie and company would have run either team out of the stadium yesterday. But that is another year and another story.

BUFFALO AND the San Diego Chargers didn't gain any new fans for the AFL with the quality of their play. The game was strictly from Dullsville. Maybe it is a case of too much Christmas; more likely it is a case of too much football. July to December is a long time.

THIS WEEK we go into another rash of bowl games, and the only one I can get steamed up about is the East-West Shrine game at Kezar Friday afternoon. The cause is greater than the game itself so success is assured, but these Shrine games have a way of turning into real thrillers.

The playing field at old Kezar has held up pretty well this year. Let's hope it is dry and fast for the contest between Mike Garrett and Jim Grabowski. The "Battle of the G's" should be a great one.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Hoarding Aces Sometimes Bad; Beginner's Haste Gives A Win

Good bridge players love to save an ace until it is ripe.

Bad players lead out their aces as quickly as possible.

Since this column is devoted to the truth, I must report that occasionally the bad player's method works better.

South won the first trick with the jack of spades and decided to try for some diamond tricks.

Since South was a famous expert, with all of the expert's nasty habits, he began by leading a low diamond from his hand.

CORRECT TIMING

East won with the singleton queen of diamonds and returned a low spade.

In East's case it was quite correct to save the ace of spades for the right time.

South won with the king of spades and led his ace of diamonds. The suit didn't break, and South had to try for a club trick instead.

West got in with a club and cashed his two diamonds.

Then he led his last spade, and East took enough spade tricks to defeat the contract.

START PROPERLY

South should start the diamonds by leading the ace.

When the queen drops, South can lead a low diamond toward dummy's nine.

West gets two diamonds, and East gets three spades, but South makes his contract with an overtrick instead of going down one.

Leading the ace out first would work equally well if West had a singleton instead of East.

South would continue with a low diamond from his hand, but would get to dummy with the king of clubs to lead the next diamond from dummy.

ODJACI, Yugoslavia (AP) — Some 25 years ago Radivoje Djordjevic took his young son to school for the first time, calming the little boy's fears.

Now the 53-year-old Radvioje has gone back to school himself to take tests for a high school diploma he never received as a youth.

The father's nervousness was calmed by his son, now the examining professor at the school.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Good Time To Buy Licenses; Regulations Available Soon

STEVENS

Let's seriously consider today two items that in the past have caused a flock of citations being handed out by alert game wardens.

First item is a reminder that this week is a good time to purchase your 1966 fishing license. Every year a great many honest but careless anglers have neglected to buy a current angling license. Don't you forget!

The second item is also a reminder that, with one exception, the new angling regulations for 1966 don't take effect until the first day of March. So refer to your 1965 regulations and abide by them until March 1.

The one exception, which prohibits the taking of white bass from Nacimiento Lake in San Luis Obispo County goes into effect Feb. 1.

The new sportfishing regulations will be distributed the last week of January and will be available at bait shops, sporting goods stores, hardware stores and other license agents as well as Fish and Game offices throughout the state.

I am told that a great deal of interest has been aroused in a new regulation that will allow fishing in about eight miles of Putah Creek and two of its tributaries above Lake Berryessa for a special winter trout season. But, while the new regulation will allow fishing in these waters (using only artificial lures, and a bag limit of three trout limit, and a 10 inch size limit) we will have to wait until January and February of 1967 before we can legally fish these waters.

On Sunday at 4:30 p.m. the abortive special pheasant season passed out of the calendar.

Rasor clam buffs should note that the present area will close one-quarter hour after sunset on Dec. 31, and the new area will open on Jan. 1, 1966. (Consult your 1965 regulation.)

Jan. 2, 1966 is the final day for the killing of small game—Quail (all species), chukar, tree squirrel, rabbits (except Jack rabbits). That's also the day bear season closes.

On Jan. 5, at sunset, the season on ducks, coots, callinules, will close the general waterfowl season statewide, except N.E. waterfowl season which will remain open for one more day, to Thursday, Jan. 6, at sunset.

On Saturday, Jan. 8 at sunset jacksnipe (Wilson's Snipe) pass out of the picture.

Jan. 9, Sunday at sunset, the Colorado River waterfowl season closes, as does the general goose season.

Jan. 14 marks the closure of the abalone season.

Is it necessary to remind you that the season on striped bass, rockfish, sturgeon, flounders, and many fresh water fish are yours for the taking, and if you have available a woolen union-suit, a cap with ear-muffs, a pocket warmer and a heap of ambition, your chances of catching a lunker bass are fair to good. Try the San Pablo Bay from China Camp to the Carinez Bridge, use small hooks and small pieces of bait for flounders, long fillets of sardine turned inside out, or bullheads for stripers and grass shrimp for sturgeon. Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Warriors Hope To End Loss Streak

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — The San Francisco Warriors try to snap a two-game loss streak when they tangle with the Detroit Pistons tonight on a neutral court at Toledo.

The busy Warriors will be at red-hot Baltimore tomorrow and then face mighty Boston Thursday so they could obviously use the win over the Pistons tonight.

San Francisco was flattened at Philadelphia, 121-107, last Saturday night as Wilt Chamberlain hit 33 points and took 30 rebounds. Guy Rodgers had 31 for San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the Warriors landed three men out of the first eight named to the wester team for next month's NBA all-star game. Nate Thurmond was the only unanimous pick by the writers and broadcasters who chose the team. But Rodgers and rookie Rick Barry also won berths.

The fact that the Warriors, now 16-22 for the season, were the only team to land the maximum three players is further proof that San Francisco has a good starting lineup, but still lacks a hotshot who can come off the bench and score a few key baskets in the late going.

Gymnasium Open

San Rafael High School's gymnasium will be open for recreation today through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day, it was announced by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department.

MARIN COUNTY LEAGUE BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Novato: Hot And Cold Running Team

Independent-Journal Sports
Tues., Dec. 28, 1965 35

By GLENN BECKER
(First in a series on prospects of Marin Athletic League basketball teams.)

Coach John Panagakis of the Novato Hornet basketball team isn't sure what to expect from his boys. "Instead of a bench," he jokes, "they ought to give them a couch, and instead of a coach maybe a man in a white coat."

After watching his team shoot like Billy the Kid against Sonoma, Napa and Redwood and then miss everything against Shasta and Red Bluff, his uncertainty is understandable. The Hornets are courtly extremists—when they are right they are very, very right, and when they are left they never get started.

One thing for sure: the talent is there to give any Marin Athletic League team a rough game. The Hornets present a veteran lineup with good speed and usually good shooting.

Panagakis uses the fast break and a two-in, three-out offense in which 6-4 center Tom Herrnberger and 6-3 forward Al Parsons move near the key and the other three players snipe from outside. The other starters are Tom Corder (6-1), John Dolinsek (6-2 and Everett Fritz (6-1. All except Hernberger are seniors who lettered last year. The center, a junior, played on the junior varsity.

Corder and Dolinsek have been among the leading MCAL scorers during the preleague action, averaging about 12-14 points apiece. Both were all-league in football and Panagakis takes no exception to their ability to be "physical" when they rebound.

Novato		Opponent
55	Petaluma	58
69	Sonoma	50
69	Napa	54
67	Redwood	64
46	Drake	52
40	Shasta	60
49	Red Bluff	62

The coach promises his team "will run when we can. We'll try, anyway." This seems to be a trend among the Marin teams. During the recent Drake Christmas tournament, Novato nipped Redwood 67-64 in a fast-paced game and last weekend the Giants scored 78 and 79 points in dropping two close games to Washington and Lincoln Highs of San Francisco. It was not too many years ago that Redwood outwaltzed Drake 29-28.

Panagakis sees other reasons for the higher scoring besides the faster-paced offenses. "The boys are better shooters now and they play basketball year-round. The all-sports kid like Dolinsek is the exception." Whatever the reason, it is a welcome change for the fan and, presumably, for the players as well. It's probably no more fun to dawdle around with the ball for two minutes before shooting it or losing it than it is to watch such uninspired play.

The strength of Novato's reserves will depend greatly on the progress of 6-4 Tom Owens, whose recovery from a knee injury two years ago has been slow. He is working with the team now, however, and Panagakis hopes to let him play soon. The importance of rebounding to a fast-break offense makes Owens a key man for Novato.

Thus far Novato's chief substitutes have been 6-2 Don Herriott and Bruce Palmer. Other Hornet players are Dick Otis, the all-league football halfback; Harold Fain, Wayne Jones, Rick Johnson and Mark Moore.

Panagakis expects a scramble in the MCALL this season. "I don't think anyone is going to run away with it as Redwood did last year. Redwood and Drake are real good this year and San Rafael, too—Mike's (Diaz) teams are always good.

"I anticipate we'll be in it all the way. If they (the Hornets) want to play as they're capable of playing, they'll give anyone a battle."

Novato was 13-9 last season and 5-7 in league play. They have almost everybody back and the coach should be right. If Novato doesn't win the title, they will have plenty to say about who does.

The league schedule:

Jan. 7 At Tamalpais
Jan. 11 At Marin Catholic
Jan. 14 Redwood

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Hoarding Aces Sometimes Bad; Beginner's Haste Gives A Win

Good bridge players love to save an ace until it is ripe.

Bad players lead out their aces as quickly as possible.

Since this column is devoted to the truth, I must report that occasionally the bad player's method works better.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 3 NT.

Since you have 10 points, you know that the combined count is 26 to 28 points, which should be enough for game.

South won the first trick with the jack of spades and decided to try for some diamond tricks.

Since South was a famous expert, with all of the expert's nasty habits, he began by leading a low diamond from his hand.

CORRECT TIMING

East won with the singleton queen of diamonds and returned a low spade.

In East's case it was quite correct to save the ace of spades for the right time.

South won with the king of spades and led his ace of diamonds. The suit didn't break, and South had to try for a club trick instead.

West got in with a club and cashed his two diamonds.

Then he led his last spade, and East took enough spade tricks to defeat the contract.

START PROPERLY

South should start the diamonds by leading the ace.

When the queen drops, South can lead a low diamond toward dummy's nine.

West gets two diamonds, and East gets three spades, but South makes his contract with an overtrick instead of going down one.

Leading the ace out first would work equally well if West had a singleton instead of East.

South would continue with a low diamond from his hand, but would get to dummy with the king of clubs to lead the next diamond from dummy.

History Repeats With A Twist

ODJACI, Yugoslavia (AP) — Some 25 years ago Radivoje Djordjevic took his young son to school for the first time, calming the little boy's fears.

Now the 53-year-old Radvioje has gone back to school himself to take tests for a high school diploma he never received as a youth.

The father's nervousness was calmed by his son, now the examining professor at the school.

There's Bit Of Nostalgia In Mount Tam Rail Idea

Why not a railroad from Mountain Home to the top of Mount Tamalpais?

Such a proposal is being advanced by several Marin businessmen. We see nothing wrong with the proposal, especially since the emphasis is on "restoration" rather than on "new construction."

The proposed rail line would follow the same route of the famous "crookedest railroad in the world" which once ran up the mountain.

"Not a single new cut will be required for the train," says Frank Allen, one of the promoters. "We don't want to desecrate it; that's uppermost in our minds."

Parking for cars is planned on several terraces below Mountain Home, in an area hidden from the main road.

As for a restaurant planned at the summit, old-timers recall that a restaurant and a station house did exist there, until fire destroyed the structures. Traces of the old foundations still remain.

The need and desirability of a restaurant at the top have long been recognized. Restoration of the old railroad would almost demand that some facility be provided at the top for lunch and refreshment for visitors relaxing between trains.

The proponents of the plan assure us that the restaurant will be built to blend in with the surroundings, and that no gaudy signs would be needed to advertise the establishment.

Restoration of the railroad, including the old "double bow knot" of the famous old line, captures the imagination and the flavor of the "good old days."

To go back for a moment, an old horse-drawn coach ran up the mountain on a wagon road from Ross, at the turn of the century. This was followed by the "crookedest railroad," which was famed world-wide and became a "must" stopover for Bay Area visitors.

Those who chugged up the mountain enjoyed refreshments at the summit restaurant and hiked around the peak for a breathtaking view.

Eventually private automobiles brought an end to the railroad because the train was not enough of a curiosity to be an attraction itself.

But now, just as we yearn with some nostalgia for the old ferryboats, the return of the Mount Tamalpais train captures the fancy.

We can see no "desecration" in the return of the "crookedest railroad" to Mount Tamalpais. On the contrary, it should rekindle nation-wide interest in Marin and its most famous landmark.

Promoters of the idea should be given the clearance to lay out their plans in detail, upon assurances that the mountain will remain unscarred, and that the stationhouses and the restaurant will blend in with the landscape.

Given such assurances, we'd say, "Let's get on with it!"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Everyone Needs Tuberculin Test

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Our community should take pride in citizens like Mr. R. A. Bowers who are interested enough and sufficiently well informed to discuss public health problems as he did in his letter of Dec. 7 about BCG.

The use of BCG vaccine in tuberculosis control is controversial. Though it is used throughout the world, its value is questioned by some doctors.

Personally, I believe that as we push toward our goal of total elimination of tuberculosis in our community we are going to need new tools. BCG may be our answer. X-rays and tuberculin testing, which we use continually, are good tools. But they have not yet enabled us to complete our job.

One of several factors limiting the use of BCG in our country is the considerable cost of such a program.

It has been assumed BCG vaccination programs are not necessary in communities having a relatively low case rate. But there are advocates in this country who believe BCG is one of the tools we can utilize if we are to eliminate tuberculosis and that, in the long run, it will pay for itself.

Another limiting factor is the emphasis placed on the loss of the usefulness of the tuberculin test when BCG is used, since BCG causes a reaction to the test. (Persons not vaccinated react only if they have been infected with tuberculosis germs.) I disagree with this argument. I believe prevention is more valuable than knowledge of the time when a person is infected.

I would recommend the use of BCG for any person who is tuberculin negative (does not react to the tuberculin test) and who is in contact, or may be in contact with active tuberculosis . . .

If every member of our community would have an annual tuberculin test and all those who are positive (react) would have an anual x-ray, as recommended by the Tuberculosis Association, tuberculosis in Marin County would be greatly reduced. I see no reason why individual families desirous of having their children vaccinated with BCG should not do so. But at this time mass BCG vaccination in Marin County does not seem economically feasible nor medically warranted.

Christmas Calm, Feeling Lauded

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Once again we have resolutely braved the shopping legions and their chariots, armed with credit cards against the days of reckoning, all the while trumpeters celebrating our victories with "Deck the Halls" and "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen."

Now the arena is quiet and the contestants have retired. Would we could extend the calm of Christmas day!

There are those who moan about commercialism, but at the moment a small child's eyes light up at the sight of Santa's secret visit, I'm sure there is an answering smile on the lips of the Christ Child. Even as we discover a bottle of perfume or a pair of sox under its hollied wrapping, whether we know it or not, we are better for that instant.

I feel sorry for those who refuse to take out one day from the world's occupation to make this annual mental pilgrimage.

It is a precarious privilege, the celebration of Christmas, denied to so many on the face of the earth, and one to be cherished and defended. But, since the days of the Pilgrims, in spite of everything, we in America have been allowed to warm one winter's day with "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!"

How To Deal With Marincello

Editor, Independent-Journal:

To get action on Marincello, the same technique should be used which a diamond cutter employs to crack the hardest diamond: find the precise place to put the pressure.

The man who makes policy at Gulf Oil is its new President, Mr. Charles Brockett, whose address is Gulf Building, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. If the six thousand signers of the petition were to write to him directly about how they feel and what they think about Marincello and about Gulf, he could have a first-hand "feel" of what the situation really is.

Man Is More Than Economic

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re Mr. Goldstein's letter quote: "Marin City is a law-abiding community and all but a small fraction of its citizens are law-abiding". I agree.

However, he, as many others, goes on to attribute that problems against society arise out of "ghetto" situations. If living conditions cause reprehensible acts, why is there an ever increasing amount of individuals from well-to-do homes committing acts against society as well? Why is the majority of the population of Marin City law-abiding? They live side by side in "ghettos" and therefore should produce identical effects, yet don't.

These conditions may EFFECT behavior but are not the CAUSE! We certainly have embraced the Marxian theory that economics determine morals and behavior. Man is more than an economic animal. He is created with an intellect and free will, thus has the power of choice and with this faculty cannot be driven into wrong by social forces. If man is free, he (not lack of dance halls, society etc.) is responsible, and if he is not responsible then he is not free! We can't have it both ways.

The solution is more than materialism alone. In establishing the City of Man let's not abandon the City of God!

Tidal Waters Good Food Source

In connection with the filling and pollution of San Francisco Bay, it might not hurt to remind Marinites that in several decades, when population in the U.S. begins to catch up with food supply, the Bay's tidal waters will be particularly valuable—if they are cleaned up.

Fish, crab, shrimp and oysters—excellent sources of protein—thrive in tidal waters. They have already been reduced. It would take a strong stomach to eat anything that grows in the Bay when its present condition is known.

Before we stifle in our own filth and industrial waste, let's each support the programs to clean up the Bay waters.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Teacher Group Ready To Ask More Education Tax Money

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — By the time the 1966 session of the state legislature gets under way, Gov. Edmund G. Brown will be deluged with requests for subjects to be put on call for the special session. This happens each year there is a budget session, and apparently, there is no end to the number of items demanded for consideration on a special call.

One of the most expensive, and what some people consider the least necessary this coming year, will be a request for a special call on school aid.

The California Teachers Assn. already has announced it will ask the governor to open the call for consideration of "critical" school finance measures.

THIS NO DOUBT will be on a special call, as Governor Brown in a talk before the CTA state council on education, said he planned to ask the legislature to consider educational programs in the "poverty" areas of the state.

But it is almost a certainty that if the call is opened up to so-called poverty considerations, it will not be confined to that, as opening the call on school finance makes the subject wide open to any areas legislators may want to consider.

As a result, the California Teachers Assn. will come in with an extensive program which could cost the taxpayers of the state many millions of dollars.

Already, CTA has announced some of the things it will seek. Among them is a measure which would raise the minimum annual salary for a full credential California teacher from $5,000 to $5,500 per year. This is despite the fact that the average salary now is above $8,000 per year, and an increase in the minimum would serve to raise the average.

CTA WILL support extension, intensification and acceleration of a wide range of compensatory educational programs for all ages, it has announced. Of course, the more money spent on such programs, the more money available for added teachers.

The association wants a general increase in foundation programs for the schools, with particular attention to current average costs of public education in California.

Thinking of teachers again, it also wants more adequate support of public higher education, in line with master plans goals, and with emphasis on what it terms the critical staffing situation in junior and state colleges.

FOR TAXPAYERS, the association wants "more equitable distribution of the tax burden, and the enactment of necessary and sound revenue measures" which, in effect, means it will ask for more tax money to operate California schools. It also wants to eliminate statutory maximum tax rates for school districts, a process it says will "allow more fiscal responsibility."

Although the state could get along quite well without these demands from the educators, the CTA never misses a chance to ask increases in expenditures for education.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A. J. PRIEST must have been bitten once by a Texan when he was young. At least he tells this story about the Texas lads: "Want to know how to tell when a Texan is lying about his native habitat? Observe first the lines about his eyes. Then notice the back of his left hand and see if you can catch the throb or pulse of a vein or artery. Then look at his mouth. If it's open, he's lying.

THERE IS a contingent of young socialites whose weird behavior is reported regularly by gossip columnists. Dr. Ralph Waring, London biologist, can now explain this behavior. He has discovered that many insects, after once having come into contact with newsprint, are utterly incapable of achieving maturity.

CHARLIE RICE, who beats out his brains collecting telephonic knock-knocks, comes up with the following: 1. Heilo, this is Mr. Peace. Which Mr. Peace? Warren Peace. 2. This is Miss Vanation—Miss Bertha Vanation. 3. This is Mr. Bearer—Mr. Paul Bearer. (Mr. Rice has now flown off to Europe to recuperate).

I CANNOT imagine what impelled Sandy Allen, author of that popular juvenile, "The Plaid Peacock," to send me this ancient and pointless rhyme:

"If we can remember so
many old jokes
With all of the details
that mold them,
Why can't we recall with comparable skill
The number of times
that we've told them?"

Congressmen Need Restraint From 'National Halibut Week'

By DOM BONAFEDE
(Roscoe Drummond is on a brief vacation)

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is fond of paying tribute to the first session of the 89th Congress as one of the most productive in U.S. history. In a glossy valentine called "A Salute to Congress" (costing U.S. taxpayers about $7,000) the President last October exulted, "From your committees and both your Houses has come the greatest outpouring of creative legislation in the history of this nation."

Despite the President's lavish praise, history will make the final assessment and determine whether such laurels are deserved. Still, if the productivity of Congress is open to debate, its profligacy is not.

The government-printed "Digest of Public General Bills" shows that more than 16,000 bills and resolutions were introduced during the last Congressional session.

THE RECORD shows that members of the 89th Congress were quick to recognize virtue. They proposed that the nation officially commemorate epochal events by setting aside special days, even weeks, in their honor. These included: "Break-No-Law-Today Day," "Cleaner Air Week," "Folk Music Week," "National Dental Assistants Day," "National Indoor Sports Day," "National Square Dance Week," and "National Grandmother's Day."

Sen. Warren Magnuson, D.-Wash., the digest reports, "requests the President to issue a proclamaiton designating the seven-day period beginning May 15, 1965, and ending May 21, 1965, as National Halibut Week."

THIS, OF COURSE, could well have led to internecine war throughout U. S. fish markets.

Snook lovers, for instance, would have demanded a "National Snook Week." As would those zealots who favor flounder, wahoo, carp, catfish, and other kinds of underwater life.

Members of the 89th Congress were also generous, perhaps to a fault, in paying tribute to living Americans.

Rep. James Battin, of Montana, proposed that U. S. quarters be minted with "the likeness of Lyndon Baines Johnson." Mr. Battin, oddly enough, is a Republican.

Rep. Alonzo Bell, a Republican from Los Angeles, urged that a resolution be passed honoring "Art Linkletter for unique services rendered to his country and to the world."

And New York's Abe Multer proposed that the President issue a gold medal to Danny Kaye.

In each session demands are made that Congress should be streamlined, reorganized, and computerized. The lament is heard that additional help is needed, that more experts should be hired to aid members on the increasingly complex problems of world affairs.

Yet, what may be needed is not more people or computers, but merely more restraint on the part of the members to stick to the important business at hand and not create time-consuming work for themselves by proposing that the august chamber establish a "National Halibut Week."

Funds Almost Gone For Poverty Probe

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives is in for an intriguing surprise on that long-promised investigation of the controversial $1.5 billion anti-poverty program.

Although months have elapsed without hearings, reports of any kind, or any other developments, the inside word is that the probe is just about out of money.

Of the $230,000 appropriated for this once-much-touted inquiry, of which $100,000 was hurriedly voted by the House just before it adjourned, only $17,000 reportedly is still in the till. How and where the other $213,000 was spent is the big question.

Members of the education and labor committee and its subcommittee which is supposed to be conducting this investigation are frankly baffled and say they don't know. And Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., grandiloquent chairman of the education and labor committee and boss of the subcommittee, isn't talking.

NEITHER IS THE administration committee, which has the responsibility of keeping a check on subcommittee spending. House rules require that investigating subcommittees file monthly reports on outlays and activities.

Inquiry at the committee was met with a curt brush-off. Snapped the clerk, "Reports from committee are not public information."

"Why not?"

"Because it is committee policy," retorted the clerk, "not to give out such information."

House rules also require that every member of the administration committee get a copy of these monthly reports. But Rep. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., member of both this committee and the education and labor committee, has seen none.

A STAFF MEMBER of the investigating subcommittee frankly admitted there have been no reports:

"We haven't submitted any," said the employee. "We are so pressed for time that we havn't done them. In October we started one, but we didn't have time to finish it. Last month nothing at all was done, and the same is true this month. Don't let the boss (Powell) know I told you this, or I'll get fired."

This much has been ascertained regarding the investigating subcommittee's finances:

Of its original $230,000, $124,000 was earmarked for salaries. The other $106,000 was to cover per deim, travel costs and expenses for public and private hearings.

PAYROLL RECORDS filed with the House clerk show that 21 are on the subcommittee's payroll at salaries ranging from $6,000 to $18,000. These records also reveal that less than three month's salaries have actually been paid out. But even for the entire six months of the authorized duration of this anti-poverty probe, total payroll expenditure would come to only $97,800. That is $26,200 short of the salary budget.

The story is the same on the $106,000 allocated for travel and hearing expenses. Of the 33 cities Powell claims his investigators have visited, in only three did they spend more than two days.

"Even if four investigators had spent three days in every one of the 33 cities," says a subcommittee member, "per diem costs at $16 a day per man would add up to only $6,336. That leaves $100,000 for travel costs. Our investigators haven't done that much traveling.

FLASHES—Last week, eight days before Christmas, the Democratic National Committee lopped 45 employees off the payroll. This jolting Yuletide gift was eased somewhat with the claim that "better-paying" jobs would be found for them in various government agencies. According to that, these party workers are being unloaded on the government payroll.

The North Marin County area this year has had continued growth. This growth has not only seen an influx of people, but of many changes in the growth of the districts that serve the community.

The Novato Sanitary District in the past year has continued to expand its facilities. It has acquired needed land beside the Novato treatment plant and the site of the plant for the Bahia development and adjoining area. In addition it has worked on a master plan for the expansion of the district in the future.

The Novato Fire District has made two noteworthy advances in the last year. It has achieved a better rating from the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau in both zones in the district. This will result in a substantial reduction in the fire insurance rates.

In addition, it has acquired plans and started construction on a third station, in San Marin. It also has acquired two additional station sites. It has kept improving its equipment to keep pace with better fire protection.

NORTH MARIN County Water District, in the same rate study, received a two rating, which is almost perfect for a supply of water for fighting fires.

The water district is now constructing a new office building on Atherton Avenue. It has installed new mains and storage tank facilities in many areas.

In addition, the district has started work on what may be the largest annexation in the history of Marin County. That is the proposed expansion of 35 square miles in West Marin to start a water system to serve the Marshall-Tomales areas.

The City of Novato too has had growing pains, two kinds of them. The city has been growing both in population and area. In the past year, the population of the city grew from 23,900 a year ago to 27,150 by official count.

The city also has grown by annexations. It is now processing a 1,280 acre annexation to the city; this would be the third largest in the city's history.

The planning and parks and recreation advisory commissions have been working on a new master plan. This work is now completed and the master plan has gone to the city council for its study and approval.

IN THE FIELD of parks, the city has made the most progress. It "discovered" that it owned a small park at the end of Hayden Drive. It acquired the old Novato cemetery for a pioneer memorial cemetery and the Lions Club and North Marin Water District agreed to the city running that park below Stafford Dam.

The council voted a 30-cent tax rate which will raise approximately $100,000 this year for the acquisition of parks and/or a civic center site.

It also made a noteworthy change in the appearance of the city by getting the islands in Highway 101 landscaped.

It is the school district that has made the greatest advances during the past year. The old San Jose and Novato unified school districts were officially unified July 1. This eliminated one of the barriers which has separated the city north and south.

The voters also agreed to level the bonds in the two old districts. They voted in $3,840,000 in bonds and $7,680,000 in state loan authorization for new buildings.

With this backing, the new school board has moved ahead with a building program to meet the expanding district. These include the additions at Novato High School to raise it to 1,800 capacity and those at Hill and San Jose Junior High Schools to bring them to 900 student capacity in a three-year course.

Other expansions include a six-classroom addition to Pleasant Valley School and the same for Lu Sutton School.

The district is working on the plans for the Hamilton elementary school of 17 rooms and a third junior high school to go on the old Sinoloa Ranch at Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road.

TAKEN ALTOGETHER, these improvements add up to a growing thriving area in North Marin.

San Anselmo Groups Press For Congress

Questionnaires were mailed to various organizations in San Anselmo today to drum up interest in a community-wide "Congress for Community Progress" schedule for next March.

The San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and San Anselmo Homes Assn. will jointly sponsor the congress on March 5 at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Don Perry, chairman of the project, said the purpose of the one-day Congress for Community Progress is to discuss problem areas and develop ideas for community improvement.

Questionnaires, mailed today to members of the Chambers of Commerce and the Homes Assn. and to other civic groups in San Anselmo, suggest topics for study and ask the public for comments and criticism.

Among topics listed so far are these:

Traffic and streets: Where should Point Reyes freeway go? Can commuter facilities and substandard streets be improved?

Recreation: A center for all age groups?

Downtown: Beautify the creek? A pedestrian mall?

Fire protection and water supply: Move the fire station from its cramped quarters? How to bring water mains up to standard size?

Ordinances: Stricter slope policy? When should variances be granted? What kind of community do citizens want?

Beautification: Tree planting? Underground utilities? Annual cleanup?

Novato Decoration Prizes Are Given

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Kent R. Bulfinch at 3 Carmel Drive, Novato, won $25 first prizie in a Christmas home decoration contest sponsored by the Novato Chamber of Commerce and Novato Advance.

Second prize of $15 went to the John W. Thorsson home at 2285 Novato Boulevard, and third prize of $10, to the Roy Bouchey home at 1143 Court Road.

Seven Marinites Home After Training In Navy

Seven Marin youths, all apprentice seamen, are home on holiday leave after completing Navy recruit training at San Diego, according to Chief Robert E. Betts of the Navy Recruiting Branch Station in San Rafael.

Home in the San Rafael area are Larry R. Grubb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruppert D. Grubb, 1565 Fourth Street, San Rafael; Daniel J. Tognetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Tognetti, 50 Oak Ridge Road, Los Ranchitos, and Dale A. Tietz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold W. Tietz, 122 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia.

In Novato are John F. Busey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Busey II, 455 Corte Sur; Richard M. Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Dickinson, 716 Del Mar Avenue; Peter M. McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick B. McGrath, 295 Country Club Drive, and Paul A. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis V. Phillips, 445 Corte Sur.

Seaman Apprentice Craig Wolcott, son of Mrs. Margaret C. Wolcott, 496 Washington Court, Tiburon, is home on leave from Fire Control School at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill.

President of Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club is Jack Greene.

Shoplifting Charge

A 12-year-old Novato girl was cited at Juvenile Hall Sunday for shoplifting after Jack L. Clark, assistant manager of Thrifty Drug Store, San Rafael, reported the girl was seen putting packets of toner and a bracelet, total value $8.96 into a bag without paying.

Maybe Christmas Isn't What It Used To Be, But It's Wonderful

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Christmas what it used to be?

Many middle-aged and elderly people say it isn't. They say Christmas—like everything else nowadays—has gone downhill.

THEY SAY it has been merchandised to death, and the warm human spiritual glow has departed from it.

"Kids get too much now," they grumble. "It spoils them. They don't appreciate anything."

They like to make a comparison of Christmas past and Christmas present. And the old-fashioned Christmas always gets the better of it.

Curiously, as they grow older, the more they seem to remember with pride the deprivations and hardships rather than the joys of some long ago Christmas of their youth.

What do they recall? Here are typical memories:

"THE TREE looked real nice. It was an honest-to-goodness wooden tree, not one of these plastic jobs they sell now, and you could smell it all through the house.

"We didn't have so many fancy baubles and ornaments then. We usually decorated the tree ourselves with home-made red and white strings of cranberries and popcorn and topped it with a star made from the tinfoil from a package of cigarettes.

"EACH KID found a stocking filled with fruit and nuts and cheap hard candy. There was always a big golden orange at the bottom of the stocking, and it was highly prized. About the only other time in the winter a child got a fresh orange was when he was given castor oil.

"There weren't very many packages around the tree. Most of the presents were useful."

At this point the old-timer wipes a misty eye and says, "I can still remember the taste of that orange at the bottom of my stocking."

But if you hand him an orange now and tell him, "Live it up, Pops," he thinks you're out of your mind.

WELL, MAYBE those good old Christmases were better. Maybe prosperity is wrecking us. Perhaps it is undermining our character today because we gather around our Christmas tree in a well-heated living room instead of one half-warmed by an iron stove.

It is possible that we now overdo it in the matter of giving children gifts.

But, on the other hand, no parents who see the excited delight in their child's eyes as he opens his Christmas presents really feel that they have ruined the child for life.

THE BEST Christmas is the one that makes you happiest, whether you celebrated it 50 years ago—or this year. But each is filled with wonder and glory.

There's Bit Of Nostalgia In Mount Tam Rail Idea

Why not a railroad from Mountain Home to the top of Mount Tamalpais?

Such a proposal is being advanced by several Marin businessmen. We see nothing wrong with the proposal, especially since the emphasis is on "restoration" rather than on "new construction."

The proposed rail line would follow the same route of the famous "crookedest railroad in the world" which once ran up the mountain.

"Not a single new cut will be required for the train," says Frank Allen, one of the promoters. "We don't want to desecrate it; that's uppermost in our minds."

Parking for cars is planned on several terraces below Mountain Home, in an area hidden from the main road.

As for a restaurant planned at the summit, old-timers recall that a restaurant and a station house did exist there, until fire destroyed the structures. Traces of the old foundations still remain.

The need and desirability of a restaurant at the top have long been recognized. Restoration of the old railroad would almost demand that some facility be provided at the top for lunch and refreshment for visitors relaxing between trains.

The proponents of the plan assure us that the restaurant will be built to blend in with the surroundings, and that no gaudy signs would be needed to advertise the establishment.

Restoration of the railroad, including the old "double bow knot" of the famous old line, captures the imagination and the flavor of the "good old days."

To go back for a moment, an old horse-drawn coach ran up the mountain on a wagon road from Ross, at the turn of the century. This was followed by the "crookedest railroad," which was famed world-wide and became a "must" stopover for Bay Area visitors.

Those who chugged up the mountain enjoyed refreshments at the summit restaurant and hiked around the peak for a breathtaking view.

Eventually private automobiles brought an end to the railroad because the train was not enough of a curiosity to be an attraction itself.

But now, just as we yearn with some nostalgia for the old ferryboats, the return of the Mount Tamalpais train captures the fancy.

We can see no "desecration" in the return of the "crookedest railroad" to Mount Tamalpais. On the contrary, it should rekindle nation-wide interest in Marin and its most famous landmark.

Promoters of the idea should be given the clearance to lay out their plans in detail, upon assurances that the mountain will remain unscarred, and that the stationhouses and the restaurant will blend in with the landscape.

Given such assurances, we'd say, "Let's get on with it!"

Tidal Waters Good Food Source

In connection with the filling and pollution of San Francisco Bay, it might not hurt to remind Marinites that in several decades, when population in the U.S. begins to catch up with food supply, the Bay's tidal waters will be particularly valuable—if they are cleaned up.

Fish, crab, shrimp and oysters—excellent sources of protein—thrive in tidal waters. They have already been reduced. It would take a strong stomach to eat anything that grows in the Bay when its present condition is known.

Before we stifle in our own filth and industrial waste, let's each support the programs to clean up the Bay waters.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Teacher Group Ready To Ask More Education Tax Money

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — By the time the 1966 session of the state legislature gets under way, Gov. Edmund G. Brown will be deluged with requests for subjects to be put on call for the special session. This happens each year there is a budget session, and apparently, there is no end to the number of items demanded for consideration on a special call.

One of the most expensive, and what some people consider the least necessary this coming year, will be a request for a special call on school aid.

The California Teachers Assn. already has announced it will ask the governor to open the call for consideration of "critical" school finance measures.

THIS NO DOUBT will be on a special call, as Governor Brown in a talk before the CTA state council on education, said he planned to ask the legislature to consider educational programs in the "poverty" areas of the state.

But it is almost a certainty that if the call is opened up to so-called poverty considerations, it will not be confined to that, as opening the call on school finance makes the subject wide open to any areas legislators may want to consider.

As a result, the California Teachers Assn. will come in with an extensive program which could cost the taxpayers of the state many millions of dollars.

Already, CTA has announced some of the things it will seek. Among them is a measure which would raise the minimum annual salary for a full credential California teacher from $5,000 to $5,500 per year. This is despite the fact that the average salary now is above $8,000 per year, and an increase in the minimum would serve to raise the average.

CTA WILL support extension, intensification and acceleration of a wide range of compensatory educational programs for all ages, it has announced. Of course, the more money spent on such programs, the more money available for added teachers.

The association wants a general increase in foundation programs for the schools, with particular attention to current average costs of public education in California.

Thinking of teachers again, it also wants more adequate support of public higher education, in line with master plans goals, and with emphasis on what it terms the critical staffing situation in junior and state colleges.

FOR TAXPAYERS, the association wants "more equitable distribution of the tax burden, and the enactment of necessary and sound revenue measures" which, in effect, means it will ask for more tax money to operate California schools. It also wants to eliminate statutory maximum tax rates for school districts, a process it says will "allow more fiscal responsibility."

Although the state could get along quite well without these demands from the educators, the CTA never misses a chance to ask increases in expenditures for education.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Everyone Needs Tuberculin Test

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Our community should take pride in citizens like Mr. R. A. Bowers who are interested enough and sufficiently well informed to discuss public health problems as he did in his letter of Dec. 7 about BCG.

The use of BCG vaccine in tuberculosis control is controversial. Though it is used throughout the world, its value is questioned by some doctors.

Personally, I believe that as we push toward our goal of total elimination of tuberculosis in our community we are going to need new tools. BCG may be our answer. X-rays and tuberculin testing, which we use continually, are good tools. But they have not yet enabled us to complete our job.

One of several factors limiting the use of BCG in our country is the considerable cost of such a program.

It has been assumed BCG vaccination programs are not necessary in communities having a relatively low case rate. But there are advocates in this country who believe BCG is one of the tools we can utilize if we are to eliminate tuberculosis and that, in the long run, it will pay for itself.

Another limiting factor is the emphasis placed on the loss of the usefulness of the tuberculin test when BCG is used, since BCG causes a reaction to the test. (Persons not vaccinated react only if they have been infected with tuberculosis germs.) I disagree with this argument. I believe prevention is more valuable than knowledge of the time when a person is infected.

I would recommend the use of BCG for any person who is tuberculin negative (does not react to the tuberculin test) and who is in contact, or may be in contact with active tuberculosis . . .

If every member of our community would have an annual tuberculin test and all those who are positive (react) would have an anual x-ray, as recommended by the Tuberculosis Association, tuberculosis in Marin County would be greatly reduced. I see no reason why individual families desirous of having their children vaccinated with BCG should not do so. But at this time mass BCG vaccination in Marin County does not seem economically feasible nor medically warranted.

Christmas Calm, Feeling Lauded

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Once again we have resolutely braved the shopping legions and their chariots, armed with credit cards against the days of reckoning, all the while trumpeters celebrating our victories with "Deck the Halls" and "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen."

Now the arena is quiet and the contestants have retired. Would we could extend the calm of Christmas day!

There are those who moan about commercialism, but at the moment a small child's eyes light up at the sight of Santa's secret visit, I'm sure there is an answering smile on the lips of the Christ Child. Even as we discover a bottle of perfume or a pair of sox under its hollied wrapping, whether we know it or not, we are better for that instant.

I feel sorry for those who refuse to take out one day from the world's occupation to make this annual mental pilgrimage.

It is a precarious privilege, the celebration of Christmas, denied to so many on the face of the earth, and one to be cherished and defended. But, since the days of the Pilgrims, in spite of everything, we in America have been allowed to warm one winter's day with "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!"

How To Deal With Marincello

Editor, Independent-Journal:

To get action on Marincello, the same technique should be used which a diamond cutter employs to crack the hardest diamond: find the precise place to put the pressure.

The man who makes policy at Gulf Oil is its new President, Mr. Charles Brockett, whose address is Gulf Building, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. If the six thousand signers of the petition were to write to him directly about how they feel and what they think about Marincello and about Gulf, he could have a first-hand "feel" of what the situation really is.

Man Is More Than Economic

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re Mr. Goldstein's letter quote: "Marin City is a law-abiding community and all but a small fraction of its citizens are law-abiding". I agree.

However, he, as many others, goes on to attribute that problems against society arise out of "ghetto" situations. If living conditions cause reprehensible acts, why is there an ever increasing amount of individuals from well-to-do homes committing acts against society as well? Why is the majority of the population of Marin City law-abiding? They live side by side in "ghettos" and therefore should produce identical effects, yet don't.

These conditions may EFFECT behavior but are not the CAUSE! We certainly have embraced the Marxian theory that economics determine morals and behavior. Man is more than an economic animal. He is created with an intellect and free will, thus has the power of choice and with this faculty cannot be driven into wrong by social forces. If man is free, he (not lack of dance halls, society etc.) is responsible, and if he is not responsible then he is not free! We can't have it both ways.

The solution is more than materialism alone. In establishing the City of Man let's not abandon the City of God!

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A. J. PRIEST must have been bitten once by a Texan when he was young. At least he tells this story about the Texas lads: "Want to know how to tell when a Texan is lying about his native habitat? Observe first the lines about his eyes. Then notice the back of his left hand and see if you can catch the throb or pulse of a vein or artery. Then look at his mouth. If it's open, he's lying.

THERE IS a contingent of young socialites whose weird behavior is reported regularly by gossip columnists. Dr. Ralph Waring, London biologist, can now explain this behavior. He has discovered that many insects, after once having come into contact with newsprint, are utterly incapable of achieving maturity.

CHARLIE RICE, who beats out his brains collecting telephonic knock-knocks, comes up with the following: 1. Hello, this is Mr. Peace. Which Mr. Peace? Warren Peace. 2. This is Miss Vanation—Miss Bertha Vanation. 3. This is Mr. Bearer—Mr. Paul Bearer. (Mr. Rice has now flown off to Europe to recuperate).

I CANNOT imagine what impelled Sandy Allen, author of that popular juvenile, "The Plaid Peacock," to send me this ancient and pointless rhyme:

"If we can remember so
many old jokes
With all of the details
that mold them,
Why can't we recall with comparable skill
The number of times
that we've told them?"

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Congressmen Need Restraint From 'National Halibut Week'

By DOM BONAFEDE
(Roscoe Drummond is on a brief vacation)

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is fond of paying tribute to the first session of the 89th Congress as one of the most productive in U.S. history. In a glossy valentine called "A Salute to Congress" (costing U.S. taxpayers about $7,000) the President last October exulted, "From your committees and both your Houses has come the greatest outpouring of creative legislation in the history of this nation."

Despite the President's lavish praise, history will make the final assessment and determine whether such laurels are deserved. Still, if the productivity of Congress is open to debate, its profligacy is not.

The government-printed "Digest of Public General Bills" shows that more than 16,000 bills and resolutions were introduced during the last Congressional session.

THE RECORD shows that members of the 89th Congress were quick to recognize virtue. They proposed that the nation officially commemorate epochal events by setting aside special days, even weeks, in their honor. These included: "Break-No-Law-Today Day," "Cleaner Air Week," "Folk Music Week," "National Dental Assistants Day," "National Indoor Sports Day," "National Square Dance Week," and "National Grandmother's Day."

Sen. Warren Magnuson, D.-Wash., the digest reports, "requests the President to issue a proclamaiton designating the seven-day period beginning May 15, 1965, and ending May 21, 1965, as National Halibut Week."

THIS, OF COURSE, could well have led to internecine war throughout U. S. fish markets.

Snook lovers, for instance, would have demanded a "National Snook Week." As would those zealots who favor flounder, wahoo, carp, catfish, and other kinds of underwater life.

Members of the 89th Congress were also generous, perhaps to a fault, in paying tribute to living Americans.

Rep. James Battin, of Montana, proposed that U. S. quarters be minted with "the likeness of Lyndon Baines Johnson." Mr. Battin, oddly enough, is a Republican.

Rep. Alonzo Bell, a Republican from Los Angeles, urged that a resolution be passed honoring "Art Linkletter for unique services rendered to his country and to the world."

And New York's Abe Multer proposed that the President issue a gold medal to Danny Kaye.

In each session demands are made that Congress should be streamlined, reorganized, and computerized. The lament is heard that additional help is needed, that more experts should be hired to aid members on the increasingly complex problems of world affairs.

Yet, what may be needed is not more people or computers, but merely more restraint on the part of the members to stick to the important business at hand and not create time-consuming work for themselves by proposing that the august chamber establish a "National Halibut Week."

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Funds Almost Gone For Poverty Probe

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives is in for an intriguing surprise on that long-promised investigation of the controversial $1.5 billion anti-poverty program.

Although months have elapsed without hearings, reports of any kind, or any other developments, the inside word is that the probe is just about out of money.

Of the $230,000 appropriated for this once-much-touted inquiry, of which $100,000 was hurriedly voted by the House just before it adjourned, only $17,000 reportedly is still in the till. How and where the other $213,000 was spent is the big question.

Members of the education and labor committee and its subcommittee which is supposed to be conducting this investigation are frankly baffled and say they don't know. And Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., grandiloquent chairman of the education and labor committee and boss of the subcommittee, isn't talking.

NEITHER IS THE administration committee, which has the responsibility of keeping a check on subcommittee spending. House rules require that investigating subcommittees file monthly reports on outlays and activities.

Inquiry at the committee was met with a curt brush-off. Snapped the clerk, "Reports from committee are not public information."

"Why not?"

"Because it is committee policy," retorted the clerk, "not to give out such information."

House rules also require that every member of the administration committee get a copy of these monthly reports. But Rep. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., member of both this committee and the education and labor committee, has seen none.

A STAFF MEMBER of the investigating subcommittee frankly admitted there have been no reports:

"We haven't submitted any," said the employee. "We are so pressed for time that we havn't done them. In October we started one, but we didn't have time to finish it. Last month nothing at all was done, and the same is true this month. Don't let the boss (Powell) know I told you this, or I'll get fired."

This much has been ascertained regarding the investigating subcommittee's finances:

Of its original $230,000, $124,000 was earmarked for salaries. The other $106,000 was to cover per deim, travel costs and expenses for public and private hearings.

PAYROLL RECORDS filed with the House clerk show that 21 are on the subcommittee's payroll at salaries ranging from $6,000 to $18,000. These records also reveal that less than three month's salaries have actually been paid out. But even for the entire six months of the authorized duration of this anti-poverty probe, total payroll expenditure would come to only $97,800. That is $26,200 short of the salary budget.

The story is the same on the $106,000 allocated for travel and hearing expenses. Of the 33 cities Powell claims his investigators have visited, in only three did they spend more than two days.

"Even if four investigators had spent three days in every one of the 33 cities," says a subcommittee member, "per diem costs at $16 a day per man would add up to only $6,336. That leaves $100,000 for travel costs. Our investigators haven't done that much traveling.

FLASHES—Last week, eight days before Christmas, the Democratic National Committee lopped 45 employees off the payroll. This jolting Yuletide gift was eased somewhat with the claim that "better-paying" jobs would be found for them in various government agencies. According to that, these party workers are being unloaded on the government payroll.

The North Marin County area this year has had continued growth. This growth has not only seen an influx of people, but of many changes in the growth of the districts that serve the community.

The Novato Sanitary District in the past year has continued to expand its facilities. It has acquired needed land beside the Novato treatment plant and the site of the plant for the Bahia development and adjoining area. In addition it has worked on a master plan for the expansion of the district in the future.

The Novato Fire District has made two noteworthy advances in the last year. It has achieved a better rating from the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau in both zones in the district. This will result in a substantial reduction in the fire insurance rates.

In addition, it has acquired plans and started construction on a third station, in San Marin. It also has acquired two additional station sites. It has kept improving its equipment to keep pace with better fire protection.

NORTH MARIN County Water District, in the same rate study, received a two rating, which is almost perfect for a supply of water for fighting fires.

The water district is now constructing a new office building on Atherton Avenue. It has installed new mains and storage tank facilities in many areas.

In addition, the district has started work on what may be the largest annexation in the history of Marin County. That is the proposed expansion of 35 square miles in West Marin to start a water system to serve the Marshall-Tomales areas.

The City of Novato too has had growing pains, two kinds of them. The city has been growing both in population and area. In the past year, the population of the city grew from 23,900 a year ago to 27,150 by official count.

The city also has grown by annexations. It is now processing a 1,280 acre annexation to the city; this would be the third largest in the city's history.

The planning and parks and recreation advisory commissions have been working on a new master plan. This work is now completed and the master plan has gone to the city council for its study and approval.

IN THE FIELD of parks, the city has made the most progress. It "discovered" that it owned a small park at the end of Hayden Drive. It acquired the old Novato cemetery for a pioneer memorial cemetery and the Lions Club and North Marin Water District agreed to the city running that park below Stafford Dam.

The council voted a 30-cent tax rate which will raise approximately $100,000 this year for the acquisition of parks and/or a civic center site.

It also made a noteworthy change in the appearance of the city by getting the islands in Highway 101 landscaped.

It is the school district that has made the greatest advances during the past year. The old San Jose and Novato unified school districts were officially unified July 1. This eliminated one of the barriers which has separated the city north and south.

The voters also agreed to level the bonds in the two old districts. They voted in $3,840,000 in bonds and $7,680,000 in state loan authorization for new buildings.

With this backing, the new school board has moved ahead with a building program to meet the expanding district. These include the additions at Novato High School to raise it to 1,800 capacity and those at Hill and San Jose Junior High Schools to bring them to 900 student capacity in a three-year course.

Other expansions include a six-classroom addition to Pleasant Valley School and the same for Lu Sutton School.

The district is working on the plans for the Hamilton elementary school of 17 rooms and a third junior high school to go on the old Sinoloa Ranch at Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road.

TAKEN ALTOGETHER, these improvements add up to a growing thriving area in North Marin.

Maybe Christmas Isn't What It Used To Be, But It's Wonderful

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Christmas what it used to be?

Many middle-aged and elderly people say it isn't. They say Christmas—like everything else nowadays—has gone downhill.

THEY SAY it has been merchandised to death, and the warm human spiritual glow has departed from it.

"Kids get too much now," they grumble. "It spoils them. They don't appreciate anything."

They like to make a comparison of Christmas past and Christmas present. And the old-fashioned Christmas always gets the better of it.

Curiously, as they grow older, the more they seem to remember with pride the deprivations and hardships rather than the joys of some long ago Christmas of their youth.

What do they recall? Here are typical memories:

"THE TREE looked real nice. It was an honest-to-goodness wooden tree, not one of these plastic jobs they sell now, and you could smell it all through the house.

"We didn't have so many fancy baubles and ornaments then. We usually decorated the tree ourselves with home-made red and white strings of cranberries and popcorn and topped it with a star made from the tinfoil from a package of cigarettes.

"EACH KID found a stocking filled with fruit and nuts and cheap hard candy. There was always a big golden orange at the bottom of the stocking, and it was highly prized. About the only other time in the winter a child got a fresh orange was when he was given castor oil.

"There weren't very many packages around the tree. Most of the presents were useful."

At this point the old-timer wipes a misty eye and says, "I can still remember the taste of that orange at the bottom of my stocking."

But if you hand him an orange now and tell him, "Live it up, Pops," he thinks you're out of your mind.

WELL, MAYBE those good old Christmases were better. Maybe prosperity is wrecking us. Perhaps it is undermining our character today because we gather around our Christmas tree in a well-heated living room instead of one half-warmed by an iron stove.

It is possible that we now overdo it in the matter of giving children gifts.

But, on the other hand, no parents who see the excited delight in their child's eyes as he opens his Christmas presents really feel that they have ruined the child for life.

THE BEST Christmas is the one that makes you happiest, whether you celebrated it 50 years ago—or this year. But each is filled with wonder and glory.

San Anselmo Groups Press For Congress

Questionnaires were mailed to various organizations in San Anselmo today to drum up interest in a community-wide "Congress for Community Progress" schedule for next March.

The San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and San Anselmo Homes Assn. will jointly sponsor the congress on March 5 at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Don Perry, chairman of the project, said the purpose of the one-day Congress for Community Progress is to discuss problem areas and develop ideas for community improvement.

Questionnaires, mailed today to members of the Chambers of Commerce and the Homes Assn. and to other civic groups in San Anselmo, suggest topics for study and ask the public for comments and criticism.

Among topics listed so far are these:

Traffic and streets: Where should Point Reyes freeway go? Can commuter facilities and substandard streets be improved?

Recreation: A center for all age groups?

Downtown: Beautify the creek? A pedestrian mall?

Fire protection and water supply: Move the fire station from its cramped quarters? How to bring water mains up to standard size?

Ordinances: Stricter slope policy? When should variances be granted? What kind of community do citizens want?

Beautification: Tree planting? Underground utilities? Annual cleanup?

Novato Decoration Prizes Are Given

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Kent R. Bulfinch at 3 Carmel Drive, Novato, won $25 first prizie in a Christmas home decoration contest sponsored by the Novato Chamber of Commerce and Novato Advance.

Second prize of $15 went to the John W. Thorsson home at 2285 Novato Boulevard, and third prize of $10, to the Roy Bouchey home at 1143 Court Road.

Seven Marinites Home After Training In Navy

Seven Marin youths, all apprentice seamen, are home on holiday leave after completing Navy recruit training at San Diego, according to Chief Robert E. Betts of the Navy Recruiting Branch Station in San Rafael.

Home in the San Rafael area are Larry R. Grubb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruppert D. Grubb, 1565 Fourth Street, San Rafael; Daniel J. Tognetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Tognetti, 50 Oak Ridge Road, Los Ranchitos, and Dale A. Tietz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold W. Tietz, 122 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia.

In Novato are John F. Busey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Busey II, 455 Corte Sur; Richard M. Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Dickinson, 716 Del Mar Avenue; Peter M. McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick B. McGrath, 295 Country Club Drive, and Paul A. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis V. Phillips, 445 Corte Sur.

Seaman Apprentice Craig Wolcott, son of Mrs. Margaret C. Wolcott, 496 Washington Court, Tiburon, is home on leave from Fire Control School at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill.

President of Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club is Jack Greene.

Shoplifting Charge

A 12-year-old Novato girl was cited at Juvenile Hall Sunday for shoplifting after Jack L. Clark, assistant manager of Thrifty Drug Store, San Rafael, reported the girl was seen putting packets of toner and a bracelet, total value $8.96 into a bag without paying.

HAZARD OF STORM—Fireman Ralph Pedersen (in helmet) and James Hansen make their way gingerly along pier leading to Hansen's small house boat (seen at end) after replacing ropes with chains to hold it in place. Most boats had been removed from mooring along their pier, which is in front of the plush Portofino-Riviera Apartments on Sausalito's Bridgeway, as wind whipped the tide across it, buckling the structure.

Gale, Rain Lash Marin —110-Knot Tam Winds

Roofs, Trees Ripped; Tidal Flood Feared

A massive wind and rain storm hit Marin today, bringing down trees, interrupting electric and telephone service in many areas, uprooting trees and blowing off one roof.

Angry winds began to howl around the county shortly after midnight. Winds of 75 to 80 knots, with gusts up to 110 knots, were reported on Mount Tamalpais. Hamilton Air Force Base recorded peak winds of 40 miles per hour from midnight on.

The rain, which was scattered during the night, arrived in full force in San Rafael about 10 a.m.

Water spewed over Sausalito's sea wall all morning, and police kept regular patrols on Bridgeway lest the rising tide—expected to reach its crest at 2 p.m.—should make the street impassable.

Similar conditions existed along Highway 1 in Stinson Beach and Bolinas.

ROOF LIFTED

Mrs. Roger A. Weiss of 267 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley, heard a "tremendous crash" in her back yard about 10:15 a.m. She rushed to a window and saw a roof lying in the yard.

She called sheriff's deputies to report that the roof had blown from the carport of her next door neighbor, John W. Acree of 209 Cardinal Road. On the way, it destroyed a steel reinforced trellis in the Weiss yard.

A large tree fell atop an automobile at the home of Dr. John Miller at 110 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. electrical Supt. Leonard O. Robertson said trouble calls were coming in so fast this morning that he was unable to pinpoint the details of many of them.

LIGHTS OFF

He estimated, however, that between 8,000 and 10,000 customers lost electrical power at one time or another, and about 2,500 were still without it at 11 a.m. Areas most seriously affected, he said, were in Novato, Fairfax, San Geronimo Valley, Point Reyes Station, Inverness, Stinson Beach, and Bolinas.

About 3,000 residents lost power in the north and west sections of Novato for more than an hour starting about 7:40 a.m., he said. Lights in Inverness went out at 4:40 a.m. and were still out in some homes at 11 a.m.

In Bolinas and Stinson Beach, both electricity and telephone service were interrupted at times throughout the morning.

The Point Bonita lighthouse reported heavy seas running, with winds up to 70 miles per hour.

WORKERS BUSY

Street crews were kept busy in most cities cleaning broken tree limbs from streets, and watching out for more serious damage expected from the storm. San Rafael City Engineer Ely Cailouette said crews in his city began "battening down the hatches" yesterday.

In San Anselmo, a two-foot acacia tree toppled across Elm Avenue, barely missing a parked car and stalling traffic until it was removed.

Marin County Public Works Department reported that a large tree fell on Nicasio Road just north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in the San Geronimo Valley, bringing down at least

Experts Blame Sheriff Office Fire On Arson

A State Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation analysis today confirmed that gasoline was splashed on paper accident forms to start a $10,000 fire Dec. 5 at the sheriff's substation in Marin City.

Charred debris from the fire was analyzed at the state bureau's laboratories at request of the Marin County sheriff's office.

Harold V. Sleezer, sheriff's inspector, said the report substantiates that arson was involved.

Sleezer said the papers—now apparent source of the fire—were stacked on a table in the main room.

The state report also confirmed that a window was broken by an outside force, rather than by internal heat pressure, and used as point of entry.

It also said an emergency flare found inside the station had been burned, but was not ignited by removal of its cap. Sleezer said flares were kept in the office and were probably just burned up in the blaze.

No container for gasoline was found at the scene, Sleezer said.

No suspect in the arson has been apprehended.

HAMILTON GIVEN INCREASED STATUS

Marin Base To Become Headquarters For Reactivated Fourth Air Force

Hamilton Air Force Base will become command base for a reactivated Fourth Air Force, covering 11 states, in a spring reorganization of the Air Defense Command.

The reorganization was announced today from the Pentagon. Although no date was set, it is expected to be about April 1, according to officers at Hamilton.

It will add 147 new positions at Hamilton, officers at the base announced: 53 officers, 75 airmen, and 19 civilians.

Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, commander of the 28th Air Division at Hamilton, will become commander of the reactivated Fourth Air Force. The 28th Air Division will be removed to McChord Air Force Base, Wash., replacing the Seattle Air Defense Sector there.

The Portland Air Defense Sector at Adair Air Force Station, Corvallis, Ore., will absorb the Reno Air Defense Sector to become the 26th Air Division. Phoenix and Los Angeles Air Defense Sectors will be merged into the 27th Air Division, with headquarters at Luke Air Force Base, Ariz.

All these will be under command of the Fourth Air Force at Hamilton.

This will expand Hamilton's role, as it is now headquarters of the 28th Air Division covering only parts of California, Nevada and Arizona.

The change is part of realignment of Air Force functions to reduce the number of control centers, according to the Pentagon announcement.

'Dictatorial' Remark Brings Interrogation

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — (UPI)— A federal government employee who called President Johnson "dictatorial" says a Secret Service agent subjected him to an hour-long late-evening interrogation because of statements he made about the President.

C. Jack Ferris Jr., an employee of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), said the agent called on him Dec. 6. The Secret Service office in Nashville confirmed this but declined to elaborate.

Ferris said yesterday he was interrogated because of some "strong statements" he made concerning the President.

He said he recalled describing the President as "tyrannical, dictatorial, domineering and overbearing" but added some statements attributed to him were not correct. Ferris, 42, refused to elaborate.

But he complained yesterday, saying: "Is this the sort of intimidation that a private citizen should have to put up with? Must we fear knocks on our doors late at night?"

Ferris said the agent refused to tell him who had reported his alleged statements. He quoted the agent as saying, "Our informer did not report that you threatened the President but only that you made strong remarks and accusations against him."

Fanfani Quits, Blames Wife For Viet Uproar

ROME (UPI) — Aminhtore Fanfani announced his resignation today as Italian foreign minister because of what he called "unjust accusations" stemming from an abortive peace feeler, complicated by his wife's meddling. The premier refused to accept the resignation.

Since Fanfani insisted his resignation was "irrevocable" the refusal by Premier Aldo Moro to accept it left the whole matter in the air. Moro told Fanfani the squabble does not touch "your personal integrity and your loyalty to the foreign policy of this government."

So far Fanfani has not replied to the premier.

Fanfani, 57, a former Italian premier, served as president of the 20th session of the United Nations General Assembly which adjourned shortly before Christmas.

His resignation as foreign minister followed widespread publication of reported peace feelers brought back from the Communist North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi by Giorgio la Pira, a former mayor of Florence.

La Pira, a Christian Democrat who had Communist support as mayor, talked in Hanoi with North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh. La Pira told Fanfani of the alleged peace feelers and Fanfani relayed them to President Johnson.

Shortly after they were made public, Hanoi radio denounced them as a hoax. As result, Fanfani came under immediate criticism both in Italy and abroad. Matters came to a head when Mrs. Fanfani set up an interview at the Fanfani home between La Pira and editor Giannna Preda.

La Pira claimed that Miss Preda had distorted his statements and referred to Miss Preda, editor of the magazine Il Borghese, as a "lady unknown to me."

Tokyo Police Keep Hubert Arrival Calm

TOKYO (UPI) —Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Japan tonight, beginning a week-long tour of the far east, his first major diplomatic mission for President Johnson. About 400 leftist students scuffled with police minutes before his arrival.

Humphrey, on a five-day swing through Japan, the Philippines, Formosa and South Korea, flew into Tokyo International Airport aboard a presidential jet and was met by Japanese and U.S. officials including Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and American Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer.

Despite the presence of thousands of Japanese police cordoned around the airport to prevent any demonstrations by leftist groups, a brief scuffle broke out in the main terminal building a few minutes before Humphrey's jet touched down.

Helmeted police had asked a group of about 400 Zengakuren students to leave the lounge and when they refused shoved them up against the wall. After a short conference between police and student leaders, the demonstrators were herded down a flight ramp several hundred yards away from the spot where Humphrey's jet pulled up.

There were no injuries and no arrests were reported.

The large police turnout was aimed at preventing any Communist-led demonstrations such as the 1960 riots that forced President Dwight D. Eisenhower to cancel his visit to Japan.

In an arrival statement, Humphrey said he was "looking forward very much" to meeting with Japanese Emperor Hirohito and Sato to discuss "some of our common interests and problems" during his 18-hour Tokyo stopover.

"Our goals and aspirations are much the same," he said. "We share the same deep commitments to peace, liberty

Painting Company Protests Low Justice Addition Bid

A painting firm has formally protested the low bid on the hall of justice addition to the Civic Center submitted by Haas and Haynie, on the grounds that the firm did not list all subcontractors.

W. G. Thompson Painting Co. of San Francisco, a firm which submitted a sub-bid for the next lowest bidder, has protested in a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Thompson said Haas and Haynie failed to list any sub-contractors for painting and plastering.

Haas and Haynie submitted a low bid of $9,529,000. Next lowest of the five bids opened last week was $9,575,000 by Rothschild, Raffin and Weirick jointly with Williams and Burrows, Inc., both of San Francisco.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was to meet with representatives of Haas and Haynie at the Civic Center this afternoon to discuss the short subcontractor list which started bringing complaints from other bidders soon after the bids were opened last week.

Maloney said the Thompson firm was the only one so far to complain in writing.

Grand Jury Repeats Assessor Probe Plea

OAKLAND (UPI)— The Alameda County Grand Jury has recommended a "thorough study" of the office of Assessor Donald Feragen.

In its annual year-end report, the grand jury said yesterday past recommendations for such a study had been ignord. Had they been acted on, the report continued, the tax scandal which resulted in the bribery indictment of Feragen might have been uncovered sooner.

Roof Of Civic Center Leaks Again In Storm

The Civic Center roof leaked again in today's storm.

Rain dripped through the plastic roof at the south end of the building, but fell harmlessly in a planter box.

Airport Bus Drivers Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Barrett Co. bus drivers struck for seven hours yesterday, interrupting service between the downtown terminal and San Francisco International Airport.

The drivers walked out at 5 p.m. in a dispute over alleged contract violations. However, the dispute was settled by midnight and the drivers returned to work.

Airport officials said travelers were not inconvenienced during the walkout because Greyhound, which also serves the airport, put on extra buses, and additional taxies were provided.

Church's Jewelled Chalice Is Missing

ENCINO (UPI) — A diamond-studded gold chalice valued at $22,000 has disappeared from a locked safe at Our Lady of Grace Roman Catholic Church.

The 10-inch-high chalice, which had not been used since Easter, was reported missing yesterday when a church official opened the safe.

New Truce Offer By Red Viet Radio

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Communist Viet Cong today offered the South Vietnamese a four day cease fire in Viet Nam during the lunar new year celebrations Jan. 20-24 ushering in the Asian "Year of the Horse."

The offer came as developments at home and abroad brought increased attention to the question of a possible truce and peace negotiations.

There was no Allied comment, but the still unexplained U. S. moratorium on air raids against Communist North Viet Nam entered the fifth day. U. S. B-52 bombers from Guam also were inactive though the war still raged in the south.

The Johnson administration remained silent on whether the air raids were halted in hopes Hanoi would reply to the repeated American offers of unconditional peace negotiations.

There were unofficial reports Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam was displeased with American peace efforts because his regime is determined to win a military victory over the Viet Cong and because his government has not been consulted enough.

Pope Paul VI was known to be hopeful the short-lived Christmas truce in Viet Nam could lead to a lasting settlement.

A group of Americans were reported in Hanoi—without State Department approval—to sound out President Ho Chi Minh on the peace outlook.

Today's truce offer was broadcast by the clandestine Viet Cong radio and heard in Hanoi. It apparently did not apply to U. S., Korean, Australian, New Zealand and other Allied troops in South Viet Nam but the broadcast was not entirely clear.

The Viet Cong has offered—and followed—a lunar new year's truce, every year of the war. Last year, in a Jan. 31-Feb. 7 truce, the Viet Cong held their fire. But immediately afterwards they attacked the U. S. helicopter base at Pleiku—an event that led directly to the U. S. bombings of North Viet Nam.

Pope Paul has relayed a message to Johnson expressing the pontiff's "great pleasure" over the Yuletide cease-fire.

But Vatican sources said the Pope was "very disappointed" that the Christmas truce had not been extended.

A former special assistant to the late U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson charged yesterday that South Viet Nam "is just as implacably against peace talks as Hanoi, if not more so."

Clayton Fritchey, in a copyrighted column in the Long Island newspaper Newsday, said Washington has kept secret Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's refusal to take part in unconditional negotiations to end the war, while pinning the blame for failure on peace moves on the "intransigence" of the Hanoi regime.

NEW FDR STAMP—Based on a portrait taken in 1941, this brown, six-cent postage stamp honoring the late Franklin D. Roosevelt will be released for the first time at Hyde Park, N. Y., the wartime president's burial place, on Jan. 29. (UPI Telephoto)

Segregationist's Son Arrested

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP)—The son of Georgia gubernatorial candidate Lester Maddox Sr., was free on $6,000 bond today after being charged here with two counts of burglarizing an appliance store.

Lester Maddox Jr., 21, was found hiding inside a television and appliance store early Sunday, police said. They said he admitted burglarizing the same store Nov. 5.

Maddox

Cobb County chief deputy Harold Griggs quoted the youth as saying his father had set him up in the service station business several months ago and since then he had gotten into a financial jam.

The elder Maddox is a former Atlanta restaurant owner who leased his place of business rather than serve Negroes. He now operates an Atlanta furniture store.

Maddox Sr. was adjudged in civil contempt by a U.S. District Court judge for his action last February and was ordered to pay a $200 fine each day his cafeteria practiced racial discrimination.

The elder Maddox said, "My son has committed a crime and for that he has been justly jailed. I thank God for the police. I thank God they caught my son."

Embezzler Sentenced

WOODLAND (AP) — A food market checker who admitted stealing $28,000 over two years from his employer was sentenced yesterday to from 1 to 10 years in prison. Sentenced was Alfred R. Medina, 31, an employee of Raley's Food Store in Woodland. He was arrested in October and pleaded guilty Dec. 13 to grand theft.

Gravedigger Dies

YUBA CITY (AP) — James Sergeant died yesterday of injuries suffered while digging a grave Christmas Eve. Sergeant, 60, was caretaker at the cemetery in nearby Rio Oso. A piece of lumber struck his head while he was digging.

Another Cosmos Up

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today launched another Cosmos satellite, the 102nd in a series started in March 1962. Announcements of launchings say they have been undertaken to obtain scinetific information. But Western experts believe that many of the satellites are in fact military reconnaissance instruments.

Queen Leads Westminster Abbey Rites

LONDON (UPI) —Queen Elizabeth II led the British people today in ceremonies marking the 900th anniversary of the consecration of Westminster Abbey, religious shrine of the Commonwealth.

Among the 2,300 dignataries in the historic church for the special service was a representative of the Vatican, apostolic delegate Msgr. Ignino Cardinale.

Also present was Morris Ernst, a Jewish attorney from New York who helped raise the millions needed to save the fabric of the abbey and restored it to its olden beauty.

ECUMENICAL TONE

Although the ancient abbey is a jewel of the Church of England, all faiths joined in the observance today. Commentators saw this as evidence of the new spirit of hope for Christian unity.

The ceremony launched a year of concerts, exhibitions, poetry readings and special services at the abbey.

The original abbey was built by Edward the Confessor, who died a few days after it was dedicated to St. Peter and consecrated on Dec. 28, 1065. Edward became the first of 17 British rulers to be interred there.

A $2.8 million restoration program was launched in 1953 by the late Sir Winston Churchill and renovation was only recently completed. Churchill chose to be buried elsewhere but is remembered by memorials inside hhe abbey.

FAMOUS GRAVES

Most of the men who made Britain famous are buried in Westminster. Nearly all British monarchs have been crowned in the abbey, beginning with William the Conqueror in 1066.

Little remains of the original abbey built as the center of a Benedictine monastery. Two centuries after its dedication, King Henry III, moved by reverence for Edward the Confessor and his admiration of French cathedrals of the day, had it rebuilt into the structure which stands today.

Police Shift Talked

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Creation of a post of police inspector with authority to investigate citizens' complaints about the department is being considered by the city council. Mayor Samuel Yorty yesterday asked the council to create the post. Commissioners made a similar recommendation in the aftermath of the Watts riots.

SON, DON'T LET FATHER BORROW YOUR TRIKE

VISALIA (AP)—Police said Max Alva, 33, of Pasadena was given a ticket for permitting an unlicensed minor, his son, to drive his auto.

The car went out of control, swerved off the highway, ripped through a fence and struck a power pole.

Alva's son, Larry, is 6 years old, officers said.

Alva was also cited for driving without a license, felony drunk driving, carrying an open liquor bottle in the car and hit-and-run.

Officers said Alva drove the car from the scene of the accident to a nearby farmhouse, where he fell out.

San Francisco Eases Residence Requirement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A new ordinance allowing city employes to live as far as 30 miles away from the city appears certain of passage by the Board of Supervisors.

The board gave preliminary approval to the measure by a vote of 9-1 yesterday over protests by the police and fire commissions. The measure is expected to be given final approval at a second reading by the board next week.

Currently all city employes are required to live within the city limits unless they receive special dispensation for health reasons.

The police commission opposed the new ordinance, arguing that it would hinder effective police protection. Present policies require an emergency police force to be on call in the city around the clock.

The fire commission backed a 15-mile limit but argued that the 30-mile limit would drive up fire insurance rates.

Airman Injured

Leland Jones, 20, of Hamilton Air Force Base suffered multiple fractures and head injuries Friday in a one-car accident near Penngrove, Sonoma County. He was reported in good condition today at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma.

Teacher Sentenced

CHICO (AP) — Edmond Di Tullio, a Chico State College teacher, was fined $200 and sentenced to five days in jail yesterday for using profane and vulgar language. Di Tullio's attorney posted notice of appeal. He was arrested Oct. 23 in Chico's City Plaza during an anti-Viet Nam war rally.

Highway Gore Called Disaster By Safety Unit

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents killed 720 persons over the three-day Christmas weekend, the highest number ever counted for any holiday period.

The National Safety Council termed the toll a national disaster.

The figure smashed the record of 706 for a 102-hour, four-day holiday weekend that had stood for nine years. The previous record also was for a Christmas observance — in 1956.

The council had estimated a death toll of between 560 and 660.

The record for a three-day holiday was 609 during the 1955 Christmas period.

Christmas 1964, also a three-day observance, brought 578 traffic deaths.

The Associated Press made a survey of traffic fatalities in a non-holiday weekend for comparison purposes. From 6 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 9, through midnight Sunday, Dec. 12, 420 traffic deaths were counted.

Sea Hunt Continues

GRIMSBY, England (AP) — Aircraft, ships and divers searched in the North Sea today for nine men missing from a 5,600-ton oil rig which capsized 40 miles east of the Humber estuary. Four of the rig's crewmen were known to have been killed in the disaster yesterday.

Ninety per cent of Greenlands' population is on the warmer west coast.

Siamese Twins Doing Fine After Surgery, Father Says

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The Siamese twin girls born Christmas Day to Robyn and Gerald Mantonya are "spunky, full of life and moving around a lot," according to their father.

Mantonya, a film technician, said yesterday that he and his wife chose the names Sheila Norine and Lisa Marie for the infants, who were separated six hours after birth by emergency surgery.

The father said he twins were being kept alive by intraveneous feeding in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital and appeared to be thriving.

Born in Holy Cross Hoepital in the San Fernando Valley, the twins were taken to Cedars of Lebanon, where a team of surgeons separated them. The twins, who weighed a total of 12 pounds at birth, were joined face-to-face by a length of tissue. Their abdomens were open.

The twins were the first children born to Mrs. Mantonya, who celebrated her 20th birthday Sunday. Her husband also is 20.

Slide Hit Coast Highway Reopens

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Pacific Coast Highway, blocked for two days by a double landslide, has been reopened for traffic.

Division of Highway crews removed 15,000 tons of earth from the highway which was blocked Saturday by a slide between Sunset and Chatauqua boulevards.

Workmen built a five-foot-high earth dike between the cliffs and the highway to catch dribbling dirt.

one power line. Another tree blocked the westbound lane of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in the Oak Manor area west of Fairfax, while another fell across Green Hill Road in Tamalpais Valley.

South of Inverness, traffic on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was forced to detour to the shoulder of the road when a tree fell about 7 a.m.

Still other trees were reported blown down in front of the Talbott Building at Sixth and Grant Avenue, Novato, another just across the street at the Lee Brothers Market, and a third which blocked traffic on Indian Valley Road just inside the city limits. A large limb, meanwhile, fell in front of 1671 Novato Boulevard.

In Sleepy Hollow, a limb blocked traffic in front of 1041 Butterfield Road.

A large eucalyptus tree fell on the house of J. Healy at 839 Marin Drive, Tamalpais Valley, breaking the roof.

Roofs blew off the former Sausalito Dredging Co. building at the foot of Napa Street and off a parking shed at the Gateway Inn on Bridgeway in Sausalito.

San Rafael police reported two trees down in the divider strip on Bellam Boulevard.

High winds blew water from the Bolinas Lagoon across Shoreline Highway in several places. Stinson Beach residents said the water was splashing close to seaside homes. Residents of the area braced for this afternoon's high tide.

Just before noon, the county public works department reported flooding of streets in the 900 block of Meadowsweet Drive, just outside Corte Madera; on Brookline Avenue, Live Oak Drive and North Vernal Avenue in Tamalpais Valley, and Reed Street and LaVerne Avenue just south of Mill Valley.

Yards were flooded in Tamalpais Valley and on the Tiburon Peninsula.

James Chambers reported flood water within an inch of entering his home at 358 Starling Road in Tennessee Valley at 11:30 a.m. He blamed the water's rise on blocking of a ditch behind the home during construction of the Coyote Creek flood control project.

Flood water poured through a house and garage and washed out part of the driveway at 104 Lehman Lane in Homestead Valley. Other yards in the neighborhood also were flooded.

Wind gusts of more than 55 miles per hour began whipping the Bodega Bay area early today, breaking several small boats loose from their moorings.

The Coast Guard tried in vain to prevent a fishing vessel, the Lavona, from drifting on to the rocks. But conditions were so bad a 44-foot lifeboat was unable to reach the vessel. There was no one aboard the Lavona at the time.

The storm raised fears throughout Northern California that it might be a repeat of last year's Christmas week flood disaster.

The rarely used red and black whole gale warning flag was hosted atop the Telephone Building in San Francisco. Similar warnings were posted along a 600-mile front in California and Oregon.

Gusts up to 100 miles per hour lashed the Sierra Nevada. Gale winds blasted western Nevada.

The Weather Bureau said the full force of a storm, which roared across Washington, Idaho and Oregon yesterday, was moving into California.

Rain measuring five and one-third inches fell during a 24-hour period through this morning at Brookings, Ore.

A low pressure center, charted about 150 miles west of Crescent City at 4 a.m., was said to be moving north, but it trailed a strong low pressure trough and weather front far south off the central and southern california coast. The front was expected to hit northern California this evening.

Snow was expected down to 7,000 feet in the Sierra tonight, and at lower elevations tomorrow night.

Travelers were warned to expect wind and snow in mountain passes.

An oil company's drilling platform, 200 feet square, rode out 45-foot waves 25 miles off the northern Oregon coast. Some 40 men were on the barge-like platform. Winds at the time were reported to be 105 m.p.h.

A blizzard struck in the Blue Mountains of northeastern Oregon and blizzards closed Interstate 5 in southern Oregon and U.S. Highway 97 in northern California. Dust storms at Baker and La Grande, in eastern Oregon, changed into snow storms.

Two storm-related deaths were reported in the Pacific northwest. An 8-year-old boy was injured fatally when the car in which he was riding skidded across the center line of a snow-covered highway north of Seattle and hit a truck. James F. Sopp, 28, of St. Helens, Ore., was electrocuted as he tried to repair a radio antenna. It was blown onto a high voltage line.

Two Kent, Wash., men landed their single-engine plane safely in a blizzard on busy Interstate 5 near Redding yesterday while whipped by winds of more than 100 miles per hour. The plane skidded into a snowbank and had to be pulled out by a snowplow. The men, both experienced pilots, were unhurt.

Petaluma Woman Killed In Crash

PETALUMA (AP)—A woman psychiatrict technician at Sonoma State Hospital was thrown out of a car and killed in a collision last night.

Mrs. Blanche A. Wallace, 61, was in a car driven by her daughter, Mrs. Ruby J. Tolman, 36.

Police said the car was struck broadside by another car driven by Marian Wagner, 18, at a street intersection.

Mrs. Tolman and Miss Wagner suffered fractures but their conditions were not regarded as serious. All three persons were Petaluma residents.

Jury Trial Starts In Cutting Case

Questioning of the first dozen potential jurors from a panel of 225 persons continued today in the Marin Superior Court trial of three San Quentin life termers charged in the beating and knifing of a fourth prisoner.

Accused in the assault last Jan. 21 of Myford G. Duncan, 24, are brothers James and John Schreckengost and Russel Dillard. A penalty phase of the trial follows if the trio is convicted and could result in death penalties.

The three allegedly cut Duncan's throat in the prison paint shop. He survived.

Conservation Commission To See Model

The San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission will meet in Sausalito for a tour of the Army Engineers' Bay Model at 2 p.m. Jan. 6.

Col. Robert H. Allan, San Francisco District engineer, will tell the commission the result of corps studies of the bay and of the use of hydraulic models in regional planning.

The commission will also act on permit applications by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for a gas supply line to Treasure Island from Oakland, and a fill request by the City of Berkeley for a parking lot at the Berkeley fishing pier.

Also on the agenda is a resolution asking for a stop to filling in the Port of Oakland area until its effect can be evaluated.

Vandals Set Four Blazes At School

Vandals set fires at four separate locations at the Oliver R. Hartzell School, 211 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael, police learned yesterday.

The attempts to burn down the school were futile, but the school did suffer about $500 damage, officials said.

In one fire, an inflammable liquid was thrown against a door to a teachers' room and ignited. Both the inside and outside of that door were damaged. Then smaller fires were set in trash piled against three classroom doors, but these did little damage.

When the fires were unsuccessful, 13 windows in the school were broken, police added.

Today a janitor at Davidson School, at Lindaro Street and Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, reported that school had been entered during the night. A file was tipped over in an office and the soft drink machine was damaged slightly.

Lists Open For Parks Director

Applications for the position of Marin County Parks and Recreation Director must be submitted to the county personnel office at the Civic Center by Jan. 12.

The $14,400 a year position has been unfilled since Kelvin J. Nelson resigned in September.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the delay was due to the need to revise the job description and to the fact he interviewed a few candidates for the job before deciding on a general recruiting program.

Bel Marin Burglary Reported To Deputy

Theft of a $500 woman's diamond ring and $7 worth of dimes was reported by Carol Majors, 220 Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys, sheriff's officers said today.

Deputies said the items were taken during the past two months. No forced entry was found.

Trustees On Holiday

Mill Valley School District trustees did not meet last night because of the holidays. The board will meet Jan. 3 and Jan. 10 at 8 p.m. in the district office, 26 Miller Avenue.

Sergeant Major

Leo Kaye, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Tiedman, 45 Woodland Avenue, San Anselmo, has been promoted to sergeant major of the Army Information Office, Headquarters, Fourth Army, at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

U.S. involvement in Viet Nam were reported to have gone to Hanoi on a private mission aimed at clarifying the Communist side's "approach to peace." They included Staughton Lynd, associate professor of history at Yale University, Dr. Herbert Aptheker, a leading Communist writer, and Thomas Hayden, organizer of a leftist student group.

In Saigon, military spokesmen announced that government troops, outnumbered 5 to 1, repulsed two massive Communist attacks on an outpost near the Cambodian border, killing at least 50 Viet Cong.

A Communist battalion—about 500 men — tried twice to overrun the Bu Prang outpost, 100 miles north of Saigon in mountains six miles from the Cambodian border.

A U.S. spokesman said the 100 Vietnamese defenders withstood a mortar and recoilless rifle fire barrage but called for air support when the Communists regrouped and began a second attack.

The Viet Cong withdrew about dawn when two F4F Phantom jets and two propeller-driven A1E Skyraiders made four strikes on their positions. Government casualties were described as light.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman disclosed today there had been no B-52 strikes in South Viet Nam since Christmas Eve, prior to the 30-hour ceasefire.

The spokesman said he knew of no connection between cessation of strikes by the eight-jet Strategic Air Command (SAC) bombers in the South and U.S. Air Force and Navy planes in the North.

In the South, U.S. and Vietnamese air force planes hammered away at Viet Cong positions Monday and early today. The pilots flew 322 strikes and forward air controllers reported 353 buildings destroyed, 274 damaged and 16 sampans destroyed or damaged.

A new Army Reserve force totaling 150,000 men could be ready to go to Viet Nam by July 1, the Pentagon said today in Washington.

Officials said Monday the selected Army National Guard and Reserve now has been built up to 135,000 men since its creation last Sept. 30. They expect it to reach the 150,000 mark before next August.

Should it be necessary to increase the number of troops in Viet Nam by a very large number, thereby depleting the Army's strategic reserves at home, the select force of Army National Guard and organized reserve units could be called up to fill the void.

Assault Charge Going To Court

A 34-year-old San Rafael man is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court tomorrow on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon during a brawl outside the 881 Club on Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Sunday.

Police allege Bobby Gene Adkins of 883 Fourth Street assaulted a man and woman and then kicked them as they lay on the sidewalk.

Lula May Cellers, 47, of 287 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, required 16 stitches to close a wound in the forehead, according to police, and Lewis Charles Ankney, 60, of 1206 Third Street, San Rafael, was kept overnight in San Rafael General Hospital with a bruised forehead, swollen left eye and fractured nose.

Convict's Trial On Knife Charge Reset

San Quentin inmate Ruben Morales was rescheduled for trial today in Marin Superior Court for Jan. 31 instead of the original date of next Monday.

He is accused of illegal possession of a knife last Aug. 7. Morales is serving time for an Aug. 4, 1961, conviction in Fresno County for furnishing marijuana.

Board Keeps Holiday

There was no meeting of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night because of the holidays. Next meeting will be at 8 p. m., Jan. 10.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Sonia Brandt Dies At 73

Sonia Brandt, a Marin resident for 47 years, died yesterday in a local rest home after a long illness. She was 85 years old.

A native of Sweden, she lived in California 73 years, first in Santa Cruz and later San Francisco before moving to Marin. She lived at 259 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera. Her husband, Gustaf Brandt, who died in 1948, was a longshoreman foreman in San Francisco.

She is survived by a daughter, Sonia B. DeLew of Corte Madera; two sons, Henry Brandt of Sunnyvale and Herman C. Brandt of Felton; 10 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

ARTHUR HELM

Graveside funeral for Arthur Helm, 80, of San Anselmo will be held tomorrow at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael, directed by Russell and Gooch Mortuary.

Helm died Friday at a local hospital after a two-year illness. He had lived all his lifetime in California, residing in San Anselmo at 430 Scenic Avenue for the past eight years.

He worked 20 years as a machinist for Pittsburg Equitable Meter Co., San Francisco, retiring in about 1950. Following this, he worked part time for about five years for Art Lighting Fixtures of Oakland.

Helm is survived by his wife, Helen G. Helm; a son, Robert M. Helm of Larkspur, and three brothers, Lyman Helm of Visalia, Edward Helm of Yuba City, and Leslie Helm of Oakhurst, Madera County.

Helm was born in Reedley, Tulare County.

The family requests that tributes be contributions to the American Cancer Society.

J. C. FILIPPI

Joseph C. Filippi, retired Mill Valley machinist, died yesterday at a local hospital following a long illness.

Filippi, 76, was a native of Italy. He had lived 65 years in California and 20 years in Mill Valley, last residing at 117 Locust Avenue. He had worked 40 years for Pacific Gear and Tool Works in San Francisco, retiring in 1956.

Filippi was a member of the International Assn. of Machinists, San Francisco.

He is survived by his wife, Marie C. Filippi; two daughters, Mrs. Lucille Stewart of Ontario, San Bernardino, County, and Mrs. Diane Gardner of Novato; two brothers, Frank Filippi of Mill Valley and August Filippi of San Jose; three sisters, Victoria Savagliano of Italy, Annette Bessoni of Hanford, and Mary Delagnes of Piedmont. He is also survived by three grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Mill Valley. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow, at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

PAULINE BONE

Requiem mass for Pauline M. Bone, who resided for the past three months with a sister, Mrs. Verdel Lucot at 11 Twin Oaks Avenue, San Rafael, was offered yesterday at Mission Dolores Basilica, San Francisco.

A native of California, Miss Bone died Friday in a San Francisco hospital. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

She was employed as a telegraphic clerk at the Wells Fargo Bank, San Francisco.

She is survived also by another sister, Mrs. Gladys Menesini.

MRS. ZELMA WILLIAMSON

Funeral for Mrs. Zelma Williamson, 63, of Petaluma, sister of Ovieto Barker of San Anselmo, was held today in Sebastopol.

Mrs. Williamson's body was found Sunday morning on Cameron Beach, north of Bodega Bay.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said she apparently took her own life by diving into the water. She was listed as missing when her purse was found at Salmon Creek on Christmas Day.

Mrs. Williamson, who lived alone, had been ill and had previously threatened to take her life, according to Johansen. She left no note, he said.

A native of Palo Alto, she had lived in the Sebastopol area for seven years.

Surviving, in addition to her brother in San Anselmo, are a daughter, Mrs. Naida Johnson of Sebastopol, two other brothers, R. V. Barker of Atascadero and Gerald H. Barker of St. Helena, and several grandchildren.

Burial was in Sebastopol Cemetery, Sebastopol.

MAMIE VERNON

Private funeral for Mrs. Mamie Vernon, 70, of San Rafael was held yesterday at Russell and Gooch Chapel in Mill Valley. Inurnment will be at Chapel of Memories, Oakland.

Mrs. Vernon died last Thursday in a local hospital after a long illness.

She was a native of Marin County, and had resided in Mill Valley for many years. Since 1960 she lived in San Rafael, at 1408 Second Street.

She leaves no survivor.

Council To Hear Salary Report

The Novato City Council will hear a report on a salary survey by Griffenhagen-Kroeger Associates when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

The council hired the San Francisco firm to make a survey of jobs and wages paid by municipalities and businesses from San Rafael through Petaluma in comparison with the City of Novato.

Other items to come before the council include a report on street lighting standards and changing of the date from Jan. 12 to 18 for the first master plan hearing.

Registration Opens For Child Classes

Registration for Novato Parks and Recreation Department tiny tots classes started yesterday at the Novato City Hall.

Classes will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., with children attending two days a week. If enough enroll for these classes, there will be afternoon classes from 1 to 3 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, announced Edward Adams, director. There is a fee for the five-week course.

No Meeting Held

There was no meeting last night of the Sausalito School District board because of the holidays. Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Monday, at the district office.

Window Smashed

A bottle thrown through a window of the Medico-Dental Pharmacy, 711 D Street, San Rafael, Saturday caused $100 damage, police reported yesterday. The broken window was reported by Elvis Delphino Ragalia, owner of the business.

Window Broken

An 18-by-40-inch kitchen window in his home at 18 Tanfield Road, Tiburon, was broken by a rock at 9:40 p.m. yesterday, David Pomeroy reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies.

VAL M. DAVIS

Val M. Davis of Sausalito, a service engineer with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for 36 years, died today at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 65.

Arriving in this country from Australia at the age of 11, he lived in Canada and Berkeley before making his home at 85 Girard Avenue in 1946.

He was a member of the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco. His father, Nathanial A. Davis was founder of the Foreign Trade Club in San Francisco.

Davis is survived by his wife, Mrs. Joan Dyer Davis.

Funeral arrangements are being made by Ellis Olson Mortuary, Albany. Burial will be at Sunset Mausoleum, Berkeley.

"Any average family can now amass cash—perhaps even become rich—because of the methods banks use in compounding your interest."

"Yes, there is a way to double your money without speculating."

Dr. Leslie C. Peacock, Vice President and Economist for Crocker-Citizens National Bank, suggests how to get ahead financially.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: In this day and age, is there still a way to double your money without speculating?

DR. PEACOCK: Absolutely. Based on our current interest rate and method of computation, money you deposit now with our bank in a savings account will double in about 17½ years. And every dollar you deposit will amount to about four dollars in 35 years at today's 4% rate. The secret lies in the way your interest compounds.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: How does this differ from other forms of investment?

DR. PEACOCK: The market value of real estate, mutual funds, stocks and bonds can go up or down, of course, but dollars compounding interest can go in only one direction—up. You know your money is growing when it's in the bank, and you can count on it for retirement.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: True, but most families don't have large lump sums to deposit right now. How can they plan for a comfortable retirement?

DR. PEACOCK: Social Security is a mainstay, but even supplemented by income from a company pension plan, it may be hardly enough for more than minimum comforts, not to mention emergencies or extra luxuries such as travel. But there is a way the average family can amass cash without taking speculative risks. It requires laying away a few dollars every month in a savings account with the bank, and letting compound interest go to work over a long period. The arithmetic may startle you.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Can you give an example?

DR. PEACOCK: Say you're a 25-year-old just out of college and starting your first job. If you save just $10 a month, you will have deposited $4,800 by the time you're 65. But you would actually have $11,819 cash in your account—provided, of course, the current 4% compound interest rate is in effect throughout the entire period. Your $10 deposits would earn $7,019 interest at that rate. And certainly most working people should be able to save at least $10 a month.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Will interest rates change?

DR. PEACOCK: We can't predict that. Of course, the rate can go either up or down, and over the periods of time we're talking about it could change several times.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Assuming that the current rate applied, at age 65 would you draw out that $11,819 nest egg?

DR. PEACOCK: Well, you could draw it out at the rate of $70 a month—and it would last you 20 years and 7½ months. That's a total payout during that time of $17,325, all from a total investment of $4,800. That's a pretty handsome return, I'd say.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Say you were 35 years old and deposited $50 a month until you were 65. How much cash would you have?

DR. PEACOCK: Using today's rate and method of computation, $34,735. You would have deposited only $18,000 in an investment which doesn't fluctuate in market value.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Stocks and bonds fluctuate in value. Does this mean you advise against them as investments?

DR. PEACOCK: No, quite to the contrary. Other investments have their advantages, too. They're fine—but only after you've covered all the other bases, such as life, health and other insurance, a cash reserve for emergencies, and perhaps a home of your own.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Some of our neighbors are saving $100 a month by using your "Layaway Plan" service. Isn't this stretching things a bit?

DR. PEACOCK: Maybe or maybe not, but these families will be well off. For example, if a breadwinner at age 25 could save $100 a month until he reaches 65, he would have $118,197 cash in the bank. His deposits would have earned $70,197 interest at the current rate. For the average family, saving as much as $100 each month might be fairly hard. It could mean making some sacrifices now—but it's worth it in the long run if you want true financial security and a rich, full life at retirement age.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: What's the best age to start saving?

DR. PEACOCK: The earlier the better, but the rewards are great at any age. The secret, of course, is to get started now and to stick with it. One couple our bank serves started just last week to save $100 a month. He's 45 years old. When he reaches 65, our figures show they'll have $36,744—in cash. Then they plan to buy some income property and live happily ever after. We think they'll do it, too.

CROCKER-CITIZENS CUSTOMER: Bankers say that too many families are missing a golden opportunity to achieve financial security. Is it really a good time to save?

DR. PEACOCK: Decidedly—especially here in California, where incomes are higher than ever before and also higher than in other parts of the country. If a family can't save now, it may be that it never will.

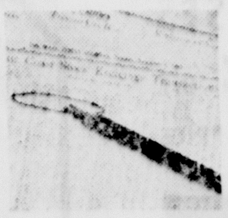
NOTE: The amounts quoted are subject to any change in the Bank's savings interest rate or method of interest computation.

"1. INSURANCE is essential and should be provided to protect your wife and children.

2. A CASH RESERVE is next, for a comfortable retirement, emergencies, a possible down payment on a house, or perhaps a college education for your children. This should be in a bank savings account, too.

3. BUYING A HOUSE is often better than paying rent.

4. PENSIONS AND SOCIAL SECURITY will help give you security—but not luxuries—in your later years.



5. OTHER INVESTMENTS have their advantages, too, but only after you've covered all the other bases."

GILDED ROMANCE — Automotive heiress Anne Ford, 22, and her fiance, stockbroker Giancarlo Uzielli, 31, arrive at the Delmonico Hotel in New York City last night for their pre-nuptial ball. The couple's wedding ceremony was scheduled for this afternoon. (UPI Telephoto)

Ford Clan Attends Party Before Heiress' Wedding

NEW YORK (AP) — "Watch the Fords go by" was the game played in the Delmonico Hotel lobby here last night as more than 400 well-heeled and well-known persons made their way to the 22-year-old Anne Ford's prewedding party.

Early in the evening, the father of the bridge-to-be, Henry Ford II, led the parade. Accompanying him was the mother of the bride-to-be, Anne McDonnell Ford, from whom he was divorced last year after 23 years of marriage.

There also was the vivacious, blonde Cristina, whom he married in February. Along too was the bridegroom, Giancarlo Uzielli.

The couple were to be married in a civil ceremony this afternoon at Mrs. McDonnel Ford's Fifth Avenue apartment.

The family shied away from photographers and raced for the elevators. Twelve security men were assigned to protect the privacy of the party—one of the most heavily guarded parties in the hotel's history.

Work Furlough System Planned

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The state department of corrections is beginning negotiations with various counties toward setting up cooperative state-local work furlough programs for prison inmates.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown said the program would be under 1965 legislation which authorized transfer of selected state inmates to local jails to permit the work furloughs. These carefully screened inmates would be permitted to leave the jail during working hours to hold a job. Their earnings would help pay the cost of their confinement and contribute to family support.

Representatives of the department of corrections will meet with city and county officials in the next few months to negotiate the contracts for such work furlough operations.

Federal Action Urged To End Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal agencies have been urged to take the initiative in enforcing Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act — the provision that forbids racial discrimination in federally assisted programs and permits the government to cut off funds where discrimination exists.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told 21 agencies that the government should seek out illegal discrimination and try to end it rather than wait for complaints before acting.

I RESOLVE FOR NEW YEAR'S . . .

"I won't see any pink sea-elephants; I won't get tagged for drunken driving; I won't . . ." resolves Woody, the one-ton walrus at Marineland of the Pacific in Palos Verdes today, as he glumly flippers his whiskers and peers through the window of his tank at the fast-waning 1965. (UPI Telephoto)

Rep. Harris Ignores Politics In Resigning For Judgeship

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, announced today that he would resign from Congress on Feb. 3 to take the U.S. judgeship post to which he was appointed last summer.

Harris said that he was taking the step despite requests from political advisers at home that he put off his resignation until late April.

Harris' departure in February could mean a wide open election for his House seat in which a minority candidate—a Negro or a Republican—possibly could be elected.

Harris told a news conference he appreciated "the problem" but did not think it was in the best public interest to delay his resignation. He said that by Feb. 3 he would have concluded all his responsibilities as a congressman and as chairman of an influential committee.

Body Identified As Ex-Convict

PACIFICA (UPI)—Police began a statewide investigation today of the recent activities of ex-convict William J. Schooley, 42, whose body was found 25 feet down a cliff at Devil's Slide near here Sunday.

The body was identified last night from clothing he was wearing and partial fingerprints.

Schooley's estranged wife, Mary, Daly City, told police he had been living in Los Angeles recently and working as a salesman.

Schooley served time for robbery and embezzlement in San Francisco and the Nevada Prison in Carson City.

His body was found entangled in brush below Highway 1 with a bullet in his forehead.

Menuhin Award

LONDON (AP) — Violinist Yehudi Menuhin has received his honorary Knight-commander of the British Empire in a ceremony at the Foreign Office. The award, announced last month as honorary because of Menuhin's U.S. citizenship, was made for his services to music.

Farmer To Quit, Get New Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Farmer, a national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) will resign March 1 to head a new $50 million program designed to provide education and job training for the poor, it was announced Sunday.

The new organization, to be financed by federal and private funds, will be known as Center for Community Action Education Inc., CORE spokesman Greg Harris said.

Harris said a new CORE director will be elected next month.

CHARITABLE CHRISTMAS PRESENT

The fee for this portrait of Ski, pet German shepherd of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Katzung of 65 Knoll Road, San Rafael, was donated to the Guide Dogs for the Blind School of San Rafael by artist Frances von Ahn (right). The painting was a Christmas gift from Mrs. Katzung to her husband. Mrs. von Ahn, of 23 La Cresenta Way, San Rafael, has announced that she will donate all commissions from pet portraits which she paints to the school.

Released Military Devices Aid In Detecting Diseases In Crops

BERKELEY (AP)—Two miles high, the airplane raced over a field of wheat.

Looking down, a special spying eye detected the beginning of a serious crop disease, two weeks sooner than a human expert could have spotted the trouble on the ground. Steps to control the disease were taken that much earlier.

This is one example of a new, expanding kind of spying to pry out valuable earth secrets — how crops and forests are faring, where hidden minerals or oil may lie, to fight fires, to find clues to coming changes in climate and weather, to learn what man by his actions is doing to his own planet.

Earth scientists call this remote sensing of the environment. It is aided now by a whole family of new sensing devices developed largely for military uses and now being taken off the secret list.

The spying eye over the wheat field was an infra-red device which detects heat waves. A darker image from part of the field marked the beginning of black stem rust disease.

Dr. Robert N. Colwell professor of forestry at the University of California, cited this instance of helpful spying today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

Combined use of infra-red and ultraviolet devices, radar, regular and color photography, and other means, is capable of telling one kind of vegetation from another, how healthy the vegetation is, and even why it is becoming sick, Dr. Colwell said.

The devices can pick up information to help "predict weeks, months or years in advance what a yield will be" in crops, or orchards or timberland, he said.

Devices that count gamma rays — a form of X ray — emanating from uranium and other elements in rocks are proving helpful in studying geologic formations and compositions of soils, said Dr. Jack Van Lopik of Texas Instruments Inc., Dallas, Tex.

Dr. John Place of the Office of Naval Research, Washington, D.C., told of studies, assisted by the Navy, by University of Wisconsin scientists using special airborne devices to locate lakes in northern Canada that are the first to thaw or the first to freeze.

He said this can help in determining the "cold pole" of the North American continent, with significance in predicting weather and perhaps climatic changes.

Scientists now are learning how best to use the keen new eyes and to interpret the findings, said Dr. Charles E. Olson Jr., of the University of Michigan.

Infra-red and other kinds of peeking can even spot differences in cultivation practices, he said.

An infra-red eye found the difference between two stands of corn, of exactly the same variety, fertilized the same way, in Minnesota. One had a darker tone.

The reason turned out to be that that field earlier had been planted to Alfalfa for three years while the other had been kept in corn for five years. The darker field contained more nitrogen and more moisture with deeper roots reflecting more heat, Dr. Olson said.

Vast areas of land could be surveyed to pinpoint better land practices to increase food yields for a hungry world, he said.

Earth satellites with special sensors promise further to advance man's knowledge of his own planet, and what is happening to it "in detail and in the turmoil" taking place on its surface, said Dr. James Latham, professor of geography at Florida Atlantic University, Boca Raton, Fla.

Adoption Agency Changes Policy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The County Bureau of Adoptions reports that for the first time in its history single persons are being allowed to adopt children.

Walter Heath, bureau director, said the move was made in an effort to find homes for 250 Negro children. He said Caucasion children still are being placed only with two parents, because the children available only slightly outnumber couples seeking them.

Heath said that so far a 5-year-old Negro boy and a baby have been placed with unmarried women.

Higher Rate Of Deductions For Paychecks

A higher rate of contributions for social security will be taken from paychecks starting Jan. 1.

The present deduction is 3.625 per cent of taxable earnings. It was scheduled to rise to 4.125 per cent, but instead will go to 4.2 per cent, with the extra money used to finance the federal government's new medicare program.

Also, at present the contribution is taken from the first $4,800 earned each year. Starting in 1966 the deduction will be made from the first $6,600.

The basic rise, which had been scheduled earlier, will finance a 7 per cent increase in cash benefits for people 65 years old and older. The increase will be matched by contributions made by employers. The deduction rate for self-employed persons will rise from 5.4 to 6.15 per cent Jan. 1.

The law calls for gradual additional increases in rates until 1987, when employer and employee rates will be 5.65 per cent and self-employed rate will be 7.8 per cent.

Ex-Husband Held For Gun Threat

A man described by police as a former newspaperman, Theodore Louis Bredt, 45, of 10 Sonoma Avenue, San Rafael, was arrested today and charged with assault with a deadly weapon after he pulled a gun on a visitor to the Fairfax home of his ex-wife.

Mrs. Nina Bredt told police her former husband walked into her home at 108 Dominga Avenue at 3:25 a.m. and held a gun at the head of Dale Hamilton, 253 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo.

She ran from the room and called the police. When Patrolman D. Carver arrived he said Hamilton had wrestled the loaded gun away from Bredt.

Bredt was booked at Marin County jail and released on $1,500 bail.

BANK PATRON BOTHERED BY SOLITUDE?

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Larry Hanson walked into a suburban Jacksonville bank intending to cash a check yesterday — and found himself alone. It was closed and supposedly locked.

He tiptoed out, being careful not to set off any alarms, and called police.

Patrolman D. J. Crews, who investigated, reported that apparently the front door had been unlocked since Friday but that nothing seemed to be disturbed.

Crews said a bank official told him that the employee who usually locks the door left early Friday.

Cuban Ship's Officers Land In Bay Area

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Four Cuban merchant marine officers, who quit their ship in Japan to protest the shipment of cargo to North Viet Nam, arrived here yesterday to obtain political asylum in the United States.

If was the second defection by Cuban officers in a week. Another group quit a vessel earlier in Colombo, Ceylon.

Capt. Francisco Cobas Oses, 47, spokesman for the officers who arrived here, said they quit the 9,732-ton Aracelio Iglesia in Osaka because of orders to carry "secret cargo" from Shanghai to North Viet Nam.

He said every Cuban ship in Asiatic waters is now expected to do the same, and such orders have caused widespread discontent in the Cuban merchant marine.

"At this moment, other members of the Cuban merchant fleet would like to make the same decision, but I do not know how many will be able to do so," Oses ssid.

The Cuban Embassy in Tokyo has denied its ships are carrying cargo to North Viet Nam. It issued a statement saying its vessels only go there to pick up general merchandise.

The other officers who defected with Oses were Antonio Luiz y Arias, 41, chief mate; Mario Julio Perez Giron y Valdez, 35, chief engineer, and Humberto Rey Fernandez y Quintero, 37, purser.

Oses said he hoped their defection would inspire people in Cuba, where the captain still has a wife and two children. He said he would attempt to get them out, but added hat he fears they now will have "a very difficult time" and their lives might be in danger.

The captain told reporters he has no immediate plans except to see friends and relatives in the United States. He was met by two representatives of the Department of Defense.

Continued War Threat To Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Viet Nam war would prove costly not only to President Johnson's Great Society program but also to his heavy Democratic majorities in Congress, a nonpartisan citizens group said today.

A report of the National Committee for an Effective Congress said the Democrats' hopes for holding the gains they made in the house in the 1964 elections are "gravely jeopardized by the Viet Nam war."

Continuing escalation in Viet Nam, the committee said, will have an impact on the administration's domestic legislative program by placing "a new and sharper knife in the hand of the economy bloc."

Gunman Gets Loot, Tosses It From Car

SAN LEANDRO (AP)—Police today sought a gunman who, disguised in a clown mask, robbed a Union City bank branch of $24,284 and then tossed the loot from a speeding getaway car.

A news photographer spotted a shopping bag lettered "Merry Christmas" lying in a roadside weed patch. The money was inside.

Robert Cowles, the bank's operations officer, said the gunman, wearing black pants and a sweater, entered just before closing time yesterday and pointed a revolver at him.

The robber threw the red-trimmed white shopping bag on Cowles' desk and snapped, "Fill it up."

With Cowles escorting him, the bandit cleaned the bills out of three teller cages and then said, "Let's go to the vault."

He scooped up more bills and then herded the bank employes and two customers into a storeroom, ordering them not to make any fuss.

As he bolted out of the bank and across Union City Blvd., the bandit was nearly hit by a passing car. But he dodged and jumped into a waiting light blue car with a driver described as swarthy and heavy-set.

At an intersection two miles away, a truck driver reported seeing a bundle thrown from the speeding sedan. Alwyn Silva, Fremont News Register photographer, drove to the area and found the loot bag.

Dozens of sheriff's officers, police and FBI agents joined the hunt for the robbers. Officers said the pair was believed to have escaped across the Dumbarton Bridge to the peninsula side of San Francisco Bay.

The bank lost a total of $62,000 in three previous holdups since 1920. A robbery in 1957 netted robbers some $35,000. They never have been caught.

Officers Elected In Retired Unit

Mrs. Elenor Jones of Fairfax has been elected president of the Marin Chapter of the American Assn. of Retired Persons. She is to succeed W. S. Voorhies, of San Rafael, acting president, when officers are installed in February.

Other officers recently elected include Nettie Shaver of San Rafael, vice president; Margaret Weber of Fairfax, secretary; Faye Murrey of San Anselmo, treasurer, and Margaret Coy of San Rafael, program chairman.

There will be no January meeting of the chapter since the meeting date falls on New Year's Day. The next meeting, according to William B. MacLane, publicity chairman, will be Feb. 5.

Rhodesian Gasoline Rationed

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) —Motorists in this rebel British colony today felt the first pinch of an international oil embargo against Rhodesia as gasoline and diesel fuel rationing went into effect.

The rationing, ranging from one gallon of gasoline per week for motorcycles to three to five gallons for larger vehicles, came 12 days after Britain imposed the embargo in an effort to topple the white regime of Premier Ian Smith which declared its independence Nov. 11.

Drivers generally accepted the emergency measure quietly, but hundreds of them besieged district control offices early today pleading for an extra allowance.

Three to five gallons of gasoline allowed the average motorist enough fuel for his daily trips to work from residential areas. But in this country where a car is a virtual necessity due to a shortage of public transportation, traveling salesmen, handymen and long-distance commuters were the hardest hit.

The rationing was less severe than in neighboring Zambia where the government there limited motorists to four gallons a month. Rhodesia cut off fuel supplies through its territory to Zambia after Britain and other countries agreed to stop oil shipments to the former colony.

Britain with the aid of Canada has already begun to fly fuel to Zambia and the United States planned to join the airlift the first week in January.

India Seeks Free Famine Shipping

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Food Minister Chidambaram Subramaniam said today he has asked the United States to pay freight costs on emergency food grains it will ship to India.

Subramaniam, returning from a seven-day visit to the United States told newsmen he asked that India not be required to pay freight charges on shipments above its normal imports.

The food minister said he explained in Washington that India did not have sufficient foreign exchange to pay the additional shipping costs.

Student Returns To His Studies

Craig Jordan, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert E. Jordan, 8 Le Claire Court, San Rafael, will continue studying engineering at the University of Santa Clara next month after spending the past six months in Europe under the American Student Information Service.

He spent three months working in a factory in Biefield, Germany, and later worked for a Finnish family in Helsinki. He also toured 13 countries including England, France and Italy.

Tie Pin Taken

A young man in gray slacks and a dark blue sweater ran away from Leonard Linn Variety Store at 26 Main Street, Tiburon, Sunday, with a $7 tie pin he had asked to see as a prospective purchaser, clerk Eric Franzen reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies.

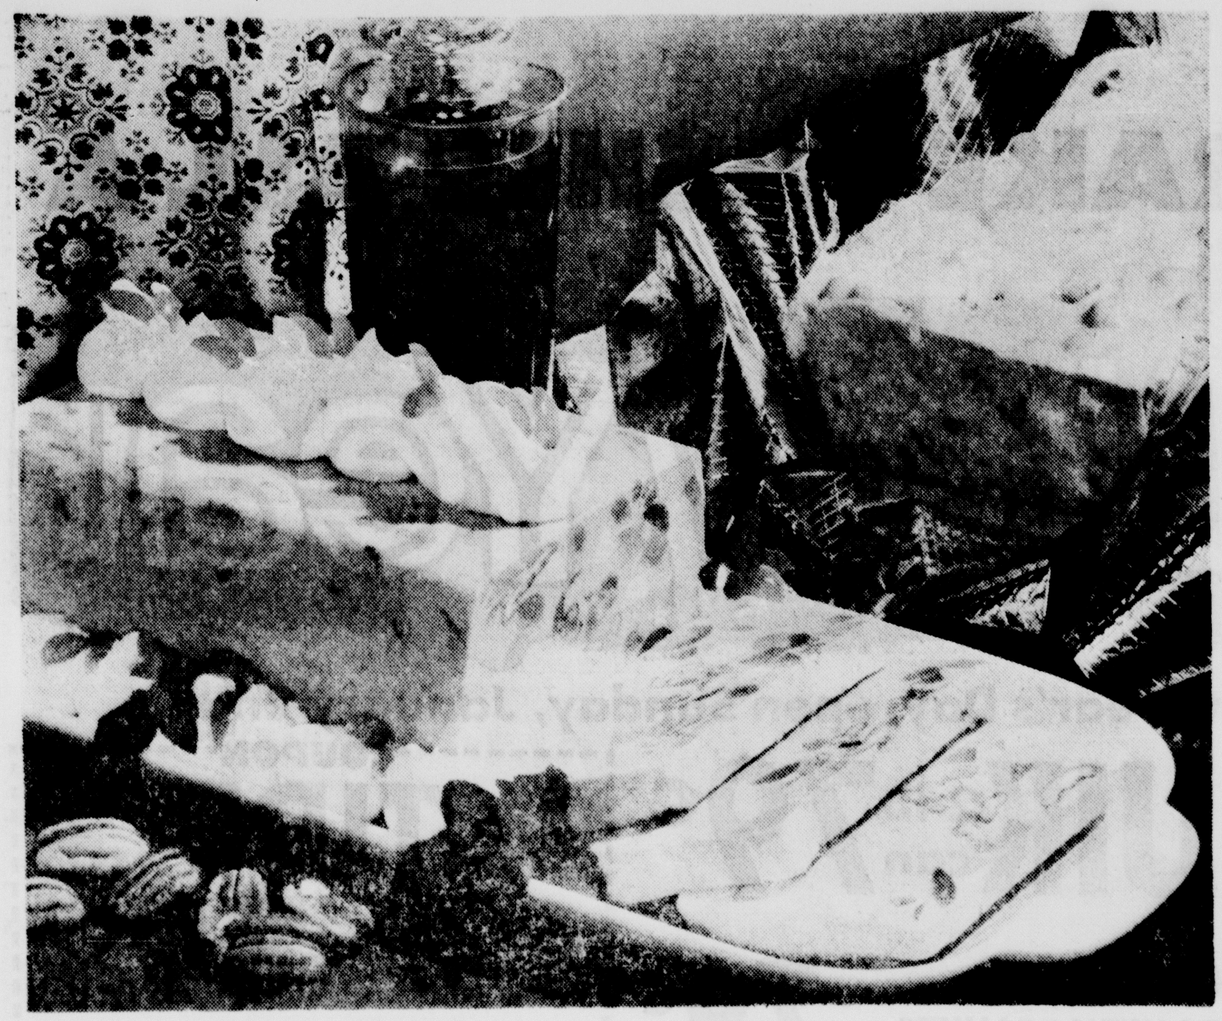
MACY'S SAN RAFAEL, FOURTH AND COURT, 456-3333: OPEN TUESDAY THROUGH FRIDAY 9:30 TO 5:30



FROZEN FRUIT SALAD, so good it can also be served as a dessert, may be stored for days in the freezer, awaiting a party, or wrapped individually in foil for the arrival of the unexpected guests.

White Fruit Cake A Treat

This beautiful white fruit cake is indeed a delicacy. Its snowy rum-accented batter is laden with sparkling jewel-like tones of golden seedless raisins, candied pineapple chunks and both red and green candied cherries. Coconut flakes, macadamaia nuts and almonds add to the rich flavor of the cake. To make the cake truly white, use shortening for richness and beaten egg whites to hold the fruit and nut batter together. Bake it in a fancy tube mold to make it shapely.

Unlike the traditional dark heavy fruit cakes this one does not require a long aging period to mellow the flavors. Frost and decorate the cake just before cutting. Use a sharp thin bladed knife to cut the cake in even slices.

RAISIN HERITAGE FRUIT CAKE

- 2 (15-ounce) packages golden seedless raisins
- 1 cup candied pineapple chunks
- 1 cup halved candied red cherries
- ½ cup halved candied green cherries
- 1 cup flaked coconut
- ½ cup light rum
- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- ½ teaspoon almond extract
- 1 cup chopped macadamia nuts
- 1 cup sliced or halved almonds
- 2½ cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 6 egg whites
- Frosting

Combine raisins, candied fruits, coconut with rum, mixing well. Cover and let stand overnight. Beat shortening, sugar and flavorings until light and fluffy. Blend in raisin mixture and nuts. Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Beat egg whites until moderately stiff peaks form. Fold sifted dry ingredients into fruit mixture alternately with half of egg whites until thoroughly blended. Carefully fold in remaining egg whites. Turn into prepared molds or pan. (Line greased loaf pans with greased brown paper. Line greased molds with foil then grease again.) Batter should fill pans ⅔ to ¾ full. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) 2 to 2½ hours until cake tests done. Put a shallow pan of water on bottom of oven while cake bakes. Cool. Wrap cakes carefully in foil or plastic; store in cool place. Sprinkle occasionally with rum, if desired. Frost before serving. Makes 9 cups batter, 2 (8½-inch) tube molds or 2 (8½x4½x2½-inch) loaves.

FROSTING

Mix until smooth 1½ cups powdered sugar with 2 tablespoons sherry, rum or orange juice. Garnish frosted cake with wine soaked raisins, pecans, candied pineapple and cherries.

GOLDEN SEEDLESS RAISINS, candied pineapple chunks and both red and green candied cherries contrast the snowy rum-accented batter of this beautiful white Raisin Heritage fruit cake for holiday entertaining.

Versatile Fruit Combination Doubles As Salad Or Dessert

If you are searching for a way to dazzle dinner guests during the holidays, a do-ahead frozen fruit salad will perform for you in spectacular fashion.

This is a salad that a hostess will adore because it can be served two ways. It has the tartness for a main-dish salad, or, if you prefer, it is sweet and rich enough to be a dessert. Its accompaniment at the end of the meal might be a simple cooky; as a salad it calls for a hot bread.

Fruits, nuts, cheese and cream—all the usual delicious ingredients—go into this salad-dessert. The simple device of lining the loaf pan with quilted foil, allowing an overhang all the way around, makes it easy to unmold and slice the delicacy. Once the mixture is solidly frozen, it can be lifted out of the pan by the foil extension and served immediately.

The hostess who likes to entertain small groups can wrap slices individually or in sets of four or six and prepare for several parties at one time.

DO-AHEAD SALAD-DESSERT
(16 to 20 Servings)

- 1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) fruit cocktail
- 1 cup liquid (fruit cocktail syrup and water)
- 1 package (3 ounces) strawberry gelatin
- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, room temperature
- ⅓ cup salad dressing
- 1 cup pecan halves, left whole
- 20 marashchino cherries, quartered (about ½ cup)
- 2 cups miniature marshmallows
- 1 pint whipping cream, whipped.

Line 1 large loaf pan (9x5x3 inches) or 3 small pans (7⅜x3⅜x2¼ inches(with quilted aluminum foil leaving a 1½ inch overhang on all sides. Drain fruit cocktail; measure syrup and add water as needed to make 1 cup. Bring liquids to a boil; add to gelatin and stir until it melts. Chill until mixture becomes thick and syrupy. Beat cream cheese; add salad dressing and gelatin and beat until free of lumps. Fold in nuts, fruits, marshmallows and whipping cream. Spoon into large or small pans as desired. Freeze. Lift frozen salad out of pans by pulling up on foil extensions. Serve or wrap securely in quilted aluminum foil, label, date and store in freezer. Yield: About 2 quarts salad.

FOR NEW YEAR'S DAY dinner, try a Jeweled Crown Roast of Lamb royally stuffed and wreathed with mint leaves and figs. This might be accompanied by Sweet Potato Puff, string beans and green salad.

Welcome In New Year With Jeweled Crown Roast Of Lamb

Welcome in the New Year with a Jeweled Crown Roast of Lamb—the perfect highlight for your holiday dinner. It is royally stuffed and wreathed with mint leaves and figs. The royal stuffing starts with packaged herb-seasoned stuffing.

Round out the menu with a sweet potato puff, string beans studded with slivered almonds, green salad with Italian dressing, brown and serve golden twist rolls.

JEWELED CROWN ROAST OF LAMB
Crown Roast of Lamb
(16-20 chops)

- 2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing
- ½ cup minced onion
- ⅓ cup snipped parsley
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ to ½ cup hot water
- ¾ cup mint jelly
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

When the butcher is preparing the roast, ask him to grind the trimmings from the chops. This should weigh about ¾ pound. Combine this ground lamb with herb-seasoned stuffing, onions, parsley and salt; mix well. Add enough water to moisten stuffing. Fill center of crown roast with stuffing mixture. Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in slow oven (325 degrees) about three hours, or until meat thermometer registers 175 degrees.

Meanwhile, combine mint jelly

and lemon juice. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until smooth. Serve with the roast lamb. Place paper frills on chop bones and garnish platter with mint leaves and figs. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

SWEET POTATO PUFF

- 5 pounds yams
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Cook the yams until tender, then peel and mash. Add brown sugar, butter and orange rind; mix together. Spoon 1½ cups into a pastry bag with a fluted tip, and the remainder into a buttered 10 inch pie plate. Make a well in the center of pie, use pastry tube to pipe decorative edge around the well and outer edge of pie.

ORANGE GLAZE

- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons butter

In saucepan, combine brown sugar, orange juice, cornstarch and butter. Cook over low heat until clear and thickened, then simmer for about 5 minutes more. Pour some glaze in well then brush remainder over rest of pie. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) for 30 minutes. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Special Pancakes

Start the day with sausage syrup pancakes. Form ½ pound of bulk pork sausage into small balls. Cook well; drain. Add 1¼ cups of syrup to sausage balls; cook about 5 minutes, or until well heated. Serve with 8 pancakes, prepared from a recipe or your favorite mix. Makes 4 servings.

Warm Cinnamon Nut Rolls Are Wintertime Tea Treat

NEW YEAR'S TEA
To serve a crowd!
Cinnamon Nut Rolls
Tea Milk or Lemon

FOUR CINNAMON NUT ROLLS

- ¼ cup warm water
- 1 package active dry yeast
- 1½ cups sugar
- ½ cup warm mashed potato
- 2 cups milk, scalded
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 8 cups unsifted regular flour (about)
- 2½ teaspoons cinnamon
- ⅔ cup chopped pecans

Dissolve yeast in the warm water; add ½ cup of the sugar and the mashed potato. Cover; let stay in warm place for 30 minutes. Into scalded milk, stir the salt and butter; cool to lukewarm; add to yeast mixture. Stir in eggs and 4 cups flour; beat until smooth. Stir in enough more flour to make soft dough. Turn out; knead for 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl; turn to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place until double — about 1 hour. Punch down dough; divide into 4 pieces. Roll each piece into a 14 by 9 inch rectangle; brush lightly with extra melted butter. Stir together remaining 1 cup sugar, cinnamon and pecans; sprinkle over dough. Tightly roll up each rectangle from 9 inch side; seal edges. Place rolls, sealed edges down and about 6 inches apart on greased cookie sheets. Firmly seal ends together. Cover; let rise in warm place until doubled — about 1 hour. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 35 minutes or until rolls feel hollow when tapped on back. Makes 4 rolls. Serve sliced and spread with sweet butter.

Compliment Turkey Buffet With Cranberry Ring Salad

For a buffet, when cold sliced turkey will perhaps be teamed with sliced ham, we suggest a cranberry salad mold. This will be a pleasant change from the cranberry sauce or cranberry jelly that always goes with the hot turkey. If you are interested in trying this mold, the recipe follows.

CRANBERRY ORANGE SALAD RING

- 2 packages (each 3 ounces) celery-flavor salad gelatin
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 cup cold water
- 1½ small unpeeled oranges
- 1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries, washed and drained
- ¾ cup sugar

Stir together the gelatin and boiling water until dissolved; stir in cold water. Chill ½ cup of the mixture until very thick; chill remaining 2½ cups until thickened.

Cut oranges into wedges and remove seeds. Put oranges and cranberries through food grinder twice; mix in sugar. Stir into the 2½ cups thickened gelatin.

Whip the ½ cup very thick gelatin until double in volume. Blend in 2 tablespoons of the fruit mixture. Turn into mold. Chill until set but not firm—it has to be firm enough so it will hold the whipped mixture in a layer. Carefully spoon the gelatin-fruit mixture into mold over almost firm whipped gelatin. Chill until firm — 3 hours or more. Makes about 7 cups or 14 servings.

Judith Easton Is Bride Of R. E. Henry

St. Sylvester's Church in San Rafael was the setting for the wedding on Dec. 18 of Judith Helen Easton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Stanton Zollner of San Rafael and Richard Eugene Henry of Oakland. The Rev. John P. Tierney officiated at the noon nuptial mass in which Judith was given in marriage by her stepfather.

She wore a full length gown of peau de soie trimmed in Alencon lace and with chapel train. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Bette Allen King of Rancho Cordova wore a full length sheath of moss green velvet and sand colored silk crepe. Bridesmaids Macy MacFarland of Santa Rosa, Vickie Brenner of San Francisco, Mary Fears of Rancho Cordova and Phyllis Henry of Oakland, sister of the bridegroom, wore identical dresses.

Donald F. Henry Jr. of Lubbock, Tex., served as his brother's best man and James Gaddis, Kenneth Shepard, James Salber, all of Oakland, and James Easton of San Francisco, brother of the bride, ushered.

A reception was held at Peacock Gap Country Club.

Judith is a junior at San Jose State College. Her husband was graduated from San Jose State where he was a member of Theta Chi fraternity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Henry of Oakland and the brother of Mary Sue Henry.

Following a wedding trip at the Highlands Inn in Carmel, the couple will make their home in San Jose.

Mervin Hill Claims Bride At San Rafael Church Rite

St. Luke's Presbyterian Church, San Rafael, was the setting on Dec. 11 for the wedding of Susan Adele Finch, daughter of Mrs. Orrin E. Finch of San Rafael and the late Mr. Finch, and Mervin Ray Hill, also of San Rafael.

The Rev. Henry Kent performed the double ring ceremony in which Susan was given in marriage by her brother, Orrin F. Finch of Sacramento. She wore a white brocade suit with matching hat for the 8 p.m. rite.

Peggy Stone of San Rafael wore a turquoise brocade suit as matron of honor and David Shields of San Lorenzo served as best man. Laurence Garatti of San Rafael and Kenneth Finch of Sacramento, brother of the bride, ushered.

Following a reception in the Finch family home in San Rafael, the couple left on a wedding trip to Carmel.

The bride is also the sister of Donald Finch of Concord and Leland Finch of Novato. She was graduated from Sacramento High School and attended College of Marin. She was also graduated from University of California and is employed with Sleezer and Eckhoff as a certified public accountant.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ray Hill of San Rafael and the late Mr. Hill and is the brother of Mrs. Laurence Garletti of San Rafael and Mrs. Fredna Schields of San Lorenzo. He was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. He is employey with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. in San Rafael where the couple will make their home.

Marin Women

KARLSTAD BALL

All the clubs of the Marin Dance Council will join forces for the Marin Folk Dance New Year's Eve party, the Karlstad Ball, which begins at 9 p.m. Adding a festive air will be the new costumes which various folk dance groups will don for the first time. Folk dancers from all parts of the Bay Area will come to the annual Marin Event, and take part in native dances of Greece, Yugoslavia, Israel, Germany, and Sweden. Mrs. Scott Tilden, in Hungarian costume, twirls as Mrs. Jack Fifield, applauds in her Serbian attire. Mrs. Fifield of Tiburon, is reservation chairman.

Housewife Finds Saigon Life Jittery, Hot And Challenging

First of two articles on everyday life of an American housewife who has moved from Marin to Saigon.

By BARBARA HOSMER

"What was once a fairly modern city, evidently, is now overcrowded with refugees and the military, with acute shortages in everything and very high prices . . . "

The city is Saigon, the reporter a former Marin housewife — Mrs. Val Gates — who left her home in Loch Lomond, San Rafael, early last month to join her husband to live in the South Vietnamese capital for at least two years. Her husband heads Shell Oil of Viet Nam, which supplies fuel to the military forces of the United States and South Viet Nam. A registered nurse, Hazel Gates has been an active volunteer with the Cancer Society and hospital auxiliaries in Westport, Conn. and San Francisco.

Vietnamese life she finds "challenging and interesting" indeed, if lacking in glamor.

"THE VIETNAMESE people as a whole are very nice and friendly and seem to like Americans . . . They are very bright, learn readily, and most speak French and some English," Hazel Gates reports by letter.

"There are very few minutes during the day that one can look out without seeing some sort of aircraft, mostly helicopters. There are flights of 20 of them in formation, and since they are flying so low, the noise is tremendous.

"Many of the loud booms we hear during the day are attributed to sonic booms in the press, then several days later we read that a grenade has been tossed in some area of the city. This is mostly for psychological effect, as the city is always jittery. It is reassuring to know that all the aircraft are friendly . . . " she reports.

THE CLIMATE IS "hot, then hotter" with daytime temperatures ranging from 85 to 95 and humidity to match, and one is "perpetually wet even with huge fans going day and night." The closets are kept fairly dry by burning a light in them constantly. Rain with thunder and lightning is frequent in the city.

The Gateses live in a large apartment in the building for Shell employees, most of whom are French. Hazel reports that they enjoy a large variety of food, both in nationality and menu, shopped for and cooked by the tiny Vietnamese maids.

"ONE JUST CAN'T tell in whose kitchen food is prepared because you frequently see the maids carrying dishes into your kitchen, across the hall, up the servant stairs, and so forth, and then you hear much giggling from the four or five gathered in the kitchen.

"Each maid does this everyday and then tells you what the menu of the day will be unless you have specified something in advance. Ours can cook French, Vietnamese or American dishes—juicy hamburgers, macaroni and cheese, stuffed baked potatoes, Chinese fried rice, crepes suzettes, rum fruit compote, many kinds of omelette, soups, salads or charcoal broiled steak with French fries."

The fish is particularly good, broiled or in the shell, and there is plentiful supplies of crab, shrimp and rock lobster, she says. However, shortages in everything include foods, and the menus are made around what is available and not too expensive. Often the maid will return to report that things were too high, "no buy."

HAZEL GATES REPORTS that the availability of almost every commodity used in the home has decreased markedly and the cost of living has doubled, at least, in the month of November.

"When you find anything you might need in the future you buy it now. American coffee is $1.75 a pound but local coffee is just as expensive. Soaps and detergents are very scarce.

"OUR WHOLE LIFE is geared to what is available that day or that week . . . and you can't make the maids understand that we do not have post-exchange privileges like the military."

Their maid, Thi Ba, knows how to use every electrical appliance and gadget in the American home, Mrs. Gates says.

"I should have brought much more, however I may be able to acquire some in Singapore or Bangkok. This seems to be most necessary to Thi Ba because otherwise she loses face with the other maids."

SHE DESCRIBES the Vietnamese — "The women, all decked out in their Ao Dai—high necked and long sleeved—are very handsome and very tiny.

"The maids all wear black or white satin full trousers

Riley Starnes Claims Bride In Home Rite

The family home in San Rafael was the setting for the vow exchange of Patricia Lavonne McCallam and Riley Kenneth Starnes at three o'clock Dec. 19

Judge Joseph G. Wilson officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father, F. A. McCallam. She is also the daughter of Mrs. Ralph J. Moore.

For the wedding, Patricia wore a white suit with white satin collar and cuffs and cocoa brown accessories.

Mrs. Elizabeth Barnhart of San Anselmo was matron of honor, Ralph J. Moore was best man.

The bridegroom is with the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Rein Mein, Germany. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Starnes of Grant, Ala. He is the brother of Doris, Robert, A. J., and Roy Starnes and Mrs. Harold Keller.

Mrs. Brooke Moore of Antioch College, Ohio is the bride's sister. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Vera McCallam of Hemet and the late Mrs. Dora Crockett of San Rafael.

Riley and Patricia both attended San Rafael High School. The bride is a graduate of San Francisco State College, and is employed at the Tiburon Peninsula Nursery School and the Marin Child Development Center.

Alabama was the destination of the wedding trip, where the couple intend to join the bridegroom's parents for Christmas.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS ROCHA (Charlotte Lorraine Tringali) were married Dec. 18 at Mission San Rafael Arcangel.

Quick Change Comes Easily ---'Big Night' Coif To Day

AN ELEGANT HAIR STYLE for a special occasion can be achieved with a short simple cut. Sweep the hair straight back and pin top section in place, then fluff ringlets and swirls atop the head and gently curl the sides down and away from the face.

During the holidays daily treks to the hairdresser's are obviously not the solution for lovely coifs, nor are sleight-of-hand wig changes. But, armed with a good basic haircut and a few hints on styling, you can be beautifully coiffed all season long.

When you shampoo your hair for the "big New Year's night," be extra careful about setting it. Generally, medium-sized rollers about an inch or inch and a half in diameter will leave hair in good shape for styling. Make sure the set is neat. No stray ends allowed.

When the hair is completely dry, give it a good brushing in the direction of the set. Today's popular party hairdos are a flutter or ringlets, swirls and soft waves individually sculptured atop the head. They're best done by sectioning the hair, as you did before rolling, and styling one area at a time, spraying each in place as you go along.

Next day, if you've used a non-gooey spray, all you need do is brush out the formal style —again in the same direction as the set—and create a more smooth rather than sculptured hairdo, perfect for daytime wear. Of course, the hair needs body to make a switch like this. It's a good idea to use a concentrate shampoo with a natural conditioner for manageability.

When the party's over, there's no need for elegant hairdos to fall apart. Setting carefully, brushing well and avoiding lacquered sprays and harsh shampoos will assure you stylish hairdos—both plain and fancy.

NEXT DAY the formal style is brushed out. After some light "feathering," the hair is brought forward into a chic modern bang. A rattail comb is used to lift the hair for gentle fullness and height, and for creating a windblown effect.

Miss Marcone Is Bride At St. Anselm's

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT CARRASCO

A double ring ceremony at St. Anselm's Church joined in marriage Kathleen Ann Marcone and Robert Carrasco at noon Dec. 18.

The bride was given in marriage by her father Lawrence Vincent Marcone at the wedding where Monsignor Edward Dullea officiated.

For her wedding, Kathleen wore a full-length peau de soie gown, styled with a Sabrina neckline, long sleeves, and a chapel-length train. Alencon lace details accented with seed pearls and crystal were used on bodice, skirt and train.

Mrs. Derald Blackmore of Redwood City was matron of honor, with Elaine Gonsalves of Los Banos and Kathleen Jones of San Jose, bridesmaids. The attendants wore floor-length two toned gowns which combined moss green velvet and champagne brocade, and moss-green velvet headdresses with short veils.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Marcone of San Anselmo. Larry Marcone is her brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Carrasco are the bridegroom's parents. His sister is Mrs. Derald Blackmore, who was matron of honor.

Larry Marcone, the bride's brother was best man, with Derald Blackmore of Redwood City, and Alan Houston, of San Francisco, assisting guests to their seats.

A graduate of Marin Catholic High School and the College of the Holy Names in Oakland, the bride received her secondary teaching credential from Dominican College. She was elected to Kappa Gamma Pi honor society.

Robert is a graduate of Mission High School in San Francisco, and San Francisco State College. He did graduate work at the University of California, where he received a secondary teaching credential. He is a member of Alpha Mu Gamma honor society.

A reception at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael followed the church ceremony.

After a honeymoon trip to Southern California, the couple will establish a home in San Anselmo.

Cheri-Lee Ottaviano Bride At Santa Cruz Church Rite

Exchanging wedding vows at Holy Cross Church, Santa Cruz, at a 2:30 p.m. ceremony Dec. 18 were Cheri-Lee Ottaviano and Wesley M. Price, both San Rafael residents.

Msgr. William McLaughlin officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father, John L. Ottaviano.

The bride selected a white peau de soie floor-length gown with Kabuki sleeves edged with lace and pearls. The lace and pearl trim were repeated at the neckline, the hem of the dress and chapel train.

Mrs. Carlene Lucas of San Rafael was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kathi Tone of Santa Cruz, Sylvia Giannini, of Santa Cruz, Mrs. Joanne Cecchettini, of Santa Cruz, and Mrs. Martin Loughman of San Francisco. They were gowned alike in floor-length gowns with red velvet tops and white wool skirts embroidered with poinsettias for the holiday wedding.

Two flower girls, Danielle Hocum and Tina Ann Cecchettini, both of Santa Cruz, completed the bridal party.

The bride's brother, John E. Ottaviano of Santa Cruz was best man. Tom Butler of San Rafael, Martin Loughman of San Francisco; Joe Marini, and Phil Kidder of Santa Cruz were the ushers.

Cheri-Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ottaviano, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Marini of Santa Cruz.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Price of Santa Cruz.

The bride is a graduate of Holy Cross High School in Santa Cruz, and San Francisco State College. She is employed at the Glenwood School, in the San Rafael City School District.

Wesley is also a graduate of Holy Cross High School and San Francisco State College. He works in the Tamalpais High School District.

A reception at the Coconut Grove in Santa Cruz followed the marriage rite.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, the couple will live in San Rafael.

Life In Saigon Challenging

with an overblouse and thong sandals or they go barefoot around the house. They do what is told them, but if you don't want the same thing done the next day you must tell them that too," Mrs. Gates says.

"If I want some special cleaning done I have to take them by the hand and say, 'Levez avec detergent, maintenant! They look so surprised then because they had scrubbed that just last month!"

MANY OF THE Vietnamese are refugees from Hanoi, coming south between 1954 and 1957, and they complain that the Saigon climate is too hot. Hanoi, far to the north, has definite seasons and the refugees consider themselves much more industrious than the Saigon people, Mrs. Gates reports.

Florida Governor Appoints 'Watchdog'

Florida has a new real estate "watchdog."

He's Leonard Rosen, one of the nation's top community developers.

Gov. Haydon Burns appointed Rosen to the Florida Installment Sales Board.

The board, founded in 1963, has powers to require registration of all subdividers and real estate salesmen; require submission of all real estate advertising on installment land sales to the board for approval; demand all records and witnesses relevant to land sales investigations and suspend or revoke licenses of registrants guilty of board rule violations.

King Is Modeled After Many Heroes

At various times the King of Hearts in the card deck has represented Adam, Julius Caesar, Constantine and Alexander.

In some decks of the late 19th century some Kings of Hearts had the contemporary hero, Gen. Boulanger or Victor Hugo as their models. In today's deck, the King of Hearts is essentially the Charlemange of the 15th century.

Yule Fete Reveals Troth Of Miss Schmitz-D. C. White

A Christmas Eve cocktail party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Schmitz in San Rafael was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, to David C. White of Oakland.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford White of Oakland. He is the brother of Martha, Roger and Diane White of Oakland. The late Mr. and Mrs. Howard White of Berkeley, and the late Mr. and Mrs. George Badger of Berkeley are his grandparents.

Sandra is a graduate of the Upper School of Dominican Convent, and is now attending the University of Oregon, where she is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. She is a junior.

David was graduated from the Robert Louis Stevenson School in Carmel and is now a junior at the University of Oregon, where he is affiliated with Kappa Sigma fraternity.

A wedding is planned for August.

Betrothal Of Carolyn Olds Told At Yacht Club Party

The engagement of Carolyn Olds and Raymond Hoffman III was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt L. Olds of San Rafael at a cocktail and dinner party for the two families at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco Sunday.

The couple plans a late summer wedding.

Carolyn, who is the sister of Mrs. Joseph Rohrwild, was graduated from Dominican Convent and Stephens College in Missouri.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hoffman Jr. of San Rafael, and the brother of Lynn Ann Hoffman. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hoffman Sr. and Mrs. H. Fred Hansen.

Ray was graduated from San Rafael High School and is a senior at University of Arizona, where his fraternity is Alpha Tau Omega.

Meadow Club Reception Set To Honor Three Debutantes

By MOLLY MARIN

Honoring debutantes Pamela Hornby, Susan Murphy and Gail Noah will be the reception which Mrs. Leon Clothier Smith will give from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow at the Meadow Club. Pamela and Gail bowed at the Marin Debutante Ball, and Susan, the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel V. Ryan, was presented at the Cotillion Thursday in San Francisco.

Mrs. Smith has asked Mrs. Ryan and the Marin debs' mothers, Mrs. Raymond Hornby and Mrs. Ralph Noah, to assist. Mrs. James MacGuire (the former Susan Smith) will also be greeting guests at her mother's party.

THE MILL VALLEY TENNIS CLUB will hold its traditional New Year's Eve dinner dance on Friday for members only. Under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent White and Mr. and Mrs. John Lennon, this year's party, following a "New Year's Eve golden gala" theme, will have gold decor done by the Robin Whittleseys.

The party will begin with cocktails at 7:30 p.m. and continue with dinner at 8:30 p.m. and dancing until 1:30 a.m. A midnight champagne toast will be the climax of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Earl will greet members at the door, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tierney will arrange table settings. Invitations were designed by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matson. Reservations chairmen are Mesdames James Stephenson and Samuel Farber.

COL. AND MRS. A. A. G. KIRCHHOFF of Tiburon and their sons, Bill and David, entertained Sunday night for the three exchange students who are houseguests of the Kenneth Merklins. The honorees were Perdita Avery of Melbourne, Australia; Caroline Le Rolle of Paris, France, and Gudrun Nusse of Frieburg, Germany. Those attending from out-of-town included Ensign Chris Irwin, the houseguest of the John Kellens of Tiburon; Margaret Gwathmey, visiting her parents in Belvedere from Charlotte, N. C.; Dave Kirchhoff, who is attending Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, Okla., and Roma Merklin, who is a student at St. Catherine's College in St. Paul, Minn.

THE RALPH HIBBARDS of San Rafael sailed recently from New York aboard the Santa Paula on a two-week cruise to Curacao, Venezuela, Aruba, Kingston, Jamaica; Port-au-Prince, Haiti, and Port Everglades, Fla.

RENEWS OLD FRIENDSHIP — Dante V. Leland, here walking his dog near his Tiburon apartment, has renewed after 30 years a friendship with a woman whose name was once a household word in America and Europe: Dancer Irene Castle. Next summer, he said, they will tour Europe together.
(Independent-Journal photo)

STILL LOVELY — This photo of Irene Castle was taken five years ago when she was 76 years old. The pose is reminiscent of the days before World War I when she and her husband, Vernon, danced as a team in Europe and the United States. The picture was a gift to Dante V. Leland, a recent guest of Mrs. Castle's.

THEY'LL TOUR TOGETHER

Dweller In Tiburon Remembers Knowing Dancer Irene Castle

By MICHAEL PERCY

"She as a beautiful young thing when I first knew her, very lovely," he said with a touch of nostalgia in his voice. "All the young men buzzed around her as bees to honey. And she is still very lovely.

The speaker was Dante V. Leland of Tiburon, who was recalling the first decade of this century in New York City, when he first knew Irene Castle of the fabled Vernon and Irene Castle dancing team.

Leland returned shortly before Christmas from Eureka Springs, Ark., where he spent a month as a guest of Mrs. Castle at her retreat in the Ozarks.

"She was Irene Foote when we met so long ago," said the 78-year-old Leland, "a little girl from New Rochelle, the daughter of a doctor, who had all of New York society in love with her. We were friends for about two years before 1909 and then we lost contact."

Leland was then a young Harvard student. His father, Col. Francis O. Leland, headed the New York County National Bank and "had vast real estate holdings. Life spread out before me like a gift," Leland recalled.

Irene Foote married Vernon Castle, a handsome young civil engineer turned dancer, in 1911. Together they toured Europe and the United States with their versions of such dances as the Texas Tommy, the Grizzly Bear, and their own Castle Walk.

In addition, Mrs. Castle introduced bobbed hair and the slim boyish figure to the ballroom and the world of fashion.

Vernon Castle, flying for Canadian in World War I, was killed in Texas in 1918. He was 31.

Leland had joined the American Ambulance Corps in 1915 and worked with the French army until 1917 when he was transferred to the American army, was commissioned a lieutenant and worked as a liaison officer for the Signal Corps until the war's end.

Leland's father died in 1917. The trust company handling the estate squandered almost the whole thing," he related.

With a borrowed $1,000, Leland went into the antique importing business.

It was not until the late 1920s that he again came in contact with Irene Castle, by then married to a wealthy Chicago sportsman, Frederic McLaughlin.

"She married four times after Vernon's tragic death," Leland recalled. "She seems to have sort of venerated Vernon. He is buried at Lake Forest, Ill., where she's had a life-size statue placed over his grave. She spends most of her time at her Lake Forest home while not at Eureka Springs or traveling abroad."

After the 1920s Mrs. Castle and Leland again lost contact—this time for more than 30 years. In these years Leland held a variety of jobs from leg man and photographer for columnist Tex McCrary of the New York Daily Mirror, to liaison for the French Purchasing Commission in Washington during World War II, and later manager of a men's club in New York.

Leland retired in the 1950s. He moved to San Francisco six years ago, and to Tiburon a year later. He has a comfortable apartment on Main Street with a view of the bay and San Francisco.

A chance meeting in Italy between Mrs. Castle, now 72, and Leland's sister, Conzoneri, recently brought the two old friends back together. When Mrs. Castle returned to the U. S. she wrote to Leland and asked him to be her guest at her retreat in the Ozarks.

Next summer, he reported, "Irene and I are going to tour Europe.

German Escapes E. Berlin Wearing U.S. Army Uniform

BERLIN (UPI) —An intrepid West German disguised himself in a U.S. Army uniform with upside-down sergeant's stripes and sneaked two East German friends to freedom in a car bearing bogus American military license plates, it was disclosed today.

The West Berliner was identified as Karl Heinz B. He organized the escape of Werner W., 26-year-old locksmith, and Kaethe P., a 26-year-old druggist's assistant, during the Christmas weekend.

The woman hid in the trunk of the automobile and the man identified as Werner wore only an Army raincoat and garrison hat. Karl Heinz B. then simply drove past an East German Communist checkpoint into West Berlin.

Such an escape is possible because East German border guards do not check Western Allied soldiers in uniform as they pass through the Friedrich Stresse crossing point for foreigners.

The story was first revealed by the mass circulation newspaper Bild Zeitung and later confirmed by the Western Allies. Western authorities had hoped news of the escape would not leak out because it could cause future Communist interference with Allied traffic through the wall.

A U.S. spokesman said the Germans faced possible jail terms because they illegally obtained American uniforms and stole an Army license plate.

A West Berlin police official said they violated Allied Ordinance 501 which bars Germans from wearing Allied uniforms. The penalties could range as high as five years imprisonment and a fine of $2,500.

Station Owner Kidnaped, Robbed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Sacramento service station owner spent a harrowing half hour with a kidnaper who forced him to drive around the city last night before robbing him, police said today.

Bob Holtman, the station owner, told police he was waiting in his car as his wife shopped when a man got in the back seat of the car, pointed a .45-caliber pistol at Holtman's head and ordered him to drive away.

Holtman, 38, said he later was forced to telephone his service station and order an employ to leave $50 there. After picking up the cash, Holtman said, his abductor let him out of the car and drove off.

Parolee Faces Purse Theft Charge

The arrest Friday of John A. Perry of Fairfax on a pickpocket charge has cleared up two similar cases reported in San Rafael Dec. 11, police said today.

San Rafael police arrested Perry, 39, of 239 Scenic Road, Fairfax, a parolee, after owner Irving B. Litchfield said he saw the man dip his hand into a woman's purse at the bar at the Bermuda Palms, 737 Francisco Boulevard. Perry was still being held today in lieu of $2,750 bail.

The victim of that attempt was Marceline M. Zonco, of 1171 Center Road, Novato.

Police said that on Dec. 11 Gail A. Bissattini, of 124 Park Street, and Kathie L. Taylor, of 60 Hillside Avenue, both San Rafael, had reported wallets lifted from their purses while they were at Bermuda Palms. In all cases, the monetary loss was small, police said.

Youth Sentenced For Ax Attacks

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Wendel Kogel, 17, who sttacked both his parents with a pickaxe on Dec. 6, was sentenced yesterday to the California Youth Authority for custody and treatment.

The sentence was set by Juvenile Court Judge Harold Holden.

The parents, Joseph Kogel, 50, and his wife, Rosalie, 49, have not regained consciousness since the attack. Kogel is in critical condition at Santa Clara County Hospital, and Mrs. Kogel is listed in very serious condition at Kaiser Hospital in Santa Clara.

GIFT FOR YULE WHOPPING, BUT WAY IN ERROR

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"You think your wife gives nice Christmas presents?" said Joseph F. McLaughlin when he arrived at the office yesterday.

"Look what my wife did."

Then McLaughlin displayed for coworkers at U. S. Steel Corp. a gift certificate from Gimbels department store for $400,010.

The certificate was a mistake. Mrs. McLaughlin had bought a $10 certificate and had discovered the error too late to turn it in before the weekend.

McLaughlin notified Gimbels and a grateful management later presented him with a $100 certificate. It also let him keep the $400,010 certificate — but marked it void.

Mute Satellite Begins Working Unexpectedly

LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP) — Lincoln Laboratory engineers reported today they got an unexpected Christmas present from space— an experimental satellite, thought dead, suddenly came to life and is operating beautifully.

It was LES4 — the letters stand for Lincoln Experimental Satellite — a communications package which was fired into space along with three others a week ago today.

They went up in an Air Force Titan 3C rocket, and at first all seemed well. The rocket reached an orbit 90 miles up, then re-fired its motors to shoot up to 18,000 miles out.

Something failed then, and the rocket didn't make a series of maneuvers which were supposed to take it into an orbit 18,200 miles above the equator.

The earth weighs six sextillion, 588 quintillion tons, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

OH, DEER! WHAT A TIME TO TURN OUT A RHYME

Maybe Santa Claus is shy a reindeer.

Anyhow, a deer ran across the roof of the A. C. Kuehl home at 10 Rock Road, Kentfield, on the night after Christmas. The unexpected prancing and pawing caused Mrs. Kuehl to burst forth (after the event) in verse. She reported the incident to the Independent—Journal like this:

'Twas the night after Christmas, when all through the house
Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse . . .
When all of a sudden there rose such a clatter,
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
I called to my husband, who grabbed his flashlight
And rushed out the door and into the night.
And there on the roof — was it Prancer or who?
Is Santa Claus looking for one of you?

Holiday Show Taking Shape At San Quentin

Sataurday's gala Show of Stars at San Quentin Prison has begun taking shape.

The six-hour show, held in the prison dining hall each New Year's Day, is presented for the entire inmate population. Top entertainers currently appearing in the Bay Area donate their time to help the inmates celebrate the coming of the new year.

Given top billing for Saturday's show are jazz pianist Vince Guaraldi and Buck Owens, popular country and western singer. Owens will appear with Phil Philley's Western Jamboree and young recording star Rickey Sears.

Victor Buelna, Mexican movie and recording star, will perform in the show with his troupe, which is currently appearing at San Francisco's Sinaloa Club.

Comedian Howard Eubanks will be master of ceremonies for the marathon show. Other "big names" appearing on the program are: comic Paul Desmond with his partner Sunni Walton; comedienne Nan Susac; Canadian singer Carla Mitchell, and Phil Bovero and the Show of Stars band.

But the list is not nearly complete.

"Many acts don't come to the Bay Area until very close to the holiday. We have ot wait until the last minute for many of them before they confirm that they will appear in the prison show," explained Bill Van Ornum, producer of the show.

Last year's show proved the truth of Van Ornum's words. Striding onto the dining hall stage in the midst of the show were singers Louis Armstrong and Sarah Vaughan.

"You simply can't tell at this point who's going to turn up. They don't print the program until late on New Year's Eve because so much of the entertainment comes in at the last minute," said T. L. Baker, prison supervisor of recreation.

Smash-Grab Thief Hits Beauty Shop Again

Burglars broke a window with a rock at El Paseo Beauty Salon, Mill Valley, last night and stole $5 in small change, William Weeks, El Paseo manager, reported.

Weeks told police that entry was made between 9:40 and 10 p.m. Overlooked were a roll of pennies and a roll of nickels. The shop at 5 El Paseo has been broken into seven times in recent months by the same method, Weeks said.

Stinson Aide Is Suspended

Douglas Carson Smith was suspended last night as assistant fire chief of the Stinson Beach Volunteer Fire Department by the district commission pending outcome of his trial, expected to be held in February.

Smith, 25, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a drunken driving charge in an alleged wild ride in a fire truck in November following the annual firemen's ball.

Commissioners discussed the subject last night, reported Mrs. Harriet M. Greene, assistant secretary, then decided upon their action. Smith, who has been a volunteer fireman three years, will be replaced by Richard Davison, formerly second assistant to the chief.

They Own The 'Great American Dream'—A Pacific Isle

Tiburon Family Would Lease Land Off Guam

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Many people pursue the "great American dream" of owning an island in the Pacific, but for one Tiburon family, it is no dream.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Gottwald have returned to Marin County after an absence of 10 years, during which time they lived in Guam and Thailand, seeing much of Southeast Asia in the course of Gottwald's work as an architect for the Navy and the Royal Thai Army.

But there is no doubt about the most romantic adventure of those 10 years in the Pacific. It was that island.

The Gottwalds discovered Cocos, a "lovely little island," while they were living in Guam. A Coast Guard Loran station covered 20 of its 74 acres, but the rest of it was open to anyone who wanted to go there to water ski, fish, collect shells or just have a picnic. Many people went there.

They soon began spending every Sunday there, and became friends with the lieutenant in charge of the Coast Guard station.

Once, recalls Mrs. Gottwald, they grew angry over the trash which some of the island's more carefree visitors were strewing over its beautiful beaches.

Assuming the United States government controlled the entire island, they asked the young officer why he did nothing to control such carelessness. He surprised them by replying that the island was privately owned.

"There are only five privately owned islands in the entire Pacific," reported Mrs. Gottwald.

The family checked official records on Guam and found that a man named Luigi Galliani of San Francisco was listed as owner.

"We just happened to have an old San Francisco telephone book," said Mrs. Gottwald, "so we called him up and asked him if he would like to sell the island."

It turned out that Galliani was not actually the owner, but was chief accountant for the Kohler and Campbell Piano Co. It, in turn, represented the real owners, John and Grace Rothchild, then in Europe.

Galliani, however, told them the owners might be happy to sell for tax purposes, and invited them to submit a bid.

"It is very difficult to put a price on an island," recalled Mrs. Gottwald, "but we came up with a figure based on how much we could afford to pay and how badly we wanted the island. They agreed to sell it."

The price, however, remains a secret. Before closing the deal, the Gottwalds discovered that a San Francisco columnist had heard about it. Soon afterward, the story hit the front page of Guam's daily newspaper.

"The amount was a big conversation topic at cocktail parties, and we understand it was the basis of some rather large bets. So we decided it was more fun just to let people go on guessing."

When they moved on to Cocos, the family built a two-story home, plus a cottage which soon became a favorite place for Guam honeymooners.

The houses remained when they moved to Bangkok, but were flattened by Hurricane Karen in 1963. Now, the family wants to lease Cocos to someone, but Mrs. Gottwald vows, "We'll never sell it."

Site of a cocoa plantation before World War II, the island was used as an ammunition dump by the Japanese, and many relics of their stay there can still be found.

Once, two freighters (one carrying a cargo of paraffin) collided in Tokyo Bay, 1,800 miles from the island. Two weeks later, the Gottwalds found a huge block of paraffin on the windward side of Cocos.

"We made candles for weeks," she recalled.

Cocos, she believes, was "an ideal place to raise children. It allowed them to grow up free of the material values which I am afraid we are now coming back to, and gave them a great appreciation of nature."

At Christmastime, they used ironwood trees, which are similar in many ways to the evergreens used here, but "sort of limp." Seashells, Japanese fishnet floats and other flotsam took the place of balls and lights.

"We had our own shipwreck, too," said Mrs. Gottwald. A Japanese fishing vessel hit the reef, then was carried over it to the island. Its crew abandoned it and the three Gottwald youngsters found it a wonderful place to play.

Named the civilian chief engineer at the Presidio of San Francisco, Gottwald brought his wife and the children—Gail, 15, Lee, 13, and Kim, 10—back to Tiburon for the first time since 1955. They now live at 25 Andrew Drive.

But the "king and queen" of Cocos will go back when they get the chance.

"I believe we miss Cocos about as much as anything we left behind when we came back to America," said Mrs. Gottwald.

FARAWAY HOME — The Leslie Gottwald family leave Guam in motorboat to sail to Cocis Island, seen dimly on the horizon. It's their private estate in the far Pacific, purchased while they were living on Guam. They built a two-story house and a cottage on it, and plan to return.

FBI Out Of Hamilton Stab Death

Airman James O. Young will be tried by an Air Force court martial for the Christmas slaying of Airman Robert M. Jennings at Hamilton Air Force Base.

A Federal Breau of Investigation spokesman said today the FBI is not entering the case, and it will be handled through court martial proceedings by the Air Force. Since both the victim and the suspect are servicemen, jurisdiction lies entirely with the military, he said.

Jennings, 33, of Jamaica, N.Y., was stabbed in the chest in the day room of Barracks 460 early on Christmas Day. He tried to walk to the base hospital, was picked up en route there by air police, but died in the hospital at 2:25 a.m.

Arrested by air police and charged with the killing was Young, 34, of Russell, Kan. Both men lived in Barracks 460.

The slaying followed a midnight argument in the day room, according to base officials. Young is being held in a maximum security cell in the guardhouse on the base.

Naval Ritual Upsets Sausalito Residents

Their nerves already on edge due to the unpleasant weather, several Sausalito residents today called police to report explosions in the area.

Police checked out the reports and learned that they were gun salutes being given by a fleet of French ships entering San Francisco Bay.

Novato Awards School Construction Contracts

The Novato Unified School District Board, after allowing the low bidder to withdraw his bid because of a mistake, last night awarded two contracts for school construction.

Fostmeier Construction Co. of Petaluma, contractor on the original Pleasant Valley School, as given a $147,000 contract for a six-room addition to the school.

W. J. Kubon Co. of San Rafael was given a $634,804 contract for the 17-classroom elementary school on the Meadow Park school site on Hamilton Air Force Base.

There were six bidders on the projects, four submitting combined bids for both projects, according to Supt. James G. Bunker. A seventh, Todd Construction Co. of Santa Rosa, whose combined bid of $750,200 was the lowest, was allowed to withdraw the bid when it was discovered to include a $21,500 mistake, Bunker said.

The board authorized advertising for bids for additions to Hill and San Jose junior high schools and a six-classroom addition to Lu Sutton School, to be opened on Jan. 20 with contracts to be awarded Jan. 24.

Innocent Plea In Car Shooting

Dave Townsel Jr. yesterday pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The Marin City 19-year-old man is charged with sniping at sheriff's patrol cars.

Judge Peter Allen Smith in Marin Municipal Court set Jan. 13 for a preliminary examination on the felony charge.

Townsel, of 211 Drake Avenue, Marin City, remained free on $2,750 bail. He was accused of firing a shot which hit the left front door of the car driven by Sgt. Wade Powell on Dec. 2. Powell was uninjured. The attack was the third sniping attempt in 25 days in Marin City.

Burglary Charge Brings Plea Of Innocent

James Litteral, 21, one of three youths arrested Dec. 21 after the burglary of McKenzie's Junior Vogue Clothing Store in San Rafael, yesterday pleaded innocent to a burglary charge.

Judge Peter Allen Smith in Marin Municipal Court set a preliminary examination for Thursday.

Litteral, of 802 E Street, San Rafael, was picked up when he walked by the store at 1000 Fifth Avenue minutes after San Rafael police discovered it had been broken into. Paul B. Caldwell, 18, of 32 Front Street, Apt. 9, San Rafael, also charged with burglary, had been earlier referred to the juvenile court.

The thrid person arrested, a 17-year-old, was charged with loitering and sent to Juvenile Hall.

No PUD Session

FIGHTING A NEW CAUSE

After a successful war against polio which paralyzed her from the waist down in 1961, Mrs. Howard Ritchart of 251 Cecilea Way, Tiburon, has left her wheel chair behind to join the March of Dimes in the fight against birth defects. Marin chairman for the March of Dimes Mothers' March, Mrs. Ritchart will coordinate the efforts of hundreds of volunteers who will ring Marin doorbells next month.

LBJ, McNamara Talk Of Budget, Viet Status

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara reviewed "the general Vietnamese situation" today including the truce that prevailed for 30 hours over Christmas.

But the Texas White House would not specify whether they also talked about the four-day-old lull in bombings of North Viet Nam or the Viet Cong offer to the South Vietnamese for a four-day truce during their new year's holiday which starts Jan. 20.

Over breakfast, then in a long early-morning walk around the LBJ ranch, and back at the President's ranch-house desk Johnson and McNamara continued discussions that had gone past midnight last night.

Much of their conversation, according to acting White House Press Secretary Joseph Laitin, dealt with the rising defense budget. At the White House press center here, 65 miles from the ranch, Laitin told newsmen that the President also had talked with other aides about federal spending plans for the next fiscal year.

"There is some chance now—because of new hard looks at possible economies—it is just possible the President may have to ask Congress for a short extension on the deadline for submitting the budget," Laitin said.

Without an extension, Johnson under law would have to send his fiscal 1967 budget to Congress 15 days after the House and Senate reconvene Jan. 10.

Laitin said Johnson had telephone talks today with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Under Secretary George W. Ball on international matters, as well as one with Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler "about general economic and budgetary matters."

"All in all, by 10 o'clock this morning, the President seemed to have a full day's work behind him already," Laitin said.

Assessment District To Be Supervised

Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors last night agreed to supervise a private assessment district consisting of 12 parcels of land above Pacheco Street in Marin City.

The meeting adjourned in memory of Stanley Cowen, a board member who left the board in 1964. Cowen, who lived in Sausalito, died Dec. 21.

Bay Lawmaker Asks Call To Sew Up Tax Loophole

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— Gov. Edmund G. Brown today was urged to call a special session of the legislature in January to close a "$200 million property tax loophole."

The appeal came from Chairman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, of the Assembly Municipal and County Government Committee which has been probing alleged irregularities in county assessors' offices.

The attorney general's office, Knox said in a letter to the governor, estimated that local governments lose $200 million in tax revenues annually through escaped personal property tax.

"Most of this loss is attributed to personal property reporting procedures which function as an open invitation to falsification," Knox said. "this situation clearly demands a legislative remedy."

The lawmaker said some of his committee's recommendations may necessitate a constitutional amendment and only a special session in the spring would allow the measures to appear on the 1966 ballot.

"I believe that administrative reforms are essential and cannot be deferred," Knox said.

The chairman said his committee's recommendations would be disclosed early in 1966. He added they would aim at "insuring that the administrative procedures used by local assessors and by the Board of Equalization achieve a fundamental equity in local assessment."

"In short," he added, "we want to provide sufficient checks and balances to close this $200 million loophole and to keep it closed."

Knox also told the governor that the proposals would be confined to administrative reforms and would not "interfere with any tax reforms which you may have planned for 1966 or later."

Boy, 16, Booked In Liquor Theft

San Rafael police yesterday arrested a 16-year-old Terra Linda High School student, accusing him of taking five cases of vodka in November from a truck parked in the Railway Express Agency lot on Jordan Street in San Rafael.

They said the boy complained that four of the cases had later been stolen from him.

The boy had hidden the cases in a backyard shed of a friend, police reported. He had opened one case and sold bottles to friends for $3.50 each. When he returned, the others were missing, he claimed. The boy was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall.

Prison Knife Charge Trial Rescheduled

Jury trial of William Arthur Christmas, San Quentin prisoner indicted for illegal possession of a knife, was scheduled today in Marin Superior Court for March 7.

Christmas, serving time for a second degree burglary conviction in Alameda County on April 14, 1964, allegedly had the knife Oct. 21.

Unruh Eyeing Anderson's Job

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh said yesterday he would be strongly tempted to seek the lieutenant governorship if fellow Democrat Glenn M. Anderson did not seek re-election.

In an interview with Los Angeles Times political writer Carl Greenberg, Unruh, D-Inglewood, was quoted as saying, "Under no circumstances would I be part of any pressure move to push Anderson out."

But, Unruh said, "It would be a strong temptation to run" for lieutenant governor if Anderson withdrew "willingly or if he was forced out by somebody else."

Unruh said he believes "all the talk" about Anderson being offered a federal appointment or some other position "had some basis." However, he added, he believes such attempts, if made, did not work out.

Anderson has denied receipt of any federal appointment offers and said he intends to remain in office until his term ends in January, 1967.

Unruh said he also would be tempted to run for other state constitutional offices should the incumbents not seek re-election.

Novato Firemen Name Officers

Frank Manzoni was elected president of the Novato Volunteer Firemen last night.

Robert Robertson was elected vice president; Wilfred Lieb, secretary; George Gnoss, treasurer; Leo Slowdownick, sergeant at arms, and George Hale, property clerk.

George Cavallero was named honorary chief, and James Kidder, honorary assistant chief.

Officers will be installed at a dinner meeting at 7 p.m. Jan. 8 at Nero's restaurant.

Narcotics Cache Hearing Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A U.S. commissioner has postponed until Jan. 6 a preliminary hearing for a Ft. Benning warrant officer arrested when a huge cache of imported heroin was seized at his trailer home.

Arraignment of CWO Herman Conder, 35, had been set for this afternoon, but U.S. Commissioner H. Okay Parker postponed the hearing at the request of an assistant federal attorney.

Conder is alleged to be the courier of 209 pounds of uncut heroin found in a freezer behind his trailer in Columbus Dec. 20. The 15-year Army veteran was one of eight arrested in connection with the narcotics haul.

(REDWOOD NATIONAL BANK ACHIEVES YET ANOTHER BANKING FIRST)

That great big number up there signifies a great big, big first among this area's financial institutions. We're now offering you five per cent interest on six month Savings Certificates of $5,000 and more; the first time any financial institution in these parts has offered insured savings at that rate. Furthermore, we'll pay you interest quarterly by check or by credit to your account; a steady income on an investment insured by a Federal agency. So, we suggest you move quickly. To obtain maximum benefit from this new high 5% rate, transfer your funds in early January (or let us transfer them for you.) And while you're at it, learn more about why we're considered unique among banks. The newest ideas, the youngest banking thinking; charge free checking on accounts of $200 or more; banking-by-mail with all the costs on us; now 5% savings interest; and there's more. That's why we say there is a difference between banks.

Airlines, Aerospace Issues Hit By Rumors

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed irregulary today as airlines and aerospace issues continued to show sharp losses.

The list was edging off on balance and airlines deepened early declines in reaction to a report that the government would seek to get them to cut rates in 1966.

Reports of another prospective truce in Viet Nam was enough to set the aerospace defense issues back on their heels at the start. They trimmed some losses but nevertheless were down on the day.

Selective recovery by both blue chips and some of the big flying glamour issues improved the picture in late afternoon.

For a while all Big Three auto stocks showed only minor fractional losses but Chrysler had a spell of late weakness and as down around a point in the closing minutes.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7.7 million shares compared with 5.97 million yesterday.

Reacting to apublished prediction that the government would seek to have airlines cut fares in 1966, Northwest Airlines lost 8 points, National Airlines bout 4, Eastern and Delta about 3, United 4, American and Pan American a point or so. Pan American was pacing the list on volume.

Scm Corp., up more than a point, also was heavily traded. Radio Corp. and Zenith advanced about 2 each and Xerox half a dozen points.

Aerospace defense stocks fell back on the latest truce proposal news from Viet Nam. Boeing was down 2; General Dynamics, Grumman and McDonnell Aircraft a point or so.

Fairchild Camera gained 6. Up 2 were Texas Instruments and Burroughs.

Losses of 2 points or so were shown by American Smelting, National Aviation, Coca Cola and Bendix.

Du Pont cushioned the averages with a 1-point gain. Also helping the averages were fractional gains by American Telephone, Bethlehem, Goodyear, Caterpillar, Consolidated Edison, Texaco, Liggett & Myers, Johns-Manville and Public Service Electric & Gas.

Schering and Polaroid were off nearly 2.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange improved selectively.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds continued to rise.

YOUR DOLLARS

Insurance Planning Important

By ANDREW BALDWIN

To some, insurance is a method of saving; to others, it is the way in which an estate can be created, or protection of the well-being of loved ones, or an education fund for minor children.

From an estate planning viewpoint life insurance provides liquid funds to pay debts, costs, legacies, and taxes, can be owned by the insured, or by another person, although the insured continues to pay the premiums, by a corporation of which the insured is a key executive, or by an employee benefit fund of which he may be a participant.

Regardless of the purpose, more and more insurance is being issued, to more and more people, and in larger amounts than ever before.

Insurance today continues to provide the same traditional protective benefits mentioned above, as well as providing the newer additional benefits.

It is obvious, then, that insurance should be an integral part of your estate plan.

Your attorney in designing your plan will want to know how much insurance you have, whether you own the policies, to whom the policies are payable, and in what manner.

With this information he can calculate the amount of liquid funds that will thus be provided, he can determine whether death taxes will be increased or reduced depending on whether you own, or do not own the insurance.

If the policies are payable to the estate, the funds will be readily available. If they are payable to a trust, then perhaps the trust will be arranged so as to provide the estate with cash by buying assets from the estate.

If you proceeds are to go to an individual, your attorney will explain that such beneficiary will be required to pay a portion of the taxes due from your estate unless your will otherwise provides a fund for payment of such taxes.

If the payment is to be made in installments over a period of time, your attorney will suggest that you coordinate the provisions of any trust under your will with the insurance arrangements.

Stephen Roberts To Move Soon; Two In Morris Plan Promoted

Now that removal and sales signs are in the window, it's no longer a secret — Stephen Roberts Gentlemen's Apparel at 937 Fourth Street, San Rafael, will move to 1226 Fourth Street and open there about Jan. 8.

Roberts is taking over the location of Herbert's Shoes, where owner Morris Levin has been selling out his stocks in order to retire from business. Roberts is gaining twice as much space as he has now and will use it to increase his merchandise lines.

Sale of Levin's lease was handled by Harry Abras of Redmond Realty.

Marin Stationers, next door to Roberts, has taken advantage of the opportunity to pick up the extra space for expansion.

Rasmussen

Odell

TWO MARIN MEN with the Morris Plan have been elevated to new rank:

Wells W. Rasmussen of San Rafael, manager of the loan-contract department at the downtown San Francisco office and an assistant cashier, has been moved up to assistant vice president. He joined the financial firm in 1959 after several years of prior business experience.

Gordon A. Gears of Fairfax has been elected an assistant secretary of Yosemite Insurance Co., a Morris Plan subsidiary. He is also an assistant secretary of the parent company. He joined the organization about two years ago as an underwriter.

KENNETH A. BLACK of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant cashier in Wells Fargo Bank's Matson Building office in San Francisco. He joined the company in 1959 with 15 years previous experience.

NEW GROUP HEAD at the San Francisco office of J. Walter Thompson is John A. (Art) Odell, who has taken up residence in San Rafael. He was creator of the Horace Wink campaign for the Ford Mustang and comes to the San Francisco office from Thompson's New York headquarters where he was a copywriter for the Ford account. He first joined the company at Detroit in 1960 and was transferred to New York in 1963.

DONALD H. REHLEANDER of Mill Valley has joined the San Francisco office of Kenyon and Eckhardt, Inc. as creative director. He was formerly with Johnson and Lewis and before that a copywriter with Cunningham and Walsh.

SAN ANSELMO PHARMACIST Ronald Edward Grady has been accepted for membership in the Northern California Pharmaceutical Assn.

JOINT FARE ARRANGEMENT between Western Air Lines and SFO Helicopter Airlines now waives up to one-half of the regular helicopter fare from the Marin heliport to San Francisco. Exact amount depends upon your destination.

When Western's fare from San Francisco to destination is between $39.85 and $50, SFO drops its fare by $1.50; between $50.05 and $62, SFO takes off $2; $62.05 and more, the helicopter flight is half-price.

Yacht Sales

Marin Deputy Zoning Administrator Wesley Wilkes yesterday granted a use permit to Edgewater Yacht Co. for a branch sales office at 633 Redwood Highway, Alto. The office will take 600 square feet in an existing building.

. . . a home that will never be duplicated, and one of the most magnificent in the West. A wooded, yet warm and sunny setting of 1½ acres adjoining a 7-acre dedicated woodland preserve. Striking modern construction of huge redwood beams, sweeping brick arches and floor to ceiling windows. Large, enclosed entrance court. Heated and filtered pool. Fountain. Wall paneling of finest ribbon-striped mahogany and book-match teak. Large bedroom with two master dressing rooms, each with marble bath. Guest bath. Combination study and guest room. Dining room with buffet of marble and rosewood. Breakfast room. Every room opens to a brick patio. Luxurious kitchen with floor of Heath tile and striking sunburst tile lighting. Separate guest quarters with huge double bedroom and bath opening to pool area. Parking for many cars. A magnificant home in a secluded settting, just minutes from center of Mill Valley. Priced at only $120,000. Please call us now for an appointment.

MARIN MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT Call for Bids — Portion of Moore Hill Reservoir Property
NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District will receive sealed bids for the purchase from the District of that certain real property standing in the name of Marin Municipal Water District, and improvements thereon, situate in the City of San Rafael, County of Marin, State of California, being a portion of Marin County Assessor's Parcel Number 12-051-25 for year 1965 and described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the courses North 68¼ degrees West 88.4 feet and North 14½ degrees East 80 feet of the parcel of land described under SECOND in the Final Order of Condemnation, Marin Municipal Water District, a public corporation, Plaintiff vs Marin Water & Power Company, et al Defendants recorded June 11, 1920 in Volume 215 of Deeds at page 337, Marin County Records, running thence along the Westerly and Southwesterly line of said parcel of land North 14° 30' East 80.00 feet, thence North 68° 15' West 12.00 feet, thence leaving said Southwesterly line of said parcel of land North 78° 33' East 13.59 feet, thence North 14° 30' East 174.90 feet to a point on the Northerly line of said parcel of land described under SECOND, thence along the Northerly, Easterly and Southerly lines of said parcel of land South 68° 15' East 299.68 feet, South 14° 30' West 154.70 feet, South 83° 24' West 225.00 feet and North 68° 15' West 88.40 feet to the point of beginning. Containing 66,775 square feet more or less.

Said bids will be received and said property will be sold upon and subject to the following terms and conditions.

1. Sealed bids will be received up to the hour of 1:30 P.M., on Wednesday, the 12th day of January, 1966 and will then be publicly opened and declared at the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of said District in the Board Room at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, California.

2. Increased bids will thereupon be called for, on an auction basis, but the initial, increased bid must be in an amount at least 10 percent more on the first $10,000 of the highest sealed bid and 5 percent more on the amount of said sealed bid in excess of $10,000. Said property will then be sold to the highest and best bidder therefor in cash, subject to the right of the District to reject any and all bids.

3. Possession will be delivered on or before February 9, 1966.

4. Each bid must be accompanied by cash or certified check payable to the District in the amount of ten per cent of the amount of bid. The District will deliver marketable title and the transaction will be closed through a title company in San Rafael, California, to be selected by the buyer. Title to be delivered and the balance of the purchase price paid on or before February 9, 1966.

5. No real estate commission shall be paid upon any sale which may be made pursuant to such call for bids.

Dated at Corte Madera, California, November 29, 1965.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Corporate Umbrella Won't Mean Much

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Is it logical that a television network would greatly improve its programming if it could take shelter within a larger corporate framework, thereby lessening the financial pressures of ratings and Wall Street:

This matter is being discussed considerably lately. NBC, of course, is a subsidiary of the Radio Corp. of America. Now ABC is planning to merge with International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. And knowledgeable industry observers feel that this could mean that CBS might inevitably be forced to make a similar move in order to stay competitive—in short, so that it does not feel the pressure of having more limited resources.

To televiewers, the implications by those who are excited by the beneficial side of such maneuverings are that a massive corporate umbrella might enable a network to schedule higher class programs in greater number. The reasoning is that popularity ratings—which affect network incomes by altering the the amount of advertiser charges—and stock market prices, which fluctuate for the networks according to the ratings, would assume lesser importance if ABC and CBS felt more secure because of such corporate umbrellas.

Theoretcially, the potential benefit to the viewer sounds lovely. Practically this viewer feels that those who actually expect such major improvements are living in a utopian dreamworld. No matter how big, secure or excellent the company, its basic motives—like those of all basic business enterprises—are profit and power.

NBC, for instance, has hardly been ordered by RCA to sacrifice all for altruism. The network, for example, has been a major factor in RCA's honorable pioneering and promotion of color television, the parent company being a top manufacturer in the field.

In short, it is simply another case of disappointed but hopeful observers now grabbing, as always, at straws, for video—commercial video—offers little else to grab at. Hoping won't help. As always, commercial television will promise much and offer tiny tidbits, maybe a few added hours of worth, but certainly no major overhaul—in other words, nothing to go wild over. It can be no other way, for once a public treasure—in this case, the airways —has been turned over to commercial powers, the surrender has been consummated. Everything else is mere after-effect.

To change the basic system as it now operates would mean striking at the heart of the profit system, and of course no one wants to do this. Viewers, however, can look forward to the time, hopefully in the near future, when the educational television network hooks up its connections so that it can—like the commercial networks—broadcast a full schedule of programs across the nation, on the same nights.

Florida Doctor Clarifies View

In a letter to Dr. Robert L. Mills, president of the Marin Medical Society, Dr. Edward R. Annis of Miami, Fla., has denied a statement attributed to him that "about 90 per cent of doctors in America will refuse to take part in Medicare."

The statement was contained in an Associated Press story from Richmond, Va., published in the Independent-Journal Dec. 15. Dr. Mills asked Dr. Annis, a former president of the American Medical Assn., for clarification of the statement.

Dr. Annis wrote that what he actually said was that "90 per cent or more of physicians would continue their relationships with their patients in the future as they have in the past, and that most of them would submit bills even though they might accept assignments from a government-elected intermediary."

Landing Ship

Gary S. Lucas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas of 109 El Cerrito Avenue, San Rafael, participated in the transporting of the Republic of Korea's Tiger Division from Pusan, Korea, to Qui Nhon, South Viet Nam, while serving aboard the tank landing ship Terrell County, which has its home port at Yokosuka, Japan.

Improvements Coming In Road

Improvements to the Sears Point Road from Vallejo to Marin County (State Highway 37) are scheduled by the State Division of Highways in an effort to cut down accidents, State Sen. Luther E. Gibson (D-Vallejo), said today.

The limited corrective measures are being taken at Gibson's request, he said, and are based on recommendations of a survey by the California State Antomobile Assn., also requested by the senator, whose district includes Marin, under reapportionment.

Among changes along the route are erection of more guide posts on the shoulders, relocating warning devices near Sonoma Creek bridges, and removal of detour signs which cause confusion.

Also scheduled are studies into the possibility of adding reflective wedges to the existing white center line stripe and providing of all-weather shoulders.

Joint Elections Said Impossible

The North Marin County Water District cannot consolidate its election with the June primary next year, according to Frederick Bold Jr., attorney for the district.

County supervisors two weeks ago suggested that several districts take steps to consolidate elections on June 7, but the water district is operating under a law that will require the election in March, Bold wrote the supervisors.

This will continue, Bold said, until a change in law goes into effect Jan. 1, 1967.

The water district election next year will be March 22.

Scooter Rider Thrown, Injured

Henry F. Poteet, 18, of 231 Prado Avenue, Terra Linda, suffered multiple scalp cuts when he was thrown from his motor scooter at El Porado and Corrillo Drive, Terra Linda, at 7:45 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Poteet was eastbound on El Prado when his scooter hit a gutter. He was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

'A Satisfying Ending,' Says Packers' Don Chandler

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Among the wires that poured into Don Chandlers' home after his field goal heroics in Sunday's sudden death football game was a message from Wel Mara, his old boss at New York.

"It was real nice of Wel," said the Green Bay place kicker. "I appreciated it."

Nobody paid much attention to Chandler in the year-end polls for comeback of the year, but the veteran deserved a high rank. His tying and winning kicks for a 13-10 victory against Baltimore Sunday made it 19 out of 29 field goal attempts and a total of 95 points.

Last year he made nine out of 20 for the Giants. Ironically, the Giants had troubles with field goals and made only 4 of 25 this season.

"I guess the Giants did me a favor when they traded me to Green Bay," said Chandler. "It was a tremendous challenge to me and a most satisfying ending.

"Last summer I practiced kicking back home in Tulsa for about six weeks before I went to camp. I kicked 15 or 16 a day at the high school field. It helped me get ready for camp because I felt I had to make the ball club. Ordinarily it takes me 10 days to get ready but this time I figured I should be ready to go from the start."

Chandler tied Sunday's playoff game for the National Football League's Western Conference crown with less than two minutes to go when he made good on a 22-yard boot. Informed that Lou Michaels, Baltimore kicker and defensive end, had the kick was not good, Chandler commented:

"All I have to say is that there were two officials there, one on each side of the posts, and one official behind me. Maybe they (Colts) should have paid more attention to rushing."

The winning field goal at 13:39 of the sudden death overtime almost came a play earlier. Both Coach Vince Lombardi and Chandler confirmed the story yesterday.

"I almost sent him in on third down," said Lombardi. "I yelled, 'field goal,' and the field goal team all got up and started taking off their robes. But I changed my mind. Imagine, if we had fumbled, I would be kicking myself all over Green Bay."

Instead of third down and six to go from the 22, the Packers moved to fourth and two on the 18 on a four-yard gainer by Jim Taylor. Chandler then kicked it over from the 25.

"That's got to be the big one for me," said Chandler. "We have had a lot of tough things to overcome this year. Now we've got to play another tough game against Cleveland. It has been real blood and guts football all season."

Chandler and the rest of the Packers were given a two-day holiday by the coach before they resume practice tomorrow.

Bart Starr, the No. 1 quarterback, is a doubtful starter for Sunday's NFL championship game with Cleveland at Green Bay. Starr has a painfully bruised right side and has trouble raising his right arm. However, X-rays proved negative.

Lombardi said he would not know about Starr until Friday. In the meantime, the veteran Zeke Bratkowski, who led the Packers to victory after Starr was hurt on the first play, will run the ball club.

Lombardi said he thought Paul Hornung (bruised leg), Ron Kostelnik (sore foot) and Boyd Dowler (injured ankle) would be ready to face the Browns.

JIM MURRAY

A Golf Star's Wasted Chances

It was the same old story—wasted opportunity, the chance that was missed, a lifetime of regrets.

The guy sitting across the table from me could have been one of the greatest. Thirty-five years ago, he had a backswing you could have cut butter with, poured on cornflakes, made a wreath out of. Nobody got out of a sand trap better or in one as seldom. Ben Hogan wished he could line up a putt the way this guy did.

Then it happened—the bright lights, Broadway, the glamor of Hollywood—and he threw it all away. He went right down the primrose path. Fame, success, easy money seemed beckoning and he forgot the skills he did best. His putting turned sour, he got in more sand than a camel. He started hanging around night club nights.

When he had his first success, those of us in the know shook our heads. Ten million superheterodyne sets tuned in nightly. He has a voice as smooth and easy as smoke rings. Ten million high school kids imitated him in the shower. But nobody could imitate his takeaway with a 5-iron.

IT ALL BEGAN just before his family gave him a set of drums one year. From then on it was all uphill. A great career on the links was thrown in the discard. The man who might have beat Sam Snead two a side frittered away his time on the screens of the world crooning into sound tracks, nibbling on the ear of platinum blondes—there was "Rhythm On The River," "June In January," "Please," "Pennies From Heaven."

And in all this tinselled gaiety, Harry Lillis Crosby slipped to a 5-handicap at times. It was enough to make you cry. Oh, there were compensations that might have seemed important at the time—villas in Europe, houses in Palm Springs, Pebble Beach, record sales in the billions, hob-nobbing with Presidents, kings, emperors. But you have to think of what might have been.

I GAVE some thought to it as I sat across from him the other afternoon in the dressing room of the Hollywood Palace theater and we went back over the wreckage of his life. It was hard to keep from blubbering. I mean, what did he have to show for it. The bench-made shoes? The gold leaf on the dressing room door? The chauffeur? The limousine? Here was a man who could have gone down in history with Slammin' Sammy Snead, Light Horse Harry Cooper, Bantam Ben and Lord Byron, Arnie's Army would have looked like a battalion. He could have been "Beltin' Bing" (except he was more of a bunter off the tee—IF you consider 230 yards a "bunt") or Light Horse Harry Crosby—One-Putt Harry Crosby. The king of the 9-iron.

He did win the club championship at Lakeside several years ago. He won the Canadian Western. He once shot a 63 at Spokane. Clearly, this was no man to be wasting his time on a sound stage. He gives Bob Hope two a side.

HE DID ENTER the British Amateur and the U.S. Amateur. But all that music reading took its toll. He went out in the first round more often than Floyd Patterson.

In 1937, since he had no time to go to a golf tournament, he did the next-best thing, what any red-blooded American millionaire would do—he sent for one.

The Big Crosby International is 25 years old this year and the mind of the man who hosted it and bankrolled it—until lately when the mighty Minnesota Mining and Manufacture and their oceans of Scotch Tape have stepped in and made it a TV spectaculer at a cost no one man could bear—roamed back over the years.

THERE WAS the first one, down at Rancho Santa Fe where torrential rains seemed about to drown San Diego County and an unknown named Sam Snead won it in a tourney shortened to one day by the pennies from heaven.

There was the postwar shift to Pebble Beach where Bing himself had shifted, and the tournament was Wuthering-Heights-with-nine-irons and tee shots which started out in California and ended on Guam and someone was told he had a free drop one day and asked "Yeah, but where? Japan?"

THERE WAS Porky Oliver, soon to be dormied by cancer, doggedly taking a 16 on No. 16 at Cypress and cheerfully allowing "Well, you can't get 'em all within the leather." There was Henry Ransom, flailing away at a ball marooned on a desert island completely surrounded by foaming, raging surf and smashing the ball off a sea wall till it richocheted back and struck him in the abdomen, and he picked up, threw his club back in the bag and observed, "Bing. When the thing starts hitting back, it's time to quit."

AND THEN there was Terrible Tommie Bolt, golf's thunderhead, cursing and roiling at Pebble's diabolical Nos. 7, 8 and 9, none of them par-able on that glowering day and raging "you don't need clubs to play this course, you need whaleboats?" And pausing as he passed Bing's home hard by the 9th green and surveying the warm fire gleaming within and the soothing strains from the Hi-Fi, he shook his fist and vowed, "I'm gonna go home and get me a big .45 pistol and hold it at the neck of that crooner and make him play 8 and 9 continuously till he pars both of 'em!"

CROSBY LOVES golf and vice versa. There are those who say the nickname "The Groaner" derives not from his singing style but from the sound he made when he missed a 6-footer on the low side or topped a chip.

I'M AS grateful as the next guy for "White Christmas." I think it's a right nice little number. And "Going My Way" is a commendable - enough picture. But, shucks man. Look at it this way: Is it worth giving up a shot at the Azalea Open for? Why this man might have made alternate on the Ryder Cup team, who knows? One little wrong turn in the road and look what happens. Thank God they never gave Ben Hogan a set of drums—or the lyrics to "When The Blue Of The Night" and an audition by Cremo cigars.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL
ON VACATION

Thurmond Unanimous All-Star

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry West must wonder what a guy has to do to be a unanimous All-Star selection in the National Basketball Association.

Los Angeles' Mr. Everything was one of eight NBA players named to the West squad for the league's annual All-Star Game at Cincinnati, Jan. 11.

West was named on all but one of the 67 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters in the nine NBA cities. West is the NBA's leading scorer with 1,228 points, one of three NBA players to pass the 1,000-point plateau this season, and the only one in the West.

The West team did have one unanimous selection. He's Nate Thurmond, the 6-foot-10 San Francisco center who took over in the Warriors' pivot spot after Wilt Chamberlain was traded to Philadelphia.

The only rookie on the team is Rick Barry of the Warriors, who is averaging better than 21 points per game.

Others chosen were San Francisco's Guy Rodgers, Don Ohl and Bailey Howell of Baltimore, Zelmo Beaty of St. Louis and Rudy LaRusso of Los Angeles.

The East's first eight stars will be announced Thursday and then NBA coaches will pick two more players for each 10-man squad.

One of the additional West players will come from Detroit, the only club in the division without a player among the first eight chosen.

Duke Still No. 1 Team In Country

By BEN OLAN

Four undefeated teams have taken stronger positions in the Associated Press major-college basketball poll while once-beaten Duke held onto a sizable first-place lead.

The four are Vanderbilt, Bradley, Iowa and Kentucky, ranking behind the Blue Devils in that order.

Duke, 7-1 including last week's 100-93 overtime victory over Michigan, collected 35 first-place votes and 405 points in the latest ballong by a special panel of 43 regional experts.

Vanderbilt advanced two places to second with seven first-place votes and 331 points. The Commodores whipped Northwestern and the University of California at Santa Barbara, pushing their record to 8-0.

Bradley also climbed two places to third after beating Montana and North Dakota for a 10-0 mark. The Peoria, Ill. Braves had 299 points.

Iowa, 7-0, soared from ninth to fourth while Kentucky, which received the only other vote for the top position, moved up from 10th to fifth. Both teams are 7-0, the Wildcats after trouncing Texas Tech 89-73 last week while Iowa was idle.

Brigham Young, also unbeaten at 6-0, climbed into the No. 6 spot, BYU was unranked last week. Michigan, which also lost to Butler for a 4-3 mark, slipped four notches to seventh.

St. Joseph's, Pa., in the runner-up position a week ago, fell to eighth. The previously-unbeaten Hawks lost to Wyoming 99-92 and Brigham Young 103-83 last week.

Minnesota and Providence each tumbled three places, the Gophers to ninth and Providence to 10th. Both lost their first games of the season in last week's action, Minnesota to Utah State and Providence to Houston.

Wichita, eight last week, dropped out of the top 10 after

Australians Remain Davis Cup Kings

NETTED NETTER — Spain's Luis Arilla tries to disentangle himself from the back court net in Sydney, Australia today during the Davis Cup doubles match. Australia's John Newcombe and Tony Roche beat Arilla and Manuel Santana to clinch the "Cup" at 3-0. (AP Wirephoto)

Spaniards Trail 3-0 As Aussies Clinch It

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The sun blazed down on center court at 114 degrees, and John Newcombe and Tony Roche blazed over it with the same intensity today as Australia retained the Davis Cup with an easy doubles triumph over the flamboyant Spanish team of Manuel Santana and Luis Arilla.

The Aussies' 6-3, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 triumph over the gallant Spaniards gave the boys from Down Under an insurmountable 3-0 lead in the best-of-5 series and kept the big silver cup, emblematic of world amateur tennis supremacy, in Australia for the 13th time in the last 20 years.

Despite an imported group of 400 Spanish spectators gaily bedecked in red and gold scarves and an appreciative Australian crowd of 8,000 in White City Stadium, the Spaniards seemed to wilt after breaking through in the second set.

Santana tired noticeably during the third set, apparently feeling the effects of the 60-game singles match he lost to Fred Stolle yesterday, 10-12, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 75. Spain fell behind 2-0 when Roy Emerson whipped Juan Gisbert 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

So the scene was dramatically set for today's matches with the Spaniards facing a win-or-else situation in their first appearance in the Challenge Round and the Aussies deciding to send out the second-line combo of Newcombe and Roche for the clincher.

Australian captain Harry Hopman, who made the decision to use the rested Newcombe-Roche team rather than come back with Emerson and Stolle, freely predicted that it would be all over after the doubles match.

"I think our boys will win the doubles," he said frankly. "We want to wrap it up."

And that's the way it was with Spain's captain, Jaime Bartoli, freely admitting after it was all over:

"The Australians were too good, too good."

As the teams went out to center court at White City Stadium, Santana received a round of sustained applause in appreciation of his duel with Stolle the day before, but it was Arilla who won the crowd this time.

After the opening set loss, Arilla took over with Spain leading 5-4 in the second set and fired the ball back over the net continually in a duel with Newcombe as the score went to 30-30. Then Newcombe netted, Roche smashed the ball into the net and Spain had evened the match with a 6-4 victory.

Santana, obviously happy, lifted his racket in the air and

Michigan '5' Upended By Arizona St.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Four western teams go into action tonight as the Far West Classic basketball tournament, suddenly a wide open race, completes the first round of play.

It will be Stanford (3-3) vs. Washington State (7-0) at 7 p.m. and Oregon (3-1) vs. Utah State (6-4) at 9 p.m.

Arizona State (6-3) defeated Michigan (4-4) 89-87 and Oregon State (4-3) downed Air Force (1-7) 53-42 in the Monday night games.

It was the Arizona State upset of Michigan that made the tournament a wide-open scramble. Michigan, runnerup for the national title last season and ranked seventh in the latest Associated Press poll, had been expected to dominate the tourney.

But Arizona State, scrapping fiercely with the tall, muscular Michigan players for rebounds, was in front by six points with only a minute to go.

Michigan scored four field goals in the last minute and almost pulled even.

"Thank God, the time ran out," said blanched Ned Wulk, Arizona State coach, after the narrow escape. His team was led by 6-foot Fred Lewis, who scored 24 points, but the standout of the game was Michigan's 6-5 All America player, Cazzie Russell, who tallied 35.

Oregon State's victory kept alive its remarkable string in this tournament. Oregon State has won the title each of the nine years of the tourney's existence. Last night's victory was the 25th straight.

Shorter Air Force had no chance against the Oregon State defense. The State scoring was led by Ed Fredenburg, Charley White and Loy Petersen with 13 points each. Sam Peshut had 16 for Air Force.

A crowd of 10,345 watched.

COACH ENDS GOLIATH MYTH

A Short But Potent MSU Backfield

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Spartan defensive backfield coach Vince Carillot quarrels with that popular conception of the Michigan State football team being a bunch of mighty Goliaths pitted against smaller UCLA.

"Before we got George Webster, they used to call my defensive backfield 'Carillot's traveling midgets'" he said.

Rover back George Webster at 6-4, actually is the only first string MSU backfield defense man over six feet tall.

Defensive signal caller and co-captain Don Japinga will be carried in the Rose Bowl program as 5-8 feet tall. "Actually I'm 5-7½," Japinga admitted. "But after three years of being listed as 5-7, I wanted it at 5-8."

UCLA coach Tomy Prothro has said he'll bank heavily on the long bomb passing of quarterback Gary Beban against the favored Spartans in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

Beban's top receiver is 6-2 end Kurt Altenberg, who has pulled down 29 for 544 yards. Right half Dick Witcher, a taller 6-3, is second best pass snatcher for the Bruins with 16 catches for 390 yards.

Japinga will be covering Altenberg. Webster, who goes where the action is, might rove over on occasion to help him out.

How will Japinga do it?

"Actually, he's the most fantastic kid on one-and-one pass defense I've ever seen," explained Carillot. "He studies the game movies until he knows every move of the opposing quarterback. He's smart and able to grasp the situation."

Japinga has proven this by leading state in interceptions with four. He also has a good jump for his slight height.

Defensive halfback Jess Phillips, 6 feet even, and Jim Summers, 5-9, have three interceptions each. Other regulars on the MSU defensive backfield are linebackers Ron Goovert, 5-11, and Charlie Thornhill, 5-10.

"I'll try to think like Beban will," said Japinga. "I try to plan ahead to make up for my lack of height and do 75 per cent of my work ahead of time.

"I know he's famous for the bomb when least expected," said Japinga of Beban. "But I think I know his past patterns and hope to second guess him."

USF Whips Santa Clara In Cage Tourney Opener

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Russ Gumina's precise outside shooting gives the University of San Francisco Dons a chance at something they never have won—the West Coast Athletic Conference tournament and seasonal basketball championships in a single year.

Gumina threw in 24 points last night as the Dons whipped Santa Clara 76-65 in a first-round tournament match. Santa Clara's Broncos played without their high-scoring guard Eric Paulson, who suffered an influenza attack.

University of the Pacific beat Pepperdine 100-78 in another first-round tilt as Joe Kelley scored 25 points and made 13 rebounds. Pacific and USF play tomorrow in a semifinal game.

The other semifinalists will be determined by games tonight matching St. Mary's against University of California at Santa Barbara and Loyola against San Jose State.

In the six years of WCAC tournament play, no club ever has won both the tourney and the seasonal title. USF won the last three seasonal titles, but not the tournament.

Pacific, beating the Pepperdine Waves to rebounds 73-27, never was in trouble. Keith Swagerty, the nation's top rebounder, took the game high with 17. He also scored 16 points.

Bob Krulish got 19 for Pacific's Tigers.

Mike Gervasoni scored 22 markers for Santa Clara.

West Coach Johnny Ralston: Pappy's Prize Pupil

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — You had to see the gleam in Pappy Waldorf's eye the other day when John Ralston of Stanford University was formally introduced as the coach for the West this year in the annual East-West Shrine football classic.

"I may have made some mistakes along the way," mused Waldorf, former University of California coach who now serves as player personnel director for the San Francisco 49ers, "But I know I didn't miss on John.

"Even as a player I knew he would make an outstanding coach one day, and now here he is head coach for the West in what I think is the most prestiguious football post-season game of them all.

"These fellows who run this game are choosy about whom they name as their coaches, so you just know they thought it over before they selected Ralston this year to lead the West."

Waldorf qualifies, among other reasons, to discuss Ralston because he was the personable Stanford dealer's college coach at Cal and his boss at the same school while Pappy was running the Golden Bears' athletic program. So, it figures that old Pappy was busting his buttons when his protege was named West head coach.

"I would rate no man who has played and-or coached for me higher than John Ralston," said Waldorf, "For he has one of the keenest football minds in the game today.

"But more than that, he is hard working, persevering, understanding and patient, and his personality appeals to boys, parents, associates and the general public as well. The kids like to play for him because they know right off the bat that while he is a perfectionist he still is more interested in their welfare and success as individuals than as a team."

At 39, Ralston is one of the youngest head coaches in America at a major school, yet in four years at Utah State (1959-62) his won 31 games, suffered only 11 defeats and one tie. On top of that, he took the Aggies to the Sun Bowl in 1960 and the Gotham Bowl in 1961. In the first of those years Utah State led the nation in rushing offense and the following year in rushing defense.

Ralston is strictly a product of the San Francisco Bay area. He was born in Oakland in 1927, was taken briefly to Norway, Michigan, and returned to play football at California. While not an exceptionally big man by today's standards, Ralston was a hard-nosed linebacker who helped the Bears gain two Rose Bowl berths.

He was graduated from Cal in 1951 and went to work for Waldorf as an assistant the same year. He moved on to coach in the high school ranks at Concord and San Lorenzo (in California) and then joined the Cal staff in various capacities. His 1957 frosh team scored a clean sweep over UCLA, Southern California and Stanford.

In 1959, he got his first head coaching job at Utah State and was named Stanford head coach in 1963 becoming only the seventh man to coach an Indian football team since Pop Warner took over in 1924.

Ralston's first year at Stanford produced a 3-7 season as the Indians changed things around following the dismissal of Jack Curtice. Ralston brought his "variable T" from Utah State and it took the Indians a year to adjust. Then, in 1964, Stanford split its 10 games, including an impressive 16-7 victory over Rose Bowl representative Oregon State.

The 1965 version of the Indians moved up to 6-3-1 and three team members — halfback Ray Handley and linemen Gary Pettigrew and John Wilbur — were drafted by pro teams. Jack Chapple of the 1964 team, while a rookie, made a favorable impression as a linebacker with the 49ers this past season.

As both a coach and man, Ralston is uncomplicated.

"Life is serious," he says, "But not so serious that you can't laugh about your misfortunes.

"On coaching, I want to field the very best team that I can but not at the expense of any one single boy. A university's primary job is education."

Redwood Boasts Leading Scorers

Redwood High School's Giants boast the top two individual scorers in Marin Athletic League practice basketball games played to date, statistics showed today.

Standing head and shoulders above the rest of the pack after eight games of play is Redwood's sharp-shooting Russ Smith with 165 points. And second in the individual parade is his diminutive teammate, Andre Horn, with 125 points for the offense-minded Giants of Coach Dick Hart.

Only four other Marin preps have scored 100 or more points in the practice schedule. They are Novato's Tom Corder (112) and John Dolinsek (110) also in eight games; Redwood's Bruce McGee (102) and Marin Catholic's Mike Lasater (100), also in eight games.

Following are scorers of the seven league teams:

Seals Are Blanked In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — If the San Francisco Seals are hoping extra hard for a Happy New Year, it's because the old one is ending up so badly for them.

The injury-riddled Seals dropped their third straight last night at Vancouver when the Canucks' net-minder, Gilles Villemure, blanked them in a 4-0 shutout.

Villemure stopped 33 shots while Jack McCartan had 27 saves but gave up three scores in the first period alone. Dunc McCallum led the winners with a pair of tallies.

Meanwhile, forward Ron Harris of the Seals returned home yesterday for treatment of his injured shoulder. He sustained a hairline fracture as the Seals lost at Portland Christmas night and will be out of action at least a week.

Player-coach Charlie Burns also is out for a week from injuries suffered in the game at Portland.

The Seals are at Victoria tomorrow, Los Angeles Friday, and then back in the Cow Palace New Year's Day to host the Blades.

Joe Filippo Top Bowler At Naves'

Veteran kegler Joe Filippo led scoring at Nave Lanes during the past week with a sparkling 631 series on games 232, 215 and 184 while Sharon Miller led the distaff side with a 580 total featuring a 213 game.

Runners-up were Bob Newbecker with 622 (234-201-187) and Dixie Molloy with a 562 (207).

High game honors went to Donald Krueger with a tremendous 268, followed by Royal Druba 237, Dick Mallett and Paul Panholzer 236 each.

For the women it was a sharp 226 by Lu Sharp.

High scorers for the past week at Nave Lanes:

POSSIBLE BASEBALL HALL OF FAMERS

Williams Heads List Of Candidates

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, one of the greatest hitters in baseball history, appears a sure bet for election to the hall of fame in his first year of eligible former players announced yesterday by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Hy Hurwitz, secretary-treasurer of the BBWAA, mailed ballots to some 415 members with a minimum of 10 years in the association. Because of the required membership period, many writers are being called upon to vote for a star who considered many of them a necessary, even unnecessary, evil.

Although often at odds with various baseball writers, Williams is figured a shoo-in for enshrinement in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., next year. His fabulous batting marks offset any hostility that may have endured through the years.

The tall slugger compiled a .344 batting average and hit 521 homers in 19 seasons with the Boston Red Sox despite time out for service in both World War II and the Korean War. He also is the most recent of baseball's .400 hitters, batting a majestic .406 in 1941.

He led the American League in batting six times, in homers four times and in runs batted in four years. He hit over .300 in 16 of his 19 seasons before retiring in 1959, and was voted the league's Most Valuable Player in 1946 and '49.

Williams, whose home run production is topped only by Babe Ruth's 714 and Jimmy Foxx' 534, was among 41 former stars eligible for the Hall of Fame for the first time. Eligible players must have been active within a 30-year period but retired the last five years.

Other newcomers with Williams include Enos Slaughter, Don Newcombe, Alvin Dark, Hank Sauer, Bobby Thomson and Mickey Vernon.

The eligibility list also includes 30 top vote getters last year, when a runoff was necessary to elect Luke Appling.

The holdovers include Red Ruffing, runner-up to Appling; Roy Campanella, Joe Medwick, Peewee Reese, Lou Boudreau, Al Lopez, Johnny Vandermeer, Chuck Klein, Marty Marion and other greats of yesteryear.

To earn election tot he Hall of Fame in the writers' voting, a player must be named on 75 per cent of ballots cast. Each voter may name from one to 10 players. It's possible, but unlikely, for several players to be elected.

Hurwitz placed a deadline of Jan. 15 for the balloting. He also noted that the BBWAA favors immediate election of Casey Stengel as a manager but action now awaits the Hall of Fame Committee's Board of Directors.

The Committee promised to take up them atter at a meeting July 24 after the BBWAA adopted a resolution urging that the five-year waiting period be waived for the 75-year-old Stengel, who retired as manager of the New York Mets after the 1965 season.

Here is a list of eligibles for election to the Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers Association of America:

Eligible for the first time, inactive as a player for five years, but active within the previous 25-year period:

Bobby Adams, Bobby Avila, Ray Boone, Bud Byerly, Chico Carrasquel, Alvin Dark, Jim Delsing, Murry Dickson, Larry Doby, Del Ennis, Carl Erskine, Ed Fitzgerald, Carl Furillo, Marv Grissom, Johnny Groth.

Irv Noren, Andy Pafko, Bob Porterfield, Del Rice, Bob Rush, Hank Sauer, Enos Slaughter, Bobby Thompson, Mickey Vernon, Ted Williams, Gus Zernial.

Eligible as the top 30 vote getters in a runoff ballot which elected Luke Appling in 1964:

Charles H. (Red) Ruffing, Roy Campanella, Joe Medwick, Harold Reese, Lou Boudreau, Al Lopez, John VanderMeer, Charles Klein, Marty Marion, Mel Harder, John Mize, Lloyd Waner, Phil Rizzuto, Billy Herman, Ernie Lombardi.

(Note: A player must be named on at least 75 per cent of ballots for election. Each eligible BBWAA member may vote for as many as 10.)

patted Arilla on the shoulder in delight.

In the third set, the visibly tiring Santana was broken at love in the 11th game, then Roche served a love game for the set.

The 10-minute intermission didn't do Santana much good as he rarely flashed the form that made the first two sets close. Arilla, on the other hand, was at his best, but the Australians were too strong.

Santana was broken with the score 1-1 and broken again as the Australians made it 5-2.

The score went to duce when Roche netted and Newcombe smashed one out of the court in the eighth game.

The crowd gave a cheer for the Spaniards, but suddenly it was all over with Roche belting an ace into Arilla and Santana netting a forehand.

Green Bay, Buffalo Emerge As Champions On A Dull Sunday

RANDOL

Certainly this was not football's finest hour as a dull Sunday afternoon produced a NFL division champion in the Green Bay Packers and an AFL league champion in the Buffalo Bills. Almost any regular season game producer more thrills than either game.

True enough, the Packer Baltimore Colt contest had suspense as the regular four quarters ended in a flat footed tie and a sudden death extra period was required to decide which team would meet the eastern champs, Cleveland, next weekend. The better team won, but for a while it looked as if the Colts would luck out.

Neither team could generate enough offense to qualify for a touch tackle mix-up on a sandlot. The Colts were down to a game and fighting quarterback in Tom Matte, but as a quarterback Tom is a pretty good fullback. The Packers lost their top man, Bart Starr, on the first play of the game, and his substitute, Zeke Bratkowski, is not my idea of a great field general.

MY BIGGEST worry was that the game would never end until one team was so tired it could not catch some third string sprinter. Right now I would have to say that, unless Starr recovers in time for the playoff on Sunday, the Cleveland Browns will retain their "World's Championship of the NFL." And a so-so Dallas team will keep the Colts busy the following week in the runner-up playoff.

If it is any consolation to San Francisco 49ers fans, John Brodie and company would have run either team out of the stadium yesterday. But that is another year and another story.

BUFFALO AND the San Diego Chargers didn't gain any new fans for the AFL with the quality of their play. The game was strictly from Dullsville. Maybe it is a case of too much Christmas: more likely it is a case of too much football. July to December is a long time.

THIS WEEK we go into another rash of bowl games, and the only one I can get steamed up about is the East-West Shrine game at Kezar Friday afternoon. The cause is greater than the game itself so success is assured, but these Shrine games have a way of turning into real thrillers.

The playing field at old Kezar has held up pretty well this year. Let's hope it is dry and fast for the contest between Mike Garrett and Jim Grabowski. The "Battle of the G's" should be a great one.

Good Time To Buy Licenses; Regulations Available Soon

STEVENS

Let's seriously consider today two items that in the past have caused a flock of citations being handed out by alert game wardens.

First item is a reminder that this week is a good time to purchase your 1966 fishing license. Every year a great many honest but careless anglers have neglected to buy a current angling license. Don't you forget!

The second item is also a reminder that, with one exception, the new angling regulations for 1966 don't take effect until the first day of March. So refer to your 1965 regulations and abide by them until March 1.

The one exception, which prohibits the taking of white bass from Nacimiento Lake in San Luis Obispo County goes into effect Feb. 1.

The new sportfishing regulations will be distributed the last week of January and will be available at bait shops, sporting goods stores, hardware stores and other license agents as well as Fish and Game offices throughout the state.

I am told that a great deal of interest has been aroused in a new regulation that will allow fishing in about eight miles of Putah Creek and two of its tributaries above Lake Berryessa for a special winter trout season. But, while the new regulation will allow fishing in these waters (using only artificial lures, and a bag limit of three trout limit, and a 10 inch size limit) we will have to wait until January and February of 1967 before we can legally fish these waters.

On Sunday at 4:30 p.m. the abortive special pheasant season passed out of the calendar.

Rasor clam buffs should note that the present area will close one-quarter hour after sunset on Dec. 31, and the new area will open on Jan. 1, 1966. (Consult your 1965 regulation.)

Jan. 2, 1966 is the final day for the killing of small game—Quail (all species), chukar, tree squirrel, rabbits (except Jack rabbits). That's also the day bear season closes.

On Jan. 5, at sunset, the season on ducks, coots, callinules, will close the general waterfowl season statewide, except N.E. waterfowl season which will remain open for one more day, to Thursday, Jan. 6, at sunset.

On Saturday, Jan. 8 at sunset jacksnipe (Wilson's Snipe) pass out of the picture.

Jan. 9, Sunday at sunset, the Colorado River waterfowl season closes, as does the general goose season.

Jan. 14 marks the closure of the abalone season.

Is it necessary to remind you that the season on striped bass, rockfish, sturgeon, flounders, and many fresh water fish are yours for the taking, and if you have available a woolen union-suit, a cap with ear-muffs, a pocket warmer and a heap of ambition, your chances of catching a lunker bass are fair to good. Try the San Pablo Bay from China Camp to the Carinez Bridge, use small hooks and small pieces of bait for flounders, long fillets of sardine turned inside out, or bullheads for stripers and grass shrimp for sturgeon. Goodbye, good luck and go get 'em!

Warriors Hope To End Loss Streak

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — The San Francisco Warriors try to snap a two-game loss streak when they tangle with the Detroit Pistons tonight on a neutral court at Toledo.

The busy Warriors will be at red-hot Baltimore tomorrow and then face mighty Boston Thursday so they could obviously use the win over the Pistons tonight.

San Francisco was flattened at Philadelphia, 121-107, last Saturday night as Wilt Chamberlain hit 33 points and took 30 rebounds. Guy Rodgers had 31 for San Francisco.

Meanwhile, the Warriors landed three men out of the first eight named to the wester team for next month's NBA all-star game. Nate Thurmond was the only unanimous pick by the writers and broadcasters who chose the team. But Rodgers and rookie Rick Barry also won berths.

The fact that the Warriors, now 16-22 for the season, were the only team to land the maximum three players is further proof that San Francisco has a good starting lineup, but still lacks a hotshot who can come off the bench and score a few key baskets in the late going.

Gymnasium Open

San Rafael High School's gymnasium will be open for recreation today through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. each day, it was announced by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department.

MARIN COUNTY LEAGUE BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Novato: Hot And Cold Running Team

Independent-Journal Sports
Tues., Dec. 28, 1965 35

By GLENN BECKER
(First in a series on prospects of Marin Athletic League basketball teams.)

Coach John Panagakis of the Novato Hornet basketball team isn't sure what to expect from his boys. "Instead of a bench," he jokes, "they ought to give them a couch, and instead of a coach maybe a man in a white coat."

After watching his team shoot like Billy the Kid against Sonoma, Napa and Redwood and then miss everything against Shasta and Red Bluff, his uncertainty is understandable. The Hornets are courtly extremists—when they are right they are very, very right, and when they are left they never get started.

One thing for sure: the talent is there to give any Marin Athletic League team a rough game. The Hornets present a veteran lineup with good speed and usually good shooting.

Panagakis uses the fast break and a two-in, three-out offense in which 6-4 center Tom Herrnberger and 6-3 forward Al Parsons move near the key and the other three players snipe from outside. The other starters are Tom Corder (6-1), John Dolinsek (6-2 and Everett Fritz (6-1. All except Hernberger are seniors who lettered last year. The center, a junior, played on the junior varsity.

Corder and Dolinsek have been among the leading MCAL scorers during the preleague action, averaging about 12-14 points apiece. Both were all-league in football and Panagakis takes no exception to their ability to be "physical" when they rebound.

Novato		Opponent
55	Petaluma	58
69	Sonoma	50
69	Napa	54
67	Redwood	64
46	Drake	52
40	Shasta	60
49	Red Bluff	62

The coach promises his team "will run when we can. We'll try, anyway." This seems to be a trend among the Marin teams. During the recent Drake Christmas tournament, Novato nipped Redwood 67-64 in a fast-paced game and last weekend the Giants scored 78 and 79 points in dropping two close games to Washington and Lincoln Highs of San Francisco. It was not too many years ago that Redwood outwaltzed Drake 29-28.

Panagakis sees other reasons for the higher scoring besides the faster-paced offenses. "The boys are better shooters now and they play basketball year-round. The all-sports kid like Dolinsek is the exception." Whatever the reason, it is a welcome change for the fan and, presumably, for the players as well. It's probably no more fun to dawdle around with the ball for two minutes before shooting it or losing it than it is to watch such uninspired play.

The strength of Novato's reserves will depend greatly on the progress of 6-4 Tom Owens, whose recovery from a knee injury two years ago has been slow. He is working with the team now, however, and Panagakis hopes to let him play soon. The importance of rebounding to a fast-break offense makes Owens a key man for Novato.

Thus far Novato's chief substitutes have been 6-2 Don Herriott and Bruce Palmer. Other Hornet players are Dick Otis, the all-league football halfback; Harold Fain, Wayne Jones, Rick Johnson and Mark Moore.

Panagakis expects a scramble in the MCALL this season. "I don't think anyone is going to run away with it as Redwood did last year. Redwood and Drake are real good this year and San Rafael, too—Mike's (Diaz) teams are always good.

"I anticipate we'll be in it all the way. If they (the Hornets) want to play as they're capable of playing, they'll give anyone a battle."

Novato was 13-9 last season and 5-7 in league play. They have almost everybody back and the coach should be right. If Novato doesn't win the title, they will have plenty to say about who does.

The league schedule:

Jan. 7 At Tamalpais
Jan. 11 At Marin Catholic
Jan. 14 Redwood
Jan. 18 At Drake
Jan. 21 Terra Linda
Jan. 28 San Rafael
Feb. 4 Tamalpais
Feb. 8 Marin Catholic
Feb. 11 At Redwood
Feb. 15 Drake
Feb. 15 Drake
Feb. 18 At Terra Linda
Feb. 25 At San Rafael

Today is Tuesday, Dec. 28, the 362nd day of 1965 with three to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter; the morning star is Jupiter; the evening stars are Venus, Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

In 1846, Iowa was admitted to the Union as the 29th state.

In 1941, President Roosevelt pledged to regain the freedom and independence of the Philippines.

In 1945, Congress officially recognized the "Pledge of Allegiance" to the flag.

In 1963, East Germany proposed to the Allies that an arrangement be made whereby West Berliners could visit the Communist sector under certain conditions, without spelling out what they were.

A thought for the day — Russian novelist Dostoyevsky said: "Man is a pliable animal, a being who gets accustomed to everything."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Hoarding Aces Sometimes Bad; Beginner's Haste Gives A Win

Good bridge players love to save an ace until it is ripe.

Bad players lead out their aces as quickly as possible.

Since this column is devoted to the truth, I must report that occasionally the bad player's method works better.

ANSWER: Bid 3 NT.

Since you have 10 points, you know that the combined count is 26 to 28 points, which should be enough for game.

South won the first trick with the jack of spades and decided to try for some diamond tricks.

Since South was a famous expert, with all of the expert's nasty habits, he began by leading a low diamond from his hand.

CORRECT TIMING

East won with the singleton queen of diamonds and returned a low spade.

In East's case it was quite correct to save the ace of spades for the right time.

South won with the king of spades and led his ace of diamonds. The suit didn't break, and South had to try for a club trick instead.

West got in with a club and cashed his two diamonds.

Then he led his last spade, and East took enough spade tricks to defeat the contract.

START PROPERLY

South should start the diamonds by leading the ace.

When the queen drops, South can lead a low diamond toward dummy's nine.

West gets two diamonds, and East gets three spades, but South makes his contract with an overtrick instead of going down one.

Leading the ace out first would work equally well if West had a singleton instead of East.

South would continue with a low diamond from his hand, but would get to dummy with the king of clubs to lead the next diamond from dummy.

History Repeats With A Twist

ODJACI, Yugoslavia (AP) — Some 25 years ago Radivoje Djordjevic took his young son to school for the first time, calming the little boy's fears.

Now the 53-year-old Radvioje has gone back to school himself to take tests for a high school diploma he never received as a youth.

The father's nervousness was calmed by his son, now the examining professor at the school.

Bake whole ham according to directions for the type you buy. About 45 minutes before it is done, remove pan from oven. Remove fat drippings from pan and cut rind off ham. Score fat deeply with sharp knife. Mix glaze consisting of 1 tbsp. grated orange peel, ½ cup orange juice, 1 cup honey. Pour about ⅓ glaze over ham. Return pan to oven. Bake 45 minutes longer, basting ham with remaining syrup at intervals.

HOT SAFFRON RICE

3 cups Uncle Ben rice
1 tsp. saffron
1 cube butter, melted
3 tbsp. finely cut parsley
½ tsp pepper

Cook rice in salted boiling water about 13 minutes or until grains are just tender. Drain any excess water. Pour rice into colander or sieve. Place over kettle of boiling water and steam 10 minutes. Crush saffron in about 2 tbsp. hot water, stirring and mashing smoothly. Add melted butter. Mix into rice with fork. Add parsley and pepper. Serve at once. Serves 8 generous portions.

There's Bit Of Nostalgia In Mount Tam Rail Idea

Why not a railroad from Mountain Home to the top of Mount Tamalpais?

Such a proposal is being advanced by several Marin businessmen. We see nothing wrong with the proposal, especially since the emphasis is on "restoration" rather than on "new construction."

The proposed rail line would follow the same route of the famous "crookedest railroad in the world" which once ran up the mountain.

"Not a single new cut will be required for the train," says Frank Allen, one of the promoters. "We don't want to desecrate it; that's uppermost in our minds."

Parking for cars is planned on several terraces below Mountain Home, in an area hidden from the main road.

As for a restaurant planned at the summit, old-timers recall that a restaurant and a station house did exist there, until fire destroyed the structures. Traces of the old foundations still remain.

The need and desirability of a restaurant at the top have long been recognized. Restoration of the old railroad would almost demand that some facility be provided at the top for lunch and refreshment for visitors relaxing between trains.

The proponents of the plan assure us that the restaurant will be built to blend in with the surroundings, and that no gaudy signs would be needed to advertise the establishment.

Restoration of the railroad, including the old "double bow knot" of the famous old line, captures the imagination and the flavor of the "good old days."

To go back for a moment, an old horse-drawn coach ran up the mountain on a wagon road from Ross, at the turn of the century. This was followed by the "crookedest railroad," which was famed world-wide and became a "must" stopover for Bay Area visitors.

Those who chugged up the mountain enjoyed refreshments at the summit restaurant and hiked around the peak for a breathtaking view.

Eventually private automobiles brought an end to the railroad because the train was not enough of a curiosity to be an attraction itself.

But now, just as we yearn with some nostalgia for the old ferryboats, the return of the Mount Tamalpais train captures the fancy.

We can see no "desecration" in the return of the "crookedest railroad" to Mount Tamalpais. On the contrary, it should rekindle nation-wide interest in Marin and its most famous landmark.

Promoters of the idea should be given the clearance to lay out their plans in detail, upon assurances that the mountain will remain unscarred, and that the stationhouses and the restaurant will blend in with the landscape.

Given such assurances, we'd say, "Let's get on with it!"

Tidal Waters Good Food Source

In connection with the filling and pollution of San Francisco Bay, it might not hurt to remind Marinites that in several decades, when population in the U.S. begins to catch up with food supply, the Bay's tidal waters will be particularly valuable—if they are cleaned up.

Fish, crab, shrimp and oysters—excellent sources of protein—thrive in tidal waters. They have already been reduced. It would take a strong stomach to eat anything that grows in the Bay when its present condition is known.

Before we stifle in our own filth and industrial waste, let's each support the programs to clean up the Bay waters.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Teacher Group Ready To Ask More Education Tax Money

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — By the time the 1966 session of the state legislature gets under way, Gov. Edmund G. Brown will be deluged with requests for subjects to be put on call for the special session. This happens each year there is a budget session, and apparently, there is no end to the number of items demanded for consideration on a special call.

One of the most expensive, and what some people consider the least necessary this coming year, will be a request for a special call on school aid.

The California Teachers Assn. already has announced it will ask the governor to open the call for consideration of "critical" school finance measures.

THIS NO DOUBT will be on a special call, as Governor Brown in a talk before the CTA state council on education, said he planned to ask the legislature to consider educational programs in the "poverty" areas of the state.

But it is almost a certainty that if the call is opened up to so-called poverty considerations, it will not be confined to that, as opening the call on school finance makes the subject wide open to any areas legislators may want to consider.

As a result, the California Teachers Assn. will come in with an extensive program which could cost the taxpayers of the state many millions of dollars.

Already, CTA has announced some of the things it will seek. Among them is a measure which would raise the minimum annual salary for a full credential California teacher from $5,000 to $5,500 per year. This is despite the fact that the average salary now is above $8,000 per year, and an increase in the minimum would serve to raise the average.

CTA WILL support extension, intensification and acceleration of a wide range of compensatory educational programs for all ages, it has announced. Of course, the more money spent on such programs, the more money available for added teachers.

The association wants a general increase in foundation programs for the schools, with particular attention to current average costs of public education in California.

Thinking of teachers again, it also wants more adequate support of public higher education, in line with master plans goals, and with emphasis on what it terms the critical staffing situation in junior and state colleges.

FOR TAXPAYERS, the association wants "more equitable distribution of the tax burden, and the enactment of necessary and sound revenue measures" which, in effect, means it will ask for more tax money to operate California schools. It also wants to eliminate statutory maximum tax rates for school districts, a process it says will "allow more fiscal responsibility."

Although the state could get along quite well without these demands from the educators, the CTA never misses a chance to ask increases in expenditures for education.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Everyone Needs Tuberculin Test

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Our community should take pride in citizens like Mr. R. A. Bowers who are interested enough and sufficiently well informed to discuss public health problems as he did in his letter of Dec. 7 about BCG.

The use of BCG vaccine in tuberculosis control is controversial. Though it is used throughout the world, its value is questioned by some doctors.

Personally, I believe that as we push toward our goal of total elimination of tuberculosis in our community we are going to need new tools. BCG may be our answer. X-rays and tuberculin testing, which we use continually, are good tools. But they have not yet enabled us to complete our job.

One of several factors limiting the use of BCG in our country is the considerable cost of such a program.

It has been assumed BCG vaccination programs are not necessary in communities having a relatively low case rate. But there are advocates in this country who believe BCG is one of the tools we can utilize if we are to eliminate tuberculosis and that, in the long run, it will pay for itself.

Another limiting factor is the emphasis placed on the loss of the usefulness of the tuberculin test when BCG is used, since BCG causes a reaction to the test. (Persons not vaccinated react only if they have been infected with tuberculosis germs.) I disagree with this argument. I believe prevention is more valuable than knowledge of the time when a person is infected.

I would recommend the use of BCG for any person who is tuberculin negative (does not react to the tuberculin test) and who is in contact, or may be in contact with active tuberculosis . . .

If every member of our community would have an annual tuberculin test and all those who are positive (react) would have an anual x-ray, as recommended by the Tuberculosis Association, tuberculosis in Marin County would be greatly reduced. I see no reason why individual families desirous of having their children vaccinated with BCG should not do so. But at this time mass BCG vaccination in Marin County does not seem economically feasible nor medically warranted.

Christmas Calm, Feeling Lauded

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Once again we have resolutely braved the shopping legions and their chariots, armed with credit cards against the days of reckoning, all the while trumpeters celebrating our victories with "Deck the Halls" and "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen."

Now the arena is quiet and the contestants have retired. Would we could extend the calm of Christmas day!

There are those who moan about commercialism, but at the moment a small child's eyes light up at the sight of Santa's secret visit, I'm sure there is an answering smile on the lips of the Christ Child. Even as we discover a bottle of perfume or a pair of sox under its hollied wrapping, whether we know it or not, we are better for that instant.

I feel sorry for those who refuse to take out one day from the world's occupation to make this annual mental pilgrimage.

It is a precarious privilege, the celebration of Christmas, denied to so many on the face of the earth, and one to be cherished and defended. But, since the days of the Pilgrims, in spite of everything, we in America have been allowed to warm one winter's day with "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!"

How To Deal With Marincello

Editor, Independent-Journal:

To get action on Marincello, the same technique should be used which a diamond cutter employs to crack the hardest diamond: find the precise place to put the pressure.

The man who makes policy at Gulf Oil is its new President, Mr. Charles Brockett, whose address is Gulf Building, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. If the six thousand signers of the petition were to write to him directly about how they feel and what they think about Marincello and about Gulf, he could have a first-hand "feel" of what the situation really is.

HELEN ROSS

Man Is More Than Economic

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re Mr. Goldstein's letter quote: "Marin City is a law-abiding community and all but a small fraction of its citizens are law-abiding". I agree.

However, he, as many others, goes on to attribute that problems against society arise out of "ghetto" situations. If living conditions cause reprehensible acts, why is there an ever increasing amount of individuals from well-to-do homes committing acts against society as well? Why is the majority of the population of Marin City law-abiding? They live side by side in "ghettos" and therefore should produce identical effects, yet don't.

These conditions may EFFECT behavior but are not the CAUSE! We certainly have embraced the Marxian theory that economics determine morals and behavior. Man is more than an economic animal. He is created with an intellect and free will, thus has the power of choice and with this faculty cannot be driven into wrong by social forces. If man is free, he (not lack of dance halls, society etc.) is responsible, and if he is not responsible then he is not free! We can't have it both ways.

The solution is more than materialism alone. In establishing the City of Man let's not abandon the City of God!

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A. J. PRIEST must have been bitten once by a Texan when he was young. At least he tells this story about the Texas lads: "Want to know how to tell when a Texan is lying about his native habitat? Observe first the lines about his eyes. Then notice the back of his left hand and see if you can catch the throb or pulse of a vein or artery. Then look at his mouth. If it's open, he's lying.

THERE IS a contingent of young socialites whose weird behavior is reported regularly by gossip columnists. Dr. Ralph Waring, London biologist, can now explain this behavior. He has discovered that many insects, after once having come into contact with newsprint, are utterly incapable of achieving maturity.

CHARLIE RICE, who beats out his brains collecting telephonic knock-knocks, comes up with the following: 1. Hello, this is Mr. Peace. Which Mr. Peace? Warren Peace. 2. This is Miss Vanation—Miss Bertha Vanation. 3. This is Mr. Bearer—Mr. Paul Bearer. (Mr. Rice has now flown off to Europe to recuperate).

I CANNOT imagine what impelled Sandy Allen, author of that popular juvenile, "The Plaid Peacock," to send me this ancient and pointless rhyme:

"If we can remember so
many old jokes
With all of the details
that mold them,
Why can't we recall with
comparable skill
The number of times
that we've told them?"

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Congressmen Need Restraint From 'National Halibut Week'

By DOM BONAFEDE
(Roscoe Drummond is on a brief vacation)

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is fond of paying tribute to the first session of the 89th Congress as one of the most productive in U.S. history. In a glossy valentine called "A Salute to Congress" (costing U.S. taxpayers about $7,000) the President last October exulted, "From your committees and both your Houses has come the greatest outpouring of creative legislation in the history of this nation."

Despite the President's lavish praise, history will make the final assessment and determine whether such laurels are deserved. Still, if the productivity of Congress is open to debate, its profligacy is not.

The government-printed "Digest of Public General Bills" shows that more than 16,000 bills and resolutions were introduced during the last Congressional session.

THE RECORD shows that members of the 89th Congress were quick to recognize virtue. They proposed that the nation officially commemorate epochal events by setting aside special days, even weeks, in their honor. These included: "Break-No-Law-Today Day," "Cleaner Air Week," "Folk Music Week," "National Dental Assistants Day," "National Indoor Sports Day," "National Square Dance Week," and "National Grandmother's Day."

Sen. Warren Magnuson, D.-Wash., the digest reports, "requests the President to issue a proclamaiton designating the seven-day period beginning May 15, 1965, and ending May 21, 1965, as National Halibut Week."

THIS, OF COURSE, could well have led to internecine war throughout U. S. fish markets.

Snook lovers, for instance, would have demanded a "National Snook Week." As would those zealots who favor flounder, wahoo, carp, catfish, and other kinds of underwater life.

Members of the 89th Congress were also generous, perhaps to a fault, in paying tribute to living Americans.

Rep. James Battin, of Montana, proposed that U. S. quarters be minted with "the likeness of Lyndon Baines Johnson." Mr. Battin, oddly enough, is a Republican.

Rep. Alonzo Bell, a Republican from Los Angeles, urged that a resolution be passed honoring "Art Linkletter for unique services rendered to his country and to the world."

And New York's Abe Multer proposed that the President issue a gold medal to Danny Kaye.

In each session demands are made that Congress should be streamlined, reorganized, and computerized. The lament is heard that additional help is needed, that more experts should be hired to aid members on the increasingly complex problems of world affairs.

Yet, what may be needed is not more people or computers, but merely more restraint on the part of the members to stick to the important business at hand and not create time-consuming work for themselves by proposing that the august chamber establish a "National Halibut Week."

Funds Almost Gone For Poverty Probe

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives is in for an intriguing surprise on that long-promised investigation of the controversial $1.5 billion anti-poverty program.

Although months have elapsed without hearings, reports of any kind, or any other developments, the inside word is that the probe is just about out of money.

Of the $230,000 appropriated for this once-much-touted inquiry, of which $100,000 was hurriedly voted by the House just before it adjourned, only $17,000 reportedly is still in the till. How and where the other $213,000 was spent is the big question.

Members of the education and labor committee and its subcommittee which is supposed to be conducting this investigation are frankly baffled and say they don't know. And Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., grandiloquent chairman of the education and labor committee and boss of the subcommittee, isn't talking.

NEITHER IS THE administration committee, which has the responsibility of keeping a check on subcommittee spending. House rules require that investigating subcommittees file monthly reports on outlays and activities.

Inquiry at the committee was met with a curt brush-off. Snapped the clerk, "Reports from committee are not public information."

"Why not?"

"Because it is committee policy," retorted the clerk, "not to give out such information."

House rules also require that every member of the administration committee get a copy of these monthly reports. But Rep. Charles Goodell, R-N.Y., member of both this committee and the education and labor committee, has seen none.

A STAFF MEMBER of the investigating subcommittee frankly admitted there have been no reports:

"We haven't submitted any," said the employee. "We are so pressed for time that we havn't done them. In October we started one, but we didn't have time to finish it. Last month nothing at all was done, and the same is true this month. Don't let the boss (Powell) know I told you this, or I'll get fired."

This much has been ascertained regarding the investigating subcommittee's finances:

Of its original $230,000, $124,000 was earmarked for salaries. The other $106,000 was to cover per deim, travel costs and expenses for public and private hearings.

PAYROLL RECORDS filed with the House clerk show that 21 are on the subcommittee's payroll at salaries ranging from $6,000 to $18,000. These records also reveal that less than three month's salaries have actually been paid out. But even for the entire six months of the authorized duration of this anti-poverty probe, total payroll expenditure would come to only $97,800. That is $26,200 short of the salary budget.

The story is the same on the $106,000 allocated for travel and hearing expenses. Of the 33 cities Powell claims his investigators have visited, in only three did they spend more than two days.

"Even if four investigators had spent three days in every one of the 33 cities," says a subcommittee member, "per diem costs at $16 a day per man would add up to only $6,336. That leaves $100,000 for travel costs. Our investigators haven't done that much traveling.

FLASHES—Last week, eight days before Christmas, the Democratic National Committee lopped 45 employees off the payroll. This jolting Yuletide gift was eased somewhat with the claim that "better-paying" jobs would be found for them in various government agencies. According to that, these party workers are being unloaded on the government payroll.

The North Marin County area this year has had continued growth. This growth has not only seen an influx of people, but of many changes in the growth of the districts that serve the community.

The Novato Sanitary District in the past year has continued to expand its facilities. It has acquired needed land beside the Novato treatment plant and the site of the plant for the Bahia development and adjoining area. In addition it has worked on a master plan for the expansion of the district in the future.

The Novato Fire District has made two noteworthy advances in the last year. It has achieved a better rating from the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau in both zones in the district. This will result in a substantial reduction in the fire insurance rates.

In addition, it has acquired plans and started construction on a third station, in San Marin. It also has acquired two additional station sites. It has kept improving its equipment to keep pace with better fire protection.

NORTH MARIN County Water District, in the same rate study, received a two rating, which is almost perfect for a supply of water for fighting fires.

The water district is now constructing a new office building on Atherton Avenue. It has installed new mains and storage tank facilities in many areas.

In addition, the district has started work on what may be the largest annexation in the history of Marin County. That is the proposed expansion of 35 square miles in West Marin to start a water system to serve the Marshall-Tomales areas.

The City of Novato too has had growing pains, two kinds of them. The city has been growing both in population and area. In the past year, the population of the city grew from 23,900 a year ago to 27,150 by official count.

The city also has grown by annexations. It is now processing a 1,280 acre annexation to the city; this would be the third largest in the city's history.

The planning and parks and recreation advisory commissions have been working on a new master plan. This work is now completed and the master plan has gone to the city council for its study and approval.

IN THE FIELD of parks, the city has made the most progress. It "discovered" that it owned a small park at the end of Hayden Drive. It acquired the old Novato cemetery for a pioneer memorial cemetery and the Lions Club and North Marin Water District agreed to the city running that park below Stafford Dam.

The council voted a 30-cent tax rate which will raise approximately $100,000 this year for the acquisition of parks and/or a civic center site.

It also made a noteworthy change in the appearance of the city by getting the islands in Highway 101 landscaped.

It is the school district that has made the greatest advances during the past year. The old San Jose and Novato unified school districts were officially unified July 1. This eliminated one of the barriers which has separated the city north and south.

The voters also agreed to level the bonds in the two old districts. They voted in $3,840,000 in bonds and $7,680,000 in state loan authorization for new buildings.

With this backing, the new school board has moved ahead with a building program to meet the expanding district. These include the additions at Novato High School to raise it to 1,800 capacity and those at Hill and San Jose Junior High Schools to bring them to 900 student capacity in a three-year course.

Other expansions include a six-classroom addition to Pleasant Valley School and the same for Lu Sutton School.

The district is working on the plans for the Hamilton elementary school of 17 rooms and a third junior high school to go on the old Sinoloa Ranch at Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road.

TAKEN ALTOGETHER, these improvements add up to a growing thriving area in North Marin.

San Anselmo Groups Press For Congress

Questionnaires were mailed to various organizations in San Anselmo today to drum up interest in a community-wide "Congress for Community Progress" schedule for next March.

The San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and San Anselmo Homes Assn. will jointly sponsor the congress on March 5 at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Don Perry, chairman of the project, said the purpose of the one-day Congress for Community Progress is to discuss problem areas and develop ideas for community improvement.

Questionnaires, mailed today to members of the Chambers of Commerce and the Homes Assn. and to other civic groups in San Anselmo, suggest topics for study and ask the public for comments and criticism.

Among topics listed so far are these:

Traffic and streets: Where should Point Reyes freeway go? Can commuter facilities and substandard streets be improved?

Recreation: A center for all age groups?

Downtown: Beautify the creek? A pedestrian mall?

Fire protection and water supply: Move the fire station from its cramped quarters? How to bring water mains up to standard size?

Ordinances: Stricter slope policy? When should variances be granted? What kind of community do citizens want?

Beautification: Tree planting? Underground utilities? Annual cleanup?

Novato Decoration Prizes Are Given

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Kent R. Bulfinch at 3 Carmel Drive, Novato, won $25 first prizie in a Christmas home decoration contest sponsored by the Novato Chamber of Commerce and Novato Advance.

Second prize of $15 went to the John W. Thorsson home at 2285 Novato Boulevard, and third prize of $10, to the Roy Bouchey home at 1143 Court Road.

Seven Marinites Home After Training In Navy

Seven Marin youths, all apprentice seamen, are home on holiday leave after completing Navy recruit training at San Diego, according to Chief Robert E. Betts of the Navy Recruiting Branch Station in San Rafael.

Home in the San Rafael area are Larry R. Grubb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruppert D. Grubb, 1565 Fourth Street, San Rafael; Daniel J. Tognetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Tognetti, 50 Oak Ridge Road, Los Ranchitos, and Dale A. Tietz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold W. Tietz, 122 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia.

In Novato are John F. Busey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Busey II, 455 Corte Sur; Richard M. Dickinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Dickinson, 716 Del Mar Avenue; Peter M. McGrath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick B. McGrath, 295 Country Club Drive, and Paul A. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis V. Phillips, 445 Corte Sur.

Seaman Apprentice Craig Wolcott, son of Mrs. Margaret C. Wolcott, 496 Washington Court, Tiburon, is home on leave from Fire Control School at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill.

President of Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club is Jack Greene.

Shoplifting Charge

A 12-year-old Novato girl was cited at Juvenile Hall Sunday for shoplifting after Jack L. Clark, assistant manager of Thrifty Drug Store, San Rafael, reported the girl was seen putting packets of toner and a bracelet, total value $8.96 into a bag without paying.

Maybe Christmas Isn't What It Used To Be, But It's Wonderful

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Christmas what it used to be?

Many middle-aged and elderly people say it isn't. They say Christmas—like everything else nowadays—has gone downhill.

THEY SAY it has been merchandised to death, and the warm human spiritual glow has departed from it.

"Kids get too much now," they grumble. "It spoils them. They don't appreciate anything."

They like to make a comparison of Christmas past and Christmas present. And the old-fashioned Christmas always gets the better of it.

Curiously, as they grow older, the more they seem to remember with pride the deprivations and hardships rather than the joys of some long ago Christmas of their youth.

What do they recall? Here are typical memories:

"THE TREE looked real nice. It was an honest-to-goodness wooden tree, not one of these plastic jobs they sell now, and you could smell it all through the house.

"We didn't have so many fancy baubles and ornaments then. We usually decorated the tree ourselves with home-made red and white strings of cranberries and popcorn and topped it with a star made from the tinfoil from a package of cigarettes.

"EACH KID found a stocking filled with fruit and nuts and cheap hard candy. There was always a big golden orange at the bottom of the stocking, and it was highly prized. About the only other time in the winter a child got a fresh orange was when he was given castor oil.

"There weren't very many packages around the tree. Most of the presents were useful."

At this point the old-timer wipes a misty eye and says, "I can still remember the taste of that orange at the bottom of my stocking."

But if you hand him an orange now and tell him, "Live it up, Pops," he thinks you're out of your mind.

WELL, MAYBE those good old Christmases were better. Maybe prosperity is wrecking us. Perhaps it is undermining our character today because we gather around our Christmas tree in a well-heated living room instead of one half-warmed by an iron stove.

It is possible that we now overdo it in the matter of giving children gifts.

But, on the other hand, no parents who see the excited delight in their child's eyes as he opens his Christmas presents really feel that they have ruined the child for life.

THE BEST Christmas is the one that makes you happiest, whether you celebrated it 50 years ago—or this year. But each is filled with wonder and glory.
